HOUSTON (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Granada BioSciences Inc. today reported a continuing reduction of its losses for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990 as compared to the first nine months of 1989.

"The improvement in the company's results is primarily attributable to continued emphasis in 1990 on increased sales of higher margin genetic products, a key element of the company's business focus," David G. Eller, chairman and chief executive, said.

The third quarter net loss was $2,230,000, or 33 cents per share, a 36 percent improvement over the net loss of $3,466,000, or 65 cents per share for the comparable 1989 quarter. Revenues for the 1990 quarter were $3,422,000, up from revenues of $3,264,000 in the third quarter of 1989.

The 1989 quarterly per share amount was based on 5,300,000 average outstanding common shares. The 1990 quarterly per share amount was based on an increased 6,833,000 average outstanding common shares, due to a corporate restructuring last January.

For the nine-month period, the company had a net loss of $7,395,000, or $1.10 per share, down substantially from the net loss of $11,199,000, or $2.11 per share, in the 1989 nine month period. Revenues for the first three quarters of 1990 were $12,089,000, a nine percent increase over revenues of $11,079,000 in the similar 1989 period.

	For the Three Months Ended		For the Six Months Ended
	Sept. 30, 1990	Sept. 30, 1989	Sept. 30, 1989	Sept. 30, 1989

Average Number of Shares Outstanding			2,887,250	1,787,523

The increase in the average number of shares outstanding in the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, was the result of the company's initial public offering of 1,150,000 shares of common stock in September 1989.

Higher sales in the company's facsimile equipment and supply operations resulted in increased revenues in the current quarter. The net loss in the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased due to higher selling, general, and administrative expenses incurred in expanding the retail operation and continued research and development costs associated with the company's portable facsimile machine, PF4003.

ZFAX Image Corp. has developed a lightweight, portable facsimile machine, the PF4003. The company also operates a retail store in Dallas; Seattle, Wash. and shortly, in Everett, Wash., for the sales of facsimiles and complementary products.

MIDLAND, TX (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Parker & Parsley Development Partners L.P. (AMEX: PDP) announced today third quarter earnings of $4.4 million, or 84 cents per unit, on total revenues of $15.4 million. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the partnership recorded net income of $7.7 million, or $1.44 per unit, on total revenues of $45.8 million and net cash flow provided by operations of $7.2 million. Net income from operations has increased significantly from the loss of $.6 million, or 10 cents per unit (excluding $12.4 million of extraordinary gains associated with gain on sale of assets and settlement of gas contracts), reported for the comparative nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Compared to the third quarter of 1989, oil and gas revenues remained constant despite an increase in oil sales of 10 percent and a decrease in gas sales of 37 percent. The decrease in gas sales is primarily due to the sale of gas properties which occurred in 1989.

As previously announced, the acquisition through consolidation and conversion to corporate form of eight limited partnerships affiliated with Damson Oil Corp. by Parker & Parsley Petroleum Co. is proceeding. It is anticipated that the transaction will be completed in the first quarter of 1991.

TORONTO (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Roman Corporation Limited announced today that it has been granted an option to purchase 500,000 Class B shares of Lawson Mardon Group Limited for an undisclosed price.

The company said that the option is from a shareholder to whom Roman Corporation sold the shares on Oct. 18, 1990.

Helen Roman-Barber, Roman Corporation's chairman and chief executive officer, said that "The shares are an attractive investment, especially in view of our plans to sell our full interest in Lawson Mardon as part of a reorganization of Roman Corporation's business."

Exercising the option would give Roman Corporation approximately 7,500,000 Class B shares, or 26 percent of the total number of outstanding Class A and Class B shares. Because of the additional votes given to the Class B shares, this translates into a 47.6 percent voting interest in Lawson Mardon.

Roman-Barber said that "Roman Corporation does not currently intend to further increase its equity in Lawson Mardon."

HOUSTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Los Angeles Lakers All-Star forward and leading scorer James Worthy was arrested Thursday on charges of solicitation of prostitution, Houston police said.

Worthy, in Houston with the Lakers to play the Rockets, allegedly called an escort service at about 3:45 p.m. Thursday from his hotel room. The escort service, however, was linked to the Houston Police Department.

Worthy posted bond and was released, but did not arrive at The Summit in time to start against the Rockets. Sam Perkins started in place of Worthy at forward.

Worthy arrived at The Summit early in the second quarter under police escort. A Rockets spokeman ordered police to remove all media from the area.

Worthy changed into his uniform and was greeted by loud cheers when he entered the arena. He then entered the game with 9:41 left in the first half and again was greeted by cheers.

Worthy did not leave the game after that and finished with 24 points. He was instrumental in Los Angeles pulling out a 108-103 overtime win over the Rockets.

''This is a tough night,'' Worthy said after the game. ''I didn't want to run away from the situation. Other than the death of a close friend, this is the toughest situation I've had to play in. I tried to do the best I could. I knew I had to focus.''

Worthy would not talk about his arrest.

Los Angeles Coach Mike Dunleavy said Worthy came to the bench and said, ''I'm ready to play, Coach.''

''I figured he was better off on the floor than on the bench,'' Dunleavy said. ''He wanted to (play) and I think that says a lot about him.''

Worthy allegedly called the escort service requested two women, and two female undercover officers went to the hotel where Worthy allegedly asked them to participate in sexual acts, said police spokesman Dan Turner.

''He has shown a lot of remorse,'' Turner said after Worthy had been arrested.

Worthy was charged with solicitation of prostitution, a Class B misdemeanor. If convicted, Worthy would face fines up to $1,000 and/or six months in jail.

''James Worthy has been a model citizen with the Los Angeles Lakers throughout his career and until I talk to him I cannot make much of a comment,'' Dunleavy said before the game. ''Until then James Worthy has been a class act and we will stand behind him. My main concern for is for James Worthy and his mental state.''

At halftime, Lakers spokesman John Black said, ''We support James Worthy 100 percent. He has represented the Lakers organization well. I know I speak for all Lakers management.''

Worthy, who had started all five previous Lakers games this season, was leading the team in scoring, averaging 26.6 points a game.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Monica Seles won a wearying war of nerves from Arantxa Sanchez Vicario Thursday night, outlasting her smaller rival over nearly 3 hours to reach the semifinals of the Virginia Slims Championships.

In a hard-hitting duel between the last two French Open champions, Seles prevailed, 5-7, 7-6 (8-6), 6-4, on the strength of a service break in the ninth game of the final set.

The two women never let up during their 2 hour and 55 minute marathon, and rarely was there an easy point. Sanchez squandered six set points before she captured the opening set, and Seles needed 12 set points to win the second.

With the verdict seemingly headed for a decisive tie-break, Seles gained the key break at 30 in the ninth game when Sanchez sliced a backhand wide.

Sanchez, only 5-foot-6, still was fighting to the end, gaining her 11th break point of the night in the 10th game before finally losing when she netted a backhand service return.

''It was very close, and every point was unbelievable shots and very good points,'' Sanchez said. ''It was a very good match and, you know, one of us has to win and the person was Seles.''

Seles had 28 break points for the match, converting seven.

''I had so many chances, and I was just very lucky to get through,'' Seles said. ''I had a lot of chances in the first set, and in the second and third sets I just couldn't convert them.''

In sharp contrast to this dramatic contest, fourth seed Mary Joe Fernandez enjoyed a routine 6-2, 6-4 victory over No. 8 Manuela Maleeva- Fragniere.

Seles will play Fernandez in the semifinals of this $3 million season-ending championship, and a victory would enable her to overtake Martina Navratilova for the world No. 2 ranking.

Deservedly, the two teenagers were delighted with their performances in the opening match, and they agreed that luck played a big part in deciding the winner.

''She was playing unbelievably and wasn't missing,'' said Seles, a 16-year-old Yugoslavian who lives in Sarasota, Fla. ''She was pumped up and really going for it. I had so many chances. I'm just happy I got out of the match.''

Referring to all her missed opportunities in the second set, Seles said, ''I don't know what happened to me. I basically got scared. I just didn't go for my shots when I should have.''

Sanchez felt she could have used just a little more luck on some close line calls, but otherwise was pleased.

''I'm really happy the way I played,'' the 18-year-old Spaniard said. ''I had it in my hands. I think I play great, it was a great match, and one has to win. She was more lucky than me.''

The opening set required 67 minutes before Sanchez converted her seventh set point opportunity, attacking the net to put away a backhand volley.

After Seles held serve to open the match behind a pair of aces, Sanchez ran off five consecutive games for a 5-1 lead. But Seles fought back to draw even at 5-5.

Sanchez had six set points in an eighth game which contained 30 points and stretched for 16 minutes. There were 12 deuces before Seles gained her seventh break point on a backhand crosscourt service return and Sanchez was long with a lob.

With Seles seemingly ready to take control, Sanchez broke in the 11th game and withstood a break point by Seles in the 12th to end the marathon set.

The second set took only one minute less to play and was just as exciting as Sanchez frustrated Seles on 11 set point opportunities before finally yielding.

Despite being broken in the opening game, Seles jumped to a 4-1 lead. But she failed on two set points while serving at 5-3, had two more set points in the 10th game and five in the 12th.

A lucky backhand net cord gave Seles two more set points at 6-4 in the tie-break, but she lost them both before cashing in on her 12th set point when Sanchez was out with a forehand.

For the match, Seles won only 12 of 32 points on her second serve.

The only other time the two women met in an official tournament, last year in Dallas, Seles was an easy 6-4, 6-2 winner.

The semifinal bracket will be completed Friday night when defending champion Steffi Graf plays sixth seed Katerina Maleeva and No. 3 Gabriela Sabatini faces unseeded Conchita Martinez.

ATLANTA (NOV. 16) UPI - The FBI confiscated ''confidential information'' gathered as part of a CNN story on government taping of private phone conversations between jailed Panamanian strongman Manuel Noriega and his lawyer, the network said.

Cable News Network said Thursday that FBI agents, ignoring protests from network lawyers, confiscated a box of documents taken from the room of a CNN reporter at the Omni International Hotel in Atlanta.

''A CNN lawyer on the scene objected to the action by the agents, who refused to answer questions and would not produce a search warrant,'' said a statement released by the network.

The network aired videotape Thursday showing a man, presumably one of the FBI agents, walking with a white box under his arm.

Donnita Clark, an FBI spokeswoman in Washington, said of the incident, ''It's under investigation.''

''We did not go search the room,'' she said, but declined to comment further on the matter. ''We are checking if any violations have occurred.''

The incident occurred as lawyers for CNN asked the Supreme Court Thursday to immediately lift a restraining order barring the network from broadcasting tapes of the telephone conversations between Noriega, who is being held at the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Miami, and lawyers defending him against drug trafficking charges.

The Justice Department ordered an FBI investigation into the taping of Noriega's phone calls and how the audio tapes got into the hands of reporters. Steve Haworth, a spokesman for CNN, said he did not know whether the audio tapes were part of the material confiscated by the FBI.

In its statement, the network said, ''Some confidential material accumulated by CNN in its investigation of possible government taping of telephone conversations of Gen. Manuel Noriega tonight remains in the custody of the FBI in Atlanta.''

The network said two FBI agents appeared at the Omni and took the box of documents, which had been removed from the room of CNN investigative reporter

Marlene Fernandez.

The hotel claimed the room had been vacated and turned over the box of material to hotel security, which in turn notified CNN security. Haworth said CNN security somehow informed FBI agents about the box, although he could not provide details on how that happened.

The network said FBI agents confiscated the box, saying they were looking for ''some stolen government property.''

''CNN attorneys said the material was not stolen government property and are now demanding its release by the FBI,'' the network said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush embarks Friday on a four-country, eight-day trip touted by the White House as a historic journey from the ''salons of Europe to the sands of Saudi Arabia.''

Highlights of the 16,000-mile trip include the Nov. 19-21 Paris summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation, where Bush and other leaders will salute the end of the Cold War.

The president plans a Middle East tour that will conclude with a Thanksgiving Day visit with U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia. He also will make stops in Czechoslovakia and Egypt.

''Some of the stops will highlight how far our European friends and allies have come in their efforts to achieve a Europe whole and free, while others will show how determined all of us are to assist our friends in the gulf in regaining their peace and security,'' Bush said in a statement Thursday.

''This wide-ranging trip will take us from the salons of Europe to the sands of Saudi Arabia,'' he added.

The European summit will bring Bush together for the fourth time with key world leaders Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev who has allied himself in the struggle against Saddam.

Although the president will be a co-signer in Paris of several documents signifying the ''new order'' in Europe - including an historic conventional arms reduction treaty - the Persian Gulf crisis will likely to take center stage.

On the eve of his departure, Bush said in an interview with Cable News Network that his decision last week to give forces aligned against Iraq an offensive capability by beefing up U.S. troop levels to roughly 400,000 soldiers was designed to send a ''clear, clarion signal'' to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein that ''we are deadly serious.''

In the interview, the president stood firm on his demand that Iraq withdraw from Kuwait.

''I'm not going to compromise one single iota with the principles I have outlined,'' he said, adding later that: ''I know in my heart of hearts that what we are doing is right. I know that what the United Nations has done is correct. I know we have to stand up against aggression, an aggression that goes rewarded today means instability and horror tomorrow.''

While in the Middle East, Bush will confer with Saudi King Fahd; Sheikh Jabir Al Sabah, the exiled Emir of Kuwait, and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

Fahd and the Kuwaiti leader are pessimistic that United Nations economic sanctions against Iraq will work and are pushing for a quick military solution while Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak said that he has asked Bush to postpone hostilities for three months to give Saddam time to change his mind.

But Bush, restated on CNN that he is in favor of a peaceful solution but that no options are ruled out. He also said that he has made no determination to use military force. ''But I am absolutely convinced that having the forces in place, should a military option be required, is prudent policy.''

On Thanksgiving, the president and Mrs. Bush will spend seven hours in the hot Saudi desert, visiting American and British troops at three sites, including a location near the Kuwaiti border.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - The man who produced the Grammy Award winning album for the dancing duo named Milli Vanilli has admitted the pair did not sing on their 1989 album, prompting industry officials to consider withdrawing the award.

The president of the National Academy of Recording Arts & Services said Thursday he may strip the duo of their Grammy if it can be proven the pair did not sing on the record.

Frank Farian, the German arranger who produced ''Girl You Know It's True,'' - winner of the 1989 Grammy for Best New Artist - Thursday admitted he hired other singers to perform on the record.

Farian also confessed that the duo, Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan, ''lip-synced'' their way throughout live and video performances.

Farian said he kept the information from Arista Records, which put out the debut album. The record's credits list Pilatus and Morvan as singing on all songs.

The album, including the hits ''Girl You Know It's True,'' and ''Blame It on the Rain,'' sold 7 million copies.

''I feel like a mosquito being squeezed,'' Pilatus told the Los Angeles Times. ''The last two years of our lives have been a total nightmare. We've had to lie to everybody. We are true singers but that maniac Frank Farian would never allow us to express ourselves.''

Farian, who fired the pair Wednesday at a press conference in Munich, Germany, owns the name Milli Vanilli.

''We were afraid for two years that this day would come,'' Pilatus said. ''We've cried about it sometimes, that the secret might come out. But deep inside, we wanted it to happen. I'm happy now that I can talk to our fans about it. We won't let them down. I swear we will soon have an album out with our own voices on it which will prove our talent.''

Michael Greene, president of the National Academy of Arts & Sciences said Thursday his organization had not realized that Pilatus and Morvan had not performed on the record.

The academy relies on recording credits presented by record companies, Greene said

Challenges to the legitimacy of Grammys are not made until ''a body of evidence is presented that compels the Academy to review their legitimacy,'' according to Greene.

He said if it is established that the Milli Vanilli album credits were falsified, ''we will then take this matter to the National Awards and Nominations Committee for their consideration as to the disposition of the award in question.''

Farian said he was forced to go public when the young dreadlocked singers asked to sing on their second album.

The producer declined to name the performers who actually sang on the album, but said he was planning to produce a record with them soon and would credit them accurately on the album.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (NOV. 16) UPI - Aftershocks from a strong earthquake rocked the Indonesian island of Sumatra, where homes, mosques and office buildings were destroyed and at least five people were injured, authorities said Friday.

The powerful earthquake Thursday, measured at 6.2 on the Richter scale by the Meteorological Institute of Jakarta, caused panic during the morning rush-hour in the north Sumatra capital of Medan.

Tremors were felt as far away as Malaysia and Thailand, officials said.

A second quake registering 4.7 jolted communities in west Sumatra, and aftershocks shook the island Thursday night.

While reports of damage were not complete, some houses, mosques and office buildings were destroyed in Medan, and landslides triggered by the quake cut off communication.

At least five people in the village of Blangkejeren suffered broken legs when they dashed out of shaking houses. An electrical power station collapsed, cutting off electricity in the area, officials said.

The quake triggered tremors in Malaysia's capital of Kuala Lumpur, 235 miles to the north. Officials said there were no reports of deaths in any of the Southeast Asian countries.

Hundreds of office workers scurried out of high-rise buildings in Kuala Lumpur but returned after officials confirmed the structures were sound. The Meteorological Department in Thailand also said tremors were felt in Bangkok and the resort of Phuket.

Japan's Meteorological Agency reported the quake had a magnitude of 7.2. The U.S. Geological Survey in Colorado said it measured 6.9 and was located 950 miles northwest of Jakarta, the capital.

It was the second time in less than four years that an earthquake in Sumatra spawned tremors in Malaysia. The same phenomenon occurred April 25, 1987 after a quake measuring 6.6 in the same Indonesian island.

Bush will salute the end of the Cold War with other leaders at a Paris summit before heading to the Middle East, where he'll visit U-S troops in Saudi Arabia Thanksgiving Day. Bush will also make stops in Czechoslovakia and Egypt.

The news agency Tass says Boris Yeltsin will speak to the Soviet Parliament Friday in a confrontation with Mikhail Gorbachev on the nation's economic and political crisis. The Russian Federation leader will address Soviet lawmakers on the same day that the Soviet president is expected to speak on the state of the union. Deputies met behind closed doors Thursday to prepare for the showdown.

The five astronauts aboard the shuttle Atlantis are looking at a clandestine day in space Friday. There is NO word on when the five-man crew may release a reported top-secret spy satellite into orbit. Atlantis rocketed away from Cape Canaveral Thursday night, kicking off a four-day mission. Atlantis is thought to be carrying a satellite to aid U-S troops in the Persian Gulf region.

A special counsel Friday will complete the process of outlining the cases against the so-called ''Keating Five'' senators. The Senate Ethics Committee Thursday launched several weeks of hearings into allegations that five lawmakers improperly exerted pressure on federal bank regulators. The claims are related to indicted Savings and Loan operator Charles Keating.

(NOV. 16) UPI - The Soviet Union has joined with Arab leaders in seeking to postpone any military action against Iraq, at least for the moment, while President Bush says he knows the actions that have been taken against Baghdad are correct.

The latest round of shuttle diplomacy made no progress in the Middle East and the proposed Arab summit came no closer to reality Thursday, but several nations reportedly joined those favoring such a meeting.

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, a staunch supporter of the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf, said Thursday he had asked President Bush to postpone any military action against Iraq for three months.

Mubarak, speaking to reporters after returning from Damascus where he talked to Syrian President Hafez Assad, said he requested the delay in any strike to give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein time to change his mind and withdraw from Kuwait.

In New York, the Soviet Union's chief Middle East negotiator told The New York Times a U.N. Security Council resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq should be delayed to give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein a ''face saving'' reason to leave Kuwait peacefully.

In an interview published Friday, Yevgeny M. Primakov said if Saddam fails to react, not only should the resolution authorizing force be approved, but military action should be taken immediately.

Mubarak made his peace call as a joint U.S.-Saudi amphibious operation began in Eastern Saudi Arabia, near the border of Iraqi- occupied Kuwait.

The exercise, dubbed ''Imminent Thunder,'' was to run through Nov. 21 and was to involve 16 ships, about 1,000 Marines and 1,100 aircraft.

Earlier in Damascus, Mubarak and Assad issued a joint communique that accused Iraqi leaders of foiling a peaceful attempt to solve the standoff by setting conditions for any peace meeting.

But Mubarak and Assad left the door open for a peaceful solution when they said in a joint communique issued after Mubarak's two-day visit that they would continue consultations with other Arab leaders ''to preserve the interests and unity of the Arab nation.''

''To give a further chance to the Iraqi president to reconsider his position, and in order to avert a destructive war, I have asked President Bush and his secretary of state to postpone the military option for three months,'' Mubarak told reporters in Cairo.

The Egyptian leader said Bush was in any case working to persuade the U.N. Security Council to endorse any military option, so that if a strike became necessary, it would be carried out under ''the umbrella of the United Nations.''

''The two leaders gave due attention to (Moroccan) King Hassan's call for an Arab summit,'' said the communique, issued after Mubarak and Assad held three rounds of talks. ''But because of what has been issued directly from Baghdad, setting preconditions, it makes it difficult if not impossible to hold such a summit.''

Baghdad Radio reiterated Thursday Iraq's position that the country's leadership would be willing to attend any new Arab summit, ''provided the resolutions passed at the Cairo summit are declared null and void.''

Both the Soviet Union and China, permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, have backed Hassan's call for an Arab summit. Of the 21 members of the Arab League, only Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania gave immediate backing to the summit call.

But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan had also agreed to an Arab summit, and there were signs that Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would join those in favor.

Mubarak himself last month rejected a Soviet proposal for an Arab summit, saying that any gathering without a specific agenda would evolve into a shouting match between pro-Kuwaiti and pro-Iraqi delegates. Iraqi delegates were reported to have thrown plates at Kuwaiti delegates at an Arab gathering after the invasion of Kuwait.

In an interview with Cable News Network, President Bush reiterated his anger at Saddam and defended his own actions in the crisis.

''I know in my heart of hearts that what we are doing is right,'' Bush said. ''I know that what the United Nations has done is correct. I know we have to stand up against aggression, an aggression that goes rewarded today means instability and horror tomorrow.''

On the diplomatic front, Cairo Radio said Soviet envoy Alexander Belonogov arrived in Cairo Thursday from the Yemeni capital Sanaa for talks with the Egyptian leadership.

Vladimir Petrovsky, another Soviet envoy and deputy foreign minister, was reported Thursday to have issued another blunt warning to Iraq to pull its troops out of Kuwait, Rabat Radio said.

''The Soviet Union warned Iraq that war would erupt in the gulf unless it withdrew its troops from Kuwait immediately,'' the state-owned radio said after Petrovsky held talks with King Hassan.

Petrovsky, who was later scheduled to visit Libya, Tunisia and Algeria, said Hassan's call for an emergency summit had Soviet support and that Arab nations themselves had the best chance to persuade Iraq to pull out peacefully.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (NOV. 16) UPI - Slave-traders are luring hundreds of young refugees from Mozambique's civil war onto farms and into black townships of South Africa to serve as laborers and concubines or be ritually slaughtered, two newspapers reported Friday.

The purchase price of a slave is $78 per head in rural settlements and $137 in urban areas, the liberal Weekly Mail said, after a reporter posed as a buyer and ''acquired'' two boys.

''They are among hundreds of young Mozambicans - rendered desperate by that country's civil war - who are being brought into the country with the promise that they will be given a job,'' the Weekly Mail said.

The daily Sowetan reported black South African and Mozambican slavers find victims by prowling the eastern border area, offering to show refugees routes through the electrified fence erected by South Africa to stop a flood of people fleeing Mozambique's 15-year war.

The newspapers, after weeks of investigations, said police and welfare authorities were acting against the slavers but were hampered from decisive steps by the large scale of the trade.

The Sowetan claimed to uncover ''a warren of clearing and safe houses, holes in the border fence called highways, handlers and a carefully planned transport network for bringing teenage boys and girls'' into South Africa.

The Weekly Mail said most of the slaves were girls aged from 14 to 17, enticed by offers of work or shelter but sold to men in townships in eastern Transvaal province and around Johannesburg.

The newspaper cited the case of 17-year-old Jabulile Masuku, first ''repeatedly raped'' by her slaver and then ''sold as a concubine to a man old enough to be her father.''

It said boys were most often sold to peasant farmers, made to work long hours and given no remuneration.

The Sowetan quoted an unnamed welfare worker in South Africa's eastern nominally self-governing black tribal territory of Kangwane, home to many refugees, as saying ''many of the refugees... are killed for muti'' - a form of ritual sacrifice.

But the Weekly Mail said investigations showed that despite their hardships, most of the former slaves and people still in bondage they had interviewed would choose to remain in South Africa rather than return to strife-torn Mozambique.

Right-wing rebels of the Renamo movement have fought the socialist government and ravaged the countryside since shortly after independence from Portugal in 1975, pillaging farm supplies, burning villages, and killing civilians.

Welfare organizations estimate more than 100,000 Mozambicans have crossed into South Africa. Although they are illegal aliens and liable for deportation if found, authorities have allowed most to stay in Red Cross-funded settlements and on smallholdings in Kangwane.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - A man threw a flammable liquid on his wife in their home and set her on fire, causing second- and third-degree burns that left her near death, officials said.

Sandra Douglas was set afire in the home she shared with her husband, Wayne, in Brooklyn at 4 a.m. Thursday and was rushed to New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, said Lt. Jim Powell, a fire department spokesman.

''He covered his wife with a flammable liquid and set fire to her,'' Powell said. Officials said the torching left the woman near death.

''She named her husband as her assailant in a written document,'' he said. Fire marshals proceeded with his arrest, Powell said.

Fire marshal Edward Wysocki, who was notified by the hospital, arrested her husband at 8 p.m. after questioning, Powell said.

The husband also was in New York Hospital for treatment of burns on another floor of the hospital, Powell said, adding that he was being kept under fire marshal guard.

Douglas is charged with second-degree attempted murder for the attack on his wife, he said.

There was no information on what incidents prestaged the attack, he said.

(NOV. 16) UPI - Against any other team, the New York Knicks might have picked up a victory Thursday night.

But the Knicks more than met their match against the Portland Trail Blazers, who may be playing the best basketball in the NBA.

The Knicks shot a very respectible 55 percent from the floor and scored 125 points in Portland Thursday. But the Trail Blazers went one better, shooting 60 percent and ripping New York's defense for 141 points.

''I feel our guys now have a quiet confidence, a feeling they can beat anybody at any time,'' said Portland Coach Rick Adelman.

''We though we had a good chance to win this game,'' said New York Coach Stu Jackson. ''But they outplayed us from the first quarter on.

''I don't think we're this bad but clearly Portland is the best team we've seen so far. They're playing like you'd expect a Western Conference champion to play.''

And Portland's Clyde Drexler played like you'd expect an all-star to play. He led all scorers with 31 points as the Blazers took control early and never looked back.

The Blazers pushed their record to 7-0 to remain the only unbeaten team in the NBA. New York, meanwhile, dropped to 5-3 on the season.

The Blazers have been overpowering in their last four games, a stretch that also includes wins over Detroit, Denver and the Los Angeles Clippers. Each time they took control early and then coasted. Portland's average margin of victory in those four games was 21 points.

Against the Knicks, the Blazers set the tone early, racing to a 16-4 lead. Portland's running game accounted for the final four baskets in that string, including the last two by Drexler.

''We wanted to get out and set our tempo,'' Terry Porter said. ''I hit a couple of threes and got us going and then when the bench came in they kept it going. This was the first game of the year where we played 48 minutes of basketball.''

Portland scored at will from almost everywhere on the court. They wound up with 35 points off their fast break and made made six of seven three-pointers.

Patrick Ewing led the way for New York with 27 points and nine rebounds.

''We just didn't execute,'' Ewing said. ''We have to stay focused, especially against a great team. They are one of the elite teams in the league and we didn't rise to this occasion.''

Magic 102, Jazz 99, OT

At Orlando, Fla., Sam Vincent scored 4 points in overtime, including a layup with 18.5 seconds to play that gave the Magic a 100-96 lead. Vincent finished with 21 points to go with 23 by Nick Anderson and 22 by Jerry Reynolds. Utah's Karl Malone was the game-high scorer and rebounder with 34 and 13.

Lakers 108, Rockets 103, (ot)

At Houston, Sam Perkins scored 5 of his 29 points in overtime and James Worthy arrested earlier in the day on charges of soliciting prostitution, added 24 to lift the Lakers. Los Angeles, 2-4, avoided the worst start in club history. Larry Smith led Houston with 24 points.

Nuggets 121, Timberwolves 108

At Denver, Orlando Woolridge pumped in 25 points, leading the Nuggets to their first win of the season. It was the first time this season Denver held an opponent under 50 percent shooting from the floor. Tony Campbell and Tyrone Corbin each scored 24 points for the Timberwolves, who have yet to win on the road this season.

Warriors 103, Bulls 93

At Oakland, Calif., Chris Mullin scored 30 points, including three baskets in the last two minutes of the game, leading Golden State to its fourth straight victory. Michael Jordan was held to 14 points, 15 below his season average.

Spurs 122, Kings 93

At Sacramento, Calif., David Robinson scored 8 of his 16 points in the fourth quarter to help the Spurs hand the Kings their sixth straight defeat. Terry Cummings led San Antonio with 22 points and Sean Elliott added 19, as seven Spurs scored in double figures.

President Bush is today leaving Washington on a journey that will take him to four nations in the Middle East and Europe. The 16-thousand- mile trip will include a Paris summit in which Bush and other leaders will hail the end of the Cold War. Bush will spent Thanksgiving with U-S troops in Saudi Arabia.

Britain's Margaret Thatcher may be rowing upstream as she tries to regain control of the ruling Conservative Party. One Conservative member of Britain's Parliament says there are many who have said they woN'T vote conservative again as long as Thatcher is prime minister. Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine will attempt to unseat Thatcher in a party vote next Tuesday.

The Senate ethics committee spends a second day today looking into the activities of the so-called Keating Five. The panel is trying to determine if the five improperly exerted pressure on federal bank regulators for the benefit of failed Savings and Loan operator Charles Keating.

The director of the Kennedy Space Center calls it ''something to be thankful for.'' The shuttle Atlantis took off from Cape Canaveral last night on a classified mission. Sources say the shuttle and its five-man crew will release into orbit a satellite... possibly to keep an eye on the Persian Gulf crisis.

President Bush has signed legislation that he says will mean a ''cleaner America.'' The clean air bill inked by Bush Thursday breaks a 13-year stalemate in Congress over strengthening and updating the 1977 Clean Air Act. Former President Reagan fought such legislation during his time in office.

MANILA, Philippines (NOV. 16) UPI - Radical workers demanding pay raises exploded bombs and clashed with police Friday, leaving two people dead and three others injured, police said.

Police, backed by fire trucks and SWAT jeeps, broke up in two places marches by workers to President Corazon Aquino's palace, but allowed 7, 000 protesters to mass at two public squares in central Manila.

Police Col. Ricardo Reyes said he had orders not to allow a demonstration by the leftist May 1st Movement, or KMU, near the palace.

Marching protesters pelted police with tiny homemade bombs, wounding a deputy police chief and two of his men. Some 80 protesters were arrested and the demonstrators dispersed at nightfall, said Reyes.

The military detained hundreds of KMU supporters from nearby provinces being driven to Manila in buses and jeeps.

Hours earlier, two men believed to be KMU members were killed in a predawn bombing incident at the suburban Quezon City hall. Seized from the slain men were homemade bombs, blasting caps, a grenade and a KMU banner, police said.

Police said lawmen in a patrol car heard a blast at the city hall garden and saw three men running away. One of the men was shot and killed when he allegedly tried to toss a grenade at the policemen. The two others escaped.

Another man was found dead at the site of the explosion. Police said he apparently was killed when a bomb he was planting at the garden accidentally exploded.

KMU denied involvement in the incident.

The union is demanding a 89 cent increase in the minimum daily wage of $3.17.

Aquino has urged KMU to negotiate the pay increase with the regional wage board. The KMU rally was timed to coincide with Aquinos scheduled meeting with moderate trade unions, which was called off at the last minute.

KMU was not included in the meeting after it staged a general strike Oct. 24 for higher wages that was marked by the killing of two moderate trade union leaders and the burning of several dozen passenger buses.

Guerrillas of the 19,000-strong communist New Peoples Army have been blamed for the violence. The NPA has been battling the Manila government for 21 years.

After the October strike was roundly denounced, the NPA announced Wednesday a ''hands-off'' police in the latest KMU mass actions, but warned it would retaliate if the military took repressive actions against the KMU.

(NOV. 16) UPI - Unseasonably warm weather continued in the eastern United States Friday with clear skies, while thick fog blanketed the Gulf Coast and showers dampened the Midwest.

A cold front extended through Kentucky and into Ohio, and showers were expected during the afternoon, ending a stretch of pleasant weather.

Dense fog stretched along the western Gulf coast from Galveston, Texas, to southwestern Louisiana, cutting visibility to near zero and prompting warnings to boaters who were told to use radar, especially at low tide.

The fog was expected to thicken through the morning, especially in low lying areas and near lakes and streams.

To the west, cooler weather moved into Denver during the night pushing temperatures into the mid 30s under partly cloudy skies, while the thermometer dropped to the mid 20s in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Patchy fog formed along the Washington coast as temperatures in Seattle were in the upper 30s with light winds and rain expected late in the day, while to the south, Los Angeles had lows in the 50s with haze and high clouds.

High pressure was centered over South Carolina, keeping fair weather over the South, and unseasonably warm weather extended into New York, where temperatures were expected to reach the 70s.

Lows dipped into the 40s in New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts under mostly clear skies.

COLUMBUS, GA (NOV. 16) UPI - Jack E. Swift, vice president and executive editor of the Columbus Ledger-Enquirer, died Thursday of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound in his home. He was 46.

The publisher and two other staff members of the newspaper summoned police to Swift's home shortly before 2 p.m., and an officer found the dead man sitting in a chair in the den with a small-caliber handgun bullet wound in the forehead. The revolver was in the editor's hand in his lap.

Police are running tests to determine whether there are fingerprints other than Swift's on the revolver, but officers do not suspect foul play.

Investigators said Swift left behind a suicide note with written instructions, but they refused to disclose its contents.

''All of us who knew and loved Jack as a friend and as a fellow newspaperman are heartbroken at his tragic death,'' said Ledger-Enquirer publisher Billy Watson. ''We have suffered a loss from which we will never fully recover. I have never known another editor who cared more deeply and sincerely about his employees or who tried harder to exert a positive influence in his community.''

Swift was named executive editor of the Columbus newspapers in 1987 and was a forming managing editor and assistant executive editor, daily columnist and reporter.

Prior to coming to Columbus, he worked for the St. Petersburg Evening Independent and the Tampa Times. He also taught mass communications and journalism at several colleges and served as press secretary for Lt. Gov. Zell Miller, currently Georgia's governor-elect, in 1977-79.

A former martial arts instructor who held a fourth-degree black belt in karate Swift served in the Air Force from 1965 to 1969, rising to staff sergeant and receiving the Bronze Star and the Vietnam Armed Forces Medal of Honor.

Swift also was a former chairman of the Governor's Mental Health/Mental Retardation Council and the Mayor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped in Columbus, as well as a founding member of the Columbus Alliance for Battered Women.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

BEIJING (NOV. 16) UPI - China published a bluntly sarcastic attack on American views of liberty Friday, saying massive police protection of a recent Ku Klux Klan march proved that democracy in capitalist countries is an elitist ''sham.''

The state-run Workers' Daily said the Oct. 28 KKK march in Washington showed the superiority of socialist democracy and should serve as a warning to ''ignorant youths'' who ''blindly spoke highly of American liberties'' during last year's democracy movement.

Chinese troops crushed the democracy movement on June 4, 1989, calling it a counterrevolutionary rebellion.

The signed article, by writer Ma Yanling, said he was prompted to write by reports about the October rally staged by the white-supremacist Ku Klux Klan in the U.S. capital, whose population is predominanty black.

Ma observed that rather than banning the march by the ''fascist'' KKK, authorities in the U.S. capital responded by sending out 5,000 military police to protect the marchers' ''democratic freedoms.''

''The KKK members were allowed to march in the light of day, but the American authorities who claim to be the No. 1 advocates of democratic freedoms did not ban them,'' the article said.

''Or to put it as some of the masses in Washington said, 'The KKK has the freedom to demonstrate while we don't even have the freedom to walk, ''' it said.

''The incident again shows that the democratic freedoms of the United States and the capitalist class is a sham,'' Ma wrote.

By contrast, the newspaper said China's superior socialist-style democracy aims to guarantee democratic freedoms to all people - as long as they accept unchallenged Communist Party rule.

''The democracy of our country ... is the democracy of the proletariat, or the people's democracy,'' it said.

''We publicly declare the class character of socialist democracy, which gives democratic freedoms to the vast masses instead of giving it to anti-socialist and counterrevolutionary elements.

''At the same time, all those who enjoy democratic freedoms will obey the constitution and laws and be restrained by discipline.''

The editorial also acknowledged that Chinese aspirations for full democracy cannot be realized until China's economic base is strengthened.

The writer said China should carefully collect further examples that reveal the true nature of capitalist-style liberties.

''There are many lively teaching materials like the KKK,'' Ma wrote.

NEWPORT, R.I. (NOV. 16) UPI - Three witnesses say a Rhode Island nightclub bouncer accused of assaulting New England Patriot wide receiver Hart Lee Dykes last month never hit him.

Two patrons of the nightclub and the manager testified in District Court Thursday at a probation violation hearing for the bouncer, William K. Earley, 35, of Tiverton.

One of the patrons, Jessica O'Brien, 17, said Dykes was yelling at Earley outside Club Shalimar in Providence when someone else knocked Dykes to the ground. Her boyfriend, Glen Upchurch, said Dykes was punched twice and kicked, but added that Earley did not participate in the attack.

The manager, Edward Imondi, said Dykes and his teammate, receiver Irving Fryar yelled obscenities at Earley and ''would not leave without a fight.''

Dykes testified last week that he and Fryar were not looking for trouble and it was Earley who harassed them. Judge Richard Israel continued the hearing until Nov. 29.

The 6-foot-7-inch, 300-pound Earley is accused of assaulting Dykes on the night of Oct. 10. Earley, who was on crutches the night of the incident and is still on crutches, is on probation for a robbery conviction in 1982.

Fryar was arrested the night of the incident and charged the next day with illegally carrying a pistol. He is scheduled to be in court Dec. 12.

Dykes suffered a serious eye injury in the fight and has not played a down for the Patriots since the altercation.

PARIS (NOV. 16) UPI - France increased its military presence near the Chad-Sudan border Friday because of increased fighting between Chadian army troops and Libyan-backed rebels, officials announced.

A Defense Ministry statement said 150 soldiers normally stationed in the Chadian capital of N'Djamena were sent to Abeche in the eastern Chad near the border with Sudan.

The ministry said the decision to send additional troops was made because of the situation in eastern Chad, but did not elaborate further.

According to sources in Paris, the rebels control an area delineated by the towns of Bahay, Iriba, Tine and Guereda. The Chadian government of President Hissen Habre claims the rebels, led by former Chadian armed forces commander Idriss Deby, are supported by Lybian leader Moammar Gadhafi.

France, which first deployed troops to the west African country in 1986 in response to a Lybian offensive in northern Chad, maintains a permanent contingent of 1,000 troops around N'Djamena to discourage Gadhafi from backing further attacks.

Paris reduced its contingent by 300 men late last year following an Algerian-backed peace agreement to resolve a dispute between N'Djamena and Tripoli over the mineral-rich Aouzou Strip.

Chadian Foreign Minister Acheikh Ibn Dumar said in April the reduction in French troops and anti-aircraft installations in the eastern city of Abeche ''encouraged Libya'' to sponsor incursions from the rebel bases in Sudan.

The Chadian Ambassador to France, Allam-Mi Ahmad, said Friday his country has not asked for additional French troops but may do so ''given the state of war'' in the country.

''Violent combats are taking place in the Chadian region of Tine along the Tine-Iriba axis, but the Chadian Armed Forces control the situation,'' Ahmad said.

The Chadian Embassy denied reports N'Djamena has asked Zaire for military help to ward off the rebels.

''Because this is a war of movement, the evacuation or control of a small locality is without importance,'' Ahmad said. ''The essential thing is to destroy the offensive potential of the assailants.''

The latest fighting began about a week ago when about 2,000 rebels entered

Chadian territory but were pushed back to their bases in the Sudan, according to the Chadian military command.

The Chadian government acknowledges that the fighting is continuing in the Tine region, suggesting to some observers that the Chadian army fell into a trap set by the rebels, allowing them to pursue their offensive.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - Inflation at the consumer level eased slightly in October, rising 0.6 percent after gaining 0.8 percent in each of the two previous months, the Labor Department said Friday.

The increase, in line with economists' expectations, was fueled again by rising prices in petroleum-based energy products, which accounted for about half of the overall increase.

The government's index for fuel oil rose 12.8 percent last month while the index for motor fuels gained 7.7 percent. Both gains were slightly less than those of August and September when oil prices skyrocketed in the wake of Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait and the subsequent U.S.-led military response.

Declining apparel prices, coupled with slight gains in entertainment and shelter costs, helped offset larger gains in prices for other goods and services and mediacal care.

During the first 10 months of the year, prices rose at an annualized rate of 6.7 percent, up from 4.7 percent during the same period the year before. The department said prices jumped 8.9 percent during the past three months, the steepest advance for any three-month period since 1982.

If the consumer inflation rate remains at 6.7 percent for the year, it would be the highest rate in the past nine years, the department said.

Transportation costs rose 2.1 percent last month, with nearly all of the gain attributed to rising oil prices. The government's index for gasoline, which gained 7.7 percent in October, has skyrocketed 26.9 percent in the past three months and 36.9 percent since the beginning of the year.

The index for gasoline prices stood 4.3 percent above its previous peak level of March 1981.

Rising automobile purchase prices also contributed to the increase in the transportation index. New car prices rose 0.5 percent, the second monthly increase in the past nine months. Automobile finance charges also gained during the month.

Buyers found some relief in the market for used cars, where prices continued to decline.

Prices for food and beverages gained 0.3 percent last month, the same as September's increase. Larger increases in grocery prices and foods bought away from home were offset by smaller gains in prices for alcoholic beverages.

Fruit and vegetable prices decreased in October while prices for meats, poultry, fish and eggs rose.

Overall housing prices gained 0.3 percent after rising 0.4 percent in September. Shelter costs rose 0.1 percent.

The index for household fuels and utilities posted a third consecutive monthly gain, rising 1.2 percent in October. The index for home fuel oils, up 12.8 percent last month, has gained 50.8 percent in the past three months.

Apparel and upkeep costs declined 0.2 percent last month, but medical care costs advanced 0.8 percent to a level 9.4 percent above year-ago prices.

Entertainment costs gained 0.1 percent last month, the smallest monthly gain this year.

LONDON (NOV. 16) UPI - An opinion poll published Friday bolstered Michael Heseltine's bid to oust Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher by showing the Conservative Party would have a 10-point lead over the Labor Party if it was led by the former defense secretary.

Elsewhere, Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd moved to quash speculation that he would may run for party leader in second round voting, if Thatcher fails in the first round next Tuesday.

''When I wrote my name on the proposal form and nominated her for leader of the Conservative Party, that wasn't just for this week. That wasn't something that stood for Tuesday but not for Wednesday,'' he said. ''I support her. Full stop.''

Hurd said the speculation - strengthened by a story in The Independent newspaper that senior Cabinet members had approached the foreign secretary - was misplaced because he expects Thatcher to win the first round.

Heseltine issued his challenge Wednesday as a schizm developd within the party from Thatcher's resistance to joining the other 11 nations of the European Community in the efforts to unite politically and economically. She contends the moves would yield too many sovereign powers.

Heseltine made his pitch for leadership with a pro-European stance, that Britain must not be excluded from the unified market, and with a vow to review the poll, or head, tax, an unpopular levy that is expected to cost the party votes in the next elections.

The prime minister Friday made a surprise one-day visit to Northern Ireland and reiterated her determination to win the leadership challenge, in which she needs the backing of at least 214 of the 372 eligible voters.

''I believe we will win and I hope we will win well,'' the BBC quoted her as saying.

Bookmakers believe Thatcher will prevail and the Press Association in a poll released Thursday concluded that 19.2 percent of Conservative legislators would support Heseltine and 53.3 percent would vote for Thatcher.

But a poll by the authoritative Mori research organization for The Times newspaper revealed that the view in the electorate was the virtual opposite, and that the political survival of Conservative members would be better served with Heseltine at the helm in elections that must be held by mid-1991.

Mori showed that the Conservatives under Heseltine would take 49 percent of the vote and Labor 39 percent, which would be its first lead over the main opposition party in 18 months.

The organization also showed through questioning 1,088 people that with Thatcher remained leader, Labor's lead would only be 5 points, also a significant decline in the popularity of the party led by Neil Kinnock.

''What the Mori poll shows is that there is overwhelming support in the country for Mr. Michael Heseltine,'' said Peter Tapsell, a Heseltine campaigner.

''That message will not be lost on my colleagues in their constituencies this weekend, particularly those with relatively small majorities.''

Thatcher loyalists denounced the poll as inaccurate.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - The U.S. trade deficit edged down 3.3 percent to $9.41 billion in September even though the cost of oil imports hit a nearly 9-year high in the aftermath of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, the Commerce Department said Friday.

Private analysts expected a shortfall of $8.9 billion for the month. The September figure follows deficits of $9.73 billion in August and $9.12 billion in July, adjusted for seasonal factors.

September imports totaled $41.25 billion vs. $42.28 billion in August, while September exports totaled $31.84 billion vs. $31.55 billion in August, according to the data compiled by the department's Census Bureau.

The cost of oil imports in September, not adjusted for seasonal factors, totaled $6.18 billion a huge increase over $4.81 billion in August - the highest level since about $6.3 billion in October 1981, a Commerce Department spokesman said.

Prices have skyrocketed since Iraq's Aug. 2 takeover of oil-rich Kuwait.

The trade deficit with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries swelled to $2.84 billion in August vs. $2.16 billion in September, not adjusted for seasonal factors.

The deficit with oil kingdom Saudi Arabia alone nearly doubled to $874 billion during the month.

PORTLAND, OR (NOV. 16) UPI - The National Council of Churches, condemning the Bush administration's Persian Gulf policy as one of ''reckless rhetoric and imprudent behavior,'' called for the immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces except those explicitly recommended by the United Nations.

''We stand at a unique moment in human history, when all around us seemingly impregnable walls are being broken down and deep historical enmities are being healed,'' the council said in a message unanimously approved at its annual general board meeting Thursday night.

''And yet, ironically, at such a moment, our own nation seems to be poised at the brink of war in the Middle East.''

While condemning Iraq's invasion and occupation of Kuwait, the council's message was also critical of President Bush's response to the crisis, questioning ''the apparent open-ended nature of U.S. military involvement in the Middle East and the failure on the part of the administration clearly to state its goals.''

''President Bush and administration officials have done little to clarify either of these points,'' the council message said. ''Indeed the rationales offered for the steady expansion of U.S. presence have often been misleading and sometimes even contradictory.''

Of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the council said, ''We are appalled by the past and present behavior of the regime in Iraq, one which has previously enjoyed U.S. support.''

But the response of the Bush administration, the council said, amounts to ''reckless rhetoric and imprudent behavior.''

''As Christians in the United States, we must witness against weak resignation to the illogical logic of militarism and war,'' the council's message said.

The delegates adopted a resolution urging Iraq ''to release immediately all those citizens of other nations being held against their will in Kuwait or Iraq and to withdraw immediately its troops and occupation forces from Kuwait.''

The resolution also calls ''for an immediate halt to the buildup and the withdrawal of U.S. troops from the gulf region except those which might be required and explicitly recommended by the Security Council of the United Nations in accordance with the relevant provisions of the U.N. Charter.''

While calling for the continued ''rigorous application'' of sanctions against Iraq authorized by the U.N. Security Council, the council of churches reiterated its opposition to the withholding of food and medicine as a weapon against civilian populations.

The National Council of Churches represents some 42 million American Christians in 32 member denominations such as the United Methodist Church, the Episcopal Church, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), the United Church of Christ, the National Baptist Convention of America and the Orthodox Church in America.

The council's resolution called on its congregations, local and regional ecumenical agencies and individuals ''to make peace in the Middle East a paramount and urgent priority for prayer, study and action.''

It also called on Bush and Congress ''to pursue every means for a negotiated political solution to the crisis in the gulf, including direct negotiations with Iraq.''

The resolution also addressed the Israel-Palestinian issue.

''The U.S. government's condemnation of the massacre on the Harem al-Sharif Temple Mount ... and its endorsement of a U.N. mission to the occupied territories was a welcome departure from past policies,'' the council said.

''The failure of the U.S. government to take any substantive measures to oppose the Israeli occupation, however, weakens the effect of its appropriate outrage over Iraqi aggression against Kuwait. The region cries out for a U.S. policy that seeks to redress all cases of injustice, including those of Israel and Palestine, Lebanon and Cyprus.''

The resolution also was critical of U.S. arms sales to Saudi Arabia and forgiveness of debts to Egypt and Israel.

''The presence of U.S. troops in the Middle East has led to an expansion of the military capacity of an already grossly over- militarized region,'' the resolution said.

''The prposed billions of dollars of arms sales to Saudi Arabia, the forgiveness of military debts to Egypt and Israel, and the supplying of both with new and more sophisticated weaponry, combined with a seeming lack of initiative to resolve the region's unsettled disputes, can only be seen as morally irresponsible.''

(NOV. 16) UPI - Soviet President Gorbachev and rival Boris Yeltsin drew a record audience when they each spoke to the Supreme Soviet today. Yeltsin's speech was much shorter than Gorbachev's, but it did NOT lack in content. The president of the Russian republic called for a vote of NO confidence in the Soviet government, the setting up of an ''extraordinary anti-crisis committee'' and food help from the West. .

Gorbchev called for rapid conclusion of a new Union Treaty with the republics to bring the country out of crisis and a moratorium of all republican decisions that could affect the conclusion of a treaty. Gorbachev told parliament that he would make changes in the highest ranks of the Soviet military. He called on the media to stop defaming the army.

Indiana Republican Senator Richard Lugar has terminated the Republican Majority Fund, a once mighty political fund-raising tool which was formed 10 years ago to help elect Republicans to the Senate. At its peak, the group had raised nearly four-and-one-half Million dollars for candidates in the 1983-84 elections. From Janurary 1st, 1989, to October 17th, 1990, the PAC raised just 614-thousand dollars.

Donald Trump has managed to keep his Taj Mahal casino out of bankruptcy, at least temporarily. Trump faced a midnight deadline for making a 47 Million dollar interest payment, but his negotiators convinced creditors last night to continue talking today about re- structuring the debt. In June, Trump missed a scheduled interest and principal payment on bonds for his Trump's Castle casino.

The shuttle Atlantis is in space today, but NOT much will be told about the activities of the five-man crew. The mission is classified, reportedly to launch a militlary satellite into orbit. This is the seventh and last fully classified shuttle flight planned by NASA. Sources say the shuttle is due to return to Edwards Air Force Base in California on Monday.

The emir of Bahrain reportedly is at the Cleveland Clinic for medical care. Newspaper and radio reports in Cleveland say he arrived at the clinic Wednesday. Cleveland Clinic officials say they canNOT confirm the emir's

A senior Chinese official told a leading Soviet newspaper that China's economic reform success has hinged on remaining true to communism and that freeing the political system would lead to ''social turmoil.'' The official spokesman for the State Council, China's cabinet, said China would improve, but not change its political system and will never shift to the multi-party or parliamentary system.

Former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop says it will take the co- operation of the nation's doctors, insurance companies and hospitals to cure the ills plaguing the nation's health care system. WARSAW, Poland (NOV. 16) UPI - A public transportation strike over demanded wage increases that started four days earlier in the southern city of Krakow spread to other towns in Poland Friday.

Buses and street trams were idle in Gdansk and Krakow. In the central Polish city of Lodz, tram drivers showed up for work two hours late. Bus drivers in northern Olsztyn did the same.

The drivers are demanding that wages increase from an equivalent of about $126 a month to $210 a month.

The strikers say their buying power has suffered despite periodic fare increases.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (WNS) - Fort Howard Corp., which lost $76.5 million for the nine months ended Sept. 30, is going to offer $250 million in common stock to existing shareholders, the firm said.

In documents filed Thursday with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission the firm announced the sale of new stock. It said it will use the proceeds to reduce its $3.3 billion long-term debt, finance capital expenditures and fund other expenses.

Fort Howard has assets of $3.9 billion, but a year ago became a private company and built up most of its current debt.

The paper and forest products concern reported the $76.5 million loss for the first nine months of 1990 on sales of $858.9 million. In the same period in 1989, Fort Howard lost $204.5 million on sales of $784.1 million and a spokesman said despite the loss this year, the firm's cash flow is improving as losses fall.

Institutional investors reportedly intend to buy $150 million of the new stock issue and security analysts expect Fort Howard to use most of the money to reduce its debt burden from going private.

Michael Ross, a Chicago analyst for Blunt Ellis & Lowei, a division of Kemper Securities Group Inc., said the move was a good one for Fort Howard.

''This is a big plus for the company - in the right direction,'' he said.

Financial statements show the stock sale would boost shareholder equity by more than six times to about $290 million.

(NOV. 16) UPI - Economists have a little to smile about this morning. The September trade deficit figures are out and they are down three-point-three percent, to nine-point-four-BILLION dollars. And that comes even with oil prices up to nearly nine-year highs.

The Labor Department is also out with a favorable report on the economy, given the recent jump for energy prices. October consumer inflation was up six-tenths of one percent. But that's actually an easing of the figure from what had been eight-tenths of one percent jumps in August and September.

Russian Republic President Boris Yeltsin and Soviet President Gorbachev agreed on one thing today in speeches to the Soviet parliament... the crisis in the nation is caused by a breakdown in relations between the 15 republics and the Yeltsin upstaged Gorbachev before the Soviet parliament today with a short, dramatic address in which he called for a vote of NO-confidence in the Soviet government. He also called for formation of an anti-crisis committee and food help from the West.

MILTONA, Minn. (NOV. 16) UPI - A freight train slammed into a school bus at a downtown crossing Friday, killing the busdriver and a 9-year-old boy and injuring 23 other children.

The Alexandria school district bus driver was identified as Fred Beman, 72, and the dead student was Kristian Ringdahl, 9.

Seven of the 23 injured students were hospitalized, with at least six reported in serious condition at an Alexandria hospital. The rest were treated and released.

No one on the Soo Line train was injured.

''My first thought was, 'Thank God, none of my kids were on it,'' said Bruce Kelly, one of the first people on the accident scene. ''They ride another bus. They were lucky.''

Douglas County Sheriff Terry Eilers said the crash occurred at about 7:30 a.m. about two blocks from a Miltona school where the driver had picked up some students to bring them to classes in Alexandria. Most of the students were reported to be high school age.

Witnesses said the train's whistle was blowing prior to the crash. Eilers said the train hit the front end of the bus, ripping most of it away. He said there were about 60 children aboard and about a half-dozen were ejected from the vehicle.

A school district official described Beman as an experienced driver with a good driving record. The sheriff said he could not verify whether the bus driver had fallen ill just before the accident.

''I can't confirm that until an autopsy is done and I believe the hospital will possbily be doing one,'' Eilers said. ''From the witnesses at the scene, it looks as though everything was in fine working order with the bus and driver prior to the accident.''

The crossing was the site of at least two other accidents, including a Dec. 5, 1988, car-train collision that claimed the lives of a woman and her parents.

''The crossing is just a stop-sign crossing,'' Eilers said. ''It's a rectangular red stop sign. There are no arm guards that come down or no flashing lights at this time. It has been a problem. We've had a car and a pickup hit there also. It involved the detrailment of one of the trains, so we've had some problems with that intersection.''

TORONTO (NOV. 16) UPI - Northern Dancer, the 1964 Kentucky Derby winner who became the first Canadian-bred horse to win the Run for the Roses, was put to death Friday at age 29 after a severe bout of colic.

The feisty champion, whose small but muscular frame became an industry prototype, was also a top breeder, siring a record 143 stakes winners.

Charles Taylor, president of Windfields Farms, headquartered in Oshawa, Ontario, said the horse developed colic Thursday night. Northern Dancer appeared to rally at times, but the decision was made to end his suffering.

Northern Dancer was put to death at 6:15 a.m. EST at the Windfields operation in Chesapeake City, Md., where he was retired and bred until 1987. Taylor said the horse will be buried in Oshawa in the next few days at a private ceremony.

His death comes one day after that of Alydar, the great sire who waged legendary duels with Triple Crown winner Affirmed in 1978.

''He put Canadian racing and breeding on the map,'' Taylor said of Northern Dancer. ''He had a lot of spirit, heart and pride. He knew he was still No. 1 and got annoyed if we looked at stallions in nearby stalls. He knew he was No. 1 and he couldn't see why we'd want to look at anyone else.''

Northern Dancer was born May 27, 1961 to Nearctic and Natalma at Winfields Farms in Oshawa. He was initially unpopular with track grooms, who had difficulty breaking him.

In 1964, Northern Dancer won the first two legs of the Triple Crown, the Derby and Preakness, but failed to capture the thoroughbred racing's final jewel when he finished third in the Belmont Stakes.

His Derby time of two minutes flat stood as a record until Secretariat shattered the mark in 1973.

Northern Dancer had an equally impressive record in Canada, winning the Queen's Plate in 1964, before a bowed tendon forced retirement.

Northern Dancer won often in Canada as a 2-year-old. His first big triumph in the United States came in the Remsen Stakes at Belmont Park in 1963. He won the Flamingo and Flordia derbies and a big test at Churchill Downs before scoring in the Kentucky Derby.

Northern Dancer sired European champion Nijinsky II and several English Derby winners, including The Minstrel and Sadler's Wells, a leading European sire.

(NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush signed a handful of environment-related bills into law today in a ceremony on the South Lawn of the White House. Bush said the eight bills would protect what he termed ''some of the most precious expanses of America.'' The measures cover parts of the Mojave Desert in Nevada the Great Lakes and the Florida Keys. Bush signed the bills before leaving Washington, D-C, on an eight-day trip to Europe and the Persian Gulf.

Highlights of the 16-thousand-mile journey include the November 19th through 21st Paris summit of the Conference on Security and Co- operation, where Bush and other leaders will salute the end of the Cold War. Bush also will visit Egypt and will become the first U-S president ever to visit Czechoslovakia. The journey will climax with a Thanksgiving Day visit with American troops in Saudi Arabia.

The White House announced today that four top congressional leaders have been invited to spend Thanksgiving Day with Bush and the U-S troops in Saudi Arabia. House Speaker Tom Foley, Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, House Republican leader Bob Michel of Illinois and Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole will be sitting on sandbags with Bush and his wife, eating turkey with the troops.

Soviet diplomats are trying to build Arab unity in the Persian Gulf crisis, but the top Russian Mideast envoy urged immediate action if the U-N Security Council authorizes force to remove Iraqi troops from Kuwait. Soviet envoy Alexander Belonogov met with Egyptian officials in Cairo. He told reporters that the Kremlin still feels that an unified Arab response to the Kuwait invasion is the best way to avoid bloodshed in the region.

At the White House, news secretary Marlin Fitzwater responded- sort of- to the call by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak for a three-month moratorium on military action against Iraq. In Fitzwater's words- ''While we don't want to give a timetable, we want to give the sanctions maximum time to work. That's our policy.''

The attorney for California Democratic Senator Alan Cranston has lost one round before the Senate ethics committee as it looks at Cranston and other members of the so-called ''Keating Five.'' Cranston's lawyer wanted the committee to keep North Carolina Republican Senator Jesse Helms from taking part in the discusions because of comments he made earlier about Cranston. Helms reportedly called Cranston- quoting now- ''the leading water carrier in Congress'' for disgraced financier Charles Keating. But committee members decided their charter does NOT give them the power to disqualify any member.

Increased exports of U-S goods in September helped cut the nation's trade deficit by three-point-three percent. The drop to nine-point-four- BILLION dollars comes despite the higher costs of imported oil following Iraq's invasion of Kuwait. And that means that if oil prices had NOT jumped sharply higher during the month, then the overall deficit could have been even lower.

An out-of-court settlement has been reached in a dispute between a Chicago car dealer and the village board of a northwest Chicago suburb. And that leaves residents of Buffalo Grove breathing a little easier. In this case, REALLY breathing easier. When the village denied a request by the car dealer to re-zone some nearby property, he leased the land to a pig farmer- and his pigs. That brought the nuisance abatement suit that has now been settled by a decision that the pigs will soon leave Buffalo Grove alone.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - The International Boxing Federation Thursday sanctioned Evander Holyfield's heavyweight title defense against George Foreman, leaving only the World Boxing Council to withhold approval of the April bout.

IBF President Bob Lee said his group's 12-member executive committee voted unanimously on the matter.

The decision came two days after the World Boxing Association sanctioned Holyfield's voluntary defense April 19 at Atlantic City, N.J.

Of the three major boxing organizations, only the WBC is threatening to strip Holyfield for not first making his mandatory defense against Mike Tyson, the top-ranked challenger.

The IBF granted approval with the condition the winner must fight Tyson by Oct. 25, with negotiations commencing by May 1 and ending by June 1. The WBA sanction stipulated the Tyson defense must be made by June 11, a less realistic deadline 53 days after Holyfield-Foreman, meaning a purse bid may be held.

Tyson had requested an exception to the rule giving a new champion a year to make his mandatory defense and the organizations originally reduced the deadline to 120 days. When Holyfield beat James ''Buster'' Douglas Oct. 25, he already had signed to fight Foreman and asked the three organizations to reconsider.

''I'm very much opposed to stripping the title of a champion who hasn't held it for 30 days,'' Lee said. ''I think any incoming champion ought to have the right to function under the rules of heavyweight boxing.

''Evander Holyfield is asking for the courtesy given every other fighter and it is our obligation to extend it.''

Tyson and adviser Don King contend the controversy surrounding Tyson's title defeat in February should merit special consideration. They have convinced the WBC that because Douglas received a long count two rounds before he decked Tyson, Tyson should get the first defense, denying Holyfield a right to a voluntary defense.

When Tyson was champion he twice put Holyfield on hold, even though he was the No. 1 contender, to make voluntary defenses.

Tyson's camp asked the IBF to delay sanction of Holyfield-Foreman until after Tyson fights Alex Stewart Dec. 8.

''We told them, that we felt the Tyson-Stewart fight would have no bearing on the Holyfield-Foreman meeting,'' Lee said.

(NOV. 16) UPI - A couple of Soviet diplomats are pushing the Kremlin view that Arab unity is the way to a peaceful solution to the Persian Gulf crisis. One Russian diplomat met with Egyptian officials in Cairo. The other said in an interview that the multi-national force in Saudi Arabia should delay the use of force to give Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein more time to withdraw from Kuwait. But he added that if the U-N Security Council authorizes the use of force, it should be used immediately.

President Bush signed a handful of environment bills today, as he prepared for his eight-day trip to Europe and the Persian Gulf. At the same time, the White House announced that the bi-partisan congressional leadership is joining Bush and his wife Barbara for Thanksgiving dinner with U-S troops in Saudi Arabia. Bush signed the environmental measures the day after he put his signature on the historic clean-air bill that is aimed at battling acid rain, ozone depletion and toxic wastes.

Two key players in a growing crisis within the Soviet Union agree on one thing there is a crisis. They disagree on just about everything else, including who is responsible and what should be done. Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and political rival Boris Yeltsin went after each other in speeches before the Supreme Soviet today. Yeltsin heads the Russian Republic, the largest political unit of the Soviet Union, and he blames the central government for the breakdown between it and the 15 republics. But Gorbachev blames the republics for sabotaging moderate economic reforms within the Soviet Union.

Researchers working on an unusual form of inherited paralysis believe they have found the defect on a gene at what is known as chromosome 17. The work covers a condition called H-P-P that causes temporary but debilitating episodes of paralysis. The malfunctioning gene apparently allows potassium to build up outside the cell wall, upsetting the usual balance and paralyzing the muscle. The reserach was done at Harvard Medical School, the Massachusetts General Hospital and the University of Pittsburgh.

Some of the nation's schools are being turned into combat zones, where students learn about reading, writing, arithmatic- and how to shot each other. The Washington-based Center to Prevent Handgun Violence says it can document 71 gunshot slayings in the nation's schools over the past four academic years. The deaths include 65 students and six school employees. And the figures show that 201 students were wounded and 242 people were held hostage at gunpoint in American schools at one time or another since September of 1986.

A Soo Line freight train slammed into a school bus at a crossing in downtown Miltona, Minnesota, this morning, killing the 72-year-old bus driver and a nine-year-old boy. 23 other children were injured, six of them seriously. NO one on the train was injured.

There is virtually NO word on the operations of the top-secret military flight of the shuttle Atlantis, which is expected to launch a spy satellite over the Persian Gulf during its four-day mission. Under its agreement with the Pentagon, NASA could NOT even discuss when the astronauts had planned for today's 40th birthday of crewman Carl Meade.

The state-run radio in South Africa says battles between taxi operators and youths over fares killed six people and left several houses destroyed in troubled Natal province. The report today said the violence erupted in the black Folweni township when the taxi operators refused to lower their fares in line with a cut in gasoline prices on Wednesday.

Union-covered employees of United Press International voted by a 62- 38 percent margin to accept a 35 percent pay cut for the next 90 days. U-P-I management had said that if the staff rejected the pay cuts, it would immediately file a Chapter Seven bankruptcy.

MOSCOW (NOV. 16) UPI - Boris Yeltsin upstaged Mikhail Gorbachev in a showdown Friday, demanding that the Soviet Parliament pass a vote of no confidence in the central government and create an ''anti-crisis committee'' controlled by the country's 15 republics.

Yeltsin, leader of the dominant Russian Federation, virtually called for a bloodless revolution in a concise, hard-hitting 15-minute speech to deputies that overshadowed an earlier, nearly 85-minute address by Gorbachev.

Gorbachev promised a personnel shakeup at the top of the Soviet military but otherwise failed to match Yeltsin's startling proposals.

The demand by a politician of Yeltsin's stature raised the prospect of the first-ever vote of no confidence in the country that knew only single-party rule until Gorbachev's reforms.

With the first heavy snow of the Russian winter falling outside the Kremlin's Parliament Hall, Yeltsin even stole a page from Gorbachev's playbook and issued his own urgent appeal for aid from the West to bolster the crumbling Soviet economy.

''The economic and political crisis in the country has come to a head,'' Yeltsin told lawmakers. ''The people's patience is ending and an explosion could occur at any time.''

The faceoff between the country's two most powerful figures drew a record crowd of journalists and diplomats to the Supreme Soviet, where the balconies swelled to overflowing on a day in which the very fate of the nation seemed to hang in the balance.

Yeltsin directly challenged Gorbachev to ''stop making mistakes and clinging to the old system propped up by the federal government.''

Gorbachev, whose appearance before the legislature was demanded Wednesday by deputies angered over the growing paralysis of power, made a vague reference to ''changing power structures'' but offered no details and assailed the republics for trying to wrest control from Moscow.

In his first address to the Soviet Parliament since the new Russian legislature made him the giant republic's effective president in late May, Yeltsin spelled out a plan for radical change.

Yeltsin urged a vote of no confidence in the central Soviet government headed by Soviet Premier Nikolai Ryzhkov, whom he again accused of sabotaging all attempts at true economic reform including his 500-day program for moving the country to a market economy.

Yeltsin, a burly, white-haired Siberian, has called repeatedly for Ryzhkov's resignation in recent months, but his ultimatum Friday marked the first time he has done so before the Soviet Parliament.

The Inter-Regional Deputies' Group, a bloc of radical lawmakers co- founded by Yeltsin, made a bid several months ago for a legislative vote of no confidence in the government, but the motion died without formal action.

Some members of the radical deputies' bloc suggested Friday that Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze replace Ryzhkov at the head of the Soviet government, but Yeltsin declined comment, saying only that ''in no way should Nikolai Ryzhkov be allowed to head it.''

''The center (central government) maintains its former guise and has manifestly become a destabilizing, even obstructionist factor,'' Yeltsin said. ''The center as a matter of fact is creeping toward permanent confrontation with many republics ... especially in its relations with Russia.''

Yeltsin went beyond criticizing the government, calling for a major shift of power from the central Council of Ministers to an ''extraordinary anti-crisis committee'' dominated by the republics.

''The anti-crisis committee must be charged with the difficult task of coordinating republican programs for the creation of a market economy and transferring federal property to the republics,'' Yeltsin said.

''It must implement an anti-crisis policy and gradually form a new structure of economic power with due account for the functions that the republics will delegate to the union,'' he said.

Gorbachev angrily rejected increasingly frequent claims that the Soviet government does not have a plan for taking the country out of crisis.

''There is a specific program, and it shoud be implemented,'' he said.

Gorbachev assailed ''pressure by disruptive forces that hinder the consolidation of society,'' coming down especially hard on the burgeoning economic warfare among republics intent on keeping more of their products at home for local consumption.

''We cannot reconcile ourselves to separatists' attempts to turn the union into a flabby entity devoid of common will and even to dismember it,'' Gorbachev said.

In the midst of their showdown, Gorbachev and Yeltsin managed a moment of almost affectionate banter with each other in a repartee reflecting a topsy-turvy relationship that has swung back and forth from bitter rivalry to amiable partnership.

When, an hour into his address, deputies interrupted Gorbachev with applause for the first time, the 1990 Nobel Peace laureate looked directly at Yeltsin seated near the front of the hall and said with a mischievous grin: ''They don't applaud like that in the Russian Parliament.''

Yeltsin's deadpan response: ''Very rarely.''

A number of deputies expressed disappointment with Gorbachev's speech, saying he had done a good job of describing the current crisis but offered few specific ideas for resolving it.

''The economic and political crisis besetting the Soviet Union is explained by the federal leadership's inconsistent and sometimes illogical policies,'' said Vitold Fokin, the new premier of the giant Ukraine republic.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (NOV. 16) UPI - The Atlantis astronauts celebrated a crewman's birthday Friday and reportedly launched a mysterious spy satellite to accomplish the primary goal of the last fully classified shuttle mission.

With radio communications between Atlantis and mission control in Houston blacked out, it was not immediately possible to determine the status of the shuttle's cargo, which analysts have speculated is either a photo-reconnaissance satellite or an electronic eavesdropping spy station.

But NBC News reported Friday afternoon the satellite had been successfully launched. Given Atlantis's 6:48 p.m. EST launch time Thursday, the astronauts presumably deployed the spacecraft sometime overnight, but that could not be immediately confirmed.

Under the Pentagon-imposed news blackout, NASA officials would not even say how Atlantis astronaut Carl Meade celebrated his 40th birthday Friday.

''Agreements between NASA and the (Defense Department) preclude us from any announcements or commentary beyond established statements that acknowledge that the spacecraft is in orbit'' and when the shuttle will land, said a NASA spokesman at the Johnson Space Center in Houston.

The only announcement expected from NASA Friday was a brief statement announcing the day Atlantis will glide to a landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California's Mojave Desert.

Sources said before launch, however, that Atlantis's mission was scheduled to last three days, 23 hours and 55 minutes, which would result in a landing Monday at 3:43 p.m. PST.

On board are commander Richard Covey, 44, an Air Force colonel, Navy Cmdr. Frank Culbertson, 41, the co-pilot, Army Maj. Charles Gemar, 35, Marine Corps Col. Robert Springer, 48, and Air Force Lt. Col. Meade, who turned 40 Friday in orbit.

Atlantis blasted off Thursday after a near-flawless countdown to launch a satellite that might be used to spy on Iraq in support of operation Desert Shield once the spacecraft is checked out in orbit, a procedure that typically takes a month or more.

But such satellites take years to build and the one launched aboard Atlantis clearly was ordered well before the Iraqi crisis began. In addition, Atlantis was launched into an orbit that will carry it only 28.5 degrees to either side of the equator, well south of Iraq.

For that reason, John Pike, a space policy analyst with the Federation of American Scientists in Washington, speculated the satellite was an electronic signals intelligence - ''sigint'' - satellite bound for an orbit 22,300 miles above the equator where it can intercept radio communications.

But a usually reliable source told United Press International the satellite was not equipped with an ''inertial upper stage'' booster, which is required to push such heavy-weight ''Magnum-class'' satellites to their final orbits.

Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine, on the other hand, reported last month that Atlantis's payload was bound for a 460-mile- high 28.5-degree orbit and that it was equipped with a variety of high- tech sensors, including digital cameras that could be used to spy on the Persian Gulf region.

But a photo-reconnaissance satellite would work best if it passed directly over its target, raising questions about why Atlantis - and its payload - were launched into an orbit tilted 28.5 degrees to the equator. If the satellite carried aloft by Atlantis remains in that orbit, it will never fly farther north than Kuwait's southern border.

Given the conflicting information, it was not possible to determine with any accuracy exactly what Atlantis carried into orbit or whether it will, in fact, be used to spy on Iraq.

As for Atlantis, NASA released a brief statement about 90 minutes after launch Thursday saying the shuttle and its crew were in good condition. Sources said Friday that Atlantis was operating flawlessly with no significant ''in-flight anomalies.''

SOFIA (NOV. 16) UPI - More than 100,000 people, many of them carrying empty pots and pans to symbolize food shortages, massed in the capital late Friday to protest the government's economic policies.

The rally, believed to be the biggest since last June's historic democratic elections, kicked off three days of anti-government protests expected to be staged in cities across Bulgaria through the weekend.

The series of demonstrations is being organized by opposition groups pressing for the resignation of the Socialist government elected in June. Opposition leaders blamed the government for worsening economic conditions, including shortages of food and other staples.

Many of the 100,000 protesters carried empty pots and pans to symbolize the growing ranks of the poor and hungry. Some carried banners that read, ''We don't want communism.''

The Socialist Party, which won a parliamentary majority in the June elections, is a reincarnation of the Bulgarian Communist Party that ruled Bulgaria for more than four decades.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Donald Trump, who defaulted on a $47 million interest payment on bonds for his Taj Mahal casino, and a group of his bondholders Friday reached a restructuring agreement which lawyers in the deal said would involve a brief period in bankruptcy for the gaming palace.

Trump, flanked by lawyers and financial advisers in a news conference at his Plaza Hotel on Central Park South, resisted conceding the Taj Mahal would enter bankruptcy and insisted the restructuring could be achieved out of court.

The missed bond payment was due at midnight Thursday.

However the restructuring is accomplished, Trump will retain 50 percent of the equity in the Atlantic City, N.J., casino while investors in the $675 million junk-bond issue will initially receive the other 50 percent of stock in the Taj Mahal.

CHICAGO (NOV. 16) UPI - Steady buying throughout the day supported grain and soybean futures Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Closing prices were higher across the floor, although light profit- taking trimmed the gains.

The rally in soybeans was attributed to the weekly export sales report and the weekly soybean crush figure. Both were considered friendly to futures prices.

Active trading of soybean meal at higher prices in Rotterdam contributed to the strength in soybean complex futures.

Grain prices were moderately higher in quiet trading. Commercials were on both sides of the market but primarily were buyers.

There was underlying support from news of overnight sales of corn to Spain, South Korea and Taiwan and wheat to South Korea.

Country movement was light and basis levels were mixed.

At the close, corn was up 3 to 4 1/2, soybeans up 5 1/4 to 9 1/2, wheat up 1 to 3 and oats up 1 1/2 to 2.

(NOV 16) UPI - Scientists Friday unveiled stunning new images of Venus taken by the Magellan radar mapping probe, including a breathtaking computer movie simulating a low-altitude flight around the tortured slopes of a towering 38,000-foot mountain.

Magellan project manager Anthony Spear said the solar-powered probe has mapped 18 percent of Venus's hidden surface so far, despite a subtle glitch that has knocked the craft out of contact with Earth three times since it slipped into orbit around the cloudy planet Aug. 10.

The most recent incident occurred Thursday when Magellan lost contact for 40 minutes. Subsequent work to re-align Magellan's dish antenna with Earth resulted in the loss of three orbits of mapping data, but Spear said engineers were pleased with how fast they were able to get the craft back into action.

''We've had our share of problems, but they've all been minor problems,'' Spear said at a news conference at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif. ''I think ... our ability to work around these problems is a major testimony to the resiliency and robustness of this spacecraft's design.''

Magellan, built by Martin Marietta Astronautics Group of Denver, dropped into orbit around Venus 15 months after launch from the space shuttle Atlantis on May 4, 1989.

The 2 1/2-ton solar-powered satellite was designed to ''see'' through the clouds that perpetually blanket Venus by bouncing radar beams off the planet's surface.

Extensive computer processing on Earth can convert such radar data into photo-like images showing surface features as small as a football field, some 10 times better than the best previous effort.

Magellan began mapping the surface of Venus on Aug. 16. But after one and a half orbits, the spacecraft suddenly went into a computer-induced state of hibernation and aimed its main antenna away from Earth.

Contact was restored the next day, but it was lost again the following week. Emergency commands radioed to Magellan ''in the blind'' caused to spacecraft to search for Earth and communications ultimately were restored.

Magellan's electronic brain was subsequently reprogrammed to make it easier to restore contact whenever the glitch might occur in the future by preventing it from going into such computer-induced hibernation.

''This was a good demonstration of our ability now to handle this signal loss problem,'' Spear said of the most recent incident. But he added: ''We've got to expect it's going to happen again periodically.''

Magellan was built to map at least 70 percent of the surface of Venus during a 243-day mission. But the spacecraft is expected to continue working well beyond that point, allowing scientists to fill in the blanks caused by the signal drop outs and to increase coverage to more than 90 percent of the planet. The ''extended mission'' starts in May.

At the news conference Friday, scientists released a variety of spectacular, high-resolution radar images of the planet's tortured surface, including unprecedented shots of Ishtar Terra, an elevated plateau about the size of Australia that rises nearly 10,000 feet above the surrounding countryside.

On the eastern side of the plateau is a giant mountain called Maxwell Montes that rises some 38,000 feet above the average surface of the planet - more than a mile taller than Mt. Everest.

Magellan project officials released a stunning computer-generated movie based on data from Magellan and previous spacecraft that simulated a low-altitude flight over Ishtar Terra and around Maxwell Montes that provided a breathtaking view of the region.

Based on Magellan temperature measurements of the surface, the flanks of the mountain appear to be covered with a ''mystery'' material, possibly pyrite, or ''fool's gold.''

Other images included stunning shots of lava flows and impact craters that appear to be associated with giant horseshoe-shaped markings stretching thousands of miles that may have been formed in part by the atmospheric shock waves produced by incoming meteorites.

MIAMI (NOV. 16) UPI - Deposed Panamanian leader Manuel Noriega begged a federal judge Friday to let him keep his present defense attorneys, saying the U.S. government perpetuated ''a sham'' by freezing his assets and preventing him from paying the lawyers.

Noriega's lawyers have asked U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler to let them withdraw from the case because Noriega cannot pay them. They said it would be impossible for them to present an adequate defense in the complex case at the court-appointed rate of $75 per hour.

''I find myself at the mercy of an unjust system which chooses my accusers and now also is going to choose my defenders,'' Noriega said during an 18-minute address to the judge.

It was his first public statement since he was brought to the United States to stand trial on charges of protecting U.S.-bound drug shipments.

Noriega wore his khaki general's uniform and spoke in a strong, emphatic voice using a Spanish interpreter. He called the government's failed effort to persuade foreign nations to unfreeze his overseas assets a ''tragic comic action, a sham.''

He said the government was trying to prevent him from obtaining an adequate defense because it was afraid he would implicate U.S. government officials.

''You would have to be a child not to realize this case implicates the highest level of the U.S. government, including the White House,'' Noriega said.

He said that while he was in charge in Panama, the U.S. government had asked him to take illegal actions, including violating Panama's bank secrecy law in order to provide them with information on drug dealers.

Noriega referred to his lawyers as his ''army'' of unpaid soldiers.

''It is as if it was an army armed only with hand weapons,'' while prosecutors have nuclear weapons, Noriega said.

Hoeveler did not indicate when he would rule except that it would be ''quickly.''

The judge sought to calm Noriega's fears by telling the general that even if his current lawyers withdraw, a number of prominent attorneys had volunteered to represent him for $75 an hour, the maximum allowed by law for court-appointed attorneys.

''He is not being cast adrift by the court,'' Hoeveler said.

Earlier, Hoeveler rejected a plan to pay the defense attorneys with money from Noriega accounts frozen by the government.

But in June, Hoeveler issued a 13-page ruling, siding with the defense attorneys by finding that the government's action jeopardized Noriega's constitutional right to select the defense attorneys of his choice.

Hoeveler said about $20 million has been frozen in banks around the world by the U.S. government and $5.8 million in property has been handed over to the new Panamanian government without a hearing for Noriega.

The judge said at the time that the U.S. government has not demonstrated that the seized assets are the profits of illegal drug activities and maintained that it is up to the court to determine if the money is tainted by drug activities.

Defense attorneys said Noriega has received $11 million from U.S. intelligence agencies and the Drug Enforcement Administration that could be used to pay for his defense.

In addition, they said he also has received $7 million from foreign sources. Prosecutors insist those figures are inflated.

Indictments returned against Noriega in Miami and Tampa in 1988 charge him with marijuana smuggling and providing a drug-trafficking and money laundering sanctuary for South American drug smugglers. If convicted in the Miami indictment, the 52-year-old Noriega would face a maximum penalty of 145 years in prison and a $1.1 million fine.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Dexter Manley of the Washington Redskins, who received a lifetime ban from the NFL a year ago, Friday made his case for reinstatement but must wait until Monday for Commissioner Paul Tagliabue's decision.

Tagliabue met for an hour and 45 minutes with the defensive end and his attorney, Bob Woolf. Woolf said they briefed Tagliabue on Manley's treatment, aftercare and community service.

The commissioner said he will review records and a report from NFL drug adviser Dr. Lawrence Brown before ruling.

''I think they're really convinced Dexter put in a good year,'' Woolf said. ''They're really concerned it happens in the future.''

Manley was suspended last Nov. 18 after testing positive for cocaine, his third violation of the league's substance-abuse policy. Banned players are eligible to appeal for reinstatement after a year.

''It's been very tough but at the same time, there's been a lot of growth,'' Manley said of his year out of football.

Asked his response if reinstatement were denied, Manley said: ''I've been disappointed before. Again dealing with rejections, I'd have to go ahead and process those things.''

He added: ''What's most important is my recovery, my sobriety. That's what I'm most concerned with. There's good sobriety and quality sobriety. This time I have quality sobriety.''

Still, Manley conceded that to get through the wait, ''I've adopted Mr. Woolf as my father for the weekend.''

Manley has undergone urinalysis three times a week for almost a year and has come up clean each time. If reinstated, he prefers to stay with the Redskins although they are expected to waive him.

Woolf said he has had only one inconclusive conversation with Washington General Manager Charles Casserly.

Teams expected to have interest are Phoenix, which is coached by former Washington assistant Joe Bugel, and the Raiders, who reportedly are interested in his pass rushing.

''The most important thing is getting my integrity back and I think I will do that as long as I stay clean,'' Manley said.

Manley said if reinstatement is denied he will possibly pursue wrestling, boxing or promoting.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - Fourteen years ago, Chief Justice Warren Burger led a unanimous Supreme Court in steamrolling a lower court order that barred news reports of the pre-trial statements of an accused murderer for fear they would sway potential jurors.

Burger called such ''prior restraints'' on free speech and the press ''the most serious and the least tolerable infringement on First Amendment rights.'' He noted, however, that the balancing act between freedom of the press and the right to a fair trial is ''almost as old as the Republic.''

For the first time since that 1976 case, the issues are again squarely before the Supreme Court.

This time, the dispute is between Cable News Network and deposed Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega over the network's right to broadcast audio tapes it obtained of talks between Noriega and his defense team.

Lucas Powe, a University of Texas law professor who just completed a book on freedom of the press, said while he does not expect it to happen, if the high court were to uphold the prior restraint against CNN, it would be a ''major blow'' to the American media and could open the doors to an increased use of the device by trial judges.

''Historically, this has been the bedrock protection of freedom of the press '' Powe said of the ban against prior restraint, which has been common law throughout much of the nation's history and was enunciated by the Supreme Court as far back as 1931. ''If you can't win on the turf you're safest on, it puts in (question) where you can win.''

CNN asked the Supreme Court Thursday to overturn decisions by a Florida trial court and the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordering the network to halt airing of the audio tapes so they could be reviewed to determine possible damage to Noriega's defense at his drug trafficking trial.

CNN contends the government made the tapes of telephone conversations from federal prison in Miami where Noriega is awaiting trial, and that it obtained them through legal means and good reporting.

Noriega's lawyers claim the tapes violate attorney-client privilege and could be grounds for throwing out the drug charges.

The government has said any tapes it made were of legally monitored conversations.

''The standard boilerplate rule'' of press freedom is that news outlets ''can say whatever they want, there's no prior restraint, but they may be punished after the fact by doing so,'' said American University law professor Ira Robbins. ''This (Noriega) case broke new ground by saying you can't publish at all.''

While the 1976 case stemmed from a decision of the Nebraska Supreme Court, this marks the first time since the 1971 Pentagon Papers case that a federal appeals court has upheld a prior restraint against publishing or broadcasting news.

The high court ruled in that case that the absolute right to publish documents involving the Vietnam War outweighed national security concerns.

Powe said since the high court did not permit prior restraint in that case - which he called the ''most massive security brief in the history of the world'' - he does not expect it to do so here.

The Nebraska case showed that a defendant has the burden of proving there is no alternative to a gag order when there is a dispute between press freedom and trial rights, something that has not even been attempted in this case, said Jane Kirtley, an attorney for The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press.

''In my view, anyway, CNN has no legal duty to preserve the attorney- client privilege'' unless the network actually made the tapes, which no one has alleged, said Kirtley. Five of the justices involved in the 1976 case remain on the nine-member court, and Kirtley predicted CNN would prevail.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush prepared to travel Friday to Europe and the Middle East where he will help put to rest a conflict of ideology and personally assess a conflict of wills that threatens to escalate into war.

''Some of the stops will highlight how far our European friends and allies have come in their efforts to achieve a Europe whole and free, while others will show how determined all of us are to assist our friends in the gulf in regaining their peace and security,'' Bush said in a preparatory statement to reporters.

Bush's eight-day, 16,000-mile trip will take him to Czechoslovakia, Germany, France, Saudi Arabia and Egypt. Mrs. Bush will accompany the president, who will spend Thanksgiving Day visiting with U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia.

He will rack up a presidential first when he arrives in Prague, Czechoslovakia for a ceremonial welcome Saturday morning.

Bush's visit to Prague was timed to the celebration of the first anniversary of the Velvet Revolution that resulted in the overthrow of communism and the installation of playright-politician Vaclav Havel as the president.

While the threat of war in the Persian Gulf will overshadow his other activities during the trip, Bush will participate in several historic events during his three-day stay in Paris, where he travels on Sunday after a quick visit to German Chancellor Helmut Kohl's hometown of Ludwigshafen, Germany.

Once in Paris, Bush will join Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and other world leaders, including Kohhl, in signing documents that will effectively end the Cold War.

The leaders will sign the Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty, which authorizes drastic cuts in NATO and Warsaw Pact arsenals and will sign the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) documents, confirming the end of East-West separation of the continent and demise of communist rule.

Bush also plans to confer with Gorbachev, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and with his host, French President Francois Mitterrand, on issues, including the crisis prompted by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

While Thatcher has taken a hard line for a military solution, Gorbachev and Mitterrand have urged caution and a longer timetable to see if the U.N.-sponsored economic sanctions against Iraq are effective.

In an interview with Cable News Network aired Thursday night, Bush restated his desire for a peaceful end to the crisis, but said the United States and other forces aligned against Iraq are keeping the option open for a military effort to drive Iraq from Kuwait.

Although ordering a virtual doubling of U.S. troop strength in the gulf to 400,000 soldiers, Bush said he had not made any determination about taking military action with forces that will soon have offensive capabilities.

''I'm not going to compromise one single iota with the principles I have outlined,'' he said, adding later that: ''I know in my heart of hearts that what we are doing is right. I know that what the United Nations has done is correct. I know we have to stand up against aggression, an aggression that goes rewarded today means instability and horror tomorrow.''

Security for the Bush entourage will be tight throughout the trip with extra precautions being taken when Bush stops in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, where he will meet with Saudi King Fahd and Sheikh Jabir Al Sabah, the exiled Emir of Kuwait and when they travel to the troop encampments in the desert.

The White House also announced Friday that Bush will have some additional company when visits the U.S. troops, with Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell, Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, House speaker Tom Foley and House Republican leader Robert Michel accepting his invitation to join him in the gulf.

But Bush will not be the first president to visit an international hotspot when he breaks bread with the troops in the Saudi desert. Both Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon visited U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

''The highlight of this trip for me, I know, will be the chance to spend Thanksgiving Day with the men and women of our Armed Forces who are participating in Operation Desert Shield,'' said the president.

Politically scarred by the ferocious budget battle with Congress and Republican defeats in last week's elections, Bush leaves behind a sluggish economy.

He maintained in his CNN remarks that the nation had yet to technically enter a recession, but he came the closest yet to acknowledging such an economic downturn is in the offing, if not already arrived.

Bush spent some of Friday meeting with leaders of blue chip corporations, many of whom felt that the United States already has slipped into a recession.

Laying some blame for economic troubles on the gulf crisis, Bush said he is hopeful that if a recession does occur it will be over in ''six months at most'' - unless the shock to oil prices brought on by the crisis continues.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush signed legislation Friday to tighten airline security, calling the measure a ''living memorial'' to the 270 people killed in the Dec. 21, 1988, terrorist bombing of Pan Am Flight 103.

The measure is the result of a series of recommendations by Congress and a presidential commission as well as the survivors of those killed when the jet exploded over Lockerbie, Scotland.

''The relatives and friends of the Pan Am victims deserve great credit for their persistence,'' Bush said in a statement.

Many relatives angrily demanded action after the bombing. They charged the plane's cargo had not been subjected to adequate scrutiny and accused the government of failing to warn the public about a possible attack.

Since the bombing, which remains an unsolved mass murder, the United States has imposed tougher screening requirements on both cargo and passengers.

The Aviation Security and Improvement Act signed by Bush codifies into law many steps taken the past year by the administration, including:

-Creating a director of the Office of Intelligence and Security at the Transportation Department.

-Establishing an assistant administrator for civil aviation security at the Federal Aviation Administration.

-Creating federal security managers at overseas airports.

Sen. Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., chief sponsor of the measure, said, ''Today the president has signed legislation that will make it safer for Americans to fly throughout the world.''

Lautenberg said, ''The terrorists aren't giving up and neither can we.''

Bush called the legislation ''a living memorial to those whose lives were so cruelly cut short by the terrorists responsible for bombing Pan Am 103.''

''This act reflects the workings of the American democracy - an effort by private citizens, the Congress and the executive branch to join in the common cause against international terrorism.''

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - John Doar vividly recalls the time Attorney General Robert Kennedy summoned him to his august Washington office to report on the Justice Department's strategy for dealing with voting rights abuses.

Doar, a government prosecutor in the department's fledgling civil rights division, spread out a map of the South before Kennedy and explained how he planned to bring lawsuits in the seven judicial districts in three states.

''Too slow,'' Kennedy snapped. ''Won't do. We've got to do more.''

''He took a look at the number of counties,'' Doar remembered, ''and he wanted pins in the map, suits filed in almost every one of those counties.''

And, much to Doar's chagrin, Kennedy wanted it all done ''the day before yesterday.''

It was a monumental task for the tiny civil rights division, but diligent federal prosecutors soon were making grueling 16-day trips through the South on rickety DC-3s to investigate abuses and monitor elections.

''And what did they find as they crisscrossed the South? They found a rigid caste system implemented ... through discrimination in voting,'' Doar said.

''It was really amazing.''

To mark the 25th anniversary of the historic Voting Rights Act, the Justice Department assembled a panel of experts Friday to reflect on events that led to its passage and to assess how the act stands up in the 1990s.

Julian Bond, famed civil rights activist and former Georgia state legislator, praised the Civil Rights Act as ''the most effective civil rights legislation that ever passed.''

''No American can afford to have that right destroyed or its protection relaxed,'' Bond said, ''because of the shallow protestations of present day apologists for yesterday's status quo.''

Gushed Assistant Attorney General John Dunne, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division: ''Over a 25 year period, a mere tick of sociological time ... grevious, unconstitutional injustices were addressed squarely and fundamentally.''

President Lyndon Johnson signed the Voting Rights Act into law Aug. 6, 1965. It's impact became clear the following day as several lawsuits were filed challenging local poll tax laws in the South.

The act suspended literacy tests and other prerequisites to voter registration which were often used to deny Southern blacks access to the voting booth. In addition, it called for federal observers to monitor elections, and prohibited certain local jurisdictions from enacting any voting system without seeking approval from Washington.

Since then, ''the basic structure of American political life has changed permanently and profoundly,'' Dunne said. ''We should all take enormous pride in this essentially peaceful revolution.''

But the act isn't without its detractors. One of the panelists, Abigail Thernstrom, author of a 1987 study on minority voting rights, said the Voting Rights Act may have outlived its purpose.

''Voting Rights have become another immensely complicated affirmative action issue distinctive only in not being acknowledged as such,'' said Thernstrom, a Brandeis University professor.

She said the act was an essential tool for correcting political imbalances tilted against minorities in the 1960s, but in recent years it has helped to create a new form of segregation.

Current federal policy, Thernstrom said, is based on the ''dubious, and in my view, dangerous'' premise that ''only blacks can represent blacks, only Hispanics can represent Hispanics, and ... only whites can represent whites.''

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - The dollar plunged across the board in New York trading as a dollar-bearish currency market reacted to a Federal Reserve easing of interest rates, a larger-than-expected trade deficit and other economic news.

The Fed added funds to the U.S. reserve system by purchasing securities from the open market, lowering the key federal funds rate set on banks' overnight loans of reserve funds to 7.5 percent from 7.75 percent.

The recession-fighting move, which was widely anticipated, sent investors'funds into currencies of countries with higher-yielding rates.

In late New York trading, the dollar was quoted at 1.4678 German marks, down from 1.4750 - a new record low closing price for the deutsche mark in the New York market - and at 129.37 Japanese yen, down from 129.60.

Analysts said the effect of lowered interest rates was amplified by the news that the rate of consumer inflation eased in October, when prices rose by just 0.6 percent, compared to 0.8 percent in the two previous months.

They said that evidence that rising oil prices have not sent inflation out of control gave the Fed more leeway in easing credit.

Another negative for the greenback was news of a $9.41 billion September trade deficit. While lower than August's, the gap was wider than what economists had expected.

Taken together, the Fed's move and the economic data spelled more trouble for the feeble dollar. ''I've got a feeling we're going lower,'' said Earl Johnson a Harris Bank vice president and corporate currency adviser.

There is very little in sight to help the dollar, said Johnson, adding: ''The only thing I can think of is if the (Bush) administration comes out and starts saying strongly they don't want it to go any lower.''

Other New York dollar rates: 1.2450 Swiss francs, down from Thursday's 1.2508;

4.9635 French francs, down from 4.9830; and 1,108.50 Italian lire, down from 1,113.

The British pound moved up to $1.9675 from $1.9575.

In Europe, the dollar closed mostly lower, prodded by the size of the U.S. trade deficit.

Scattered dollar gains were described as insignificant by a Salomon Brothers dealer, who said investors were just covering ''short,'' or selling, positions ahead of the weekend in case war broke out in the Persian Gulf.

The dollar moved up in Frankfurt, to 1.4790 German marks from 1.4785, and strengthened in Paris and Milan, where respective closing prices were 4.9935 French francs vs. 4.9765 and 1,115.10 lira vs. 1,112.35.

But the U.S. unit fell in both Zurich, closing at 1.2430 Swiss francs vs. 1.2522 Thursday, and Brussels, to 30.40 Belgian francs vs. 30.4450.

In London, the pound moved up to $1.9665 from 1.9605, but turmoil in the ruling Conservative Party drove sterling down against European units.

Earlier in Tokyo, the dollar gained on the yen in quiet trading as participants adjusted positions ahead of the weekend. The dollar finished at 129.73 yen vs. Thursday's close of 129.30 yen.

NBD Bank currency manager Tomishige Kobayaski said investors singled out the yen as the most unattractive currency in the present market, focusing on the interest rate-bolstered German mark and the dollar.

Gold closed lower in Zurich, at $377.50 an ounce vs. $378.50, and in London, at $376.50 an ounce vs. $379.25.

Silver was unchanged in Zurich at $4.15 an ounce but declined in London to $4.12 an ounce from Thursday's $4.18.

Republic National Bank in New York closed cash gold at $379.50 an ounce, up from $379.25 Thursday. The New York Commodity Exchange settled contract gold at $380.60 an ounce, up from $379.10.

Republic closed cash silver at $4.16 an ounce, up from $4.125. Comex silver ended at $4.122 an ounce, up from $4.117.

(NOV 16) UPI - Amid signs that diplomatic efforts to resolve the Persian Gulf crisis were still alive, oil prices tumbled more than a $1.50 Friday through the important $30-a-barrel level.

On the week, U.S. crude fell more than $4 a barrel, unleaded gasoline plunged nearly 11 cents and heating oil dropped almost 6 cents a gallon, as the market focused on rising supplies in the absence of any war news from the Persian Gulf.

The U.S. benchmark West Texas Intermediate crude for December delivery ended Friday down $1.34 from Thursday at $29.78 a barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange, $4.11 lower than a week earlier.

The $30 price is ''a psychologically important level that we've broken here today,'' said Peter Beutel of Pegasus Econometrics Group in Hoboken, N.J.

Jeffrey Welch, vice president of Shearson Lehman Hutton's International Energy Desk in New York, attributed some of the downward pressure to a New York Times interview with the Soviet Union's chief Middle East negotiator, Yevgeny Primakov.

The Soviet envoy called for a delay in a U.N. Security Council vote to authorize the use of force to expel Iraq from Kuwait and allow more time for negotiations that might give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein a face-saving reason for leaving peacefully.

In addition, Soviet envoy Alexander Belonogov told reporters after talks in Cairo with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and Foreign Minister Esmat Abdel Meguid that the Kremlin would like to see a ''unified'' Arab response to Saddam's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

A former Soviet ambassador to Egypt, Belonogov criticized Iraq for imposing conditions before agreeing to attend an emergency Arab summit proposed by Morocco's King Hassan.

WTI prices have been under downward pressure since President Bush's Nov. 8 news conference, when he announced the dispatch of an additional 150,000 troops to Saudi Arabia.

Traders interpreted the move as meaning there would not be any U.S. offensive until the troops had arrived and settled in sometime after the end of the year.

The result was the market focused on supply-demand fundamentals at a time when Saudia Arabia said it was increasing output and U.S. crude supplies rose for a second straight week after seven weeks of declines, said Nauman Barakat, vice president of Merrill Lynch Futures Inc., New York.

The December WTI contract expires Monday. With supplies of world crude more than ample, traders have been anticipating that once the $30 level was breached, the contract might fall to $27 a barrel or lower before the end of trading Monday, Barakat said.

On the Merc, December heating oil was down 2.25 cents on the day and 5.82 cents on the week at 84.42 cents a gallon.

Unleaded gasoline fell 2.53 cents to 77.63 cents a gallon, 10.6 cents less than the previous Friday.

On the European spot market, where crude is bought and sold for cash, Britain's widely traded North Sea Brent lost $1.35 on the day and $4.35 on the week, closing at $30.20 a barrel.

The United Arab Emirates' Dubai light - the key OPEC crude from the Middle East shipped mainly to the Far East - declined $1.30 to $26.15 a barrel, a drop of $3.30 on the week.

Three refiners - Conoco Inc., the Houston subsidiary of Du Pont; Marathon Oil Co., the Findlay, Ohio, unit of USX Corp.; and Sun Co., of Radnor, Pa. - reduced the posted price they will pay for crude at the wellhead. Conoco and Marathon cut their prices by $1.50 to $28.50 a barrel for WTI, while Sun lowered the price by $1.40 to $28.65 a barrel.

(NOV. 16) UPI - The five senators accused of trading their political influence for campaign contributions from an S-and-L chief went on the offensive today with often impassioned proclamations of their innocence. The Senate ethics Committee's hearings on the so-called ''Keating Five'' heard special counsel Robert Bennett indicate today that Republican John McCain of Arizona and Democrat John Glenn of Ohio be exonerated.

In what is likely to be his only appearance before the panel, cancer- stricken Democrat Alan Cranston of California said the entire Senate- quoting now- ''had better run for cover'' if the charges stand. Cranston said he did NOT engage in unethical conduct, ''broke NO law,'' ''broke NO Senate rule'' and never sought special favors for any of his constituents. The committee counsel charged that Cranston solicited campaign contributions in exchange for elaborate efforts to help Charles Keating Junior, who headed the S-and-L involved in the biggest failure yet... a two-BILLION-dollar loss.

A special Soviet envoy today joined the growing chorus of calls for patience in the Persian Gulf to give Iraq time to withdraw from Kuwait without bloodshed. But special envoy Yevgeny Primakov said in an interview that if the U-N Security Council authorizes the use of force, the multi-national force should move immediately.

The International Monetary Fund announced today that it is going to provide emergency financial relief to its member states most seriously hurt by the Persian Gulf crisis. The I-M-F says the relief will be designed to help member states overcome what are termed ''unexpected shocks.''

A woman testified in an Alexandria, Virginia, courtroom that she was ''scared to death'' when the gun-toting son of Interior Secretary Lujan picked her apartment lock with a bobby pin and raped her. The 48-year-old woman said she had been drinking with 28-year-old Robert Jeff Lujan but never agreed to have sex with him. After today's hearing, Alexandria City Judge Robert Colby denied a defense request to release the younger Lujan from jail. He has been held since another judge revoked his bond yesterday.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Stocks gained this week as the market finally got the interest rate cut it had hoped for to aid the faltering economy.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 5.20 Friday to end the week at 2550.25. It added 61.64 for the week, or 2.47 percent.

Among broader market indexes, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 3.38 to end the week at 317.12 and the New York Stock Exchange composite index added 2.13 to end the week at 173.30.

Advances led declines 1,300-628 among the 2,166 NYSE issues traded this week. Weekly Big Board volume totaled 996,109,470 shares, compared with 915,361,058 a week earlier and 884,810,840 shares a year ago.

The Federal Reserve, at its regular Tuesday meeting, decided to add another quarter-point to the quarter-point cut it made in short-term interest rates two weeks ago after the enactment of the budget package, which sent stocks higher this week.

But technical factors kept the rate artificially high at times during the week so the Fed was unable to signal its intentions to the markets until Friday. As a result, the market seesawed over five sessions.

When short-term rates came down and the central bank was able to communicate its easier credit policy to investors Friday, the bond market rallied but stocks greeted the news with a yawn.

''I think we spent the better part of the last two weeks pricing the event into the market,'' said Hugh Johnson, chief economist at First Albany Corp. in Albany, N.Y. ''I don't know when I've seen as widely anticipated an event.''

Johnson attributed the two down days during the week to fears that the Fed might not cut rates, when the technical factors clouded the picture.

''There were on occasion jitters because the signals were ambiguous and the view that the Fed might not ease started to gain acceptance,'' said Johnson.

He also said he expected the market to get fuel for gains next week from Friday's news that inflation rose at a slightly lower rate in October than in the preceding months.

''It was better than expected whether you exclude or include oil and if you exclude it inflation was up only 0.3 percent,'' said Johnson. ''This has made some feel that concerns about inflation may have been overstated. Some are even beginning to expect the next easing, maybe by the end of December or early January.''

The easing of inflation makes it possible for the Fed to cut rates and shore up the economy while retaining its image as an inflation fighter, Johnson argued.

If the Fed can rescue the economy with lower rates, analysts say, the market may be primed for a rally fueled by all the cash that has accumulated on the sidelines during the decline this fall.

''Money managers have built up substantial cash reserves and, given any good news, maybe we're going to come out of this in good shape, money is going to come into the market,'' said Jeff Kaminsky, head of institutional sales trading at Mabon, Nugent & Co.

''So in financial stocks (which have taken a beating because of fears of a recession) and cyclical issues (those that rise and fall with the fortunes of the economy), you're seeing bargain-hunting,'' he said. ''The stocks seeing interest are those that have been oversold.''

On the trading floor this week, IBM was the most active issue, up 3 3/8 to 113 5/8. It unveiled a portable version of its PS-2 personal computer.

The Limited followed, up 1/8 to 14 3/4. Alcan Aluminum was third, up 1/4 to 17 1/2 in dividend-related trading.

LIMA, Peru (NOV. 16) UPI - President Alberto Fujimori said Friday his government will form an autonomous, high-level civilian organization to combat illegal drug trafficking in the Upper Huallaga Valley, the world's highest-yielding area for the coca leaves used to make cocaine.

Fujimori said in a news conference at the government palace that the proposed anti-drug group would include members of non-governmental organizations, journalists, investigators and others specializing in the subject of narcotics trafficking.

He said the plan will also count on strong input from police and military, and stands to ''restore the law and order in the cocaine zones.''

Peru produces 60 percent of the world's coca leaves, the raw ingredient in cocaine.

The Peruvian president said the anti-drug effort would be in place before the end of the year, and would be aimed at combatting ''in the most drastic form possible'' the corruption that arises from narcotics trafficking.

Fujimori also said he hoped to create ''a great front of (cocaine) producing and consuming countries to consolidate, once and for all, the fight against narcotics trafficking.

''Peru, even if it is not responsible for the wave of narcotics trafficking, is going to assume a key responsibility before the international community in the fight against this pestilence,'' Fujimori said.

The president said he was concerned that his new policy ''be well understood abroad and that it eliminates the frequent misunderstandings that have arisen between producing and consuming countries of cocaine.''

Many South American leaders, including former Peruvian President Alan Garcia, have in the past resisted U.S. government efforts to use military forces to combat drug traffickers on their own turf.

Those leaders and others in the region frequently argue the illegal drug trade arose to meet market demands in the United States, and that consumers are as much to blame for the international problem.

Fujimori said Ann Wroblesky, former undersecretary of narcotics affairs for the State Department, would work as an adviser to his government in the country's fight against drug trafficking.

The president said there was no reason to refuse the desires of peasant farmers who grow coca leaves. The farmers have consistently demanded monetary compensation and aid programs in exchange for switching crops.

He reiterated a campaign promise to combat poverty as a way of attacking the nation's problems of drug trafficking and guerrilla warfare.

''As long as there is not a solution to poverty in this country, the problem of narco-trafficking, of subversion or of delinquency will continue, and it may get worse,'' Fujimori said.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - In a dramatic close to the prosecution's case, the jury Friday viewed a second videotaped confession made by one of two youths in the Central Park rape trial in which he claims the gang considered killing the woman jogger.

''Steve said, 'We're going to kill her so she can't identify us,''' recalled Kharey Wise, 18, who is on trial with Kevin Richardson, 16, on charges of attempted murder and rape.

The comments were part of his second videotaped statement made April 21, 1989, just days after the Central Park ''wilding'' attack.

Wise said the 30-year-old investment banker was lying naked and bleeding after being attacked by the gang, which included Richardson, Steven Lopez, 16, Yusef Salaam, 16, and others.

He said Lopez was punching the unconscious woman in the face.

''Me and Yusef tellin' Steve, 'Yo Steve, let her go man! We don't want no dead body on our hands... Let her live,'' Wise said on the videotape.

Wise admitted ''playing'' with the woman's legs while she was being gang raped and holding down her legs ''for 5 seconds'' as Lopez had intercourse with her.

Although he also described Richardson raping her, punching her and ''going wild'' on her, the jury heard none of the statements about the co-defendant. At each mention of Richardson, the name was bleeped out and a black dot placed over Wise's mouth to prevent lip reading.

A videotaped confession by Richardson was similarly censored in accordance with state law preventing co-defendants on trial together from implicating one another.

In the first trial stemming from the April 19, 1989, attack, Salaam, Antron McCray and Raymond Santana, all 16, were convicted of raping and beating the woman. Each is serving a 5-to-10-year sentence in a juvenile jail.

Lopez will be tried alone next year.

After the startling videotape was played, Assistant District Attorney Elizabeth Lederer rested the prosecution's case.

Richardson's lawyer, Howard Diller, opened his case by calling one of his two character witnesses.

Fernley Murray, 54, one of Richardson's teachers, testified that the defendant was a ''caring'' person who was not prone to violence.

Diller is expected to call the second witness, a neighbor, Claudette Mitchell, when the trial resumes on Monday.

(NOV. 16) UPI - President and Mrs. Bush are on their way to Czechoslovakia to open an eight-day, 16-thousand-mile trip to Europe and the Persian Gulf, where they will be have Thanksgiving dinner with American troops in Saudi Arabia. Bush left Washington, D-C, this evening... headed for a welcome tomorrow morning in Prague, Czechoslovakia. Bush will be the first U-S president ever to visit the former East Bloc nation.

The Senate ethics committee ended its second day of hearings on the so-called ''Keating Five'' case... a day of often impassioned defenses by the five senators who allegedly sold their influence for campaign funds. Ethics committee special counsel Robert Bennett closed his opening statements, suggesting that Democrat John Glenn of Ohio and Republican John McCain of Arizona be exonerated. He said Democrats Alan Cranston of California, Dennis DeConcini of Arizona and Donald Riegle of Michigan actively sought contributions from Charles Keating Junior... the head of the S-and-L involved in the biggest failure of the thrift crisis.

NASA was allowed to lift a little of the black-out curtain off the shuttle Atlantis mission today... enough to announce that the ship will return to Earth on Monday at Edwards Air Force Base. One report says the four-men military crew of the shuttle already has accomplished the main goal of the flight... the launch of a spy satellite over the Persian Gulf.

Economists report that the Federal Reserve is moving to lower interest rates by cutting its federal funds rate on inter-bank loans. That word today came on the heels of a Labor Department report that consumer inflation eased somewhat in October. Retail prices climbed six- tenths of one percent after two consecutive months of eight-tenths of one percent hikes.

Deposed Panamanian leader Manuel Noriega made his first public statement today since he was brought to the United States to stand trial on drug charges. Noriega pleaded with a federal judge in Miami to allow him to keep his defense attorneys, who have asked to withdraw from the case because Noriega canNOT pay them. Noriega charged during an 18-minute speech that the U-S government is perpetuated a ''sham'' by freezing his assets, thereby preventing him from paying his lawyers.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Donald J. Trump's lavish Taj Mahal casino is to make a brief passage through bankruptcy court so a $675 million casino bond issue can be restructured, financial advisers to the casino's bondholders said Friday.

The restructuring was announced following the developer's default on a $47.25million interest payment.

Trump endorsed the deal, reached in marathon overnight negotiations with lawyers and advisers to the bond investors.

But at a news conference in his Plaza Hotel, Trump was reluctant to associate himself closely with the bankruptcy of part of his $3 billion empire.

''It was a long, hard negotiation, and I think it's going to be really very beneficial for everybody,'' Trump said.

''The Taj Mahal is caught in a huge recession - maybe the word is depression '' he said. ''When we come out of the recession, I think the (casino revenue) numbers are going to be just absolutely huge.''

Despite his current woes, Trump concluded, ''I think that things are going well for me. I think they're going better than for most.''

Trump, burdened with heavy debts and inadequate cash flow from his casino and real estate properties, failed to make the million interest payment on the first mortgage bonds due at midnight Thursday. As the deadline fell, Trump and his bondholders haggled over what price he should pay.

In the end, Trump gave up 50 percent of the equity in the Atlantic City, N.J., casino to investors holding the $675 million junk-bond issue - but was able to hold onto the other 50 percent and to maintain control of the Taj Mahal.

In return, said financier Wilbur Ross of the Rothschild Inc. investment bank, a key player in the negotiations, the interest rate on the bonds would be lowered to 12 percent from the current 14 percent. Of that 12 percent, 10 percent must be paid in cash and 2 percent in bonds.

The agreement also extended the bonds' maturity to the year 2000 from 1998. The interest payment missed by Trump would be added to the $675 million principal, Ross said. Trump, as casino operator, will be paid at least $500,000 a year, more if profits are high.

Ross said the bondholders' wanted Trump to continue to be associated with the casino despite his failure to make the payment.

''We believe that part of the assets of the casino, albeit one that we don't have a mortgage on, is Donald Trump. We think that's an important part of the picture. We don't think that he's trying to hurt the bondholders any more than he tried to hurt himself.''

''What we have reached here is a framework for a transaction,'' said attorney Robert Miller of the law firm Berlack, Israels & Lieberman, which represented Taj Mahal bondholders. He said a more formal agreement in principle would be signed soon, with bankruptcy filed in the days to come.

Miller said what would take place is a by dissenting bondholders, who he said might try to force the issue of the default by filing for involuntary bankruptcy.

Incentives were built into the arrangement so that if the Taj Mahal performs well and the bondholders receive the full amount of interest originally due to them, Trump could end up with an 80 percent casino stake.

Trump remains chairman of the casino board of directors and will appoint a majority of the board.

But Miller said bondholders will have a ''very large say'' in the operation of the casino. Trump must meet a number of provisions as to the management of the casino, mainly in holding down operating costs.

Questioned by reporters, Trump declined to describe the transaction as a bankrupcty. ''We've come to an agreement where we'll all just come together,'' he said, adding later: ''I'm just very happy that it worked out.''

Miller was more explicit. ''We do envision that this will go through a bankruptcy, but, as we've emphasized previously, what we're hoping for is that we could do it in a consensual, controlled proceeding, something that we think can be done fairly quickly and handily,'' he said.

Miller did not set a date for the Chapter 11 filing but said that, once that step has been taken, he believed the Taj Mahal would be able to emerge from bankruptcy by early 1991.

Asked how long the bankruptcy proceeding would last, Trump seemed at pains to avoid using the offending word. ''We envision maybe three or four weeks if the process (of bankruptcy) is used - and I don't think that has been finally determined. Three or four weeks, maybe eight weeks,'' he said.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 16) UPI - Marine Corps Commandant Alfred M. Gray told a military gathering Friday he plans to double the Marine presence in the Persian Gulf region.

The nation's highest-ranking Marine also said reports of low U.S. troop morale in the Middle East are ''hogwash'' and added that his soldiers are in good spirits because ''we issued a memorandum to that effect.''

Gray, who has recently been spoofed in the comic strip ''Doonesbury,'' bellowed in a luncheon speech, ''There ain't no damn problem with morale...That's just an effort by some to blow this whole thing out of proportion.''

The four-star general told a gathering of the U.S. Navy League that 90 percent of the country's 196,000 Marines will be sent to bases around the globe over the next few weeks.

Most, if not all, of the additional troops are expected to join forces already in Saudi Arabia, Gray said. At present, more than 45,000 Marines are reportedly in the gulf area.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon announced Friday an additional 15,000 Marine and Army Reserve and National Guard troops are being activated, increasing to more than 50,000 the number of guard and reserve units called to full-time duty.

The new activations include roughly 14,000 Army National Guard and reserve troops and 1,000 Marine reservists. The call up includes tank units and medical corps personnel.

Last month, while visiting troops in Saudi Arabia, Gray went on a blistering counter-offensive against reports that many Marines were frustrated by the ongoing desert standoff.

''My Marines will not be bored,'' Gray told the troops. ''There will be no morale problems in the 1st Marine Expeditionary Force because I say there will be (high) morale.''

Those remarks spawned a number of stateside jokes. In the past two weeks, ''Doonesbury'' cartoonist Gary Trudeau has lampooned a Gray-like commander who tells haggard soldiers, ''Any talk about morale problems is pure poppycock!''

At Friday's luncheon, Gray admitted that some soldiers may have complained about inactivity but he said the media was to blame for blowing those complaints out of proportion.

''Who the hell ever heard of being bored when you're a reservist in a combat situation?'' he told the luncheon crowd of 600 military personnel and their families.

''There is no morale problem, and there won't be,'' he added, drawing a round of applause from the crowd. ''We issued a memorandum to that effect.''

Asked after the speech if he was distressed by the ''Doonesbury'' portrayal, Gray smiled and said, ''There are two things I've learned in Washington. Number one, never lose your sense of humor. And number two, never let anybody steal it.''

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush Friday vetoed as unacceptable a bill to combat the proliferation of chemical and biological weapons - and then promptly imposed his own controls.

Bush said while he supports the goals of the legislation passed by Congress, the measure, as written, would interfere with his ability to conduct foreign policy and might damage the multinational build-up against Saddam Hussein.

Therefore, Bush said he declared a national emergency and issued an executive order to control the flow of potential dangerous U.S. chemicals in what he said would be a more effective fashion.

He ordered Secretary of States James Baker and Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher to use existing powers to ban exports that they determine would assist foreign nations to produce chemical or biological weapons.

The president also directed the imposition of sanctions against foreign countries that produce, stockpile or use biological or chemical weapons in violation of international law.

Bush said the ''major flaw'' in the measure passed by Congress is not the sanctions it would level against violators, but the ''rigid way in which they are imposed.''

''The mandatory imposition of unilateral sanctions as provided in this bill would harm U.S. economic interests and provoke friendly countries who are essential to our efforts to resist Iraqi aggression,'' Bush said.

''If there is one lesson we have learned in Operation Desert Shield, it is that multilateral support enhances the effectiveness of sanctions, '' he said.

The White House announced the veto and executive order just minutes after Bush departed Washington for an eight-day visit to Europe and the Persian Gulf, where he was to consult with allies about their showdown against Iraq.

(NOV. 16) UPI - Warm breezes brought another day of Indian summer to the East Friday, while a cold front cutting across the nation's midsection whipped up blustery winds, scattered showers and chilly temperatures.

Southerly winds pushed temperatures into the 60s and 70s along the East Coast, breaking records in 12 cities, the National Weather Service said. It also was a warm day in the Southwest and along the gulf coast, with readings in the 70s and 80s.

Strong northerly winds behind the Pacific cold front ushered more seasonable temperatures into much of the central United States.

Light showers developing along the cold front extended from Lake Ontario through Kentucky to southern Arkansas.

Blustery northwest winds behind the cold front prevailed from the southern High Plains to the upper Great Lakes region. Gale warnings were in effect for Lake Huron and Lake Erie.

Temperatures were in the 50s and 60s in the Midwest, and the 40s in the Plains Rockies and Northwest.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 17) UPI - A possible strike against the three largest newspapers in the San Francisco Bay Area was averted when unions ''stopped the clock'' Friday, reporting significant progress in negotiations.

Representatives meeting with managers of the San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco Examiner and San Jose Mercury News said they postponed the planned 5 p.m. deadline because both sides appeared to be negotiating in good faith.

''This means it will be 6 p.m. until we have a settlement or a strike,'' said Larry Hatfield, an Examiner reporter and a Newspaper Guild International vice president, who said contract talks would continue, possibly round-the-clock, as long as progress is being made.

Some 4,500 employees represented by 10 labor unions are affected by contract talks with the Chronicle, San Francisco Examiner and San Jose Mercury News, said Doug Cuthbertson, executive officer of the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild.

The Guild represents more than 1,000 editors, writers and columnists at the newspapers, as well as truck drivers, advertising and production personnel, he said.

But economic issues remained on the table, including wage hikes and health insurance payments.

The initial offer by management called for no increases in salary, while the guild demanded a 20 percent wage hike in the first year of a multi-year pact.

Top scale journalists at the paper earn $41,200 annually.

On Friday, many reporters and columnists withheld bylines to protest the slow movement of negotiations.

Dawn Garcia, a union spokeswoman and reporter at the San Francisco Chronicle, said it was the first time in Chronicle history that bylines had been withheld in a show of protest by reporters.

Workers have been without a contract for about nine months, the longest they have gone without one in 20 years.

Jesse Knight, vice president of marketing for the San Francisco Newspaper Agency, which was negotiating with the Chronicle, Examiner and Agency employees, said almost all of the non-economic issues have been settled.

Cuthbertson confirmed that most non-economic issues with members of the Teamsters Union at the newspapers were settled. Negotiations had finally turned to wages, but they were just beginning.

SANTA MONICA, CA (NOV. 16) UPI - A mistrial has been declared in the drunken driving trial of former ''Taxi'' cast member Jeff Conaway, who seriously injured a bicyclist while allegedly driving under the influence, court officials said Friday.

Superior Court Judge Sara K. Radin declared the mistrial Thursday afternoon after the jury, which had deliberated 1 1/2-days, said it was hopelessly deadlocked 8-4 for acquittal.

The District Attorney's Office will announce in several weeks whether it will seek to re-try Conaway on the charges.

Conaway, 40, who lives in the Hollywood Hills, was arrested Feb. 23 by Beverly Hills police after his car allegedly struck a bicyclist.

The bicyclist, Farid Farhan, 31, suffered a broken leg and required 15 stitches for a cut on the back of his head.

Prosecutors said Conaway's blood-alcohol content was .15, nearly twice the legal limit of .08. Prosecutors said the actor told police that a ''phantom hit-and-run motorist'' had struck the bicyclist.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Wire Service Guild members at United Press International voted by a majority of 62 percent to take a 35 percent wage cut for a period of 90 days to keep the news wire service viable while management attempts to sell all or part of the company, it was announced Friday.

The vote was announced by Kevin Keane, president of the union at its Manhattan headquarters. WSG represents UPI's editorial staff, photo technicians and some office personnel. The weekly salary of top scale newspersons will be reduced from $690 to $448 beginning Saturday.

''Through the vote our members demonstrated a willingness to make another huge sacrifice to keep UPI alive,'' Keane said.

Pieter VanBennekom, UPI vice president for editorial operations, hailed the employes' action.

''Given the extremely tough circumstances in which we are working, this is a courageous and responsible act by journalists who want to support each other and who hope to see UPI restored.

''The officers of the Wire Service Guild have our thanks for having conducted this important referendum so quickly and even-handedly. This gives us the time to fine a new home for UPI.''

A management statement issued immediately after the vote was announced said that more than 12 organizations have expressed preliminary interest in purchasing all or part of UPI, double the number announced at the beginning of the month. The potential buyers were not identified.

Management said earlier this month that it would file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy and liquidate the company if the union did not submit the wage cut proposal to UPI workers, or if employes rejected the pay cut.

The WSG Executive Committee agreed to the vote but said it recommended against acceptance. The union is part of the Washington- based Newspaper Guild, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

Union officials said they feared any new buyer would insist that the 35 percent pay cut continue beyond the 90-day period as part of a purchase agreement.

Ballots on the proposed wage cut were mailed Nov. 6, returnable by Nov. 16. UPI wanted the pay cut to be retroactive to Nov. 4, but union officials refused to accept any wage cut until after the vote.

UPI reduced the salaries of all non-union employes by 35 percent for 90 days Nov. 4 and announced it had rescinded its policy granting severance and notice pay to these employes.

It immediately announced that it was asking Guild members to accept the same pay cut. Severance and notice pay provisions will continue for WSG-covered employes.

''All these drastic measures are necessary to bring UPI immediately to cash flow self-sufficiency and to stabilize the company during the next few months to be able to effect a sale of UPI in the shortest possible order,'' VanBennekom said at the time.

''To bring the process to a successful conclusion, we need the breathing space these measures will provide,'' VanBennekom added.

Keane said it was now up to management to find buyers who understand how to channel employes' journalistic talent and energy into a profitable news agency.

''Our members are angry about the reckless way in which a series of management teams have tainted UPI's proud name,'' Keane said. ''Employes want new owners who will show a commitment to UPI's jouirnalistic traditions and a commmitment to the employes who have given so much of themselves in the name of UPI.''

UPI is 99 percent owned by Infotechnology Inc. of New York. Infotech and Financial News Network Inc., of which Infotech has a 47 percent stake, said in late October that they were considering sale of ''some or all'' of their businesses because they were unable to meet operating expenses or cover payments on $70.2 million in bank debt.

A new management team has replaced Dr. Earl Brian, who had been chief executive officer of both Infotech and FNN.

UPI changed owners three times in the past decade and filed for Chapter 11 banruptcy protection in 1985. It emerged from bankruptcy the following year when Mexican newspaper publisher Mario Vazquez Rana acquired control of the company.

Chapter 11 filing permits reorganization. Liquidation of UPI could be achieved by filing for Chapter 7, which provides for conversion of assets into cash or a closing of a business by collecting assets and settling all debts.

UPI was founded as United Press in 1907 by E.W. Scripps, a newspaper chain owner, as a challenge to Associated Press' policy of selling to only one newspaper in cities with more than one paper.

As a Scripps-Howard property, UP rapidly established bureaus worldwide and at one time was the leading news wire service globally, pioneering coverage in South America and the Far East.

It merged with Hearst's International News Service in 1958, becoming United Press International.

Scripps-Howard sold UPI in 1982 to Douglas Ruhe and William Geissler. Control was given by the bankruptcy court to Vazquez Rana who sold it to Infotech in early 1989.

What could have been UPI's last Friday was also compounded by a widespread service outage. A construction crew cut a major cable serving a satellite ground station in Alexandria, Va., interrupting much of UPI's service for almost six hours. The problem delayed transmission of news of the vote.

The latest crisis at UPI was sparked by a near financial collapse of Infotechnology Inc., of New York, which owns 97 percent of the wire service.

Infotech and Financial News Network Inc., of which Infotech has a 47 percent stake, said in late October they were considering sale of ''some or all'' of their businesses because they were unable to meet operating expenses or cover payments on $70.2 million in bank debt.

A new interim management team has replaced Dr. Earl Brian, who had been chief executive officer of both Infotech, FNN and UPI. The new managers placed the media properties on the block.

UPI changed owners three times in the past decade and filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection in 1985. It emerged from bankruptcy the following year when Mexican newspaper magnate Mario Vazquez Rana acquired control of the company.

UPI was founded as the United Press Associations in 1907 by Scripps _ in the merger of three smaller news agencies including the old Publishers Press Association _ as a challenge to Associated Press' policy of selling to only one newspaper in each city.

Scripps-Howard sold UPI in 1982 to Douglas Ruhe and William Geissler. Vazquez Rana bought UPI in late 1985. He turned it over to a group led by Brian in early 1988.

CORNING, N.Y. (NOV. 16) UPI - Corning Inc. Friday announced a corporate reorganization that includes the replacement of three group presidents with a single chief operating offieder, and the conversion of the company's laboratory services businesses into a separate entity.

The world's leading specialty glass manufacturer said Roger G. Ackerman, 52, will be president and chief operating officer, replacing three group presidents who have been in place since 1983.

Ackerman, who has been with the company 28 years, has directed its specialty materials businesses since 1985 as a group president.

The laboratory services businesses will be established as a new free- standing wholly owned subisidiary, to be called Corning Laboratory Services Inc. Its chairman and chief executive officer will be E. Martin Gibson, 52.

Gibson has also been with Corning 28 years and has been a group president since 1983. He remains on the Corning board of directors.

The new company consists of four existing Corning subsidiaries: MetPath Inc. of Teterboro, N.J.; Hazelton Corp. of Herndon, Va.; Enseco Inc. of Somerset, N.J., and Besselaar Associates of Princeton, N.J. A headquarters location has yet to be chosen.

The company's industrial glass and ceramics businesses will be organized into three new groups, each headed by a new executive vice president.

Board chairman James Houghton said the moves do not change the activities of the company in its four major segments: specialty materials, communications, laboratory services, and consumer products.

WASHINGTON (UPI) _ Exporters have completed the sale of 111,760 metric tons of corn to Japan, the No. 1 market for U.S. farm exports, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

The sale was worth about $9.9 million, based on Chicago prices.

There are 39.4 bushels of corn in a metric ton of 2,204.6 pounds, so the sale called for delivery of 4.4 million bushels of corn in the coming months.

Japan was forecast to buy a record $8.3 billion in U.S. agricultural products during fiscal 1990.

With the latest sale, Japan has purchased 3.73 million tons of U.S. corn since the corn marketing year opened last Sept. 1., or 26 percent of the 14.2 million tons that have been sold.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - President Bush signed Friday a handful of environmental-related bills he said would protect ''some of the most precious expanses of America,'' including parts of Nevada's Mojave Desert, the Great Lakes and the Florida Keys.

A day after signing historic clean air legislation, the president held a second White House ceremony on the South Lawn to sign into law the more modest pieces of legislation, some to protect regional natural resources and others to promote research and education.

''Several bills that I'm signing this morning will protect some of the most precious expanses of America,'' Bush said. ''Our agenda for the environment is broad and ambitious - one that encompasses not just the air we breath but also verdant forests and grassy meadows, majestic rivers and lakes and pristine coastal shorelines.

''Clearly all of us must work together to preserve America's natural beauty,'' he declared.

Preparing to depart for an eight-day trip to Europe and the Middle East, Bush was flanked by congressmen and administration officials as he placed his signature on the bills, one of which received a bonus presidential thumb print when a pen spouted ink all over his fingers.

The bills that were signed:

_The Antarctic Protection Act of 1990, which protects Antarctica from unrestrained commercial activity, placing an indefinite ban on U.S. mineral activities there.

_The Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary and Protection Act, which designates 2,600 square nautical miles of coastal waters off the Florida Keys as the United States' ninth national marine sanctuary.

_The Omnibus Natural Resources and Wildlife Program, which among other things establishes two new National Wildlife Refuges - at the 18,000 acre Bayou Cocodrie in Louisiana and the 7,500-acre Walkill River refuge in New Jersey.

_The Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area Establishment Act of 1990, which designates 83,100 acres in southern Nevada's Mojave Desert as a conservation area.

_The Coastal Barrier Improvement Act of 1990, which almost triples the size of the existing coastal barrier resource system, adding 818,000 acres and encompassing 1,211 miles of shoreline along the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico and Great Lakes coasts.

_The National Environmental Education Act, which is designed to enhance learning opportunities for students on the environment through a series of educational programs.

_The Global Change Research Act of 1990, which the administration - under fire for dragging its feet on combatting global warming - hopes will ''help the nation reduce the significant scientific uncertainty'' associated with addressing the problem.

_The Great Lakes Critical Programs Act of 1990, which will provide planning and cleanup activities to clear the Great Lakes in cooperation with Canada, focusing on Lake Champlain.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - The Federal Reserve acted to lower interest rates Friday by taking steps to slash its federal funds rate on interbank loans to about 7.5 percent from 7.75 percent, economists said Friday.

Lower rates on consumer and business loans and mortgages are expected to follow the Fed's latest move, the third such modest cut since mid- July.

Sam Kahan, chief economist at Fuji Securities in Chicago, described the Fed action as an attempt to give a boost to ''the weak economy,'' and also said there are indications that the core rate of inflation, excluding surging oil prices, may be easing.

''There may be good times ahead on the inflation front,'' Kahan said, noting housing and service sector costs appear to be heading downward as the economy falters.

But Robert Dieli, an economist at Northern Trust in Chicago, said the Fed's action appeared to be very subtle.

''They're being real coy about it,'' he said. ''They want to do it in a way that's going to get them the most bang for the buck. I don't think they feel the time is right for the big push right now.''

LONDON (NOV. 16) UPI - Stock prices closed slightly higher in sluggish trading Friday on the London International Stock Exchange.

The blue-chip Financial Times 100-stock index, which gained 14.0 points Thursday, added another 8.0 points to 2,068.0. The narrower top 30 industrial average gained 15.2 points to 1,614.8.

Volume amounted to around 345 million shares, down from 415 million shares Thursday.

A breakdown of the Seaq system, which supplies quotes and volumes, caused widespread confusion late in the trading session, market watchers noted. The system was restored just before the closing bell.

Analysts said stocks were buoyed by a public opinion poll that showed the ruling Conservative Party doing better than previously expected whatever the outcome of Tuesday's leadership contest between Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Michael Heseltine, a former defense minister.

On the economic front, the Central Statistical Office reported Britain's retail price index rose 0.9 percent in October and was up 10.9 percent on the year.

Analysts said the report failed to dampen investors' enthusiasm, but the Bank of England's warning of a prolonged recession undermined sentiment.

Economists said inflation should peak with the October report. It was the second consecutive month that inflation stood at 10.9 percent on an annual basis, the highest level in more than eight years.

Last month's cut in interest rates and lower gas prices are expected to take the annual rate to below 10 percent in November, analysts said.

However, the underlying inflation rate, which excludes items such as interest rates and the poll tax _ a new method of local taxation introduced in England and Wales this year _ grew last month.

Despite this, Chancellor of the Exchequer John Major said higher oil prices accounted for the jump and predicted underlying inflation, which many economists believe is a better economic indicator, will soon drop.

''I think it will fall reasonably speedily,'' Major said.

Major said he was ''quite confident'' that the 10.9 percent inflation rate recorded in October represented a peak.

Inflation has been one of the most persistent economic ills in Britain and a political liability to the Conservative government.

To check inflationary pressures, Thatcher's government has adopted the highest interest rates of the Group of Seven leading industrial countries and warned businesses and unions against negotiating high wage settlements.

Among London's widely traded stocks, drug issues took a battering following disappointing results and subsequent downgradings. Wellcome fell 30 cents to $6.99 and Glaxo dropped 20 cents to $14.97.

Major oil companies' share drifted lower on significant decreases in crude future prices. Shell lost 8 cents to $8.25.

Elsewhere in Europe, stock prices closed slightly higher in quiet trading on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange.

The closely watched German Stock Index, which gained 14.96 points Thursday, tacked on 4.49 points to 1,425.68.

VIENNA (NOV. 16) UPI - Negotiators from 32 European nations, the United States and Canada agree in principle on a package of measures designed to enhance confidence and reduce the threat of war, a U.S. official said Friday.

The accord is the product of a months-long process known as the conference on Confidence and Security Building Measures and is expected to be ratified at Monday's European summit in Paris.

''We're very close to coming to closure (on an agreement) that will mandate a new set of confidence and security-building measures,'' John Maresca, the U.S. ambassador to the talks, told a news conference.

''There are some details, secondary issues, that are still open'' but likely to be settled before the summit begins Monday, he said.

The agreements primarily involve the institutionalization of information exchanges on troop movements and other activity that could affect the security of neighboring states.

But negotiators stressed the accord would take the form of a political agreement and would not be legally binding.

The CSBM talks fall under the framework of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, which includes the United States, Canada, the Soviet Union and all European states except Albania.

Maresca said the heart of the accord is an agreement on detailed exchanges of information between military forces on new troop deployments, major new weapons systems and military budgets. The information will be made available by the participating countries once a year.

Another key provison is a mechanism for alerting neighboring states to unusual military activity and to potentially hazardous incidents. One example cited by negotiators was the crash last summer of a disabled Soviet MiG jet fighter that flew into Belgian airspace after its pilot bailed out over East Germany.

A third section provides for expanded contacts among military organizations in Europe, including visits among military officiers to air bases in other countries.

Stressing that the CSBM talks were a continuing process, Maresca said the negotiations would resume in Vienna within a week after the Paris summit was concluded.

INDIANAPOLIS (NOV. 16) UPI - Surgeons Friday made the first Midwest implantation of an insulin pump, a Methodist Hospital spokesman said.

The recipient was Geoff Crowe of Zionsville, 29, an insulin-dependent man who has been diabetic since age 4, said spokesman Jon White.

White said Methodist is one of only 10 hospitals nationwide that are implanting the pumps beneath patients' abdominal skin on a trial basis. The pumps deliver insulin by remote control so patients no longer need give themselves periodic shots.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - A magazine report on the ''Forbes Nonprofit 500'' lists several Indiana entities among the top 500 nonprofit institutions in the nation in terms of fiscal 1989 revenues.

The list includes the University of Notre Dame at $279.7 million in revenue, $73.1 million ''excess'' over expenditures and $830.4 million in assets.

In health care, the Indiana institutions listed are:

_ Sisters of St. Francis Health Services with $635 million in revenue, $15.1 million in excess after spending and $439.9 million in assets.

_ Methodist Hospital of Indiana at $400.8 million revenue, $1.1 million exess and $415.3 million in assets.

In funding and administrative agencies, Forbes listed Purdue Research Foundation, but with 1988 figures: $82.5 million in revenue, $4.7 million excess and $68 million in assets.

The article explained that many large nonprofit institutions are missing from its lists because religous groups are not required to report to the Internal Revenue Service. Forbes said many large decentralized organizations with autonomous locals, like the Indianapolis-based American Legion ''do not happen to have large enough headquarters organizations to put them on our list.''

The article said the number of nonprofit institutions in the country rose almost 15 percent during the decade ending in 1987, to 1.3 million. It said many American businesses question why some large competitors enjoy nonprofit tax exemptions.

MBABANE, SWAZILAND (NOV. 16) UPI - American officials asked two prominent activists holed up at the U.S. Embassy to leave the mission Friday, citing inadequate facilities to host them any longer but pledging to monitor Swaziland's human rights situation.

The two activists sought refuge in the main reception room of the embassy on Thursday over fears they would be detained at nearly the same time as the new U.S. ambasssador, Stephen Rogers, presented his credentials to Swazi King Mswati.

U.S. Embassy spokeswoman Helen Picard said the men were holed up in the 7th floor reception room of the mission, and had stayed overnight.

Police accused the activists of stirring unrest at the University of Swaziland earlier in the week and were reported to have secured 60-day detention without trial orders against them after serious clashes on the campus Wednesday.

''They were never truly welcome guests because we knew this was not a practical option,'' Picard said. ''We don't have a shower, or bath. We don't even have a Coca-Cola machine. ... There's no Marine guard so somebody had to stay all night.''

Sociology lecturer Ray Russon and former university law student Sabelo Dlamini were among 12 activists who stood trial on charges of high treason and membership in the illegal People's United Democratic Movement.

All 12 were acquitted on the treason charges. Russon and Dlamini were among nine found guilty of participating in a political meeting in the tiny mountainous kingdom bordering South Africa. Political parties are banned in the country of 700,000.

Dlamini was freed after the court ruled he already had served his six-month sentence. Russon, sentenced to a year imprisonment, has been freed on bail pending an appeal.

In the wake of the trial, Dlamini was refused readmission to the University of Swaziland and another trialist, Mpandlana Shongwe, was denied the opportunity to resume his position at the Mbabane Teachers Training College.

On Monday, the Student Representatives Council at the university called a boycott of classes over several demands, including the poor quality of food, fees, and the refusal to readmit Dlamini.

Students ignored ultimatums to return to classes and clashed Wednesday with riot police and army troops who entered the campus to enforce a closure order. Several students were reported injured in the clashes, and the university has remained closed.

A U.S. Embassy statement announcing the pair had been asked to leave said officials continued to ''monitor closely a number of human rights concerns in Swaziland,'' including the appeal process of those involved in the treason trial and the university unrest.

''We have assured them that the embassy would continue to follow their case closely, reiterating to the government of Swaziland our concerns over the important human rights issue at stake and making every effort to ensure that those involved receive the full benefit of internationally accepted due process rights,'' it said.

COMPTON, CA (NOV. 17) UPI - A gang member was sentenced to death Friday for shooting to death a man and a woman during separate robberies in 1987.

Paul Madison Brown, 23, was convicted Sept. 12 of two counts of murder with special circumstance allegations: murder during a robbery and multiple murders.

The conviction qualified him for only two punishments _ life in state prison without the possibility of parole or death in the California gas chamber.

Jurors at the penalty phase of Brown's Superior Court trial rejected a defense plea to spare his life and on Oct. 17 recommended the death sentence.

Superior Court Judge Janice Claire Croft formally imposed that sentence Friday.

Deputy District Attorney Joe Markus said that Brown and another gang member robbed and killed a man who was ordering fast-food through a restaurant take-out window on May 30, 1987.

Two days later, they robbed and killed a woman who they had chased through the streets of Los Angeles, Markus said. The other gang member faces a pending trial for the murders.

Markus said the Brown case marks the first death penalty sentence in the Compton area in several years.

''This sentence will hopefully send a message to gang members to stop committing these types of crimes,'' the prosecutor said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - The International Monetary Fund said Friday it has agreed to provide emergency financial relief to member countries that have been most seriously hurt by the Persian Gulf crisis.

''Recent developments in the developments in the Middle East have increased the vulnerability of the world economy and exacerbated the difficulties facing many of the fund's members,'' the international lending agency said.

The agency's executive directors said the relief will be made to help members overcome ''unexpected shocks.''

''Notwithstanding the difficulties and uncertainties, (the) executive directors consider that the overall situation is manageable through the use and adaptation of the existing instruments available to the IMF,'' the agency said in a statement.

The economies of several nations have been thrown into disarray since the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait by Iraq and the subsequent U.S.-led military response and economic embargo ordered by the United Nations.

The IMF said its relief efforts will be concentrated in a number of financial instruments, including its structural adjustment facility, enhanced structural adjustment facility and the compensatory and contingency financing facility.

The agency's executive board agreed to modify the amount of financing available to member nations to take into account the effects of Middle East developments.

The board also agreed to suspend until the end of next year the lower annual, three-year and cumulative borrowing limits and to allow the IMF to increase the total of its enhance structural adjustment facility for members during a mid-year review period.

The enchanced structural adjustment facility is the IMF's instrument for helping its poorest members undertake economic and structural programs to strengthen their economies.

Until now, the IMF has not been able to compensate for economic shocks caused by sudden rises in oil prices. To help settle jittery global economies, the IMF will now include costs of oil imports in its compensatory and contingency financing facility through the end of next year.

IMF compensatory financing will be expanded to include not only workers' remittances and travel receipts but also losses resulting from shortfalls in receipts from pipelines, canals, shipping, transportation, construction and insurance.

The IMF board also stressed the position that while temporary forms of relief are important, ''the impact of the Middle East crisis, and the broader economic changes sweeping the world, call for bold and comprehensive growth-oriented structural adjustment programs that would reinforce the member countries' capacity to react to such unexpected shocks,'' the IMF statement said.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 16) UPI - Battles between taxi operators and youths over fares killed six people and left several houses razed in troubled Natal province's black Folweni township, state-run radio said Friday.

Violence flared Wednesday when youths began stoning taxis after drivers refused to lower their fares in line with a decrease in the gasoline price, the radio quoted police as saying.

Full-scale fighting erupted late Thursday and continued through the night and opposing groups torched a number of houses, police spokesman Capt. Kwazi Nene said. Patrols found the six bodies after the battles ended, and Nene described Folweni as tense.

Police made no link between the violence and the Indian Ocean province's ongoing strife between supporters of the African National Congress and Inkatha which has killed up to 4,000 people since 1987.

ANNAPOLIS, MD (UPI) - Gov. William Donald Schaefer is asking for letters of resignation from his entire Cabinet and other high-level appointed officials of his administration, a newspaper reported Friday.

Several state officials who asked not to be identified told The (Baltimore) Evening Sun that Schaefer's order affects between 50 and 100 officials.

''It's all gloom and doom around here,'' said one top-level Schaefer aide.

Transportation Secretary Richard Trainor announced his retirement Thursday.

Sources told the newspaper that Schaefer's broad order seeking letters of resignation did not mean he is making a clean sweep to begin his new term in office.

But the sources said the governor plans to review every Cabinet officer, their top aides, all small departments, and his own Executive Office appointees, including his legislative and press officers.

Sources told The Evening Sun that after the initial shock of the move, most of Schaefer's appointees are expected to be retained, or their letters of resignation rejected.

But Schaefer's command has created an air of uncertainty and uneasiness in the top levels of state government.

One state official said no one can predict the tempermental governor's mood.

''I look at it as a way to shake everyone up,'' the official said. ''He wants everyone on their toes.''

Schaefer said Thursday that more changes in his Cabinet would be forthcoming.

Trainor, 61, said he had been considering retirement for about a year, make up his mine last week and discussed it with Schaefer Wednesday.

''I just figured it was time,'' Trainor said. ''There comes a time when the enjoyment stops. It's a tough job. It's satisfying, but it's time-consuming.''

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) UPI - As the ''Keating Five'' influence-peddling hearing moved into a second day, the Senate Ethics Committee's special counsel said Friday huge contributions made to Sen. Alan Cranston by S&L operator Charles Keating Jr. led to elaborate efforts by Cranston to help Keating with bank regulators.

In addition, the panel's three Democrats and three Republicans refused a request by Cranston, a California Democrat, to have committee member Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., barred from participating in the proceedings because of negative comments Helms made about Cranston during his recent re-election campaign.

The committee, holding an unprecedented public hearing, is examining allegations Cranston and four other senators - Dennis DeConcini, D- Ariz.; John Glenn, D-Ohio; John McCain, R-Ariz.; and Donald Riegle, D- Mich. - improperly exerted pressure on federal bank regulators for the benefit of Keating.

On Thursday, special counsel Robert Bennett presented opening statements suggesting that Glenn and McCain be exonerated and that DeConcini and Riegle were deeply involved with Keating. On Friday, Bennett turned his attention to Cranston, who he said actively ''solicited contributions and sought contributions'' from Keating.

The five senators are accused of holding two April 1987 meetings with Edwin Gray, then chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board, to blunt a long- running investigation of Keating's Lincoln Savings and Loan Association and seek the scuttling of a rule limiting speculative and risky investments by thrifts.

Keating faces civil racketeering charges in California under a criminal fraud indictment stemming from the Lincoln collapse.

''There is substantial evidence that Sen. Cranston solicited or accepted large contributions from Mr. Keating on four occasions from 1987-89 connected in time and circumstance to Mr. Keating's requests for his help with the bank board,'' Bennett charged.

Challenged by Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., the committee chairman, on whether active solicitation of contributions differed from the action of the other four senators, Bennett replied he knew of ''no evidence'' that Deconcini, Riegle, Glenn or McCain ''affirmatively asked'' for money from Keating.

Bennett waded through letters, memos, Cranston's calendar and written depositions to present his case against the senator.

Cranston, No. 2 Democrat in the Senate Democratic leadership, announced last week he would not seek re-election in 1992 because he is suffering from prostate cancer. He was absent from the proceedings Friday morning.

In advance of a Sept. 24, 1987, meeting, Joy Jacobson, Cranston's fundraiser, suggested the senator ask Keating for $250,000 for two voter projects.

Asked in a deposition how she chose the figure $250,000, Jacobson, according to Bennett, said Cranston wanted to ask for $500,000, an amount she thought was too much. Keating later contributed the $250,000.

All five senators profess innocence of any wrongdoing, claiming they were merely assisting a constituent.

But Bennett said not all the actions could be explained as constituent service noting the six members of the ethics panel must decide whether $1.3 million in donations from Keating to the senators' re-election campaigns or other favorite causes may have influenced their actions.

William Taylor, Cranston's lawyer, asked the six-member panel to bar Helms from participating in the case as a result of a statement made by Helms, quoted in a Raleigh, N.C., newspaper on Nov. 4, that Cranston was ''the leading water carrier in Congress for the S&L kingpin Charles Keating.''

After a brief private meeting, Heflin said the committee would not act against Helms, accepting a statement from the Senate legal counsel that ''the committee has not been empowered under its charter to disqualify any member.''

Helms, vowing to base his decision on the facts, said he would not step aside. He said his remark was ''a fair comment in a political confrontation which Sen. Cranston helped finance using a political action committee to which Mr. Keating had made an enormous contribution.''

Cranston ''had deliberately injected himself into that campaign and I was entitled to try to eject him,'' Helms said.

Cranston donated some $5,000 to Helms' Democratic foe in the Nov. 6 election, former Charlotte Mayor Harvey Gantt. Taylor said the remarks showed Helms was not impartial and had already made up his mind on the matter.

BROWNSVILLE, TX (NOV. 16) UPI - U.S. retailers and farmers along the U.S.-Mexico border will initially be stung by any free trade agreement between the United States and Mexico, a leading free trade specialist said.

Tim Bennett, who was the federal government's chief negotiator for U.S. trade and investment policy with Mexico from 1985 until 1988, said a free trade agreement would increase the flow of goods between the two countries.

More U.S. products could be sold in Mexico's stores, and more liberal rules would allow the movement of more Mexican imports, including agricultural produce, he told the Brownsville Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Bennett said Mexican shoppers would not have to cross the border to buy articles available now only in the United States. and American consumers likely would favor the lower-priced Mexican produce over fruits and vegetables grown along the border on the U.S. side.

Mexico's ability to farm at lower costs, as well as increased sales of U.S. products in Mexico, would put U.S. retailers and farmers along the border in the unfavorable position at first, Bennett said.

''That will not mean the end of retail and agriculture,'' Bennett said, adding that American retailers simply will be forced to ''be creative,'' while farmers must find alternative crops.

In the long run, Bennett said, both sides should benefit from such an agreement.

Bennett, who also participated in multi-lateral trade negotiations with Japan in 1977 until 1979, now is vice president of SJS Advanced Strategies, an international trade and consulting firm based in Washington, D.C.

Bennett said rapid, unexpected changes throughout the world's economies, as well as the coalescing of the European economic community, have prompted the United States and Mexico to accelerate trade talks.

While a final version of the proposed free trade agreement is at least five years away, Bennett said, ''it would not be surprising if it came sooner than expected.''

KINGSTON, NY (NOV. 16) UPI - Police swooped down early Friday and arrested 27 persons they charged were part of a drug ring that has flooded Kingston streets with cocaine and crack.

Authorities said they hoped arrest of members of the ring they dubbed ''The Thruway Connection'' would put a serious dent in the flow of crack from New York City to Kingston.

''Operation Street Sweep'' employed 40 Kingston police officers and an undercover officer from another jurisdiction obtained through a ''Swap-a-Cop'' exchange program that minimizes the risk of discovery. The suspects were arraigned before Kingston City Judge Michael Bruhn Friday morning in a courtroom sealed from the press and public for what were cited as ''security reasons'' and remanded to the Ulster County Jail.

''This is going to make a significant impact on street level crack and cocaine dealing,'' said Police Chief James Riggins. He said that although most of those arrested had Kingston addresses, many are actually from the New York City area, where cocaine is obtained in quantity and transported to Kingston on buses and in rental cars.

PEORIA, IL (NOV. 16) UPI - The jet-setting lifestyle of Anthony DeFelippis came to a crashing halt when he was sentenced to 37 months in federal prison for bank larceny and making false statements to a bank.

DeFelippis dropped out of Bradley University in Peoria two years ago and proceeded to bounce a check to pay for a posh penthouse in Peoria, ran up $100,000 on his credit card and bought a $23,000 car.

However, DeFelippis never had a job to pay for his lavish lifestyle and bought the luxury items with bounced checks, overdrawn credit card limits and tolerant parents who covered his debt.

U.S. District Judge Michael Mihm sentenced him Thursday to 37 months because of his unrepentant attitude even though DeFilippis qualified for a 30-month sentence.

''Two years ago, I would have told you people are cattle,'' DeFelippis told the judge. ''You buy them. You sell them. You use them as you have to, then you discard them. People are a lot more complex than that.''

DeFelippis has held only one job since he left Bradley in May 1988, working part time in New Jersey and earning $4,000 over six months.

He said he was convinced that he was on the road to success and he began buying all the trappings.

While still in college, DeFelippis interviewed with a brokerage firm in Chicago for a job and, assuming that he had received a job, wrote out a check for a down-payment for an apartment at Peoria's posh Twin Towers but the check bounced.

During that time, he also bought a $23,000 car, a debt his parents covered. He said he often rented limousines and once rented a helicopter in Chicago and tried to charge it to the brokerage firm where he hoped to work.

He also tried to lease an apartment on Chicago's Lake Shore Drive but again, his check bounced.

DeFelippis, who described himself in court as ''out of control,'' once had a $100,000 bill on his American Express credit card and had major debts on other credit cards at department stores.

He was finally arrested in March 1989 when he applied for a $250,000 loan at the former Commercial National Bank, claiming to have a $2 million annual income.

He pleaded guilty to the charges last April.

When he gets out of jail, DeFelippis said he wants to move in with his parents in Florida and earn a university degree in finance.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 16) UPI - An American named Charles Shaw is one of several unknown singers whose voices won the pop duo Milli Vanilli world fame and a 1989 Grammy Award for their debut album, ''Girl You Know It's True,'' their manager said Friday.

The manager, Carsten Heyn, confirmed that the dreadlocked duo, known for their good looks, funky dancing and lip-synching performances, did not sing a note on the record that brought them international stardom.

Heyn said the identities of the other singers would be revealed at a news conference with the pop stars that was scheduled to be held early next week in Los Angeles, where the duo is currently staying.

The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences has said it was considering stripping the two of their Grammy, a measure that has never been taken before in the 33-year history of the award.

Heyn said Shaw and between two to six other unknown singers were the real voices on ''Girl You Know It's True,'' the album that won Rob Pilatus and Fabrice Morvan a Grammy Award as Best New Artist last year.

The album, which includes the title hit and another popular song, ''Blame It on the Rain,'' sold 7 million copies.

Word that two performers were fakes came after their German producer, Frank Farian, fired the pair earlier this week because they insisted on actually singing on a planned follow-up record.

Farian has said he never told the secret to Arista Records, which was responsible for the American distribution of the album. The record's credits list Pilatus and Morvan as singing on all songs.

Asked why the duo kept the sham secret for so long, Heyn said, ''He made them not say anthing to anybody.

''We have insisted since 1989 that we be allowed to sing on all Milli Vanilli records. We have been ready, willing and able to record our own vocals and have been prevented by Frank Farian from doing so.''

''They are good singers,'' he said, adding that the exotic pop stars - Pilatus was born in Guadaloupe, while Morvan was raised in Germany - speak English with a ''little accent.''

Heyn said the duo was now considering new deals for what would in fact be their real debut album. But he said the pop stars would perform under a different name, since Farian owns the rights to Milli Vanilli - which Heyn claimed came from a Turkish phrase for ''positive energy.''

Michael Greene, president of the academy that awards the Grammys, said he was dismayed to learn of the fraud.

''The Grammy is awarded for artistic integrity,'' Greene said. ''We get about 10,000 entries a year and we rely on the lable copy and the credits. When it's fradulent or falsified in any way it's difficult for us to feel that the way our members went about voting was informed.''

If the duo is stripped of the award, Green said the academy may decide to belatedly honor one of the four other 1989 nominees for Best New Artist - Neneh Cherry, Indigo Girls, Soul II Soul and Tone Loc - or just not dole out an award in that category for last year.

Farian earlier this week announced plans to release a record with the singers who actually performed on the Milli Vanilli record.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Preliminary tests on marine mammals have uncovered surprisingly high levels of pollutants in some sea lions, government researchers reported Friday.

The National Marine Fisheries Service said the testing effort was spurred by concerns about the possible effects of toxic contaminants like DDT, other pesticides and polychlorinated biphenyls, called PCBs.

Early tests on 23 marine mammals from the Pacific Northwest and Alaska found varying levels of contaminants in the animals.

Surprisingly high levels of contaminants - greater than 50 parts per million - were found in two of eight healthy Steller's sea lions caught in a relatively pristine area of Alaska.

''It definitely raises some concerns ... but right now we don't know about what kind of health effect it might have,'' said Usha Varanasi, who conducted the tests at the fisheries services' environmental conservation division. Contaminants like PCBs are thought to cause immune suppression that could leave animals vulnerable to infection, she noted.

Another disturbing discovery of the early testing was the finding that pregnant pilot whales appear to transfer chemical contaminants to their developing fetuses, the fisheries service said.

However, tests on gray whales recently stranded in the Puget Sound showed they had levels of pollutant exposure too low to cause health problems. Levels in fur seals and Alaskan harbor seals were even lower than those for gray whales, Varanasi said.

The government hopes to test about 100 marine mammals in its two-year pilot study, and establish a bank to store tissue samples so scientists can learn more about the patterns of contaminant exposure.

''We are going to try to analyze all different types of animals under all different conditions,'' Varanasi said in a telephone interview.

Researchers plan to get their test animals from those that are stranded, die of disease, are caught in fishermen's nets or are killed under special permits.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) _ Hundreds of banner-waving citizens are expected to rally Saturday to urge Philadelphia Wilson Goode and state leaders to act now to prevent any cuts in basic services in the city, officials said.

The rally will be organized by a new group called Campaign for Philadelphia, a spokeswoman said, and it will be held near the University of Pennsylvania campus.

Spokeswoman Jane Shull said the group will call on state and city leaders to agree on a financial rescue plan because further cuts in services will hurt _ NOT help _ the city.

Skull said the group will also launch a campaign to lobby the state government to pay its fair share to the city.

She said the federal government has cut its spending in Philadelphia by nearly 40 percent and the state has failed to provide adequate funding for urban programs.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - Wire Service Guild members at United Press International voted by a majority of 62 percent to take a 35 percent wage cut for a period of 90 days to keep the news wire service viable while management attempts to sell all or part of the company, it was announced Friday.

The vote was announced by Kevin Keane, president of the union at its Manhattan headquarters. WSG represents UPI's editorial staff, photo technicians and some office personnel. The weekly salary of top scale newspersons will be reduced from $690 to $448 beginning Saturday.

''Through the vote our members demonstrated a willingness to make another huge sacrifice to keep UPI alive,'' Keane said.

Pieter VanBennekom, UPI vice president for editorial operations, hailed the employes' action.

''Given the extremely tough circumstances in which we are working, this is a courageous and responsible act by journalsts who want to support each other and who hope to see UPI restored.

''The officers of the Wire Service Guild have our thanks for having conducted this important referendum so quickly and even-handedly. This gives us the time to fine a new home for UPI.''

A management statement issued immediately after the vote was announced said that more than 12 organizations have expressed preliminary interest in purchasing all or part of UPI, double the number announced at the beginning of the month. The potential buyers were not identified.

Management said earlier this month that it would file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy and liquidate the company if the union did not submit the wage cut proposal to UPI workers, or if employes rejected the pay cut.

The WSG Executive Committee agreed to the vote but said it recommended against acceptance. The union is part of the Washington- based Newspaper Guild, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

Union officials said they feared any new buyer would insist that the 35 percent pay cut continue beyond the 90-day period as part of a purchase agreement.

Ballots on the proposed wage cut were mailed Nov. 6, returnable by Nov. 16. UPI wanted the pay cut to be retroactive to Nov. 4, but union officials refused to accept any wage cut until after the vote.

UPI reduced the salaries of all non-union employes by 35 percent for 90 days Nov. 4 and announced it had rescinded its policy granting severance and notice pay to these employes.

It immediately announced that it was asking Guild members to accept the same pay cut. Severance and notice pay provisions will continue for WSG-covered employes.

''All these drastic measures are necessary to bring UPI immediately to cash flow self-sufficiency and to stabilize the company during the next few months to be able to effect a sale of UPI in the shortest possible order,'' VanBennekom said at the time.

''To bring the process to a successful conclusion, we need the breathing space these measures will provide,'' VanBennekom added.

Keane said it was now up to management to find buyers who understand how to channel employes' journalistic talent and energy into a profitable news agency.

''Our members are angry about the reckless way in which a series of management teams have tainted UPI's proud name,'' Keane said. ''Employes want new owners who will show a commitment to UPI's jouirnalistic traditions and a commmitment to the employes who have given so much of themselves in the name of UPI.''

UPI is 99 percent owned by Infotechnology Inc. of New York. Infotech and Financial News Network Inc., of which Infotech has a 47 percent stake, said in late October that they were considering sale of ''some or all'' of their businesses because they were unable to meet operating expenses or cover payments on $70.2 million in bank debt.

A new management team has replaced Dr. Earl Brian, who had been chief executive officer of both Infotech and FNN.

UPI changed owners three times in the past decade and filed for Chapter 11

banruptcy protection in 1985. It emerged from bankruptcy the following year when Mexican newspaper publisher Mario Vazquez Rana acquired control of the company.

Chapter 11 filing permits reorganization. Liquidation of UPI could be achieved by filing for Chapter 7, which provides for conversion of assets into cash or a closing of a business by collecting assets and settling all debts.

UPI was founded as United Press in 1907 by E.W. Scripps, a newspaper chain owner, as a challenge to Associated Press' policy of selling to only one newspaper in cities with more than one paper.

As a Scripps-Howard property, UP rapidly established bureaus worldwide and at one time was the leading news wire service globally, pioneering coverage in South America and the Far East.

It merged with Hearst's International News Service in 1958, becoming United Press International.

Scripps-Howard sold UPI in 1982 to Douglas Ruhe and William Geissler. Control was given by the bankruptcy court to Vazquez Rana who sold it to Infotech in early 1989.

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) _ Although Louisiana State officials denied any advance decision to fire football coach Mike Archer before the end of the season, Athletic Director Joe Dean hired a sports management firm at least six weeks ago to compile a list of possible successors.

Archer announced his resignation Thursday, to take effect after the last game of the season on Nov. 24. The coach said he was not under political pressure to quit but the issue was forced by television reports a day earlier that he was to be fired after the Tulane game.

As speculation grew that Archer would be fired, Dean repeatedly insisted no decision had been made and would not occur before the end of the season. However, Dean acknowledged he hired Raycom Inc., a Charlotte, N.C., sports management group, to compile a list of replacement candidates.

''What happens to me if we decide to make a change? Where am I? What do I do? I can't wait until February,'' Dean said. ''I'd do it again. It's good business.''

Archer, however, criticized the hiring of Raycom and said the actions of Dean helped him decide to resign.

The original candidate list supplied by Raycom contained about 40 names. Dean said he has shortened the list to 15 but had not yet contacted any of the coaches.

Dean refused to name the coaches on the candidate list but confirmed names when specifically asked.

Among the coaches Dean confirmed were under consideration were North Carolina Coach Mack Brown, a former offensive coordinator at LSU who was head coach at Tulane before going to UNC, North Carolina State Coach Dick Sheridan, Southern Mississippi Coach Curley Hallman and Mike Shanahan, quarterback coach and offensive coordinator for the Denver Broncos.

Others on the list included: Houston Coach John Jenkins, Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Ross; Illinois Coach and Athletic Director John Mackovic; Oregon Coach Rich Brooks; Ohio State Coach John Cooper; William and Mary Coach Jimmy Laycock and Tampa Bay Buccaneers assistant Richard Williamson.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) UPI - The stock market was slightly higher late Friday in light trading, recovering from slight midday weakness brought on by bargain-hunting and by buying tied to the monthly expirations of stock futures and options.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 14.60 Thursday, was up 2.97 to 2548.02 at 3 p.m. EST.

Advances led declines 751-695 among the 1,969 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Volume at 3 p.m. amounted to about 124,520,000 shares, compared with 122,030,000 in the same period Thursday.

Prices were mixed in light trading of American Stock Exchange issues.

Analysts said the market moved back into the plus column on bargain- hunting and computerized program buying tied to expirations _ known as ''double-witching hour'' _ of stock options and futures on the Major Market Index.

A midday bout of institutional selling wiped out the market's early gains, which were tied to good economic news, sharply lower oil prices and strength in the bond market.

The stock market opened higher after the government issued reports that inflation rose slightly less than expected last month and that the trade deficit eased in September.

Inflation at the consumer level eased slightly in October as retail prices rose 0.6 percent after gaining 0.8 percent in each of the two previous months, the Labor Department said.

Separately, the nation's merchandise trade deficit _ the gap between imports and exports _ edged down 3.3 percent to $9.41 billion in September, even though the cost of oil imports hit a nearly nine-year high in the aftermath of Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait, the Commerce Department said.

''There was some cheery news,'' said Hugh Johnson, chief investment officer at First Albany Corp. in Albany, N.Y.

''A substantial percentage of the (trade) deficit was a result of higher oil prices _ a meaningful chunk,'' Johnson said. ''If oil purchases come down, as they have since then, we should see a lower deficit in the coming months.''

The market also got support from a sharp drop in oil prices that put the price of U.S. crude back below the key $30-a-barrel level. In afternoon trading, oil was down $1.62 to $29.50 as fears of imminent war in the Mideast seemed to fade.

The drop in oil fueled gains in the bond market, which also bolstered the stock market. Long-term Treasuries were 3/4 point in afternoon trading.

On the trading floor as of 3 p.m. EST, AT&T was the most active issue, tumbling. United Telecommunications followed, sinking. Both stocks came under pressure from concerns about their prospects after MCI, the other major U.S. long-distance phone company whose stock trades in the over-the-counter market, said Thursday it would restructure and perhaps lay off 1,500 workers over the next six months.

Varity was third, down sharply.

Among the other blue chips, IBM was up sharply, Woolworth and General Motors were both down and Merck was higher.

Fruit of the Loom led the Amex issues, up sharply. FL Management said it has filed with the federal government for permission to acquire less than 15 percent of the stock.

The group said the purchase would be for investment reasons but reserved the right in the future to decide whether it would be desirable to try and influence management.

(NOV. 16) UPI - The pressure of coaching the nation's No. 1 team is getting to Notre Dame's Lou Holtz.

''I am tired,'' Holtz said. ''The pressure mounts every game, every year. There's pressure because there isn't any letup. It's not from the administration. I don't talk to anybody on the phone or read the mail. I just can feel it. Nobody cares how rocky the sea is. Just bring the ship in.''

With a national title two years ago and another possible this season, Holtz has rivaled such Irish coaching greats as Ara Parseghian and Frank Leahy, who each coached 11 Irish teams.

''I wouldn't make 11 years,'' Holtz said. ''Leahy went to war (as a Navy officer in World War II). ... That would be a welcome relief.''

Holtz vows he will remain at Notre Dame if the school wants him after his contract expires this season.

The Irish, 8-1, are home against No. 14 Penn State and visit No. 19 Southern Cal next week. Victories in both games should make an expected Orange Bowl showdown with No. 2 Colorado a battle for the national title.

Penn State, 7-2 and headed for the Blockbuster Bowl, has the nation's No. 2 defense and a seven-game win streak, its longest since an undefeated 1986 national championship season.

''I don't know if we're physically capable of matching up with the Irish,'' Penn State Coach Joe Paterno said. ''Notre Dame is by far the fastest team we play. They have a great team. They could take the ball and move up and down the field on us. I hope they don't but it's a distinct possibility.

''They don't fumble the ball and they have the best return guy maybe who ever played (Raghib Ismail). We have to play as well as we can and hope we keep Ismail to reasonable numbers. We have to play everything well, maybe play better than we're capable of playing.''

The Orange Bowl will invite Colorado regardless of how the Buffaloes, 9-1-1, end their season Saturday against Kansas State. The Wildcats, 5- 5, have more victories this year than in their past four seasons combined.

Two Southeastern Conference games Saturday will play a major role in deciding who faces No. 3 Miami in the Sugar Bowl. No. 11 Mississippi, 8- 1, plays No. 13 Tennessee, 5-2-2, while No. 21 Auburn is home against Georgia. Ole Miss leads the race for New Orleans with a 4-1 league mark, a half-game ahead of Auburn, and the Rebels have only SEC doormat Mississippi State on their schedule after the Volunteers. SEC runners-up are set for Fiesta, Gator and Peach bowl bids as consolation prizes.

No. 5 Georgia Tech, the nation's only unbeaten team at 8-0-1, can clinch the Atlantic Coast Conference crown and a Citrus Bowl bid with a victory at Wake Forest. A loss, combined with a victory by No. 7 Virginia over Maryland, would give the Cavaliers the ACC title. No. 9 Nebraska, 9-1 and bound for the Citrus Bowl, ends its season against arch-rival Oklahoma.

No. 4 Brigham Young, 8-1, the Western Athletic Conference leader, visits Utah and No. 6 Texas, 6-1, can remain atop the Cotton Bowl chase with a Southwest Conference triumph at Texas Christian. No. 3 Miami plays Boston College and No. 10 Florida State, set to meet Penn State in the Blockbuster Bowl, plays Memphis State.

No. 8 Washington, already assured the Pacific-10 title and a Rose Bowl bid, travels to Washington State while No. 12 Iowa tries to remain ahead in the Big Ten race with a victory over Purdue. No. 18 Ohio State, a half-game behind the Hawkeyes, plays league doormat Wiscosnin.

No. 16 Michigan, No. 21 Michigan State and No. 23 Illinois and Minnesota have slim Rose Bowl hopes, but other postseason action is more likely. The Wolverines are home against Minnesota, Michigan State is at Northwestern and the Illini visit Indiana. The Hoosiers need to win one of their last two games to reach the Peach Bowl.

Other games involving ranked teams find bowl longshot South Carolina, 5-4, at No. 15 Clemson, which is set to face Illinois in the Hall of Fame Bowl; UCLA at No. 19 Southern Cal, Michigan State's scheduled foe in the Hancock Bowl; Stanford at No. 25 California, which will meet Wyoming in the Copper Bowl; Arkansas at No. 20 Texas A&M and San Jose State at No. 23 Fresno State, with the winner taking the Big West title and a Raisin Bowl berth against Central Michigan.

Other games with bowl implications find Air Force, 5-5, trying to win a Liberty Bowl bid at Texas-El Paso; Syracuse, 5-3-2, needing to beat West Virginia to secure a spot in the Aloha Bowl; and Louisiana State, 4-5, trying to impress Independence Bowl scouts by beating Mississippi State.

JAKARTA (NOV. 17) - The Indonesian government will not tolerate a new rival trade union movement and will only recognise the All Indonesian Workers Union (SPSI), the leading Kompas daily said Saturday.

"The government will not accept the new trade union when it registers with the Home Affairs Ministry. Its existence cannot be tolerated," Kompas quoted Coordinating Minister for Political and Security Affairs Sudomo as saying.

A number of human rights campaigners led by Johannes Princen announced on Thursday the creation of the Setia Kawan (Solidarity) Free Trade Union saying that the SPSI had failed to defend workers' interests.

Mr. Princen, making the announcement, said the movement was designed to free from the influence of employers and the government and it has already recruited 5,000 workers from Jakarta and surrounding districts.

Mr. Sudomo said the government would only recognise one organisation for every profession and the SPSI is the sole recognised grouping for workers.

The SPSI was set up in 1973 through a government-sponsored merger of various non-communist unions and adopted its present name in 1985 from the Federation of All Indonesian Workers (FBSI).

Workers' organisations previously linked to the Communist Party of Indonesia (PKI) were disbanded after the party itself was outlawed in 1966, a year after an abortive coup attempt which the army blamed on the communists.

CANBERRA (NOV. 19) - Plans to privatise the two state-owned airlines are likely to be postponed because of the depressed state of the aviation industry, the Australian Government said Monday.

The government had hoped to raise 800 million dollars (609 million U.S.) through the 49 percent sale of the international airline Qantas and one billion dollars (760 million U.S.) from the privatisation of the domestic carrier Australian Airlines.

But Finance Minister Ralph Willis confirmed Monday the sales may not now go ahead until 1992.

Like most international airlines, Qantas has been badly hit by rising fuel prices caused by the Gulf crisis.

But it also suffered heavy losses because of a long domestic airline strike last year and last week reported an operating loss of 125 million dollars (95 million U.S.) for the year to June 30.

It has also announced plans to slash its workforce by 500 as a survival measure.

Qantas Chairman Bill Dix said Sunday the airline was not for the time being an attractive investment and it could be as late as 1992 before the sales went ahead.

Mr. Dix said he doubted the profitability of Australian Airlines "would be satisfactory to the marketplace in terms of privatisation at this point in time, either."

Mr. Willis agreed that times were not right and that the sales might not go ahead until 1992.

"We're looking at, in the case of both airlines, a sale which probably would not be finalised until next financial year at least."

KUALA LUMPUR (NOV. 19) - Malaysia has decided to buy 28 Hawk fighter-bombers for two billion dollars (740 million U.S.) from Britain, press reports said.

The reports Sunday cited Defence Ministry secretary-general Nasruddin Bahari as saying that the first aircraft, which will complement and later replace Malaysia's ageing Skyhawks, could be delivered in 1993.

He said that the government will buy 10 single-seater Hawk 100 and 18 twin-seater Hawk 200, which would be used for training.

Mr. Nasruddin said the defence ministry expected to conclude the deal this month with the aircraft manufacturers, British Aerospace.

The Hawk deal is part of a 4.5 billion dollars (1.6 billion U.S.) arms deal with Britain under an outline agreement signed in 1988.

BONN (NOV. 19) - Just two weeks before the pan-German elections, Chancellor Helmut Kohl has finally admitted that new taxes may be needed to help pay the soaring cost of German unity.

His government also said it was contemplating selling capital in Telekom, the giant telephone monopoly, in another move that would help its depleted coffers.

After having denied for nearly a year that unification would add to the fiscal burden, Mr. Kohl made the admission after a week in which he was accused of building a mountain of debt for future taxpayers.

Speaking in a media interview and election rallies this weekend, Mr. Kohl indicated that he would impose new, specialised taxes, such as a charge on pollutant gas emissions.

"We can't escape it," he said. "Citizens will have to pay more one way or another during the next parliament."

"I say that there will not be an increase in income tax in connection with the problems of German unity," he said in the interview. "I did not say there would no increase in income taxes or indirect taxation."

The chancellor acknowledged, however, that for the average citizen, "the difference between income tax and indirect taxation is irrelevant, as it all has to come out of the same wallet."

Finance Minister Theo Waigel, in an interview in Monday's edition of Der Spiegel magazine, evoked the idea of introducing a Swiss-style toll for motorways, free at present in Germany.

He also envisaged imposing an unemployment levy on civil servants, who in reality face little risk of the dole queue, equal to one per cent of their income.

But his ministry denied a report in Bild am Sonntag that he planned to increase standard value-added tax (VAT) from 14 to 16 percent, to garner around 30 billion Deutsche marks (20 billion dollars) a year.

Meanwhile, Telecommunications Minister Christian Schwarz-Schilling said Sunday the government was studying the possibility of injections of private capital in Telekom.

He did not say how much private money would be permitted, but denied a report, also in Monday's Spiegel, that Telekom would be completely sold off.

The agency's state-owned status is enshrined in Germany's Constitution, which can only be modified by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the parliaments. To privatise it would require the support of the opposition Social Democratic Party (SPD).

The shift of the centre-right government came in the final phase of campaigning for the December 2 elections, the first free democratic poll in all of Germany since the rise of Adolf Hitler.

Mr. Kohl, who is well ahead in the opinion polls, is accused by the SPD of having under-estimated the cost of his dash for unity, and hiding the huge bill from the German public.

That criticism widened and amplified last week, when the cabinet agreed on a 1991 draft budget that sees public-sector borrowing ballooning to 140 billion marks (95.2 billion dollars), or five percent of gross national product.

The figure this year is likely to be 100 billion marks. Last year it was only 25 billion marks. The draft foresees no increase in taxation, although Mr. Waigel said he was interested in selling state assets.

Mr. Kohl's admission on taxation delighted the SPD's candidate for the chancellorship, Oskar Lafontaine, who said "the structure of lies surrounding the financing of German unity has collapsed."

But it dismayed Otto Lambsdorff, head of the Free Democratic Party (FDP), the junior coalition member.

"I am astonished, it is a mistake," he said. Such statements "perturb economic circles," he said, adding that the FDP would not accept tax hikes.

SEATTLE (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Bainbridge Laboratories Inc., Bainbridge Island, Wash., and Amersham Corp., Arlington Heights, Ill., announced Monday that they have signed a marketing agreement for TuMark-LASA, a new cancer test.

The new test detects Lipid Associated Sialic Acid (LASA), which is often found in elevated levels in individuals with cancer. TuMark-LASA was developed by Bainbridge Laboratories and is the first commercial test kit available to measure LASA levels.

Under the terms of the agreement, Amersham will obtain exclusive rights to market TuMark-LASA in the United States and Canada as a research product. Bainbridge Laboratories will manufacture the product and provide technical support. Amersham plans to begin marketing the product immediately. The companies will also work together to develop new cancer tests for the research market.

''There is significant clinical interest in testing for LASA,'' said Max Lyon, Bainbridge's chief executive officer. ''With the introduction of this test kit, commercial laboratories will be able to test for LASA without having to make their own chemical reagents.'' Elevated levels of LASA have been reported in breast, liver, lung, colorectal, gastroenteric and ovarian cancers as well as leukemia, lymphomas and melanomas. Clinical reference laboratories offer LASA testing as means of monitoring cancer activity, especially when used in conjunction with other tumor marker tests.

Bainbridge Laboratories is a biotechnology company that develops and manufactures diagnostic tests for cancer, infectious disease and other disease states. The company has also developed TuMark-BTA, a test for the diagnosis and monitoring of bladder cancer, and G-Mark, a culture confirmation test for gonorrhea.

Amersham Corp. is an international corporation that develops, manufactures and markets clinical diagnostic tests, radiopharmaceuticals, environmental assays and measurement and detection systems for the life sciences and industrial markets. Amersham currently markets numerous cancer diagnostic products including exclusive marketing of Centocor's CA-125, CA19-9, and CA15-3 products in the United States. SACRAMENTO, CA (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Supermail International Inc. (NASDAQ: SPML) Monday reported nine-month and third-quarter revenue gains of more than 50 percent over prior-year levels.

Nine-month revenues rose to $2,879,635, from $1,886,080, according to Christine A. Umbertino, president and chief executive officer. The net loss for the period amounted to $459,359 (five cents per share) versus $588,563 (six cents per share) for the same period last year.

Third-quarter revenues rose to $952,422, from $626,828 a year ago. Net loss for the quarter was $305,298 (three cents per share) as compared to $154,644 (two cents per share) for the same quarter last year.

Nine-month and third-quarter operations continued to yield losses. This was due largely to the company's continuing aggressive acquisition program. Because of the company's low stock price and tight cash position, the company is having to finance the acquisitions with debt and with the future earnings of the acquired entities.

Moreover, the company expenses the cost of intangible assets acquired - such as covenants not to compete - against current and next year's earnings. This has the beneficial effect of reducing income tax liabilities but has no impact on cash flow generated, Umbertino explained.

The company is of the opinion that acquisitions so far have been on exceedingly favorable terms for Supermail, allowing the company to recapture its investment in two years or less. The company acquires a proven location with a known volume of business and profitablity and can then immediately expand operations by adding other services offered by Supermail.

During the nine months, the company made three such acquisitions which together generate $950,000 in annualized revenues and generate $450,000 in cash-flow income.

Umbertino stated that while an acquisition program of this magnitude for a company of Supermail's size and scope, delays the company's profitability, it also offers other, more than offsetting advantages.

Among the more important of these advantages are the eventual economies of size and the improved terms the company can negotiate with its money transfer providers as it has more locations. It is these advantages that allow the company to cash more than $100 million worth of checks a year with a capital investment of only a few hundred thousand dollars.

Supermail International operates 20 check cashing and retail money centers in California and Nevada. These locations offer a variety of financial services to consumer and small businesses, including money transfer, check cashing, Peso exchange, utility payments, lottery and lotto tickets, food stamps, facsimile and data transmission as well as packaging, shipping, and other postal services. Supermail is also the largest, independent Western Union agent in the West.

WALNUT CREEK, CALIF. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Bank of the West Monday introduced Prime Rate Equity Line which provides home equity lines to individuals and families at the same interest rate enjoyed by many big corporate borrowers.

Because the interest rate for Bank of the West's Prime Rate Equity Line is equal to the prime rate quoted in The Wall Street Journal which is presently 10 percent, borrowers do not pay the expensive interest spreads normally charged by other banks and savings and loans.

The interest spreads on other banks' and savings and loans' equity lines may be as high as 1.5 to two percent. Because Prime Rate Equity Line eliminates this spread, Bank of the West borrowers can save thousands of dollars in interest.

''Since home owners are finding money more expensive to borrow from banks and savings and loans, we want to help them by employing our resources to provide them with more affordable loans. We are a Northern California bank and understand our market. We have confidence in the future of Northern Californian residential real estate,'' said Richard T. McGoldrick, executive vice president of Bank of the West.

''Since the inception of Bank of the West's equity lines, we have had excellent credit experience. We feel confident in sharing this positive experience with our customers by reducing the interest rate to prime.

''The Prime Rate Equity Line is another example of the numerous retail products Bank of the West has innovated during our 116 year history to provide better banking services for our customers,'' explained McGoldrick.

Prime Rate Equity Line's interest rate is lower than the rate charged by any of the five largest banks in Northern California.

Prime Rate Equity Line is available to both present and new customers of Bank of the West.

With $2.6 billion in assets, Bank of the West is one of California's largest community banks. The bank has served Northern California for 116 years. Bank of the West is a member of the Banque Nationale de Paris Group (BNP), one of the world's largest banks. BNP's 2,700 offices in 80 countries enable Bank of the West to provide its customers with a wide range of global banking services.

SAN JOSE, CA (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - In September, Intergraph expanded its MCAE product line with the new I/FEM-p analysis product, a superset of I/FEM. I/FEM-p is based on Rasna's adaptive p-technology as it is implemented in Applied Structure. I/FEM-p provides p-adaptive modeling and analysis.

I/FEM-p uses Geometric Element Modeling (GEM) and Geometric Element Analysis (GEA). Geometric Elements are robust and highly efficient, producing more accurate results and significantly reducing modeling time. GEA provides a user-specified level of accuracy in one pass. This analysis method is adaptive providing efficient use of computer resources.

Next year, Intergraph plans to introduce I/GEM, a superset of I/FEM-p, which will provide Rasna's design sensitivity and design optimization features to Intergraph users.

The I/FEM, I/FEM-p and I/GEM family are all tightly integrated with Intergraph's I/EMS program. With a common database, any I/EMS model changes are automatically updated for analysis. With tight integration, the need for translation is eliminated; therefore a model's integrity and accuracy is not compromised.

I/FEM-p is sold worldwide by Intergraph's direct sales force. Existing I/FEM customers can upgrade to I/FEM-p at a special 20 percent discount price. The discount is available until March 31, 1991.

SUNNYVALE, CA (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - MOSEL announced Monday that it is sampling 20 nano second 4K by 9 and 2K by 9 FIFOs, the MS7204 and MS7203 in addition to its current speed offerings from 35 to 80 nano second.

The MS7204 is available in 600 mil plastic DIP package and the MS7203 in 300 mil plastic DIP and PLCC packages. These new FIFOs are targeted at high performance applications.

''MOSEL is a complete supplier of FIFO products. We offer a wide range of FIFO products in different package types and speed grades,'' said Jeff Hall, director of Marketing. ''In addition to the current offerings, MOSEL will introduce other FIFO families in the near future including parallel-to-serial FIFOs, pipelined and bidirectional FIFOs.''

FIFOs are used to buffer system processors that operate at different frequencies or as storage elements for A/D converter output and data communications data capture. The typical types of system applications are workstations, video displays, laser printers, data multiplexers and local area networks.

The MS7204 (4K by 9) and MS7203 (2K by 9) are dual-port static RAM based CMOS First-in/First-out (FIFO) memories organized in nine-bit wide words. The devices are configured so that data is read out in the same sequential order that it was written in. The by 9 architecture provides an additional bit which may be used as a parity or control bit.

The dual-port RAM array is internally sequenced by independent read and write pointers with no external addressing needed. Read and write operations are fully asynchronous and may occur simultaneously, even with the device operating at full speed.

The devices also have three status flags, Empty, Full and Half-full, to eliminate data underflow and overflow. Also, on-chip expansion logic is provided to allow for unlimited expansion of both word size and depth.

The MS7204 and MS7203 are available immediately. The 20 nano second MS7204 is $40 each in quantities of 1,000. The 20 nano second MS7203 is $32 in quantities of 1,000.

LOS ANGELES NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - H.F. Ahmanson & Co. (NYSE:AHM), parent company of Home Savings of America and The Bowery Savings Bank, announced Monday that it has completed the acquisition of The Home Savings Bank in a stock transfer valued at approximately $250 million.

Each shareholder of The Home Savings Bank received 1.3889 shares of Ahmanson common stock for each share of The Home Savings Bank common stock held at the close of the transaction.

The Company also announced that prior to the closing, The Home Savings Bank increased its reserve for possible loan losses by $27.5 million pre-tax. In addition, The Home Savings Bank accrued additional expenses of $15.5 million for various costs associated with the acquisition. The net after-tax effect of these actions is approximately $29.4 million.

Richard H. Deihl, chairman and chief executive officer of Ahmanson, said: ''This addition to the reserve for possible loan losses will place The Home Savings Bank on the same method for providing for potential loan losses presently in use at Ahmanson. At the time we entered into the agreement with The Home Savings Bank last April, we anticipated additions to the loan loss reserve due to the differences in the methods used by the two institutions.

''These relate to differing plans for resolving potential problem loans and a differing method for estimating the inherent risks in the loan portfolio. There has been no significant adverse change in the asset quality at The Home Savings Bank that was not contemplated from our initial due diligence review in March and subsequent reviews.

''We continue to believe in the long-term economic strength of New York and its ongoing role as a major financial center,'' he added.

A definitive agreement for the acquisition was signed on April 1, 1990, and regulatory approvals from the New York State Banking Department, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Office of Thrift Supervision were received last month.

At Sept. 30, 1990, The Home Savings Bank's total assets were $1.51 billion, deposits totaled $1.14 billion and it had equity capital of $242.3 million. It operates 13 full-service banking offices in the New York metropolitan area.

With the completion of The Home Savings Bank acquisition, Home Savings of America has assets of more than $50 billion and deposits of over $38 billion. It operates 373 savings branches in nine states and 97 mortgage lending offices in 13 states.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Residential customers and businesses would not benefit from the proposed merger of Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas and Electric Co. (SDG&E), said California leaders of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) in announcing the group's opposition to the merger.

''The proposed utility merger is simply not in the best interest of consumers and therefore does not merit AARP's support,'' said Dr. James Black of Del Mar a member of the all volunteer AARP California State Legislative Committee.

''Since households headed by older people spend a larger portion of their income on residential energy than others do, AARP is vitally interested in policies that change the way energy is provided and regulated.''

The average low-income older family spends 17.5 percent of its income on residential energy, according to AARP's Public Policy Institute.

The AARP volunteer added, ''Even those who do not struggle with utility bills would see few savings from the merger.'' Each residential customer would save no more than $60 through the year 2000, according to testimony presented by an economist to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission earlier this year.

Black expressed concern that the mega-utility could continue to buy electricity from Edison's unregulated affiliate, Mission Energy, at a higher price than energy provided by other independent power producers.

If Southern California Edison took over SDG&E, it would form the largest investor-owned electric utility in the United States.

The California Attorney General, the staff of the state's Public Utility Commission, and the city and county of San Diego oppose the proposed merger of the two utility companies.

With 3 million members in California, AARP is the nation's leading organization of older Americans. It serves their needs and interests through legislative advocacy, research, informative programs and community services provided by a national network of local chapters and experienced volunteers.

The association also offers members a wide range of special benefits, including Modern Maturity magazine and the monthly Bulletin.

NORTHRIDGE, CALIF (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - The Grove, a newly rehabilitated, 9.4-acre community shopping center in Northridge that has been revitalized with the arrival of Marshall's, Pier I Imports and The Good Guys stores, has been sold to a Beverly Hills shopping center developer for approximately $26 million, announced Wells Fargo Realty Finance of Los Angeles, the seller's representative.

Chris Lewis, vice president of Wells Fargo Realty Finance, reported that Golden West Properties acquired the property at the strategic southeast corner of Tampa Avenue and Nordhoff Street from Walnut Grove Associates Ltd. of Farmington, Conn.

Earlier, Wells Fargo Realty Finance arranged $16.5 million in construction and rehabilitation financing to make the project possible.

In business for over 10 years, Golden West Properties specializes in shopping center rehabilitations, listing among its area credits the Arcadia Hub Shopping Center and Whittier Quad.

The rehabilitation of The Grove (formerly Walnut Grove) is virtually complete and the center is now over 96 percent leased. The center was 50 percent leased prior to the rehab.

''The success of the rehab program is underscored by the recent (Oct. 9) opening of Marshall's which registered the highest opening day sales volume for any of its stores in Southern California,'' said Ross. The Good Guys opened in early November.

The Grove is a promotional shopping center with 137,996 square feet of rentable space. Approximately 6,000 square feet remains available.

Marshall's anchors the center with a 26,860 square foot store. The Good Guys, a marketer of premium consumer electronic products, has a 16,425 square foot store, while Pier I has a 9,975 square foot facility fronting Tampa.

Designed by McClellan Cruz Gaylord of Pasadena, Calif., the rehab of The Grove features fresh new identity via contemporary signage towers and greatly enhanced street visibility, building facades accenting inviting pastel tones and distinctive gable roof configurations.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Synbiotics Corp. (NASDAQ:SBIO) Monday announced that growing sales of its animal health products and strong initial sales from its new mammalian cell culture subsidiary increased revenues and decreased consolidated losses for the quarter and six months ended Sept. 30.

The company reported that revenues increased by 66 percent in the recent six-month period and 131 percent in the quarter, compared with revenues for the same periods a year ago.

''Although product sales and technical services revenues have not yet overcome our research and other operating costs, the gap was narrowed in the current quarter and for the first six months,'' said Synbiotics' President and Chief Executive Officer Dr. Edward T. Maggio.

Revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased by 131 percent to $2,833,000 from $1,225,000 a year earlier, and quarterly losses decreased by 49 percent to $736,000 from $1,518,000 in the same period a year ago.

For the six months ended Sept. 30, 1990, revenues increased 66 percent to $4,777,000 from $2,863,000 in the first half of fiscal 1990, and six-month losses declined by 40 percent to $1,717,000 from $2,842,000 in the year earlier period.

According to Maggio, most of Synbiotics' present sales come from animal health products, such as diagnostics for canine heartworm and feline leukemia and VacSyn/FeLV, the company's widely used vaccine against feline leukemia. New animal health products, such as a new cancer treatment for canine lymphoma, are scheduled for introduction soon.

Maggio said that the canine lymphoma product, which the company expects to introduce in early 1991, should be the only cancer treatment of its kind on the market.

STAMFORD, CONN. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Improved net earnings by IBM and Unisys Corp. boosted U.S. data processing vendors net earnings to 40.6 percent in third quarter 1990 over third quarter '89, the largest year-to-year increase since first quarter '88, according to Yardstick Quickflash, a publication of Gartner Group Inc., the research firm specializing in information industry trends.

Without IBM and Unisys, the data processing sector's net earnings grew 2.3 percent in third quarter '90 over third quarter '89.

IBM reported data processing net earnings of $1.1 billion in third quarter '90 which was a 26.8 percent increase over third quarter '89. During the same period, Unisys recorded a $357 million net loss in third quarter '90 vs. a $648 milion net loss in third quarter '89.

Randall Brophy, senior research analyst at Gartner Group, compiled this data from 183 publicly held companies in the information industry, i.e., data processing (computers, software and peripherals), telecommunications and electronic components.

''The five percent drop in the U.S. dollar against other currencies during the third quarter, along with ongoing corporate cost-cutting efforts, contributed to the surprising upswing in profitability,'' said Brophy.

''In addition, many information technology purchasers are still operating from 1990 budgets drawn a year ago. As the new year commences, budget tightening will likely reduce profitability for many data processing firms,'' Brophy added.

As a whole, the growth rate for the information industry increased to 6.7 percent in third quarter '90 over third quarter '89, up from 5.9 percent in second quarter '90 over second quarter '89. Data Processing

Yardstick Quickflash also revealed that within data processing firms, low-end disk drive manufacturers grew the fastest. Conner Peripherals Inc., Quantum Corp. and Maxtor Corp. topped the list with reported increases of 106.3 percent, 69.4 percent and 104.6 percent, respectively. These manufacturers are profiting from a wave of demand for 3.5 inch format drives required by the newest generation of microcomputers.

Gartner Group serves more than 6,000 individual clients representing 1,500 companies including 49 of the top 50 in the Fortune 500. Annual revenue has been increasing at a rapid rate, and is projected to reach about $80 million in 1990.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Jostens Learning Corp. of San Diego, the largest provider of interactive, educational software to school systems in the United States, was named winner of the 1990 National Portfolio Company of the Year award by the National Association of Small Business Investment Companies (NASBIC).

The Portfolio Company of the Year award is part of the National Entrepreneur of the Year program, which is sponsored by Ernst & Young, Merrill Lynch and Inc. magazine.

Jostens Learning was chosen from among many highly successful businesses that were nominated from the investment portfolios of the 400 Small Business Investment Companies (SBICs) nationwide.

The role of SBIC financing is only one criterion considered in naming the Portfolio Company of the Year, said NASBIC Chairman Walter H. Wilkinson Jr. ''Jostens Learning's effect on its community, its economic impact, uniqueness of product, and overall management and growth were pivotal considerations for making this award,'' he said.

Jostens Learning is the largest provider of K-12 educational software in the United States. The company's product line includes reading, writing, mathematics and other basic curricula as well as science and the award-winning Compton's MultiMedia Encyclopedia. Josten Learning's objective is to help students learn by making the learning process fun.

Its educational software, delivered on a compact disc, can be accessed on most industry-standard microcomputers, including Tandys, Apples and IBMs.

Small business investment companies including BancBoston Ventures of Boston and Chemical Venture Partners of New York were among the first venture capital firms to make initial investments in Jostens Learning, then called Education Systems Corp. (ESC).

The first four rounds of financing by the SBICs and other venture firms, totaling $22 million, allowed the company to develop the software for the education programs.

ESC experienced second-year revenue growth of 2,900 percent and, over a three-year period, sales increased an average of 250 percent. The company became profitable in 1988. By 1989, several large suppliers of school textbooks were interested in acquiring ESC.

In May of that year, Jostens Inc., a Minneapolis-based company that has been in the school-related market for almost 100 years, acquired ESC and merged it with Prescription Learning Corp. to form Jostens Learning Corp. Jostens Learning Corp. today is a $121 million company with more than 1,000 employees.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Motorola Inc.'s Radio-Telephone Systems Group and QUALCOMM Inc. Monday announced they have signed an agreement to jointly explore and develop products using the Code Division Multiple Access (CDMA) technology.

CDMA, one of several technologies under investigation in the United States for use in cellular networks, may provide capacity, transmission quality and efficiency advantages.

The development program has, as a major element, the evaluation of CDMA's potential to enhance capacity, which could provide the answer to expansion problems currently facing cellular operators in major U.S. cities.

Motorola and QUALCOMM plan to produce cell site and mobile cellular telephone equipment in sufficient quantity to validate CDMA's capabilities.

Capacity improvement is a critical factor for the continued growth of the cellular industry. As of June 30, 1990, industry sources reported more than 4.3 million cellular system subscribers in the United States and an estimated monthly average of 140,000 new service sign-ups for 1990.

The planned CDMA tests, installations and system development to be done in the 1991-92 time frame are designed to provide a thorough and objective evaluation of the equipment's performance, the Common Air Interface specifications and the system design parameters.

Motorola is the world's leading designer, manufacturer and supplier of cellular systems, infrastructure equipment and subscriber products.

It is also a leading provider of electronic equipment, systems, components and services for worldwide markets, including two-way radios, pagers, semiconductors, defense and aerospace electronics, automotive and industrial electronic equipment, computers, data communications, and information processing and handling equipment.

Motorola was a winner of the first annual Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award in 1988, in recognition of its superior company-wide management of quality processes.

QUALCOMM Inc. was founded in 1985 by Jacobs and Dr. Andrew Viterbi -- both recognized internationally for their contributions to workable solutions in digital communications. QUALCOMM attributes its success to the innovative design and manufacture of advanced communications systems and the provision of point-to-point communications services.

QUALCOMM's telecommunications and teleprocessing research and development has broken ground in several key areas, including mobile satellite communications and interference-controlled signal processing for the cellular telephone industry using CDMA technology. It is also involved in the development of compression and signal processing technology for HDTV.

The results of its expertise have provided for the development and manufacture of a wide range of communications components, equipment, services and systems for the U.S. government and commercial users worldwide.

LOUISVILLE, CO (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Storage Technology Corp., Louisville Colo., and Siemens Nixdorf Information Systems Inc., Burlington, Mass. announced Monday that they have signed an agreement to merge their U.S. high performance, nonimpact printer operations in a joint venture that would become operational in January 1991.

Upon closing, Siemens Nixdorf will own 51 percent of the venture and StorageTek will own 49 percent. The venture will combine the nonimpact printer businesses of StorageTek and the Peripheral Systems Division of Siemens Information Systems. The firms will contribute their nonimpact printer bases to the venture.

The joint venture will begin with some 500 employees, over 1,000 customers, and annual revenues in excess of $100 million.

StorageTek said that it anticipates more than 100 of its U.S. employees -- principally in customer services, marketing and nonimpact printer support -- will transfer into the new entity.

StorageTek will continue operating its facility in Palm Bay, Fla. for manufacturing and service of its model 5000 impact printer product line which will remain as a StorageTek sold and supported product.

Total employment at the Palm Bay facility -- currently 500 -- will decline over the next few months during a transition period.

SUNNYVALE, CALIF. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Oki Semiconductor has announced the availability of its ''nX'' family of microcontrollers.

This broad line of CMOS 8-bit and 16-bit microcontrollers feature a high degree of vertical integration and speeds as fast as 200 ns. The nX family has been configured from Oki's newly introduced core concept which provides the user with various speeds and a broad selection of additional functional elements that can be selected to ideally suit the application and maximize the price/performance of the system.

The Oki MSM65xxx Series 8-bit microcontrollers have been enhanced by on-chip peripherals including pulse-width modulators, A/D converters, a wide variety of extra I/O ports, counters, timers and up to 16K bytes of ROM and 384 bytes of RAM in addition to addressing 64K bytes of external memory.

The minimum instruction execution cycle of 400 ns at 10MHz provides enhanced performance of up to 40 percent over current 80C51-based devices and its extra math functions eliminate cpu overhead.

Although not pin-for-pin compatible with 80C51-based devices, Oki's MSM65xxx series can function as an enhanced price/performance replacement with a minor degree of hardware and software changes.

The availability of up to 56 bi-directional I/O lines for the MSM65513 provides the user with increased flexibility in peripheral management and eliminates additional cost and space requirements associated with I/O expanders.

Also available in this series are a variety of OTP (One-Time-Programmable) devices which replace the on-chip program memory thus providing quick turnaround and minimized time to market.

Prime applications for the Oki MSM65xxx Series include: disk drive, modem and keyboard control, printer buffers, sensor interfacing for supervisory control and data acquisition in the process, heating/ventilation/air conditioning, automatic machine tool control and alarm control in the home security sector.

Oki Semiconductor was founded in 1977 and manufactures a broad line of VLSI devices and board level products for use in computers, telecom systems, automotive and consumer products. In addition to its customer specific IC's, including CMOS gate arrays and standard cells, the company is a leader in CMOS microprocessor, memory and speech synthesis semiconductor devices.

WALTHAM, MASS. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - IPL Systems Inc. (NASDAQ:IPLSA) has signed Western European distribution agreements with aggregate minimum purchase commitments of nearly $45 million, Robert W. Norton, president and chief executive officer, announced Monday.

The agreements, for various periods of up to three years beginning after Jan. 1, 1990, cover distribution of IPL's tape and disk storage and add-in memory products for IBM's midrange computer series.

''We began exporting our storage products to Europe in 1988, doing $3 million in business that year. In 1989, sales approached $6 million in Europe, and this fiscal year we expect to exceed $12 million,'' Norton said. ''Since IBM currently ships about 60 percent of its AS/400 computers to Europe, it has proven a good place for us to do business.''

A substantial portion of the minimum purchase requirements in the new agreements are for IPL's 7636 Disk Array, a 1.8 GB storage product that was backordered within days of its unveiling and availability in mid-September. Information Week magazine described the 7636 as the ''cutting edge'' of the technology.

As previously reported, components for the 7636 have been temporarily unavailable, but IPL expects to begin volume delivery of the product in the first quarter of 1991.

IPL's revenue through the third quarter of 1990 was $18.3 million, a 97 percent increase over the $9.3 million reported through the third quarter of 1989. Founded in 1973 as a successful manufacturer of IBM-compatible mainframe computers, in the 1980's IPL changed its focus to the IBM peripheral market, where it has flourished. Revenue has steadily increased each year since 1986, from $2.6 million in that year to $14.7 million in 1989. The company has no debt.

IPL Systems Inc. (NASDAQ:IPLSA) designs, manufactures, markets and services a broad range of storage products for IBM midrange computers, including DASD and tape subsystems, plus memory upgrades.

ROCHESTER, NH (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Cabletron Systems Inc. (NYSE:CS), a leading supplier of networking connectivity hardware and software products, Monday added further depth to its cornerstone Multi Media Access Center (MMAC) product line with the introduction of the MMAC-5FNB -- an intelligent modular network hub engineered to integrate up to five Ethernet, Token Ring and FDDI Media Interface Modules (MIMs) and one management/repeater module into a mid-sized chassis.

Utilizing Cabletron's Flexible Network Bus (FNB) backplane design, the MMAC-5FNB can be configured with a single power supply module (MMAC-5PSM) or can be set up for redundancy through the addition of a second power supply unit. Other modular characteristics of the MMAC-5FNB include the ability to incorporate Cabletron's high-density MIMs into the unit, providing up to 120 ports per chassis, and a removeable (slide out) fan tray for easy maintenance.

''With the introduction of the MMAC-5FNB, Cabletron has broadened its highly successful MMAC line to accommodate networking needs of all types and sizes.

Our approach is to make the MMAC a universal solution to the various FDDI, Token Ring and Ethernet needs faced by our customers,'' said Michael Welts, Cabletron's marketing manager.

As with all MMAC units, the MMAC-5FNB offers network administrators the ability to select a broad array of cabling options, including twisted pair, shielded twisted pair, thin or thick coaxial cable, fiber optic and AUI cabling.

Other integral features of the MMAC line include powerful network management capabilities which provide users full monitoring and control capabilities locally through an RS-232 port, or remotely utilizing Cabletron's network management software packages Remote LANVIEW and SPECTRUM. Using Cabletron's software packages, the MMAC can be managed from any network connection or remotely through a modem.

The MMAC-5FNB is available immediately from Cabeltron, with a per port cost between $150 and $600, depending on the type of media configuration. The MMAC-5FNB chassis is priced at $1,550, while the redundant power supply module for the unit (MMAC-5PSM-R) is priced at $1,380.

Cabletron Systems Inc., headquartered in Rochester, N.H., develops and manufactures networking products based on its Integrated Network Architecture, a strategy which provides standards-based products and services necessary to build and manage a global, distributed platform of interconnected local area networks. The company currently has a worldwide installed base exceeding 1.8 million nodes.

NORTH MIAMI BEACH, FL (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Home Intensive Care, Inc. (NASDAQ/NMS: HICI), a leading provider of high-tech home health care products and services, Monday reported that The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 ("OBRA 1990") contains several important provisions which may have a material and potentially favorable impact on the company. The Act was passed by Congress on October 26, 1990 and signed into law by the President on November 5, 1990.

OBRA's 1990 Conference Report language reiterated that Congress clearly intended that OBRA 1989 reduced Method II home dialysis rates to take effect on February 1, 1990. Home Intensive Care will be filing the Conference Report language with the United States District Court in support of its Motion for Summary Judgment in its pending case against the Health Care Finance Administration ("HCFA").

The U.S. Attorney on behalf of HCFA has asserted that the rate was reduced by HCFA at an earlier date. The company believes that this language will clear up the issue.

OBRA 1990 directs HCFA to establish a demonstration project for the purpose of evaluating staff-assisted home dialysis ("SAHD"). The demonstration project will involve up to 800 patients and be conducted over a three year period. Home Intensive Care has advocated the development of such a demonstration project for the past several years and would like to participate.

Under the demonstration project, SAHD services will be reimbursed as an add-on payment to the current composite rate, which the company estimates could be up to an additional $75 per treatment. Until February, 1990 Home Intensive Care was the nation's largest supplier of SAHD.

Reductions in the Method II Reimbursement rate caused the company to relinquish approximately 1,200 of its home dialysis patients to dialysis clinics. Home Intensive Care continues to provide SAHD services to a large number of patients through its Infusion Therapy Division and believes that it is still the largest supplier of these services.

Home Intensive Care intends to apply under this demonstration project and, based upon its management experience, personnel, nationwide presence and possession of the 800 dialysis machines required to undertake this project, is confident that these factors will cause HCFA to favorably review the application. Of course, there is no assurance that the company will receive the award of the demonstration project.

OBRA 1990 provides that the composite (clinic) rate for dialysis clinics will be increased by $1.00 per treatment for services furnished on or after January 1, 1991, and authorizes additional reimbursement of the dialysis drug Erythropoietin for home dialysis patients.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Resorts International Inc. Monday announced net earnings of $259,678,000 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 as compared to a net loss of $34,948,000 for the 1989 third quarter.

The first three quarters of 1990 resulted in net earnings of $257,373,000 as compared to a net loss of $81,527,000 for the first nine months of 1989.

Resorts stated that the large increase in net earnings was the result of accounting changes effective as of Aug. 31, 1990, principally involving a large decrease in the company's debt, following its emergence from bankruptcy proceedings.

The company did not accrue interest on its public debt during 1990. However, the effect of this on earnings was more than offset by the net effect of adjustments recorded in the third quarter of 1990 resulting from the application of ''fresh start'' accounting as of Aug. 31, 1990 in connection with the reorganization of the company.

These adjustments included an extraordinary credit of $429,809,000 (including tax effects) from the exchange of debt pursuant to the company's reorganization plan, and a $153,219,000 charge from the restatement of the company's other assets and liabilities to their estimated fair values.

For the first three quarters of 1990, Resorts posted earnings from operations of $12,420,000 based on revenues of $325,629,000 and expenses of $313,209,000. This compares with 1989 nine months earnings of $5,672,000 based on revenues of $347,941,000 and expenses of $342,269,000.

WEST BEND, WIS. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Gehl Co., a leading manufacturer of agricultural and light industrial/construction equipment distributed worldwide has signed a second historic technical licensing agreement with the People's Republic of China.

The agreement will result in production of the first rough-terrain telescoping-boom forklift in that nation.

Under the terms of the agreement, Gehl Co. wil license its rough-terrain forklift technology to the Xu Zhou Loading Machinery Co. and the China National Machinery and Equipment Import and Export Corp. Jiangsu Ltd. It is believed to be the first agreement for this type of equipment between the People's Republic of China and a U.S. based company.

Gehl Co. completed a similar agreement with the People's Republic of China in 1988 for its skid steer loader technology. The versatility of both types of equipment makes them useful in a wide range of applications in the People's Republic of China as its economy expands to support improvements and repairs.

''The expansion of our relationship in China after last year's uncertainty there demonstrates our continuing commitment to make Gehl Co. a force in international trade,'' said Bernard L. Nielsen, president and chief executive officer. ''This agreement, combined with our existing one on skid loaders, gives Gehl Co. a strong position in the China and Pacific Rim markets well into the future.''

As part of the agreement, Gehl Co. will provide technical information and assistance to allow the Chinese to manufacture, sell and export the equipment. Chinese representatives are expected to visit Gehl operations in West Bend, and Yankton, S.D., for technical training in the spring of 1991. A team of Gehl experts will also travel to China as part of the training process.

Gehl Co. has been a leader in rough-terrain telescoping-boom forklifts since its 1988 acquisition of TCI Power Products of Yankton.

ATLANTA (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - In a development that will help local and interexchange telephone companies immediately cut costs, while positioning them to offer advanced services in the future, Northern Telecom (NYSE:NT) Monday announced the first installation of its Enhanced Network (ENET).

ENET represents a cornerstone of the company's FiberWorld vision.

The first ENET recently went in service at Southern Bell's Powers Ferry central office, just outside Atlanta. The Powers Ferry central office serves both business and residential customers. Initially, the Northern Telecom DMS-100 switching system equipped with ENET will support about 5,000 lines.

In the near future, the remaining lines will be transferred from an existing analog switching system to the Northern Telecom DMS-100 digital switching system.

Interexchange telephone companies are also in the process of introducing ENET on Northern Telecom's DMS-250 switching system, with initial installations occurring before year end. ENET is expected to be installed in more than 100 locations nationwide by the end of 1991.

The Enhanced Network is an integral part of the signaling and connectivity layer of Northern Telecom's S/DMS SuperNode switching system architecture. As the switching fabric for both copper and fiber-optic terminations, ENET establishes the physical pathway for digital signals moving through the central office switch.

Using a technique called single-stage timeswitch, ENET combines high capacity with new digital signal routing technologies to guarantee a dedicated path for every telephone call. In most conventional switchings fabrics, calls pass through multiple stages, contending for connection paths which may not be found.

Before ENET, switching fabrics provided pathways only for low-bandwidth voice signals. This high capacity, non-blocking technology will enable ENET, in conjunction with future high-speed communications peripherals, to switch advanced services as easily as it switches voice signals.

When fully configured, the switching matrix of ENET allows more than 128,000 simultaneous 64 kilobits-per-second (kbit/s) connections. For bandwidths greater than 64 kbits, the technology sets up multiple parallel connections to create a singlepath through the switching system.

Northern Telecom is the leading global supplier of fully digital telecommunications switching systems, providing products and services to telephone operating companies, corporations, governments, universities and other institutions. Northern Telecom, with 1989 revenues of $6.1 billion, employs more than 49,000 people around the world.

MIAMI (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - After 10 years of non-scheduled services between Luxembourg and the United States, the Department of Transportation has authorized Cargolux Airlines International S.A., a Luxembourg flag carrier to provide in daily scheduled air transportation to five designated U.S. cities.

In its permit issued Nov. 15 the D.O.T. licensed Cargolux to carry property and mail between the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg in Europe, and Miami; Houston;

New York; San Francisco; and Seattle.

The permit specifies Cargolux may fly seven scheduled round trip flights each week between the five U.S. cities and Luxembourg in addition to unlimited charter flights flown by the carrier.

D.O.T. cited the support for Cargolux's service filed by the Port of Seattle which stated that the Seattle-Tacoma region was in need of improved cargo service to Europe and that none of the all-cargo service presently available was scheduled service.

Furthermore over 60 percent of the sea-air cargo arriving by ship in the Seattle area must be trucked to other airports where superior air service to Europe was available.

''Cargolux has greatly contributed to the local community and has enhanced the stature of the Pacific Northwest as an international transportation center,'' stated the Port of Seattle.

Commenting on the new permit, Cargolux' Director - The Americas, Sigmar Sigurdsson said he was extremely pleased by the decision of D.O.T. and very grateful for the support of the Port of Seattle.

''The new license will give us the opportunity, when we get our new aircraft, to expand our U.S. operations by providing a regular scheduled, daily service from Europe. We shall also be able to improve our support for the sea-air business substantially through the Seattle gateway,'' said Sigurdsson.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. announced Monday that almost 90 percent of the owners of the former Baldwin-United annuity contracts who became customers of MetLife in the 1987 bailout of the insolvent insurance companies of the Baldwin-United Corp. have chosen to renew with MetLife.

There are currently more than 53,000 former Baldwin-United customers holding MetLife single payment deferred annuities. Of the 39,000 who opted for three-year interest guarantee periods in November 1987, which were recently up for renewal, 88.6 percent have decided to stay with MetLife.

Sixteen percent of those renewing have opted for five-year interest guarantee periods.

The current guaranteed interest rate for a three-year period is 7.8 percent, with an anticipated rate of 8.25 percent. During the last three-year interest rate period, in which 7.8 percent was guaranteed and an 8.0 percent rate was anticipated, MetLife exceeded both the guaranteed and the anticipated rates. Actual rates credited to policyholders were 8.09 percent in 1988, and 8.11 percent in 1989 and 1990.

MetLife's original bailout began after the financial collapse of Baldwin-United Corp. in 1983. Individuals who owned annuities issued by certain Baldwin-United insurance subsidiaries stood to lose hundreds of million of dollars. MetLife became the lead insurer in the complicated and far-reaching rescue operation at the request of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Over 60 life insurance companies participated in the effort and voluntarily contributed funds to benefit the policyholders.

In 1987, following various court appovals of the plan, MetLife assumed the assets of the insolvent Baldwin-United insurance subsidiaries and guaranteed annuity benefits to policyholders. This provided policyholders with full access to their policy values for the first time in more than four years. DAYTON, OH (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - New Jersey Savings Bank in Somerville, N.J.; Washington Savings Bank in Hoboken, and Union County Savings Bank in Elizabeth have awarded a $1.2 million contract to NCR Corp.'s Data Services Division (DSD) to process their information systems through the NCR Data Center in Cranbury, N.J.

Representatives of the banks, longtime users of NCR systems, said they selected DSD over a number of competitors to perform their data processing function.

Beatrice D'Agostino, president of Jersey Data Network (JDN) and president and chief executive officer of Bancorp New Jersey Inc., the holding company for New Jersey Savings Bank, said, "We selected NCR because its stability and commitment are unsurpassed in the industry in developing, manufacturing, and supporting business information processing systems for worldwide markets."

For example, she said, thanks to NCR's account-processing software, her bank's customer service representatives can now instantly call up account balances, transfer funds, counsel customers on CD rates, or provide information on checking, mortgage or loan options - all from the same workstation.

The bank's processing will be performed at the NCR Data Center on a new NCR 9800 mainframe that is part of a new generation of hardware and software systems to be installed in all of NCR's Data Processing Centers nationwide.

Executives at New Jersey Savings Bank hailed NCR's new integrated information system, which is now on-line to their main office in Somerville, as well as other offices in Somerville, Basking Ridge, Branchburg, Princeton, and Whitehouse.

In addition to improved customer service, New Jersey Savings Bank will derive a number of internal benefits from the account-processing software package, which consolidates account-processing and management-information functions in a single, easy-access database. As a result, the bank can now instantly select current information for custom management reports.

Three major criteria led to the selection of NCR's Data Services Division to manage the bank's information systems: technological leadership in the banking industry, unparalleled reliability, and NCR's commitment to other JDN member banks.

Executives at the bank were most impressed with NCR's disaster backup service, which was most dramatically field tested after the San Fransisco earthquake last year. No data was lost, and the San Fransisco banks were kept in operation throughout the disaster.

LONDON (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - Northern Telecom (NYSE:NT) has announced that its United Kingdom affiliate company, STC PLC, has won new contracts worth over 22 million pounds to supply Mercury Communications Limited with additional Northern Telecom DMS switches.

The order from Mercury, one of the United Kingdom's public telecommunications service operators, includes a new DMS-300 SuperNode international gateway to complement an existing DMS-300 that already serves Mercury's international network.

In addition, Northern Telecom will also supply through STC's Digital Swithing division a new DMS-100/250 switch in London and extensions of four existing DMS installations around the United Kingdom.

Their combined capacity will add approximately 75,000 lines and 18,000 trunks to Mercury's national network. The switches have been designed to be extremely flexible with the capacity to work as a ''universal switch,'' able to handle trunk, centrex or POTS (Plain Old Telephony) services as desired. They can therefore be configured to best suit customer requirements with minimal effort or expense.

Mercury has awarded the contract in direct response to growing market demand for its services. In the last 12 months the company reports its customer base had doubled, and now includes more than 30,000 business customers. Demand for its international services has experienced similar growth.

On Nov. 8, 1990, Northern Telecom Limited and STC PLC agreed to terms under which Northern Telecom will acquire all outstanding shares of STC for approximately $2.6 billion. The offer is subject to approval by STC shareholders. Northern Telecom currently owns 27.1 percent of STC ordinary shares.

Northern Telecom is the leading global supplier of fully digital telecommunications switching systems, providing products and services to telephone operating companies, corporations, governments, universities and other institutions worldwide. NASHVILLE, Tenn. (NOV. 19) BUSINESS WIRE - REN Corp. (NASDAQ/NMS:RENL) Monday reported in its third quarter 10-Q Report filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission that certain expenses related to its proposed public offering and certain pre-acquisition development costs may be written off in the fourth quarter.

The company also reported that it was in technical default of certain covenants set forth in its bank credit agreement.

Commenting on the announcement, Dr. Jerome S. Tannenbaum, president of REN, stated: ''The fundamental business of REN remains very sound. Our dialysis centers have positive cash flow and are doing very well. The principal impact of these developments will be to significantly reduce our acquisition and development of new dialysis centers over the near term.

''It will in now way affect the quality and profitability of our center's operations. REN's dialysis operations benefit from recurring revenues and the majority of our receivables are of government quality.

''The lull in adding new centers will give us the opportunity to re-double our quality programs to assure that our dialysis centers continue to be the best in the industry. Furthermore, we will benefit from cost reductions related to the slow down in our development program, including the elimination of our aviation department and sale of the company's jet. We remain extremely optimistic about the future for REN,'' concluded Tannenbaum.

The company reported that it had incurred approximately $700,000 in costs relating to its proposed public offering filed in September. Due to the deterioration in the stock market since that time, REN has been unable to complete its offering and the company has been exploring with its investment bankers alternative means of raising additional capital.

Because of the uncertainty of these endeavors, all or a portion of the costs incurred in connection with the proposed stock offering may be charged to fourth quarter earnings.

As a result of the uncertainty related to the raising of additional funds for the company's aggressive acquisition and development program, REN may also charge all or a portion of deferred pre-acquisition development costs to fourth quarter's earnings.

Approximately $700,000 in deferred charges, currently carried on the balance sheet, are related to approximately 40 potential new dialysis centers and other potential business operations, the completion of which remains uncertain for the near term.

The technical defaults on the company's bank credit agreement include failing to maintain the ratio of average indebtness to annualized cash flow required under the agreement, lending activities without bank prior approval and exceeding the aggregate capital expenditures permitted under the agreement.

Although the lending bank has the right to require acceleration of the company's repayment of its loan as a result of the violations, the company has requested waivers and/or amendements to the credit agreement to cure the defaults and believes it highly unlikely that the lending bank will require acceleration.

REN Corp. - USA is engaged primarily in providing renal dialysis services to patients suffering from chronic kidney failure. Dialysis services are provided principally at the company's 27 freestanding outpatient REN Centers located in 10 states.

The company also provides outpatient dialysis services to patients in their homes and inpatient dialysis services through contracts with 20 hospitals. PARIS (NOV. 19) - The European Economic Community (EEC) on Monday called on the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) to set up a mechanism to defuse outbursts of ethnic violence on the continent.

Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti, speaking on behalf of the 12-nation EEC, said in his address to the CSCE summit that the problem of ethnic minorities continued to be a "genuine factor for instability" in Europe.

The next CSCE meeting in Malta on January 15 next year which will be devoted to "the peaceful resolution of conflicts, should provide a suitable context in which to study the minorities problem, Mr. Andreotti said.

The Italian premier said the EEC backed a French proposal for setting up a panel of experts and well-known personalities to act as arbitrators in the case of conflicts stemming from the minorities problem.

He also said it was necessary to develop within the context of the CSCE "close inter-European relations" notably with the countries of east and central Europe.

Italy currently holds the six-month rotating chairmanship of the EEC and thus acts as its spokesman on occasions such as the CSCE summit.

Warsaw (NOV. 19) - Poland, in the midst of efforts to convert from a socialist to a market economy, expects 1991 to be another difficult year, Deputy Finance Minister Wlodzimierz Misiag said here Monday.

He said complications above all stemmed from the effects of the Gulf crisis, the restructuring of trade based on market prices in the Comecon region, as well as debt repayment obligations.

Following this year's drastic decline in industrial production, output next year should rise by about 4 percent, Misiag said.

The annual inflation rate in December 1991 will be 30 percent, a major improvement from the 240 percent rate expected at the end of this year, he said.

Misiag said that Warsaw next year would again relax restrictions on investments which had been put into effect this year as part of the effort to stabilise the economy.

LUXEMBOURG (NOV. 19) - Unemployment in the European Economic Community (EEC) was unchanged at 8.3 percent in September for the sixth consecutive month, Eurostat, the EEC's statistical service, said here Monday.

This seasonally-corrected rate continues the falling trend of unemployment since 1985, when the average rate for the year reached a seven-year high of 10.8 percent. Last year, it was 8.9 percent.

By contrast, Eurofed said, unemployment in the United States had risen from 5.2 percent in June to 5.7 percent in September.

Over the last three months, unemployment dropped by 0.2 percent in West Germany, Portugal and Spain, but rose by a similar amount in Belgium, Denmark and Britain.

The percentage unemployment for EEC states in September, with the average for 1989 in brackets, were: Belgium 8.2 (8.5), Denmark 8.3 (7.7), West Germany 5.0 (5.5), Spain 15.5 (17.0), France 9.0 (9.4), Ireland 16.5 (17.0), Italy 9.9 (10.7), Luxembourg 1.5 (1.8), Portugal 4.9 (5.0), Britain 6.4 (7.0).

The average for the EEC in September (excluding Greece and the Netherlands where figures were not available) was 8.3 (8.9).

ROME (NOV. l9) - The Mozambican government and the rebel movement RENAMO have agreed on a timetable for the rest of their peace talks, the Italian foreign ministry said on Monday.

It reported ''progress'' in discussions on various aspects of security, and said the parley was continuing ''in a constructive spirit and in a joint search for positive solutions to obtain peace rapidly''.

Both sides asked Italy to mediate when the talks resumed here on November 10. It had previously been an observer. Other mediators are the Sant' Egidio community, which is active in the third world and took the initiative in getting the belligerents to meet directly for the first time in July, and the Catholic archbishop of Beira, Mozambique second city.

The ministry said the next full session was set for this Thursday.

RENAMO (Mozambique National Resistance) began fighting the then Marxist government in Maputo 15 years ago.

EINDHOVEN, Netherlands (NOV. 19) - The Philips electronics giant announced Monday that it expected losses of four billion guilders (2.35 billion dollars) in 1990.

The company said in a statement released at its headquarters here that it was adding 1.8 billion guilders to 2.7 billion guilders already set aside for an ambitious restructuration plan.

It said the new amount would come from the 1990 results.

Philips announced its plan in July. Company president Jan Timmer said this would lead to the loss of between 35,000 and 45,000 jobs around the world - around 15 percent of the company's total staff.

VIENNA (NOV 19) - The Hungarian parliament on Sunday found a solution to the problem of ownership of farmland which was nationalized or put into cooperatives under the country's former Communist regime, the Hungarian news agency monitored in Austria reported Monday.

The agreement, adopted by five political parties and rejected by the opposition Young Democrats, would allow former land-owners or their legitimate heirs to get "compensation bonds" for their lost land.

The bonds would allow them to acquire shares in privatised industries or to buy land which belongs to state-owned agri-industries or cooperatives. But only 50 percent of cooperative land could be sold under the scheme.

Compensation would be based on land-ownership in 1945 when the Communists took power.

The agreement should solve a crisis in the government conservative coalition. The small land-owners' party wanted land to be returned to former owners or their heirs irrespective of their current place of residence or their intention to work the land themselves.

Other parties were opposed to the idea on grounds that there was no guarantee the land would be worked.

ATHENS (NOV. 19) - The Greek government on Monday refused to give political asylum to some 2,000 Christian Bulgarians, a government spokesman said.

Byron Polydoras said "it is not possible for Bulgarians to ask for politcal asylum. Bulgaria is a country under a liberal regime so there can be no pretext for asking for asylum and we cannot allow Bulgarians to enter Greece illegally."

On Sunday, the Greek government stepped up border surveillance to stop a large influx of Christian Bulgarians into Greece.

On Saturday the Bulgarians demonstrated in Kirtzali, south-east Bulgaria, to protest a recently adopted law giving privileges to Bulgaria's Moslem minority of Turkish ethnic origin. They then gathered near the Greek border to seek refuge in Greece.

Nairobi (NOV. 19) - Fighting between government troops and rebels in eastern Chad along the Sudanese border has left 1,700 soldiers dead during the last few days, the rebels said according to radio reports Monday.

Rebels of the Patriotic Salvation Front, headed by former Chadian army commander-in-chief Idriss Deby, said they had captured 1,000 soldiers and either destroyed or seized 350 armoured vehicles and artillery pieces.

A chadian military communique said the town of Adre near the Sudanese border, 800 kilometres east of the capital N'Djamena, was attacked Monday by rebels and fierce fighting ensued. It did not say whether casualtiues occured.

Fighting began after the Chad rebels clashed with regular troops in Tina, north of Adre, on November 10. Clashes spread to other villages and into neighbouring Sudan.

This prompted France, which has been backing Chadian President Hissene Habre, to last week send 150 more soldiers to join its 500-man garrison in the town of Abeche, 180 kilometres west of Adre. Paris has said its troops would not interfere in the fighting.

The explosion was caused by a plastic device concealed in an unattended bag, police said, calling it an act of sabotage.

Several of the wounded were passengers who came to the stall for a cup of tea. One of them, Siraj Din, said there was a "big bang" and he was hit by splinters of bottles blown off by the blast.

BERLIN (NOV. 19) - Germany will decide "in the next few days" to send nearly half a billion dollars' worth of food to the Soviet Union, comprising the huge stockpiles designed to foil a new Soviet blockade of West Berlin, officials said Monday.

"The plan now has the support of the ministries of finance and foreign affairs " a West Berlin government official, Juergen Dittberner, told Agence France-Presse. "What remains to be done is discussing delivery details with the Soviet authorities."

A finance ministry spokesman in Bonn agreed that a "positive decision" was in the pipeline. If the green light is given, the aid "will be free, and the transport of the food to the Soviet Union will be paid by the German government," he said.

West Berlin mayor Walter Momper, a Social Democrat, suggested the idea on November 9, on the day when Berlin celebrated the fall of the Wall and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev arrived in Bonn to sign a non-aggression treaty.

The stocks were initiated after the U.S. Air Force and the Royal Air Force launched the 10-month 1948-1949 Berlin airlift to feed West Berlin, after the Soviet Union severed all land routes to the sector.

Regularly replenished, the stocks are now no longer needed. They comprise 123,000 tons of cereal, 33,000 tons of canned vegetables, 30,000 tons of sugar 2,415 sacks of dried peas, 12,000 tons of powdered milk, 10,000 tons of butter, 4,400 tons of frozen meat, 5,000 tons of potatoes, 11 million tins of sardines and nine million tins of tuna.

They are valued by city officials at around 700 million Deutsche marks (466 million dollars). The West German government used to pay the cost of maintaining and updating the reserve, of around 100 million marks (66 million dollars) per year.

Food shortages are already critical in the Soviet Union. Many fear there could be a famine this winter because of the collapse of the command economy, the breakup of the delivery system and the erection of internal trade barriers by food-producing Soviet republics.

BUDAPEST (NOV 19) - Hungarian efforts to organize a summit with Romania have failed, a Hungarian government official said Monday.

President Arpad Goncz's special envoy, Imre Szokay, said in an interview published by the Hungarian daily Nepszabadsag that the mid-December summit date proposed by Hungary "was not acceptable" to Romanian President Ion Iliescu who had "not proposed any other date".

Mr. Iliescu also rejected other Hungarian proposals, notably the creation of a committee to solve the question of the Hungarian ethnic minority in Romania and the opening of a Hungarian consulate in Cluj, north-west Romania, Mr. Szokay said.

Mr. Szokay said he thought Mr. Iliescu's attitude was dictated by his nation's domestic problems.

The two million Hungarians in Romania, who claim their rights are being violated, have long been a subject of acrimony between the two Central European nations.

LONDON (NOV 19) - North Sea Brent oil for January delivery recovered earlier falls Monday on news that Iraq was mobilising another 250,000 troops.

In early dealings Brent had fallen to 28.10 dollars a barrel from its Friday close of 29.05 dollars.

But the news from Baghdad sent the price back up to 28.75, although still below Friday's close. Paul Spedding, an analyst with brokers Kleinwort Benson, said war fears were behind the change of sentiment.

Earlier analysts saw Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's offer to begin freeing remaining hostages starting at Christmas as a hopeful sign and one said "we have now entered a stalemate rather than a situation of imminent war."

Richard Jones of County Natwest brokers said that the price had also been driven down by reports that Saudi Arabia could produce up to 8.6 million barrels of crude a day by the end of November compared with the 7.8 million barrels a day estimated in October.

ABIDJAN (NOV 19) - Liberia's bloody 11-month civil war has escalated with air raids by Nigerian planes of a West African intervention force against the rebel-held port of Buchanan and shelling Sunday by rebels of the Monrovia port.

According to the British Broadcasting Corporation, it was the first time in a month that the National Patriotic Front of Liberia (NPFL) shelled the Monrovia port where the five-nation intervention force, known as ECOMOG, is based.

A journalist for the BBC in Monrovia said the rebels had used ground-to-air missiles fired from a truck. Two children were killed and three adult civilians wounded in the attack, the correspondent said.

Observers here said Monday that it appeared to have been the first time that the rebels led by former government official Charles Taylor have used missiles since launching their bid to overthrow the government of the late president Samuel Doe last December 24 in northeast Liberia.

Last month ECOMOG forced Mr. Taylor's NPFL guerillas out of Monrovia and created a 20-kilometer (12-mile) buffer zone around the capital separating the rebels and government troops and keeping the rebels out of artillery range.

The rebel attack follows air raids Wednesday and Friday by Nigerian Alpha jets against the iron ore port of Buchanan some 144 kilometers (90 miles) east of Monrovia which is in undesputed control by the NPFL.

About 40,000 Liberians are taking refuge at the port which is also being used to bring in international relief aid for thousands of people displaced behind rebel lines.

Western diplomats in neighboring Sierra Leone said Monday that last week's air raids resulted in a heavy civilian death toll comprising mainly women and children and "massive destruction" near the port.

ECOMOG military officials at the weekend insisted that the NPFL was using the port to bring in arms, notably from Libya, and declared Buchanan a "war zone."

Informed sources said here that two ships that were in the port during the attack left immediately for neighboring Ivory Coast. One of the ships, which was carrying rice and other unspecified supplies, was strafed in the attack, the sources said.

HELSINKI (NOV 19) - Finland was ready to consider a U.N. Security Council resolution which would authorize the use of force to make Iraq withdraw from occupied Kuwait, the foreign ministry said Monday.

But the statement said that Finland stressed the need to reach a peaceful settlement to the Gulf crisis.

U.S. Secretary of State James Baker asked Finnish Foreign Minister Pertti Paasio at a meeting in Paris on Sunday for Finnish support for a United Nations' resolution to use military force against Iraq if it did not withdraw from Kuwait.

After the meeting Mr. Paasio said he had told Mr. Baker that Finland would give its answer later.

He said Finland wanted the Security Council to send a clear message to Iraq that the only way to settle the crisis peacefully was for Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait and restore the emirate's sovereignty.

"With this in mind, Finland is ready to consider a resolution in the Security Council which would authorize the use of every means necessary to achieve the goals set by the Security Council", the statement said.

Meanwhile, an unofficial Finnish delegation, which would include former foreign minister Paavo Vaeyrynen, was planning a trip to Iraq to negotiate the release of the remaining nine Finnish hostages.

The Finnish goverment earlier turned down all requests to send an official delegation to Iraq on grounds it would be against Finland's international obligations.

Five Finnish hostages were released last month after a trip by an unofficial delegation made up of members of parliament and the Arab Peoples' Friendship Society in Finland.

Finland, currently a member of the U.N. Security Council, has strongly condemed the Iraqi invasion to Kuwait, and Finnish President Mauno Koivisto has declared that Finland could not give in to blackmail.

SANTO DOMINGO (NOV 19) - The Dominican Republic came to a standstill Monday as thousands of workers began a five-day general strike to press demands for an end to economic austerity and the resignation of President Joaquin Balaguer.

Hundreds of people were arrested late Sunday and early Monday as troops took positions on street corners, bridges, supermarkets, banks and gasoline stations to prevent disturbances during the strike.

The Red Cross set up special emergency units around the city to deal with any unrest, as two previous general strikes in this country ended in street clashes that left 20 people dead and scores more injured.

An umbrella group of grassroots organizations urged workers to stay off the job from Monday through Friday to press for the resignation of Mr. Balaguer, a blind, ailing 84-year-old who began his sixth presidential term in August.

Other groups have called for a shorter, three-day strike to press for changes in the government's stringent economic policies.

Labor Minister Washington de Pena Sunday said officially recognized unions that took part in the strike would lose their legal status.

Mr. Balaguer's government has launched an economic austerity program in an effort to reduce the country's four-billion-dollar foreign debt. Violent protests erupted when the plan was implemented earlier this year.

In an effort to ease popular discontent, Mr. Balaguer Thursday proposed cutting his four-year term to two years and holding snap elections May 16, 1992.

Opposition parties said they were studying the proposal, but the group sponsoring the five-day strike rejected it outright.

DOHA (NOV 19) - Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Alexander Belonogov Monday urged Iraq to withdraw its troops from Kuwait without conditions as he started an official visit here that will focus on the Gulf crisis.

"Iraq is called upon to comply with the resolutions of the United Nations Security Council demanding the unconditional withdrawal of Iraqi troops and the re-establishment of the legitimate authorities," Mr. Belonogov said.

He made the remark on his arrival here from Damascus at the end of a 48-hour unscheduled visit during which he had talks with Syrian President Hafez al-Assad for talks on the Gulf crisis.

Mr. Belonogov was expected to discuss with the Qatari officials ways of securing a peaceful end to Iraq's three-month-old occupation of Kuwait.

He undertook similar talks with officials in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Yemen and was also expected to visit the United Arab Emirates as part of his regional tour.

Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria lead the anti-Iraq coalition of Arab states that have called for an unconditional Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait.

Another Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vladimir Petrovski, has been touring North Africa to monitor the latest Arab position on the Gulf, following a call from Moroccan King Hassan II for an emergency Arab summit.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) - The State Department expressed concern Monday over Iraq's announcement that it was sending more than 250,000 troops to Kuwait.

Department spokesman Richard Boucher said the build-up did not jibe with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's earlier protestations that he was intent on preserving peace.

''Exactly what its military implications might be, or what the eventual troop levels might be, is not clear,'' Boucher said. ''(But) this is not the moves of a guy who claims to be interested in peace, Of someone that claims that he's preparing to talk.

The Iraqi announcement, issued through the official news agency Ina, came shortly after Baghdad disclosed a plan to begin a phased release of all foreign hostages on Christmas day as long as nothing occurred to mar the climate of peace.

WASHINGTON (NOV 19) - Iraqi occupation forces in Kuwait have captured two more Americans, bringing to 102 the number of Americans in the custody of Iraqi authorities, the State Department said Monday.

Iraqi authorities have refused comment on the report and still will not release some 60 Americans suffering ill health, Mr. Boucher said.

GENEVA (NOV 19) - The United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) said Monday it was seeking an agreement with the Thai government on Burmese students who have sought refuge in Thailand.

A UNHCR spokesman, Raymond Hall, said some 1,500 Burmese students and Buddhist priests had arrived in the Thai capital Bangkok since 1988. The UNHCR said between 800 to 1,000 of them were political refugees.

But Mr. Hill said Thailand had not signed the 1951 U.N. convention on refugees and had classified the Burmese as illegal immigrants.

He said that talks began in August on a Thai proposal to group the Burmese outside Bangkok in a security zone where they would receive aid but would be virtual prisoners. The UNHCR wants access to the security zone to ensure the Burmese are properly treated and protected.

A Thai paper, The Nation, recently reported that the government had threatened to expel eight UNHCR delegates on suspicion that they were helping Burmese students perpetrate political action against the military regime in Burma.

Mr. Hall, who refused to comment on the report, said the Thai government had "legitimate" reasons to maintain good economic and political relations with neighbouring Burma.

BELEM, Brazil (NOV 19) - Brazil's government should discourage continued growth in the population of the ecologically-endangered Amazon region, a World Bank official said Monday.

Robert Goodland, an official with the World Bank's environment department, told reporters here that the Amazon region already was overpopulated and its ecosystem could not support a large population in the long run.

Mr. Goodland, who formerly headed the bank's environmental office for Latin America and the Caribbean, criticized some of the projects that the World Bank had financed in Brazil and said agrarian reform was "indispensable" for Brazil.

Drastic measures are necessary to prevent severe environmental abuses, Mr. Goodland said. He recommended heavy taxes on mercury to force gold prospectors to respect the need for clean water and land.

At present, gold hunters use mercury to separate gold dust from sand taken from streams and rivers of the Amazon basin.

Mr. Goodland said five tons of toxic mercury already had accumulated at the bottom of the Xingu, Tapajos and Madeira rivers in the Amazon.

The World Bank official also urged Brazil to adopt a more aggressive environmental foreign policy and to demand reciprocity from developed countries.

He suggested that Brazil link a reduction in the area of forest burned to clear land in its territory to decreases in carbon emissions of industrialized countries. He also proposed that Brazil should trade part of its foreign debt for ecological protection schemes, known as debt-for-nature swaps.

LISBON (NOV 19) - Peace talks between the two conflicting parties in Angola had made some progress amid difficulties, the Portuguese mediator in the dispute said Monday.

Durao Barroso, Portugal's secretary of state for foreign affairs and main architect of the direct talks between the Angolan government and the UNITA rebels gave no other details.

However, Jonas Savimbi, UNITA leader, said Monday he intended to make the talks a success and thought a ceasefire could be introduced by January.

Most of the problems centre on the ruling MPLA's insistence on forming a national Angolan army. "How can we talk about forming a single army without first ending the war?" said UNITA spokesman Norberto de Castro in Lisbon.

Mr. de Castro added that UNITA "had confidence in Portuguese mediation to resolve the difficultires created by the MPLA."

Meanwhile, the Angolan news agency ANGOP repoted that the Angolan army last Saturday killed four UNITA rebels.

WASHINGTON (NOV 19) - A man set himself on fire Monday outside the U.S. Capitol and died as bystanders watched, officials said.

Police officier Dan Nichols said the man's motives were not immediately known.

"He stood for quite a while," said a tourist who witnessed the incident. "A lot of people were watching. ... He laid down and was reaching out of the fire," said the woman, who declined to be identified.

The man, who Mr. Nichols said used "some kind of accelerant" to feed the flames, was pronounced dead at the scene, a fire department spokesman said.

There was little activity around the building because Congress is not in session.

RIYADH (NOV 19) - Exiled Kuwaiti ruler Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmad al-Sabah on Monday urged world leaders meeting at the Paris Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe to seek an end Iraq's occupation of his country.

"I call on you to examine during your debates the means for undertaking action to end the occupation and the aggression of Iraq against Kuwait and the Kuwaiti people," said Sheikh Jaber in a message.

He also exhorted the international community to "halt immediately and firmly" Iraq's actions which he said "undermine peace and security in the world," the official Saudi Press Agency SPA reported.

Sheikh Jaber, who has been in exile in the kingdom since Iraq's August 2 invasion of Kuwait, said Baghdad was "defying international will and rejecting U.N. Security Council resolutions" calling for an end to the emirate's occupation.

The Gulf crisis has dominated talks in Paris, where leaders of 34 nations from Europe and North America have been meeting since Monday.

The U.S., which spearheads a multinational troop deployment in the Gulf region and Saudi Arabia since August, has been canvassing support for a U.N. resolution authorising the use of force to drive the Iraqi troops from Kuwait.

PARIS (NOV. 19) - The United States and the Soviet Union agree that military force cannot be ruled out to get Iraq out of Kuwait but the U.S. government has not yet decided to seek a U.N. resolution to back such a move, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said.

"We have not reached a point of decision," Fitzwater said following a meeting

"Neither side has made a decision to seek a resolution," he said. "We have a conceptual agreement that force cannot be ruled out."

RABAT (NOV. 20) - Morocco's King Hassan has repeated his call for an Arab summit but said it need not initially involve all 21 states. Those who suffered from the conflict most directly should meet as a first stage, he suggested.

In a speech to a Libyan congress delegation Monday, broadcast on Moroccan television, King Hassan said this was a time which was ''one of the darkest in the history of the Arab nation''.

He said Arab nations faced two scandals: ''The first is the seizure of a thing by force and conquest ... the second which is much more bitter and terrible is that at every moment we are at the gate of indescribable events and ... a situation in which the Moslem and Arab dies by the bullets of Arab and Moslem.''

Hassan said for the first time in history, Arabs and the whole world were united on a single issue. There was no difference between resolutions passed by the Arab League and those of the United Nations.

''If this is so then why do the Arabs not meet? If they do not want to take as a basis for their meeting the Cairo resolutions, why do they not take the resolutions of the U.N.?'' he said.

He said an Arab summit was ''imperative'' but it was not necessary for all 21 states to meet at once.

''Perhaps if the number is great in the first instance, or the participation, matters may become more complex.'' he said.

''But let the opponents and those who suffered from the conflict who are nearest geographically and materially meet as a first stage, and see if God brought forth something good.

''Then we expand on it, and then we meet as an Arab League and as an Arab nation and as an Arab summit.''

RABAT (NOV 20) - Morocco's King Hassan II on Monday called for a limited Arab summit on the Gulf crisis, involving only the "adversaries" and those directly affected by the conflict.

The king, whose appeal was carried by the Moroccan news agency MAP, said it was not necessary for all 21 nations of the Arab League to convene to discuss the crisis.

Hassan II last week called for an emergency Arab summit as a "last chance" to avert war in the Gulf. But his appeal foundered on Saudi and Iraqi resistance.

The Moroccan sovereign did not name the countries he hoped could attend a limited Arab summit, appealing only to "the adversaries and those affected by the conflict" who were both "materially and geographically close to the Gulf" to consider such a meeting.

He said that if the parties directly implicated in the conflict succeeded in reaching preliminary agreement, "it will then be possible for us to convene a summit of the Arab League ...to seal the act of peace."

Only Yemen, Sudan and the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) responded favorably to the king's November 11 call for an emergency Arab summit.

Saudi Arabia dismissed the idea as a waste of time unless Baghdad agreed in advance to comply with resolutions of the United Nations Security Council and the Arab League calling for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait.

Iraq indicated last week that it would refuse to attend an Arab summit unless Arab leaders cancelled resolutions which they had adopted at a summit in Cairo on August 10. The Cairo summit condemned the Iraqi invasion, demanded Iraq's withdrawal and voted to send a pan-Arab force to defend Saudi Arabia from the threat of Iraqi aggression.

King Hassan II's second call for an Arab summit came on the same day Iraq announced it was reinforcing Kuwait and southern Iraq with another 250,000 troops.

TEGUCIGALPA, (NOV. 19) - Nearly 20,000 former Nicaragian rebels and their families have refused to leave Honduras to return to their homeland because of protests there, the National Commission for Refugees said Monday.

The head of the commission, retired colonel Abraham Garcia, said that just 50 percent of the former rebels, known as contras, had returned to Nicaragua, but the rest did not want to go.

Former contras have blocked roads in Nicargua over the past two weeks, demanding the government deliver on promises of land and agricultural inputs promised when they disarmed earlier this year.

The last road block was taken down Saturday night, but the upheaval was seriously embarrassing to Nicaraguan President Violeta Chamorro.

Former rebels here said that hundreds of the fighters had returned to Honduras to escape what they said was harassment from the opposition Sandinista party in Nicaragua.

Formally known as the Nicaraguan Resistance, the contras fought the Sandinista government in Nicaragua through much of the 1980's. The war ended only after Mrs. Chamorro became president.

The panel said it had documented 37,119 former contras and their families who had been repatriated since July 5 under a program supervised by a United Nations commission.

SAN JOSE (NOV. 19) - Costa Rican authorities nabbed seven fishermen who said they had found 700 kilos (1,540 pounds) of cocaine on the high seas and took part of it to sell.

The fishermen had salvaged just 107 kilos (235 pounds) of cocaine worth 2.5 million dollars from the stash when they were caught in the port of Puntarenas, 130 kilometers (80 miles) west of the capital, the officials said.

Authorities said they did not know who abandoned the drugs.

Costa Rica has become an important transshipment point for cocaine, most of which originates in South America and ends up in the United States.

In Bogota, Colombian authorities announced they had stopped two shipments of cocaine totalling 142 kilos (312 pounds) that were headed out of the country on Monday.

The Bello Mar was stopped at the port of Bunaventura with 60 kilos (132 pounds) and La Sagrada Familia was stopped on the high seas with 82 kilos (180 pounds) of the illegal stimulant, officials said.

Six crew members from each ship were arrested, they said.

WELLINGTON (NOV. 19) - Air New Zealand Monday lifted its offer for the shares it does not already hold in the domestic carrier Mount Cook Airlines, earning the approval of the board.

Mount Cook chairman Norman Geary said in a statement that ANZ had lifted its initial October 26 bid from three New Zealand dollars (1.83 dollars U.S) to 3.25 dollars (1.98 dollars) per share.

Mount Cook directors had posted a "don't sell" notice against the initial offer but Mr. Geary said Monday they were now recommending shareholders accept the revised offer, which amounts to 2.2 million dollars (1.3 million U.S.).

It said that in reaching a recommendation it had considered the fact that Air New Zealand already owned 80 percent of the company, the high risks in the New Zealand aviation industry, the need eventually to invest significant capital in the airline fleet and current uncertainties in accurately valuing assets.

TOKYO (NOV. 19) - Japan's Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. Ltd. is to hold top level talks with MCA Inc. in New York Monday to discuss its proposed takeover of the U.S. entertainment conglomerate, a Matsushita spokesman said.

The spokesman said that Matsushita would be represented at the talks by vice president Masahiko Hitara and senior managing director Keiya Toyonaga, who is in charge of international operations and legal issues.

Matsushita, the world's biggest consumer electronics firm, said the talks would focus on the pricing of the proposed takeover. Rumours that the Japanese company planned to offer 85 dollars a share, valuing MCA at 7.8 billion dollars, drove the American firm's stock up sharply last week.

The Japanese company, whose brand names include National and Panasonics, confirmed in late September that it was discussing a possible tie up with MCA. But a statement issued in October stressed that there could be "no assurance that these contacts will lead to any merger or other business combination."

Matsushita's talks with MCA, whose cinema, television and music activities include Hollywood film studio Universal Pictures, follows last year's move by arch rival Sony Corp. to buy Columbia Pictures Entertainment Inc. The 3.6 billion dollar purchase was the biggest by a Japanese firm in the United States.

SEOUL (NOV. 19) - President Roh Tae-Woo said Monday that rising oil prices and surging foreign imports would hold down South Korea's economic growth and increase the current account deficit next year.

In his 1991 budget speech to the National Assembly, Mr. Roh said that the Gross National Product (GNP) growth rate would be around seven per cent next year, down from this year's projected rate of eight to nine per cent.

"We cannot say that next year's prospect for our economy is brighter than this year's," Mr. Roh said, pointing to the Gulf crisis and rising oil prices plus mounting foreign demands for market opening.

The 1991 current account deficit will be about the same as this year's or some two billion dollars, if exports sustained the recent upward trend next year, he said.

He called for moderation by wage earners in demanding wage hikes and frugality in life style to help keep inflation rate below 10 percent next year.

He also said the government would seek to secure the "longest possible" grace period before opening the agricultural market under proposals being discussed in the Uruguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), and would help the domestic agriculture industry improve its competitiveness.

NAIROBI (NOV. 19) - Famine threatens some 64,000 people in western Tanzania, while cholera has killed 102 people in the south of the country in the past five months, Radio Tanzania reported Monday.

Mealy bugs have ravaged cassava crops in three districts near the western town of Mwanza, on the shores of Lake Victoria. Regional Director of Development Michael Mapunda said floods had destroyed other crops.

The government has promised to deliver 4,000 tonnes of grain to the area. But Mr. Mapunda warned that far more would be needed to avert a disaster in Ukerewe, Kwimba and Magu districts.

The radio said 102 people had died of cholera since June in the south-western region of Rukwa. "Isolated cases of cholera are still occurring," the official radio said.

Rukwa Regional Commissioner Christopher Mbogo warned people not to drink unboiled water and local beer brewed from maize. He urged people to go to government hospitals instead of consulting traditional medicine men.

BEIJING (NOV. 19) - The French bank Indosuez said Monday it had increased the size of a new investment fund focussed on China in view of its success.

A spokesman said the Shanghai Fund, launched through the bank's Hong Kong subsidiary, had been increased from 20 million to 25 million U.S. dollars a week after its inception at the beginning of November.

The fund is being raised on several markets, including Hong Kong, Paris and London, with the aim of investing in "greater China," meaning the People's Republic, Taiwan and Hong Kong, the spokesman said.

Half the Shanghai Fund is to be invested in futures in China, when the opening of markets in Shanghai and Shenzhen allow it. The Shanghai bourse is to open officially on December 19.

Indosuez is one of several banks seeking to open branches in the eastern metropolis, which recently launched an ambitious project for a new technological and financial development centre known as Pudong.

CANBERRA (NOV. 19) - Australian Prime Minister Bob Hawke warned Monday that failure to rescue world farm trade negotiations would see the start of a slide into the economic and political dangers of renewed protectionism.

He said that if the Europeans did not shift their position on agriculture, the whole four-year Uruguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), due to be completed in Brussels from December 3-7, would fail.

If this happened, opportunities would be lost to increase world growth, break the developing countries debt cycle, increase global food production and underpin the economic and political renewal in eastern Europe.

Failure would also see the start of a slide into the economic and political dangers of renewed protectionism.

Mr. Hawke said he had written to European leaders including German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, French Prime Minister Michel Rocard and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher urging them to use their political muscle to end the deadlock in the negotiations.

France and Germany are considered the hard-line opponents in the European Economic Community to the major cuts in agricultural protection which the United States and the Australian-led Cairns Group are demanding.

His latest move follows his phone call to United States President George Bush on the issue last week.

Mr. Hawke said that in his letters, he had expressed deep concern over the future of the negotiations because of the totally unsatisfactory European offer to cut agricultural subsidies by 30 percent.

TOKYO (NOV. 19) - The number of companies suspended from deals with banks in Japan rose 18 percent from a year earlier to 551 in October, the Federation of Bankers Associations of Japan said Monday.

Construction firms accounted for 21.1 percent of the total number in October, followed by 19.6 percent in retail business, 18.7 percent in the wholesale industry and 18.1 percent in manufacturing, the federation said.

Jeddah (NOV. 19) - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev was reported Monday to be pondering the possibility of embarking on a Middle East tour at the end of December or in early January.

The Saudi newspaper Asharq al-Awsat said the aim of Gorbachev's trip would be to underline Moscow's concern with the region's problems, particularly the Gulf crisis following the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait on August 2.

If the Soviet leader decided to make the tour, it would be his first to the Middle East since taking the helm at the Kremlin.

Quoting what it called ''informed sources'' for its report, the paper said Gorbachev would discuss with Middle East leaders the prospects of reaching a political solution to the Gulf crisis in accordance with the Arab League and United Nations Security Council resolutions which have been backed by the Soviet Union.

These resolutions, which Iraq has rejected, call for a complete and unconditional Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait and the restoration of the legitimate government there.

According to Asharq al-Awsat's report, Gorbachev had dispatched two envoys to Arab states to explain Moscow's stance on current initiatives, including a Moroccan call for an emergency Arab summit, to resolve the Gulf crisis.

While opposing the Iraqi occupation of Kuwait, the Soviet Union preferred that the United Nations economic blockade against Baghdad be given another chance, the paper said.

Ludwigshafen (NOV. 19) - The Basf chemical company said Monday its world group pre-tax earnings for the first nine months of the year plunged to 2.34 billion marks (1.59 billion dollars), down 28 percent from 3.23 billion marks in the same period of 1989.

Basf cited the dollar's decline, coupled with sharply rising raw materials costs, for the downturn in earnings.

The parent company accounted for 1.66 billion marks of the pre-tax earnings, down almost 30 percent from 2.36 billion marks in the first three quarters of last year.

World group turnover came to 34.68 billion marks, down 3.8 percent from 35.85 billion marks in last year's corresponding period. The parent company accounted for 16.1 billion marks of the turnover, down 4.9 percent from 16.93 billion marks.

Basf said that despite the overall business downturn, there had been a ''pleasing'' rise in demand, led by Western Europe and above all in Germany itself. But business in the United States was suffering from the economic doldrums there.

HANOI (NOV. 19) - CEP-Enterprise Oil, a Franco-British consortium, has found oil off the Mekong River delta in southern Vietnam, press reports said here Monday.

The borehole is 130 kilometers (80 miles) south of Vung Tau at a depth of 40 meters (132 feet) and is the first drilled by the company, the Nhan Dan daily reported.

CEP was formed by the French group Interagra and Britain's Enterprise Oil, which together signed a 25-year exploration and exploitation contract in April last year with Petrovietnam.

Officials of the state firm said the oil found by CEP was similar to that extracted from a deposit at Bach Ho a few kilometers (miles) away.

The Bach Ho deposit is tapped by a Soviet-Vietnamese joint venture and has begun yielding between 8,000 and 10,000 tonnes of crude a day.

JOHANNESBURG (NOV. 19) - Despite an official embargo against South Africa, the country in October achieved record exports of 6.3 billion rand (2.5 billion dollars) on booming weapons sales to the Gulf, it was reported here Monday.

The economic daily Business Day said that ''booming arms sales in the wake of the Gulf crisis'' were responsible for the export growth. October's exports were 1.4 billion rand higher than in September.

The paper named Saudi Arabia and United Arab Emirates as the chief weapons buyers. It cited a spokesman of the state-owned Armscor weaponry firm as saying the demand for weapons from the Gulf had increased considerably since the crisis broke out.

Besides weapons sales, the South African export growth was attributed to gold and diamond sales. The Star newspaper said that in October the country had exported an unusually high volume of diamonds.

TOKYO (NOV. 19) - Troubled Japanese trading company Itoman and Co. Ltd. said Monday its net profit plunged 52.6 per cent from a year earlier to 1.5 billion yen (11 million dollars) in the six months to September.

The company, a diversified Osaka-based textile trader closely affiliated with Sumitomo Bank Ltd., said the sharper-than-expected earnings decline reflected increased provisions for bad debts and higher operating costs.

Earnings in the first half amounted to less than a third of Itoman's original forecast of 4.8 billion (35 million dollars). The company subsequently slashed its profit forecast for the full year from nine billion yen (65 million dollars) to 4.7 billion yen (34 million dollars).

The results came only days after Sumitomo chairman Sotoo Tatsumi announced that the bank, the world's third biggest, would appoint five officials including a director to Itoman to help restructure the heavily-indebted firm.

Itoman has reportedly suffered huge losses on speculative real estate transactions and is believed to have debts exceeding 1,300 billion yen (9.4 billion dollars).

During the six months, Itoman said more than doubled its provision for bad debts from 2.2 billion yen (16 million dollars) in the same period last year to 5.5 billion yen (40 million dollars).

Sales rose 17 per cent to 363 billion yen (2.6 billion dollars) during the period but failed to reach a target of 410 billion yen (three billion dollars).

Reduced revenue from textile trading activities was offset by sharp increases in revenue from machinery and metals, food and business development projects including sales of golf club memberships, the company said.

Itoman said sales for the full year were expected to reach only 700 billion yen (5.1 billion dollars), down from an earlier forecast of 800 billion yen (5.8 billion dollars).

LONDON (NOV. 19) - Prudential Corporation, Britain's biggest life insurance company, has decided to sell off its loss making chain of 560 estate agencies which it set up three years ago when the housing boom was at its height.

Mick Newmarch, the company's chief executive, said "estate agency is not now seen by Prudential as a key activity in the longer term."

Last year Prudential Property Services lost 48.9 million pounds and Prudential said earlier this year it was closing its least profitable agencies.

The company's decision took the city by surprise. "They accumulated at the top of the market and are selling at the bottom," said David Hudson, an analyst with Barclays de Zoete Wedd (BZW).

Another analysts said "they might want to get 250,000 pounds a branch, which would put a value of 140 million pounds on the business, but whether they get it or not is another matter."

On the stock exchange Prudential shares added one penny to 207 pence in a market on the rise.

LONDON (NOV. 19) - Freight rates firmed over the past week on the dry cargo market supported by strong activity on the important U.S. Gulf to Japan grain route and by the reported sale of 1.4 million tonnes of French cereals to the USSR, brokers said.

The Baltic International Freight Futures Exchange (BIFFEX)'s Baltic Freight

Index finished the week up 18 points at 1,298.

Prospects were also improved by speculation that United States might grant new credits to the Soviet Union for further grain purchases.

On the physical market 52,000 ton vessels obtained 23 dollars per ton against 22.75 dollars the previous week for grain trips on the U.S. Gulf to Japan route.

This improvement provoked a lifting of nominal rates on the route to 23.642 dollars per ton against 22.625 dollars per ton at the end of the previous week.

Brokers also lifted rates to 12.133 dollars against 11.908 dollars per ton on the U.S. North Pacific to Japan grain route, after the fixture of a 52,000 ton vessel on the physical market, at 12.5 dollars per ton against 12.25 dollars.

MANILA (NOV. 20) - President Corazon Aquino said here Monday that she would not seek a moratorium on foreign debt servicing and would instead look for other ways to alleviate the Philippines' debt burden.

Asked at a press conference if she would now call for repudiation of part of the country's 27 billion dollar foreign debt, Mrs. Aquino said that the government had previously sought a suspension of interest payments in negotiations earlier this year.

"It was impressed upon us that this request could not be granted," Mrs. Aquino said, adding that Manila "would seek other means whereby we could be helped by the financial institutions."

She noted that an International Monetary Fund (IMF) team was in the country reviewing a proposed economic stabilization program, adding that she hoped the talks would "lead to an agreement so that we can have access to new loans and also to assistance from both the multilaterals and bilateral institutions."

A three-year program between the Philippines and the IMF was scrapped last month after the country failed to meet crucial economic targets, particularly on fiscal deficits.

The Philippine government, which is presently suffering from a foreign exchange shortage, has crafted a new program aimed at lowering the deficit by restructuring the domestic debt and offering government bonds to small savers.

BERLIN (NOV. 19) - As Europe Monday sealed the end of its postwar division, a group of North and South Koreans met here to press for the reunification of their country, also cruelly split by the Cold War.

The two-day meeting marked the first time that citizens from North and South met with Korean residents abroad - but it immediately drew fire as an exercise in propaganda for the government in Pyongyang.

"We want to put pressure on the (Seoul) government," said Dr. Rim Min Sik, 49, secretary-general of an expatriates' association, as he sat down to the meeting.

"They are very afraid of the reunification issue. But it is not only the government's issue, it is the people's issue."

Unauthorised contacts between North and South are proscribed by the government in Seoul. A spokesman for the three-member South Korean delegation said the government had forbidden the meeting and threatened the three with immediate arrest on their return home.

Meeting in West Berlin's city hall, itself a symbol of German reunification, the three delegations formally shook hands and posed for photographs under a large white banner before getting down to business.

By the end of the talks, they hope to set up an organisation known as the Pan-National Alliance for the Reunification of Korea that, it says, will lobby for reunification and be independent of either Seoul or Pyongyang.

FREETOWN (NOV. 19) - Air raids last week by Nigerian jets on the rebel-held Liberian iron ore port of Buchanan resulted in a large civilian death toll, mainly women and children, Western diplomats said here Monday.

The diplomats said the Nigerian pilots in a West African intervention force were "indiscriminate in their targets" and unleashed bombs which caused "massive destruction" near the port 90 miles (145 kilometres) east of the capital Monrovia.

Air raids were carried out Wednesday and Friday against the port which is a stronghold of Charles Taylor's National Patriotic Front of Liberia (NPFL) rebels who launched their bid to overthrow the government of the late president Samuel Doe last December in northeast Liberia.

Military officials of the five-nation intervention force, known as ECOMOG, said the targets under attack were military installations and ships carrying arms to the rebel forces.

Informed sources in Abidjan said two ships in the port during the attack left immediately for neighboring Ivory Coast. One of the ships, which was carrying rice and unidentified supplies, was reportedly strafed in the attack.

TOKYO (NOV. 19) - The Japanese government Monday welcomed the treaty on conventional weapons signed in Paris by North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and Warsaw Pact members.

Japan "heartily welcomes" the Treaty on Conventional Arms Forces in Europe (CFE) signed at the summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE)," Foreign Ministry spokesman Taizo Watanabe said in a statement.

"Japan, as a member of the West, has been consistently supporting the efforts of the countries of NATO aimed at redressing the imbalance in conventional armed forces in Europe and stabilizing such forces at a lower level," he said.

"It is truly gratifying that these efforts have proved to be successful and the treaty has been signed," the statement said.

Mr. Watanabe added that the Japanese government hoped the treaty would be smoothly complied with and implemented, with a positive effect on the situation in Europe.

Cairo (NOV. 19) - Egypt strongly rejected Monday a statement by Israeli Premier Itzhak Shamir that his government is still aiming for a ''Greater Israel'' extending from the Mediterranean to the River Jordan.

A statement issued by the spokesman of the Egyptian Foreign Ministry said the statement with its ''expansionist orientations'' did not contribute to a political solution of the Palestinian question.

Egypt called on Israel to abide strictly by the Geneva convention on the protection of civilians in occupied territories. It said the United Nations, particularly the Security Council, should take adequate measures to protect the Palestinian people.

On instructions from Egyptian Foreign Minister Esmat Abdel Meguid, the foreign ministry summoned the Israeli Ambassador to Cairo, Ephraim Dowek, to give an explanation about Shamir's statements.

Shamir had told representatives of his right-wing conservative Likud Block party Sunday that to achieve the territorial integrity of Israel within its biblical boundaries was a security measure ''vital to the country's existence and future.

He said ''Greater Israel'' included the West Bank and Gaza strip where Palestinians want to establish their own state. Israeli troops have occupied the territories since 1967.

Baghdad (NOV. 19) - Iraq and Iran will resume exchanging prisoners of war on Wednesday in line with an agreement reached between the two countries during last week's visit to Baghdad by Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Akhbar Velayati, the Iraqi News Agency (Ina) reported Monday.

Ina quoted an official spokesman at the Iraqi Foreign Ministry as saying that Iraq will release Wednesday 239 Iranian prisoners convicted of crimes during their captivity. They will be repatriated to Teheran by air, he said.

Ina said the pardon decision was taken by the Iraqi Revolutionary Command Council, the country's highest policy-making authority.

Under the agreement, Iran is expected to release 79 Iraqi prisoners who had been referred to courts or convicted of crimes.

The Iranian side has also promised to free 200 Iraqi prisoners every day starting Thursday, November 22, Ina quoted the spokesman as saying.

Velayati paid a two-day official visit to Baghdad last week during which he held talks with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz.

He said on his return to Teheran that the two sides had agreed to resume the Pow swap suspended in September, about a month after it began.

Iran and Iraq, who had fought a ferocious eight-year war that ended in August 1988, restored diplomatic ties last month following Saddam's acceptance of all Iranian conditions for a lasting peace.

TEL AVIV (NOV. 19) - Iraq will be able to build a nuclear bomb in three to five years, according to a report distributed Monday by Israel's Dayan Centre for Strategic Studies.

The report, compiled by noted researcher Danny Leshem, based the assessment on Iraq's having 12 kilograms of enriched uranian supplied by France.

Leshem estimates that though Iraq will be able to produce a nuclear device within three to five years, it will probably take them until the end of the decade to make a nuclear warhead.

The New York Times, citing Western intelligence sources, had said Sunday that Iraq would be able to produce its own nuclear arms arsenal within the next 10 years.

Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz called the allegation baseless, the Iraqi News Agency said Monday.

The Israeli report said Iraq was also well advanced in the development of deadly cluster-bomb warheads and the destructive air-petrol warhead that produces a nuclear-type blast.

According to Leshem, Iraq currently has between 10 and 30 chemical warheads for its Al Hussein and Al Abbas missiles modified from Soviet Scud missiles.

But though Iraq has deployed some 85 missile launchers since the start of the Gulf crisis, the limited size of the warheads its missiles can carry has accelerated development of far more lethal biological weapons.

Iraqi fears of an enemy strike on its missile sites would prompt the firing of the missiles in the initial stages of a conflict, Leshem predicted.

PARIS (NOV. 19) - France has given its agreement in principle for a United Nations resolution authorising the use of force to get Iraq out of Kuwait, informed French sources said here Monday.

The French government, however, has said the wording of such a resolution needs careful consideration and should reflect the points of view of both sides.

The sources said that France was opposed to the idea of fixing an ultimatum or deadline for the use of force in any U.N. resolution.

The United States is currently canvassing support for a resolution authorising the use of force against Iraq to be put to the United Nations Security Council before December 1.

That is when Yemen, which has maintained close ties with Iraq, takes over the chairmanship of the 15-member Security Council, making it more difficult to pass a strong-worded resolution.

The United States has already been assured of British support for such a resolution and was confident of France falling in line, sources close to the U.S. Secretary of State James Baker said.

Mr. Baker is with the U.S. delegation here attending the summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

That would leave them needing to convince the other two permanent members of the Security Council -- China and the Soviet Union -- not to use their right of veto to scupper a resolution clearing the way for the use of force.

BEIRUT (NOV. 19) - The powerful Lebanese Christian militia was embroiled in last-minute negotiations here Monday over the pro-Syrian government's plan to end militia rule in the so-called Greater Beirut region.

The Lebanese Forces (LF) has accepted the plan, like all the other militias, but laid down conditions for its implementation, under which the regular Lebanese Army was due to be deployed over the entire region by midnight.

The region covers an area of 350 square kilometres (140 square miles) in and around the capital, and the plan aims to reunite Beirut under government control after 15 years of bitter division into Christian and Moslem sectors.

Correspondents said the LF still maintained a military presence in the region early Monday, despite the plan's call for all militias to withdraw their arsenals and armed fighters.

The militia has called for guarantees over the army brigades to be deployed in the Ashrafiyeh sector of Christian east Beirut, a traditional LF stronghold, according to a source close to the militia.

The LF has voiced suspicions over certain brigades, which it claimed were hostile to the Christian militia and could take advantage of the evacuation of Ashrafiyeh to allow the infiltration of pro-Syrian groups.

It also said abuses had taken place in the Christian region of Metn, southeast of the capital, where a Syrian-led assault ousted Christian rebel General Michel Aoun on October 13, allowing the Beirut plan to take shape.

The source close to the LF said it was seeking assurances against similar abuses in Ashrafiyeh.

"If an accord is reached, we are ready to pull out within hours," an LF official said, declining to be named. "The difficulties, which are now only technical, are in the process of being ironed out."

The Moslem and Druze militias as well as other pro-Syrian groups have already said they had withdrawn their fighters.

ISLAMABAD (NOV. 19) - Washington has rejected Pakistan's latest assurances on its nuclear intentions, as even possessing the components of a device disqualifies Islamabad from receiving U.S. aid, Ambassador Robert Oakley said.

In a signed letter to the editor of Lahore's independent daily The Nation on Monday, Mr. Oakley said the prohibition of aid to Pakistan, which came into effect on October 1, could be revoked only by a congressional vote.

Washington suspended disbursement of some 600 million dollars in economic and military assistance for this fiscal year on the suspicion that Islamabad was developing atomic weapons.

Many Western experts believe that Pakistan has the capability to do so.

Top Pakistani officials have denied such reports, claiming that Islamabad's nuclear programme was geared to peaceful purposes aimed mainly at augmenting its massive energy shortfalls in industry.

President George Bush refused to accept such assurances and did not issue a certificate exempting Pakistan from the ban under U.S. legislation.

Pakistan has been capable of producing enriched uranium since as far back as 1983, but it routinely won the presidential waiver after Moscow intervened in Afghanistan in December 1979, despite a previous longstanding ban for similar reasons.

As a front-line state in the Afghan conflict and supporter of the U.S.-backed mujahedeen rebels, Islamabad enjoyed heightened friendship with Washington.

Mr. Oakley said in his letter to the Nation's editor, Arif Nizami, that the waiver during the years of the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan served the interest of the "truth behind this issue." He did not elaborate.

LIBREVILLE (NOV. 19) - Gabon's Prime Minister Casimir Oye Mba and his transitional government formed in April as the authorities began restoring multi-party politics after nearly 25 years of one-party rule resigned on Monday.

The new parliament elected amid accusations of fraud in September and October is to hold its first session on Tuesday, and President Omar Bongo, whose Democratic Party has 64 of the 120 seats, is expected to name a premier very soon to head a promised government of national union.

The remaining 56 seats are held by seven other parties. Three have jointly ruled out joining the new-style government, which Mr. Bongo said before the polls would be open to all political persuasions which agreed to take part.

The largest opposition group, with 19 seats, is a splinter movement of the Movement for National Renewal called MORENA-Bucheron, and its leader, Catholic cleric Paul Mba Abessole, has also urged staying out of the new government. But other party officials have in the past few days publicly called for participation by MORENA-Bucheron.

Political analysts said Mr. Bongo might well ask Mr. Oye Mba to be prime minister again.

BUCHAREST (NOV. 19) - Dissidents within the Romanian army called Monday for Defense Minister Victor Stanculescu to stand trial on charges of ordering troops to fire on demonstrators in the city of Timisoara last December.

The so-called Timisoara massacre marked the beginning of a popular uprising that toppled Nicolae Ceausescu's hardline regime.

In a statement published in the independent daily Romania Libera, the Action Committee for Democratisation of the Army called for ex-interior minister Mihai Chitac and disgraced army chief-of-staff Stefan Guse to be tried by the Timisoara military court along with General Stanculescu.

The National Salvation Front Council, which took power after Ceausescu's execution, sacked Gen. Guse on December 30.

Gen. Chitac was dismissed after bloody clashes between anti-government demonstrators and security forces between June 13 and 15, followed by brutal intervention by pro-government miners, left six people dead and 502 wounded.

The authorities officially disbanded the Democratisation Committee on June 14.

JOHANNESBURG (NOV. 19) - The South African Government is studying a plan which aims to put half a million extra black farmers on about 25 percent of the country's arable farmland, a move which a leading rightwing farmer warned on Monday would lead to major conflict.

The plan, devised by the Southern African Development Bank (SADB), could to see the transfer of nearly eight-million hectares of farmland to blacks and also the take-over of about 1,000 white farms that are hopelessly indebted to the government for use by black small-scale farmers, according to local reports.

The country's apartheid policies have seen some 87 percent of the land owned by the country's white minority, while only 13 percent of the land has been distributed to blacks, under the control of the country's 10 tribal homelands, four of which are nominally-independent.

Agriculture Minister Jacob de Villiers said in a statement to Agence France-Presse he did not want "to comment prematurely" on reports that government was expected to react favourably to some aspects of the SADB plan.

Referring to land issues as "emotive", he said there was a wide-range of views on the land issue, all of which had to be discussed.

But Robert Van Tonder, leader of the ultra-rightwing Boere State Party (BP) warned, in an interview with AFP, that if blacks accepted any white farms, white farmers would simply "take them back".

He urged the government to write-off farmers' debts, estimated between one and two billion rand (3.8 and 7.6-million dollars) and for blacks to continue to be farm labourers, claiming their lack of farming expertise would "turn the country into a desert".

LAGOS (NOV. 19) - Nigeria's drug squad has started to screen the visa applications of Nigerians wishing to travel to India, it was announced here Monday.

The screening, which began two weeks ago, followed the Indian government's consent to a Nigerian request to look into the case of every Nigerian applying for an Indian visa, a National Drug Law Enforcement Agency (NDLEA) source said. The NDLEA was established this year to fight hard drug trafficking and abuse.

Most countries from the ''golden triangle'' opium-producing area - Burma, Thailand and Laos - and other Asian and Latin American countries are cooperating with Nigeria to fight the drug menace, the source said, without giving more details.

Hundreds of Nigerians have been arrested or imprisoned in foreign countries over the past few years for drug trafficking.

Under an anti-drug law promulgated by the military government this year, importation or exportation of hard drugss carries life imprisonment while any Nigerian jailed outside the country would be liable for a five-year jail term on return to Nigeria.

Paris (NOV. 19) - German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, at the opening of the first working session of the European security summit conference here Monday, urged that Europe become a centre of peace in the world.

Kohl, who chaired the session, said Europe ''must set an example in being good'', especially with regard to the conflicts in other parts of the world.

He said the conference had the ambitious aim to build a ''Europe of peace envisioned by the great European Immanuel Kant 195 years ago''. The German philosopher and university teacher lived from 1724 until 1804.

Instead of putting Kant's vision into reality, Kohl said, Germany and Europe had too long been at the centre of worldwide catastrophes.

The chancellor said some of the precepts on which the Csce was based were the human rights declaration of the French revolution in the year 1789, Britain's Magna Charta (1215) and the American Bill of Rights (1791).

Kohl will deliver his address as representative of Germany Tuesday. Other speakers Tuesday are U.S. President George Bush, Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and British Premier Margaret Thatcher.

PAMPLONA (NOV 19) EFE - Police arrested Monday 10 suspected members of the armed separatist group ETA in raids in northeastern Spain, officials said.

Three people, including a leader of the Basque region's radical Herri Batasuna (HB) party -- widely regared as ETA's political wing -- were detained in the town of Aoiz, 360 km northeast of Madrid.

Police nabbed seven more suspected ETA members in two separate overnight raids in the northeastern cities of Pamplona and Vitoria.

The arrests came two days after French police captured four alleged ETA members in southwestern France, including Carmen Guisasola Salazabal, considered one of ETA's leading members and hunted by Spanish police for 10 years.

Two policemen were killed and two others were seriously wounded Sunday in a bomb attack by suspected ETA separatists in Spain's troubled Basque region.

BEIRUT (NOV. 19) EFE - The Christian Lebanese Forces (FL) militia has set down new conditions for its withdrawal from Beirut that threaten to delay a government order calling for all militias in the capital to leave by midnight Monday, the Lebanese daily Al Safir reported.

According to the daily, the FL has demanded that Lebanese troops due to take over its positions in East Beirut be comprised of Christians.

"Not one Moslem official must enter our neighborhoods," FL sources were quoted as saying.

The FL, which controls residential districts in East Beirut, fought a bloody four-month war with rebel Christian leader Gen. Michel Aoun for control of the Christian enclave earlier this year.

The defeat of Aoun by Syrian and government forces raised hopes of a peaceful solution to Lebanon's 15-year-old civil war, during which tens of thoudands of people have been killed.

The government of Lebanese President Elias Hrawi has accused the FL of trying to divide the Army, undermining efforts to unite Christian forces following the defeat of Aoun.

The government has given FL leader Samir Geagea a few hours Monday to formulate his final answer to the withdrawal order, while the Lebanese cabinet plans to meet to debate what measures it would adopt if the FL refuses to leave.

Government sources said Monday that Prime Minister Salim al Hoss was ready to impose the peace plan "even if it is by force".

The FL has said it fears that if it withdraws without government guarantees, rival Christian forces would occupy its positions as Aoun's militia did.

All of Lebanon's 11 militias, including the FL, have said they would obey Hrawi's order two weeks ago to leave Greater Beirut, which includes a 26-km area around the city, by midnight Monday.

Amal and Druze leaders have recently said their forces had already left the region, while the Hezbollah militia is in the process and the FL's final decision is expected later Monday.

The withdrawal of militias is the first step of the Taif peace accord signed by the Lebanese parliament in October last year, which also called for power-sharing between the country's Moslem majority and Christian minority.

TIZAYUCA, MEXICO (NOV 19) EFE - Political opponents of Mexico's ruling party burned a city hall building, kidnapped municipal officials, and closed roads in the state of Hildago to protest local elections held last week, officials said Monday.

A police spokesman said militant members of the Democratic Revolution Party (PRD) burned the building Sunday in Tizayuca, 50 km northeast of Mexico City, to protest what they considered electoral fraud by the Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI).

PRI has ruled Mexico's national government since 1929.

The militant supporters of PRD warned they would continue to commit similar acts until the alleged fraud committed by PRI in elections on November 11 was cleared up.

TOKYO (NOV. 19) KYODO - JAPAN'S TOP FIVE CHEMICAL COMPANIES ON MONDAY REPORTED THAT UNCONSOLIDATED PRETAX PROFITS DROPPED BY 4 PERCENT TO 44 PERCENT IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE CURRENT FISCAL YEAR ENDED SEPTEMBER 30 DUE MAINLY TO SHARP RISES IN IMPORTED NAPHTHA PRICES STEMMING FROM THE PERSIAN GULF CRISIS.

ALL THE FIRMS, HOWEVER, REPORTED INCREASES IN SALES. SALES WERE PARTICULARLY BRISK IN SYNTHETIC RESINS FOR USE IN VEHICLES AND HOME ELECTRIC APPLIANCES, OFFICIALS OF THE COMPANIES SAID.

ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIALS, PRICES FOR IMPORTED NAPHTHA, A RAW MATERIAL FOR PETROCHEMICAL PRODUCTS, WERE ABOUT 20,000 YEN PER KILOLITER UNTIL JULY. THE COMPANIES RAISED PRICES FOR SOME PETROCHEMICAL PRODUCTS SUCH AS ETHYLENE IN OCTOBER, BUT IT WAS TOO LATE TO KEEP EARNINGS FROM FALLING, THEY SAID.

IMPORTED NAPHTHA PRICES ARE NOW FLUCTUATING NERVOUSLY AT THE 30,000 YEN LEVEL.

WITH SUCH HIGH NAPHTHA PRICES, THE COMPANIES WILL LIKELY ALSO REPORT INCREASES IN SALES BUT DROPS IN EARNINGS FOR THE ENTIRE FISCAL 1990 ENDING MARCH 31, THE OFFICIALS PREDICTED.

FOLLOWING ARE COMPANY RESULTS FOR THE FISCAL FIRST HALF IN BILLIONS OF YEN WITH YEAR-ON-YEAR COMPARISONS IN PARENTHESES:

FROM THE BULLS:

"Bull markets emerge at times like this when it seems an absolute impossibility," says GLENN CUTLER at "Market Mania." While there is still a worst case possibility down to 2250, the odds are diminished. "All the weak sisters are out," says Cutler, who believes the market is in the final stage of an intermediate bottom with the Dow on the way back to 2650. "Secondaries should see their best move since 1983," he predicts. (CNBC "World Business", 11/19)

"In the year 2010, the Dow Jones industrial average will be 10,000," says CARTER RANDALL on a special anniversary show of "Wall Street Week" in which often-featured guests were asked to look back 20 years and ahead 20 years. ("Wall Street Week", 11/16)

"I feel the stock market has made a low and will embark on a new advance that will carry it significantly higher and the Dow Jones industrial average over 3000 in 12 months," says STEPHEN LEEB, editor of "Personal Finance" advisory letter. "Important lows are always accompanied by maximum bearishness and gloom." SHERMAN McCLELLAN, developer of the "McClellan Oscillator" and the "McClellan Summation" says he realizes his bullish attitude "is contrary to what most people are thinking, especially since we may be headed into a slowing economy. But the stock market is a lead indicator, not a coincident one, when compared with the economy." Another market optimist is ANDREW ADDISON, editor of the "Addison Report." "I think we are having a rally within a transition phase from a bear market to a bull market. ... I don't expect a bull market to start overnight - I think we are at the beginning stage." Addison looks for a move to 2700 on the Dow by the end of January. ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

"In all of my 50 years of investment counsel I cannot recall a month in which there was such almost universal pessimism as there was in October," says JOHN TEMPLETON, founder of THE TEMPLETON FUNDS. "That doesn't prove that we can't still get more pessimistic, but if you're already the most pessimistic in 50 years, you must be somewhere near the bottom." ("Wall Street Week", 11/16)

STOCK MARKET:

"We don't see a major turnaround for the market for a while," says WILLIAM RAFTERY, vice president of technical research at SMITH BARNEY, HARRIS, UPHAM & CO. However, he notes that Smith Barney recommended to clients last week that they increase their stock exposure slightly. ("The Washington Post", 11/18)

JOHN TEMPLETON of THE TEMPLETON FUNDS, doesn't have much patience with academics who would suggest the stock market is always fairly priced and that it does no good to try to pick and choose among stocks. "That's just resigning from the game," he says. "If you take the game of tennis, there are exactly as many losers as winners, but that's no reason to give up playing tennis." ("Wall Street Week", 11/16)

"Although the economy doesn't look good, we still expect the Dow to rally and get to 2850 by the middle of January," says DAVID EDWARDS, chief investment officer at UNITED SERVICES ADVISORS INC. in San Antonio, Tex. "However, I am not sure if the bear market is over yet. We're positive looking ahead a few months because of what we perceive will be a lack of negative news." ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

"I honestly think the January effect may be here," says JACK LaPORTE at T. ROWE PRICE ASSOCIATES' NEW HORIZONS FUND. (WSJ, 11/19)

STOCK TIPS:

U.S. HEALTHCARE INC. is featured in "Investor's Daily" today as an example of one of the nation's best health maintenance organizations. Earnings growth has ranged from 107% to 280% in the past four quarters and the stock is up 468% since the summer of 1988. "They're doing pioneering work," says KENNETH ABRAMOWITZ, an analyst with SANFORD C. BERNSTEIN & CO. He says the company is driven by "a burning desire to succeed" and a strong sense of responsibility to its HMO members. "U.S. Healthcare is an extraordinarily well-managed company " says PRUDENTIAL-BACHE analyst SETH SHAW. "There's none better in the business. But it's still not invulnerable to some industry pressures." ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

WILLIAM HARNISCH, chief stockpicker at FORSTMANN LEFF ASSOCIATES, says a slow recovery from a down economy will "produce a great stockpicking environment for the first time in at least four years. His favorites are BAKER HUGHES, BIOGEN, BURLINGTON RESOURCES, DIAMOND SHAMROCK, IMMUNEX, McDERMOTT INTERNATIONAL, PRICE CO. and WABAN. ("Barron's", 11/19)

That fact that earnings have not deteriorated bodes very well for stock prices according to the "Blue Chip Correlator." The newsletter is particularly impressed with earnings at RALSTON PURINA and LOEWS. Other buys: ANHEUSER at 36 3/4, DISNEY at 96 3/4 and SUPER VALU STORES at 24 3/8.) (CNBC "World Business", 11/19)

WILLIAM HOPKE, who runs the $600 million DOMINION CAPITAL investment arm of DOMINION RESOURCES utility holding company in Richmond, Va., has honed in on four stocks he thinks are prime takeover candidates at prices well above where the stocks stand now. They are NASHUA CORP., GROW GROUP, GOULD PUMPS and DURIRON CO. ("USA Today", 11/19)

"Godfather III" will be the biggest movie of the year but PARAMOUNT won't make money because of high production costs, says industry analyst DENNIS MCALPINE of MCALPINE ASSOCIATES. A small speculative play he likes is NELSON HOLDINGS.

Their film "Misery" is a new Stephen King story which McApline hears has been testing very well: "This is a movie that could do real big and nobody is expecting it." (CNN "Business Day", 11/19)

"In the energy group, I still go with my No. 1 choice: TEXACO," says ANTHONY LUDOVICI, senior vice president at TUCKER, ANTHONY. He also likes EXXON. "If you're looking for broad-based stocks outside the energy area, look at IT&T." He also recommends GENERAL ELECTRIC and WESTINGHOUSE. "I think the fear of the financial sectors of Westinghouse and GE have been overplayed and I think they are outstanding values at current levels - major integrated companies with proven records of accomplishment over the years." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up" 11/16)

FLEER CORP., the baseball-card company that went public last June, is launching what "Barron's" calls a "two-week road show to promote a 2.1-million-share secondary offering." The article says the company "is in high cotton" for the moment. "But while the prospectus offers a bright view of Fleer's future, a closer look discloses clouds on the horizon," the article says. ("Barron's", 11/19)

"Barron's" purports to have "the real scoop behind the bad news at FNN and troubled INFOTECH" in this week's edition. Quoting two former inside employees who are now cooperating with federal investigators, the article says the employees concluded that the FINANCIAL NEWS NETWORK "was, in effect, cooking its own books" as early as last summer and was losing money instead of turning a profit. "In sum, just how much FNN might fetch from one of the bidders reportedly interested in acquiring it is a question," the article concludes. "But what is certain is that the startling revelations about the network and its parent, and the prospect of more to come, mean that it's worth a lot less than it was just a few scant months ago." ("Barron's", 11/19)

"There is definitely a window of opportunity on the upside because interest rates are coming down and there probably won't be a war until January at the earliest," says VICTOR SPERANDEO, head of RAND MANAGEMENT. "Stick with consumer-oriented blue chip stocks. That's where people who have to get invested in a hurry put their money and that's where the programs are." He recommends JOHNSON & JOHNSON, PROCTER & GAMBLE and PHILIP MORRIS. MORRIS MARKOVITZ, head of MERCURY MANAGEMENT, suggests that conservative investors buy the DREYFUS PEOPLE'S INDEX FUND or TRICONTINENTAL, another fund. ("Barron's", 11/19)

MARTIN WHITMAN, who has run the EQUITY STRATEGIES fund since 1984 and recently formed the THIRD AVENUE FUND, likes KENTUCKY CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE, a stock trading at one-third its 1989 peak. "There's no problem with the company, there's a problem with the stock," he says. SUPER VALU STORES and A. SCHULMAN INC., are featured stocks in the "investment news & views" section of "Barron's" this week. ("Barron's", 11/19)

"The main thing people need to learn is that selecting assets is totally different from almost every other activity," says JOHN 3 TEMPLETON of THE TEMPLETON FUNDS. "If you go to 10 doctors and they tell you the same medicine that's the thing to take. If you go to 10 engineers to build a bridge, they tell you the same thing, that's the way to go. But you go 10 investment advisers and they pick out the same asset, you'd better stay away from it. ("Wall Street Week", 11/16)

#90323m0002 11/19/1990 ~Market Consensus Surveys

FALLS CHURCH, VA (NOV. 19) MCS - A SAMPLING OF TODAY'S COMMENTARY COMPILED BY MARKET CONSENSUS SURVEYS, INC. IN TWO SECTIONS (1) STOCKS (2) MONEY & ECONOMY.

MONEY & CREDIT:

DELOS SMITH, economist for THE CONFERENCE BOARD, says Friday's 0.6% rise in the consumer price index, coupled with an earlier 0.3% increase in the producer price index, "allows the Federal Reserve, if they want to, to lower interest rates, and I do think they want to." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/16)

STUART HOFFMAN, chief economist at PNC FINANCIAL CORP. in Pittsburgh, says lower interest rates are something like time-release cold capsules: "You've got to take them now because of the delays involved. They slowly work their way through the economy before they finally ease your pains or, in this case, the recession." ("USA Today", 11/19)

A GARY SHILLING of A. GARY SHILLING & CO. says he has "owned two-year notes for some time - because the Fed is easing, they're being forced to - but now we're moving into the long end because it is becoming a global recession and that's what we figured it would take to get bond yields coming down because we are so dependent on the rest of the world our rates can't come down without theirs [coming down]." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/16)

"More [bond] gains would appear to be in order given the state of the economy, but the nagging Middle East situation, the threat of a weaker dollar and high real interest rates abroad could combine to limit further declines in bond yields," says THOMAS SOWANICK at MERRILL LYNCH CAPITAL MARKETS. ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

"We have come a long way pretty quickly, but I would be surprised if the [bond] market continued to rally over the next couple of weeks," says STEVEN SLIFER at SHEARSON LEHMAN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES. (NYT, 11/19)

"The corporate bond market has had very light issuance since Aug. 2 [when Iraq invaded Kuwait] so there is pent-up demand," says CONAGRA treasurer JAMES O'DONNELL. The company sold $100 million in 15-year bonds last week at a yield of 9.875%. Underwriters said that was a lower interest rate than some companies with higher credit ratings have had to pay recently. (WSJ, 11/19)

THE ECONOMY:

BILL WOLMAN, chief economist at "BusinessWeek" and "CNBC" found the 2.1% decrease in hourly earnings to be the most important economic statistic reported Friday. Noting that the plunge would translate to a annual compounded rate of 30%, he said the figure "adds to the notion that the economy was very, very weak in October." Wolman says that "BusinessWeek" calculations suggest GNP probably plunged 3% or 4% in the fourth quarter. "That assumes the October level stays the same throughout the whole quarter relative to the third quarter. If that happens, we have a very, very severe recession on our hands." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/16)

JIM WILLIAMS, who sells his "Williams Inference Service" to some major stock funds, says: "Recession is here. Whether it gets out of control, I can't tell you yet. We have the flu. I'm worried we might get pneumonia. But I'm not a doomsayer at this point." ("USA Today", 11/19)

"The economy looks like it is increasingly caving in," says ALLEN SINAI, economist at BOSTON CO. ECONOMIC ADVISORS. He terms inflation "horrendously high." STEVE WOOD, an economist at BANKAMERICA, notes that "there has been little spillover of high energy prices into other costs" but cautions that "you know it's coming." ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

"We keep hearing about inflation and the Fed's concern over inflation and I keep saying 'What inflation?" says ANTHONY LUDOVICI, senior vice president at TUCKER, ANTHONY. "At long last now, we see oil prices coming down because of the supply and demand characteristics of oil. ... [That] clearly suggests to me that we've seen the highs in oil prices." He looks for the price to settle at $24 a barrel, or perhaps a dollar or two lower. (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/16)

"I expected it [the CPI] to be worse, so from my standpoint this is quite a good number," says LACY HUNT, chief U.S. economist for HONG KONG BANK GROUP. "I think it's quite encouraging that the higher oil prices are not spreading to the rest of the economy. That's a very good sign. The bad sign is that inflation is considerably outstripping wage gains and as a consequence we had a very sharp decline in real income, which means the family budget is being wrecked." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/16)

"The silver lining [in the CPI report] is that the shock of energy prices does not seem to be feeding through to other prices," says RICHARD GORDON, economist for the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS. ("Investor's Daily", 11/19)

says the 2.4% decrease in imports and a drop in the volume of oil brought into the United States "are a fairly strong demonstration of the downturn of the economy." ("The Washington Post", 11/17)

"Obviously, the drop-off here [in demand for oil] is much less than in the past, but still something significant," says PAUL MLOTOK, an oil industry analyst at MORGAN STANLEY. "My best sense of it is that we're looking at something like zero growth next year." Adjusting for inflation, oil would have to sell for $80 a barrel now to match the highs of 1979-80. "This price increase hasn't been anywhere as nearly pronounced," notes WILLIAM RANDOL, an oil analyst at FIRST BOSTON. "This is child's play compared to that." ("The Washington Post", 11/18)

"Whether you agree that we're in a recession or not, the economy is slowing down," says JOHN TREAT at BOOZE ALLEN & HAMILTON. "I would think prices would account for 80% of the drop [in oil demand] and the slowdown of the economy most of the other 20%." ("USA Today", 11/19)

"Frankly, I was surprised that exports declined as much as they have," says SUNG WON SOHN, chief economist for NORWEST CORP. "The dollar weakness that we've had for some time ... that really has not done us much good so far." He says Fed moves to cut interest rates and White House acknowledgment that the economy is sagging means "we can start talking about a recovery in the second half of '91." ("Investor's Daily" and "USA Today", 11/19)

"I think the most amazing thing is that people will look back at the fourth quarter of 1990 and say things weren't that bad [in real estate]," says DAVID WEBB, head of real estate financing at MERRILL LYNCH. "We haven't hit bottom yet, partly because there are innumerable projects where the lenders have not yet taken title to properties that are now in default," says ARTHUR SONNENBLICK, vice chairman of the SONNENBLICK-GOLDMAN CORP., one of the nation's largest commercial brokers. "When that starts to happen you're going to see things hit the bottom." (NYT, 11/19)

ATLANTA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Production go-ahead of the AGM-130 Standoff Weapon System has been received by Rockwell International Corporation's Tactical Systems Division in the form of initial contract funding of $32 million from the U.S. Air Force's Aeronautical Systems Division, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., the company announced today.

The funding covers Lot 1 procurement of 28 weapons, test equipment, and flight testing and training support.

The first AGM-130 unit delivery is planned for the last quarter of calendar 1992 or 24 months from contract start.

The new contract has a total value of $103.3 million and includes variable quantity options for Lot 2 of 55 additional weapons for $31.3 million, and Lot 3 for 120 additional weapons at $40 million. These options include the procurement of test equipment and production rate tooling as well as other provisions. The U.S. Air Force will exercise these options based on the completion of key program milestones.

The firm fixed price contract also calls for 15 production weapon verification flight tests starting in early 1993. The test launches will be conducted from an F-111 and F-15 aircraft.

Current U.S. Air Force plans call for an inventory of approximately 4,000 AGM-130 weapons.

Paul Smith, vice president and general manager of the division, said, "The start of the AGM-130 production is a significant step in supplying U.S. Air Force tactical aircraft and crews with an unmatched combination of standoff range, precision accuracy, effective payload, mission profile flexibility, and affordability.

"More importantly, it increases aircraft and crew survivability because AGM-130 flies to the target so the aircraft doesn't have to. Other benefits of the AGM-130 are its low cost and established logistics, training and operational base because of its commonality with its predecessor weapon, the GBU-15 guided weapon system," Smith explained.

Manufacture of the AGM-130 will be performed at Rockwell's northeast Atlanta facilities and will be supported by more than 100 subcontractors and suppliers nationwide.

In January of this year, the AGM-130 completed operational flight testing with a series of nine flights conducted by U.S. Air Force operational crews. Five flights were conducted from an F-4E aircraft at Eglin Air Force Base Range, Fla., and four launches were performed by F-111F aircraft at China Lake Naval Weapons Test Range, and Point Mugu, Calif. The test flights were performed over flat and mountainous terrain and over water at simulated targets such as bridges, tunnels, ships, radar vans, and buildings.

After a production readiness review of Rockwell's facilities, the U.S. Air Force approved AGM-130 for production in July.

Tactical Systems Division, a unit of Rockwell's Defense Electronics, specializes in applying advanced technology to the development and manufacture of tactical standoff and battlefield weapons systems as well as sensors and acquisition systems.

Rockwell International Corporation (NYSE: ROK) is a $12 billion multi-industry

MANAMA, Bahrain (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - AlphaGraphics Printshops Of The Future has opened its first Persian Gulf quick printing center in Manama.

The company, based in Tucson, Ariz., signed agreements earlier this year to open several franchised printshops in the Gulf Cooperative Council Countries with the first two to operate in Bahrain and Saudi Arabia. The openings were delayed by the invasion of Kuwait.

Cyndi Herbert, AlphaGraphics' manager of international support, is presently in Manama helping set up the operation. She says that, initially, the company projected the customer base would consist mainly of the business community in the island capital, which caters to the banking and oil industries in neighboring countries and general commercial interests.

Herbert said that while many westerners have left Bahrain, eroding the original customer base, the presence of the military and intensified activities in various government embassies have created additional sales opportunities that AlphaGraphics is well-equipped to serve.

The Bahrain facility provides the same full line of quick printing services offered by AlphaGraphics' 300 franchises worldwide including: high speed duplicating, printing, copying, binding, facsimile (FAX) services, desktop publishing and electronic mail communications. The store also offers English and Arabic translation services.

All stores are linked together by AlphaLink a unique satellite communications system. The network makes it possible for a customer to drop off a document or brochure at any AlphaGraphics store one day and have it imprinted in any other AlphaGraphics store the next, saving the customer shipping costs and days of delay.

The network has proved particularly valuable in linking AlphaGraphics' shops in Moscow and Britain with several of the U.S. locations. In international traffic, there is no need to pass through customs, so the savings are even greater.

Franchise rights for the Middle East are owned by a group of investors based in Bahrain.

In the past few years, AlphaGraphics has expanded from a U.S. franchisor into a company with more than 50 international franchises. AlphaGraphics is located in twelve countries including: Australia, Canada, England, Honk Kong, Mexico, Scotland, the Soviet Union, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, the United States and now Bahrain.

The dividend will be 4 cents per common share, payable Jan. 15, 1991, to Abe J. Gustin, Jr., Applebee's president said that the combination of strong earnings and operating cash flow in the first nine months of 1990 have made this first dividend possible. "Finding ways for our shareholders to participate in the financial success of our franchisees and our company has been an important priority for us as a franchising company, ever since our public offering in September 1989. TROY, MI (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Kmart Corporation (NYSE: KM) reported increased third-quarter sales and earnings, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer Joseph E. Antonini announced today.

Net income for the 13 weeks ended Oct. 31, 1990, increased 1.7 percent to $105.9 million from $104.1 million for the 13 weeks ended Oct. 25, 1989. Earnings per share were 53 cents, compared with 1989's 52 cents. Third-quarter sales rose 11.7 percent to $7.49 billion from 1989's $6.71 billion for the same period.

Net income for the first 39 weeks of 1990 increased 3.1 percent to $354.0 million from 1989's $343.2 million. Earnings per share were $1.77, compared with $1.71 in the year-ago period. Sales rose 12.8 percent to $22.32 billion from $19.78 billion for the same 39-week period of 1989.

The gross margin for the quarter was lower than a year ago, at 25.7 percent of sales versus 26.5 percent, reflecting the inclusion of the lower-margined PACE Membership Warehouse operation in the third quarter of 1990. The pretax LIFO charge for the 1990 period was $32.5 million, compared with $35.0 million in the prior year. For the 39-week periods, the pretax LIFO charge amounted to $97.5 million in 1990 and $105.0 million in 1989.

The selling, general and administrative (SGA) expense ratio was 0.7 percent lower at 23.1 percent of sales in the third quarter of 1990, versus 23.8 percent of sales for the comparable 1989 period, as a result of the effectiveness of cost-control programs and the inclusion of PACE.

Net interest expense on debt was $62.8 million, up 23.4 percent from $50.9 million in the 1989 third quarter. The increase was primarily due to greater short-term borrowings resulting from the acquisitions of PACE and The Sports Authority.

Looking to the balance of 1990, Antonini concluded, "While the outlook for consumer spending is clouded by a possible weakening of the U.S. economy, we are confident that our continuing emphasis on everyday low prices, our strengthened life-style merchandising programs, and increased utilization of retail automation systems will be of significant benefit to Kmart in a possibly more difficult retailing environment in the 1990 fourth quarter. In addition, positive results in our specialty retailing businesses will add to our profitability."

Kmart Corporation serves America with over 4,000 retail outlets in all 50 states in the United States and in Puerto Rico and Canada. Kmart, currently operating 2,336 Kmart stores, is also the parent company for Pay Less Drug Stores, Builders Square, Waldenbooks, PACE Membership Warehouse Clubs and The Sports Authority.

Kmart Corporation's stock is listed on the New York, Pacific, Midwest and Toyko stock exchanges. Its trading symbol is KM.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Forstmann & Company, Inc. today announced that it has extended until 12:00 noon, New York City time, on Monday, Nov. 19, 1990 the expiration date of its consent solicitation of holders of its 14-3/4 percent senior subordinated notes due April 15, 1999.

The company is preparing to commence a lawsuit against certain holders of notes who the company believes were members of the committee of noteholders who participated in the negotiation of, and agreed to, the terms of the consent solicitation and those noteholders working in concert with such noteholders. The complaint will allege that such persons fraudulently induced the company to commence the consent solicitation in violation of the federal securities laws and that, despite their participation in the negotiation process, such holders have conspired to withhold consents to the detriment of the company and the consenting noteholders. The complaint will seek damages and to hold such persons liable if their actions force the company into a bankruptcy filing.

As of Nov. 16, 1990, holders of approximately $92,735,000 of the $100,000,000 outstanding principal amount of 14-3/4 percent senior subordinated notes have furnished consents to the proposed amendments to the notes which have not been withdrawn.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Two separate actions announced today will result in additional financing for the Manville Personal Injury Settlement Trust and restructure the settlement and payment by the Trust of all health claims arising from exposure to asbestos formerly produced by Manville.

-- Manville Corporation (NYSE: MVL) and the Trust signed formal agreements intended to enhance significantly the Trust's liquidity;

-- Papers filed today in a U.S. District Court in New York ask the court to approve a proposed class action settlement reached between the Trust and representatives of its beneficiaries which will restructure the settlement and payment of claims by the Trust.

Manville Corporation and the Trust signed the agreements which will provide up to $650 million in dividends paid on a pro rata basis to all common shareholders over a seven-year period. The Manville bonds now held by the Trust will be exchanged for a new bond intended to be more marketable. Eighty percent of the dividends will be paid to the Trust following the conversion of the Trust's Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, according to its terms, into Manville common stock. By converting its preferred stock, the Trust would be entitled to receive up to $520 million of the special dividend payments during the seven-year period. Since emerging from Chapter 11, Manville has reported earnings per common share on the assumption that the Trust had converted its preferred stock.

The refinancing plan is contingent on the receipt of final court orders approving the resolution of the class action lawsuit which was initiated today in a U.S. District Court in New York. Earlier a special master appointed by the court concluded that the Trust is a limited fund which is a prerequisite to proceeding with a limited fund class action.

Manville said that its obligations under the agreements also are contingent upon the court reaffirming the injunction that prohibits asbestos-related lawsuits against the company. The company intends to file a motion for reaffirmation of the injunction within the next two weeks.

"These steps -- a new claims processing system implemented through the class action and the refinancing agreement -- will more effectively, efficiently and equitably compensate those injured by asbestos exposure," said Tom Stephens, Manville chairman, president and CEO. "We are pleased that Manville could aid the settlement process by enhancing the Trust's liquidity, while benefiting all of the company's shareholders.

"These actions should clear up any misperceptions about Manville's financial obligations to the Trust," Stephens added. "The agreement, following court action, will free the company from many of the operational and financial restrictions imposed in the plan of reorganization. It further ensures a strong, well-financed and competitive operating company."

Under the plan of reorganization, Manville is not involved in settling or paying health claims, all of which must be directed to the Trust which operates as an independent organization. An injunction prohibits any asbestos-related lawsuits or claims from being filed against the company.

An agreement in principle was announced in September between the company and the Trust. The formal agreements detail the refinancing plan which includes:

-- payment by Manville of $125 million in dividends on a pro rata basis to all common shareholders, payable 90 days after Sept. 30, 1991, or after orders to implement the class action and reaffirm the injunction become final,

whichever is later;

-- $125 million in dividends payable one year after the first dividend; -- $50 million in dividends payable in the second year after the first dividend;

-- $50 million in dividends payable in the third year after the first dividend;

-- cumulative dividends, up to a cap of $300 million, in the fourth through the seventh years based on the company's annual performance. All but the first dividend payment are subject to appropriate financing by the company

-- the Trust will exchange its current $1.8 billion bonds for a new bond with identical payment obligations. NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Hachette Magazines, Inc., has reached an agreement with Distribution Services, Inc. (DSI), a unit of the GP Group, to handle check-out counter distribution, sales and marketing of Woman's Day and Woman's Day Specials. The Curtis Circulation Company, an affiliate of Hachette Magazines, will complement the distribution and marketing efforts of DSI. The arrangement begins with the February issues of the magazines.

The move is intended to increase the magazines' retail exposure and their point of sale positioning in supermarkets, drug stores and mass merchandisers. DSI, which distributes the GP Group's own National Enquirer and The Star, is particularly strong in the "front end" market, Hachette points out, with a distribution staff of over 600 across the country and strong relationships with 180,000 outlets in the United States and Canada.

The addition of the Hachette titles will make DSI the country's largest distributor of check-out counter titles. Magazines represented by the company which also handles several Hearst magazines, now account for 33 percent of the retail volume of the top 100 check-out magazines.

In addition to handling physical distribution and representing the publications to the headquarters of the major retail chains across all the various store categories, DSI will design and service front-end fixtures for the publications.

The agreement has particularly strong implications for Woman's Day, said Hachette. The popular 53-year-old magazine derives 88 percent of its circulation from single copy sales, far more than its six major competitors. With average newsstand sales of over 4 million copies, Woman's Day is the largest single copy women's magazine, and is second only to TV Guide both in the average number of single copies sold and in the profits it brings to retailers who carry it.

Hachette executives add that the new arrangement is one in a series of actions it plans to implement to support Woman's Day. Filipacchi points out that a major advertising campaign targeted to media buyers and potential advertisers is already underway in publications like the Wall Street Journal, Advertising Age and AdWeek.

Hachette Magazines, Inc., is a subsidiary of Hachette Publications, Inc. In addition to the magazines involved in the agreement with DSI, titles published by Hachette Magazines include American Photo, Audio, Boat, Boating, Car and Driver, Car Stereo Review, Cycle, Cycle World, ELLE, ELLE Decor, Flying, Popular Photography, Road & Track, Showboats International, Sound & Image, and Stereo Review. Hachette Magazines also publishes some 50 newsstand specials and more than 100 crossword puzzle, word game and astrology issues annually.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - WPP Group plc (NASDAQ: WPPGY), the multi-national marketing services company, today announced it now believes that its pre-tax profits for the year to Dec. 31, 1990 will be somewhat lower than the general level of brokers' published estimates of around 110 million pounds sterling. This has only become apparent this month. While results for the final two months of the year normally contribute significantly to profits, the Group feels it prudent to lower its expectations for this period and therefore for the full year because of the general economic downturn.

The Group noted continuing trends of significant client net new business gains and despite the lowering of previous expectations, the Group continues to trade successfully at significant levels of profitability.

JACKSON, MICH. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Forecasting record oil and gas reserves for 1990, an end to depressed oil prices and 1990 net income of $10 million, CMS Energy's NOMECO Oil & Gas Co. unit today announced it will expand its capital budget next year by 10 percent to $90 million.

NOMECO, which began 1990 with 37 million net equivalent barrels, will finish the year with 47 million, up 27 percent, the company said. The projected increase for 1990 means the company will have more than doubled its reserves in three years. Reserves were 21.2 million net equivalent barrels at the end of 1987.

"Our growth in reserves for 1990 makes it likely that we will move up in the industry's rankings again next year," Burgess said.

Among U.S. companies, NOMECO now ranks 52nd on the basis of its 1989 worldwide oil reserves, according to recent standings for 400 exploration and production (E&P) companies published in October by Oil & Gas Journal. NOMECO also placed No. 76 worldwide on the basis of its natural gas reserves, the magazine reported. Just six years ago, the company's worldwide oil and gas reserves ranked No. 94 and No. 129, respectively.

"The company's $5.7 million increase in net income expected for 1990 over $4.3 million in 1989 does not result solely from oil price increases due to the Kuwait crisis," Burgess said.

CMS Energy Corporation (NYSE: CMS) is a $3 billion (sales) diversified energy company with businesses engaged in the distribution of electricity and natural gas, interstate storage and transmission of natural gas, oil and gas exploration and production, independent power generation and utility services. HAMPTON, NH (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - The Henley Group, Inc. (NASDAQ: HENG) and Libra Invest & Trade Ltd., holder of approximately 24.9 percent of Henley common stock, have agreed that Libra will not increase its beneficial ownership of Henley to more than 30 percent through Dec. 31, 1992, subject to certain exceptions.

The agreement provides that Libra will not engage, directly or indirectly, in any solicitation of proxies of Henley stockholders regarding the election of directors of Henley or an extraordinary transaction, seek to control or influence the management, board of directors or policies of Henley, or transfer shares of Henley common stock or other voting securities, except under certain circumstances.

In the agreement, Libra said it had acquired its present ownership position "based, in part, upon its belief in the abilities of the existing management of Henley." The restrictions in the agreement would cease to be in effect if "a person, entity or group unaffiliated with Libra" acquired 15 percent of the outstanding voting stock of Henley or if Michael D. Dingman, Paul M. Montrone "or another person acceptable to Libra shall no longer be the chief executive officer of Henley."

Dingman is chairman and chief executive officer of Henley, and Montrone is president. The agreement does not prohibit an all-cash tender offer by Libra for all of Henley's shares.

The agreement was entered into in part to address Henley's concern that the availability of certain net operating loss carryovers of Henley's Pneumo Abex subsidiary could be significantly reduced by additional changes in ownership of Henley common stock.

Changes in ownership, including changes resulting from additional purchases by Libra or purchases by any new or existing 5 percent shareholder, could significantly reduce Henley's ability to utilize such net operating loss carryovers.

DALLAS (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Harken Energy Corporation (NYSE: HEC) of Dallas today reported a net loss of $5.7 million, or $.20 per common share (after accrued preferred stock dividends) for the third quarter ended September 30, 1990. For the third quarter of 1989, Harken reported net income of $2.2 million, or $.04 per common share (after accrued preferred stock dividends).

Harken's third quarter results bring the nine-month consolidated net loss during 1990 to $31.1 million, or $1.06 per common share (after accrued preferred stock dividends). In the prior year's nine-month period, Harken reported net income of $4.6 million, or $.06 per common share (after accrued preferred stock dividends).

In comparison to the prior year's third quarter, the third quarter of 1990 was impacted by the following major factors:

-- Lower gasoline gross profits at Harken Marketing Company (HMC), Harken's refined products marketing subsidiary;

-- Higher gross profits from the natural gas gathering and transmission division of Tejas Power Corporation (TPC), Harken's natural gas gathering and marketing subsidiary;

-- Lower development fee income at TPC. In the third quarter of 1989, TPC earned development fees related to the Moss Bluff Gas Storage Facility;

-- Higher interest expense associated with increased project financing and term debt at TPC as well as increased borrowings from certain major Harken stockholders pursuant to a credit agreement announced by Harken on May 22, 1990.

When compared to the third quarter of 1989, HMC's third quarter, 1990 retail gasoline revenues increased due to sales price increases resulting from the current Middle East crisis. Retail gasoline gross profits, however, declined due to competitive factors which did not permit HMC to fully recover its substantially increased product cost. HMC attempted to maintain sales prices at levels that would result in acceptable per gallon margins which, due to competitive forces, caused volumes to decline compared to the third quarter a year ago.

Harken Energy Corporation manages and develops energy assets. HEC retails, wholesales and distributes gasoline through its subsidiary, Harken Marketing Company. Through its subsidiary, Tejas Power Corporation, HEC constructs, owns and operates natural gas gathering, storage and transmission facilities in Texas and Louisiana and markets third party gas to a variety of end-users. HEC explores for, develops and produces oil and gas reserves domestically through its subsidiary Harken Exploration Company and internationally through its subsidiary Harken Bahrain Oil Company. HEC provides contract drilling and workover/well services through its subsidiary, Harken Resource Management Corporation.

MIAMI (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - The landmark Woolworth store in downtown Miami, severely damaged by fire in May, is set to reopen Nov. 20, 1990, following a grand reopening ceremony to be attended by Mayor Xavier Suarez of the City of Miami.

Joining Mayor Suarez at the 9:00 a.m. ceremony on Nov. 20 will be Robert G. Lynn, president and chief executive officer of F.W. Woolworth Co., the New York-based Woolworth Corporation (NYSE: Z) subsidiary that operates the Miami store, and Ileana Ros Lehtinen, the U.S. Congresswoman for the Miami area. Also in attendance will be William R. Wonnacott, F.W. Woolworth Co.'s vice president for the southeastern region of the United States; Fernando Campos, Woolworth district manager for southern Florida; and Robert Gali, manager of the downtown Miami store. In addition, various representatives from Miami's fire fighters and city government are expected to attend.

Located at 44 East Flagler Street, the Woolworth store, with approximately 12,600 square feet of selling space, has been totally renovated since the fire and will feature, among other things, state-of- the-art laser-scanning checkout lines to speed customers through the store, and highly sophisticated electronic inventory management systems.

The East Flagler Street store was first opened 69 years ago, in June 1921, as the Woolworth company's first store in the Miami area. On May 29 of this year, the store was damaged by a fire which started in a third-floor storeroom. The fire was brought under control after about four hours by a contingent of 70 fire fighters from the cities of Miami and Coral Gables.

To show its appreciation of the efforts of the fire fighters who contained the blaze, on June 12 Fernando Campos, representing F.W. Woolworth Co. president Robert Lynn, presented a check for $10,000 to the Miami Fire Fighters Benevolent Association.

AUSTIN, TX (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - 'Cottontails,' a new generation of cotton diaper made for baby and the environment, is now being marketed to environmentally-sensitive parents.

The washable Cottontails diaper, which uses tabs instead of pins and is form-fitting, is the reusable answer to the disposable diaper. It looks and works like a disposable diaper, but is softer, more comfortable and can be washed, dried and reused over and over.

Cottontails cost only 1/3 that of disposable diapers, based on two dozen reusable Cottontails at $200/year (including energy cost to launder) compared to 2,555 disposable diapers at $600/year.

Cottontails will hit the shelves of selected department stores in 19 states from coast to coast this month. It is also available in 13 foreign countries, including Germany, England, Italy, France, Greece, Spain, Turkey, Korea, the Philippines and Mexico.

The Cottontails diaper can be reused at least 100 times, making it much less expensive than disposables while greatly reducing the amount of waste going into landfills, according to Sebastian, who developed the Cottontails concept. "If every American baby used Cottontails instead of disposable diapers, it could save four million tons of trash each year from entering our already bulging landfills. It could also save millions of trees from being destroyed for disposable diapers."

Sebastian first invented the Cottontails diaper in 1982 when her own baby developed a diaper rash and could not use disposable diapers. So she went to a fabric store, rounded up the materials and fashioned her own form-fitting cloth diaper, which used Velcro instead of pins.

So, with the help of private investors, the Sebastians decided to market their Cottontails operations on a large scale. They leased facilities last summer along the Texas Border and started making their diapers.

The diapers are available with or without a built-in waterproof pant in pink, blue and white. They come in three sizes, just like disposable diapers, and are available as singles, three to a package, or by the dozen, sold in a free reusable canvas tote bag. All packaging for Cottontails is 100 percent recycled.

Inc., the prime contractor responsible for treating a polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) Superfund site near Spokane, Wash. Geosafe's crew and equipment are scheduled to begin remediation work there in January.

The cost of treating approximately 2,600 tons will be in excess of $1.0 million. Geosafe's "in situ vitrification" (ISV) technology is able to melt 100 tons or more of PCB-contaminated soil per day. The site will require five settings with approximately 500 tons remediated at a setting, however, single melts of up to 1,000 tons are possible.

Of dual importance to Geosafe, is that this particular contract is being conducted in conjunction with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as a demonstration of the applicability of Geosafe's ISV technology to treat PCB-contaminated sites falling under the cognizance of the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA).

At the successful conclusion of the Spokane remediation, which will take from six to eight weeks, Geosafe expects to receive its TSCA permit allowing the company to apply its technology to PCB-contaminated sites on a nationwide basis.

ISV's development costs included $14 million in Department of Energy funding over an eight-year period at Battelle's Pacific Northwest Laboratories at Hanford, Wash., for potential use on radioactively contaminated soils. Since Geosafe was formed by Battelle in 1988 to commercialize the technology, the company's initial efforts have been focused on chemical and hazardous waste-contaminated sites.

In situ vitrification is a process that melts contaminated soils by means of electricity. Four carbon and molybdenum electrodes are placed into an area of approximately 300-400 square feet where initially 4,000 volts are applied at 400 amps which will generate temperatures up to 3,600 degrees F.

Organic contaminants are destroyed through pyrolysis and the inorganics are incorporated into the molten mass that, when cooled, resembles natural obsidian that one would find in volcanic regions. Off gases from the melt are captured under a hood and are treated to conform with air quality standards.

ISV is a permanent in-place process for treating contaminated soils and will destroy, remove, or permanently immobilize hazardous substances. ISV reduces both the toxicity and volume of contaminated soil, and eliminates the need to transport wastes. Geosafe is a private company that is majority owned by Battelle Memorial Institute.

HOUSTON (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Reading & Bates Corporation (NYSE: RB) announced today that all of the company's lease lenders and the holders of more than two-thirds of its bank debt issued in the company's 1989 restructuring have executed a commitment letter relating to the proposed recapitalization of the company.

The recapitalization plan will result in the elimination of $280.2 million of senior debt and lease obligations and cancellation of a contingent obligation of $50 million in exchange for approximately 191.9 million shares of Reading & Bates common equity. The $280.2 million of senior debt and lease obligations being exchanged is higher than the amount previously announced because certain creditors elected to take equity rather than new senior secured notes offered to them in the recapitalization plan originally proposed by the company.

D. Keith McIntosh, chairman and CEO of Reading & Bates indicated that company was pleased it had received the support of a substantial majority of the senior creditor group, thus permitting the company to proceed with the necessary actions to complete the recapitalization plan.

Completion of the plan is subject to several conditions, including approval of the proposed recapitalization at a special meeting of stockholders currently scheduled to be held on Dec. 28, 1990.

McIntosh further indicated that if the remaining holders of bank debt do not agree to the plan, the company intends to seek to implement the plan as a "prepackaged" Chapter 11 plan of reorganization in bankruptcy court, as provided in the commitment letter. Such a "prepackaged" plan would provide that the company's creditors, other than the senior creditors involved in the 1989 debt restructuring, would remain unimpaired.

Reading & Bates Corporation, a New York Stock Exchange listed company, engages in offshore drilling throughout the world and provides engineering services and equipment for water and hazardous waste treatment systems.

KANSAS CITY, MO (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Sealright Co., Inc. (NASDAQ: SRCO), said today it has agreed to acquire certain assets of Jaite Packaging, an Akron, Ohio, supplier of flexible packaging for the food and beverage industry. Jaite produces labeling for soft-drink bottles and prints and converts flexible packaging for such products as condiments, cheese, meat, candy, snack foods, household goods, and medical equipment.

Privately held Jaite Packaging had sales of $40 million in 1989. Sealright, North America's preeminent supplier of packaging and packaging systems for ice cream and other frozen dairy desserts, had sales of $193 million in 1989.

Sealright Chairman Marvin W. Ozley said the acquisition of Jaite Packaging will expand the company's participation in the grocery-packaging market and will complement Sealright's position in flexible packaging.

"Jaite is an excellent fit with our existing California-based flexible-film operation, Packaging Industries, Inc. The Jaite acquisition enhances Sealright's national capability as a flexible- packaging supplier," Ozley said.

The acquisition also moves Sealright closer to its long-term diversification goal, Ozley said. The company has stated that it eventually looks for half its revenues to come from frozen dessert packaging and half from other food-packaging categories. About 60 percent of Sealright sales have come from frozen dairy dessert packaging in recent years.

Terms of the acquisition agreement were not disclosed.

NORCROSS, GA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Murex(R) Corporation, a subsidiary of Murex Clinical Technologies Corporation (V.MCI), today announced the signing of a major cross-licensing agreement with Novo Nordisk Diagnostics Ltd. of Cambridge, England, a subsidiary of Novo Nordisk A/S, a Denmark-based, major manufacturer of therapeutic agents for the diabetes market. The agreement provides Novo with a non- exclusive license to employ Murex's patented SUDS(R) (Single Use Diagnostic System) technology. In exchange, Murex receives the rights to manufacture and market the diagnostic products which Novo will develop in the SUDS Systems and limited use of Novo's patented, enzyme amplification technology. As each new test is completed, both Murex and Novo will be able to market the newly-developed product globally.

Murex currently manufactures and markets a series of patented, rapid diagnostic tests in the SUDS System. All these tests can be performed on site in less than ten minutes and do not require skilled laboratory personnel. To date, three SUDS tests for Toxoplasmosis Gondii (a parasite), Rubella and strep have received FDA approval and are being commercially marketed.

Murex has developed and successfully completed clinical trials of a new ten-minute SUDS AIDS HIV-1 Antibody test and relevant FDA license applications were filed in January, 1990. Meanwhile, in August, Murex's sister company, Dominion Biologicals, began manufacturing and selling the SUDS AIDS test from its base in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia to meet current demand in non-FDA jurisdictions.

Murex intends to continue to pursue selective cross-licensing arrangements with other companies in order to utilize and capitalize upon the biotechnology and test development resources of companies that require a versatile, rapid diagnostic delivery system.

Used in a wide-range of applications, Murex's SUDS cartridge is a patented, disposal, hand-held unit in which a patient's sample and reagents are mixed. A highly visible color change on the bottom of the cartridge indicates a positive test.

Murex Clinical Technologies is the parent company of Murex Corporation headquartered in Norcross, Georgia and Dominion Biologicals Limited of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. Murex Corporation is an emerging, international immunodiagnostics system company focused on the development, manufacture and marketing of novel, rapid in vitro testing systems, known as the SUDS System, and products to diagnose and monitor human diseases, including AIDS. PITTSBURGH (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - The Department of Environmental Resources (DER) today announced that Neville Chemical Co. has agreed to pay $60,000 for failing to comply with conditions of its wastewater discharge permit and to take steps to stop discharging contaminated water into the Ohio River from its Neville Island facility in Allegheny County.

"An important aspect of our agreement with Neville Chemical is that the company will stop using contaminated groundwater in the part of its cooling process that does not come in contact with chemical products," DER Regional Director Charles Duritsa said. "Previously, it was pumping contaminated groundwater, using it in the cooling process and then discharging the untreated contaminated water to the river."

The pollution was caused by past disposal practices, spills and leaks at the facility. The groundwater on the island is now contaminated with such substances as benzene, toluene, xylene, carbon tetrachloride, ethylbenzene, napthalene and styrene.

Duritsa said the agreement with Neville also requires the company to continue a comprehensive investigation to determine the most effective method of cleaning up the contaminated groundwater, as stipulated in a January 1989 DER consent order.

The groundwater treatment will include the use of an air stripping unit that forces air into the contaminated groundwater and, in turn, forces out the contaminants. The clean water will then be discharged to the river. The company must obtain an air quality permit from DER and the Allegheny County Health Department to install and operate the air stripper.

The company also must install a new biological treatment plant as required by federal guidelines for the chemical industry.

Neville Chemical is a major chemical manufacturing facility that synthesizes resins by a polymerization process. The company also operates a resin recycling process and industrial solvent distribution center.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Henkel Corp. announced today a new process to manufacture Fibrabon(R) 35 Wet-Strength Resin which significantly improves the environmental compatibility over the existing product.

Fibrabon resins are used to improve the drainage, drying, dry strength and formation of paper and assist in the retention of fibers, fillers and synthetic sizing agents during the paper making process. Fibrabon resins are particularly useful in the production of corrugated medium, liner board, bleached board, kraft bags, wrapping papers, tissues and toweling.

The new process to produce Fibrabon(R) 35 eliminates the use of methanol as a diluent in the polymerization process. This eliminates the emission of methanol to the environment in the paper production process as well as in Henkel's manufacturing plant.

The new process was developed at the Henkel Corp. Research Center at Ambler, Pa., as part of a program to find new environmentally sound production methods in the chemical process industry. "We at Henkel believe that our products and processes must be compatible with the strictest environmental safety considerations," said Dr. H. Steve Koenig, vice-president of Paper Chemicals.

Because of the great interest, Henkel Corp.'s Paper Chemicals Division, based in Charlotte, is helping customers adapt their operations to accept the new Fibrabon(R) 35.

Henkel provides the most extensive line of products for pulp, paper and paper coating operations. Bringing together the original Henkel and Nopco lines, Henkel Paper Chemicals represents about 250 chemical process aids for the industry.

Henkel Corp., the specialist in applied chemistry, provides the right chemicals and services to manufacturers in almost every industrial sector, to help them improve their products and ultimately serve customers better. Based in Gulph Mills, Pa., Henkel Corp. is the U.S. operating company of the Henkel Group, headquartered in Duesseldorf, Germany, and benefits from the parent company's worldwide resources in research, product and process development, and customer service. Worldwide, the Henkel Group has sales of about $7 billion.

#90323p8231 11/19/1990 ~PR Newswire
NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - CBS (NYSE: CBS) expects to report a loss from continuing operations in the fourth quarter of 1990, compared to earnings of $60.1 million, or $2.33 per share, in the fourth quarter of 1989, the company will announce today at a meeting of the CBS Affiliate Advisory Board. CBS also will announce that full year earnings for 1991 are currently expected to decline in relation to 1990.

For the fourth quarter of 1990, CBS's predicted loss is attributable to losses incurred at the CBS Television Network due both to its broadcasts of Major League Baseball and to a slowdown in the growth of national television advertising. Losses on the network's coverage of Major League Baseball were higher than anticipated as the result of short, four-game contests in the American League Championship Series and the World Series, in conjunction with soft demand in the sports sales marketplace. Even without baseball, the soft advertising marketplace alone would have resulted in a loss for the network in the fourth quarter. The downturn in the national economy has dampened demand in the fourth quarter of 1990 for network, local television and radio advertising in relation to the first nine months of 1990. Network unit prices for advertising have been particularly soft for primetime and NFL broadcasts.

For 1991, CBS's earnings from continuing operations are currently expected to decline in comparison to the prior year, as the consequence of both the worsening economic climate for advertising and rising costs for entertainment programming and sports rights fees for continuing contracts. Moreover, the first six months of 1990 included the profitable coverage of the NFL Super Bowl and NBA playoffs and championship. CBS will not present these sporting events in 1991, resulting in unfavorable earnings comparisons to 1990. As a result, the CBS Television Network is currently expected to show an operating loss in 1991.

Laurence A. Tisch, CBS president and chief executive officer, commented on the company's financial outlook: "While pleased with our improved ranking in primetime ratings, the combination of slow national economic growth and the changing competitive environment is expected to affect adversely the financial results of the CBS/Broadcast Group in the coming year. But, these are not just short-term problems. It is now apparent that increased competition for both viewers and advertising dollars, combined with rapidly escalating programming costs, are changing the fundamental economics of network television."

BASKING RIDGE, N.J. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - AT&T (NYSE: T) will provide U.S. military personnel stationed in Saudi Arabia free calls back to the states from November 20 to 27 to allow them to share Thanksgiving with friends and family.

Each service person in Saudi Arabia will be given the opportunity to make one three-minute AT&T USADirect (R) Service call during the seven- day period.

By dialing 1-800-100 from virtually any phone in Saudi Arabia or by using one of the special telephones AT&T has installed there, U.S. service people will be connected directly to an AT&T operator in the United States who can complete calls anywhere in the U.S., including Puerto Rico.

"Thanksgiving is a time for families to come together," said Frank Ianna, vice president international marketing. "A phone call is an important link to home. Providing free phone calls is AT&T's holiday gift to the service personnel in Saudi Arabia."

During a free call offer from AT&T in early October, military personnel placed 135,000 calls through USADirect Service to the United States. To accommodate the expected increase in volume, AT&T last week dramatically increased the number of circuits available for USADirect Service from Saudi Arabia.

Military personnel and travelers have found USADirect Service to be the best way to keep in touch with family and friends in the states. It is economical because calls are billed at AT&T rates and hotel surcharges are avoided and is convenient because calls are completed by AT&T operators in the United States. USADirect Service is available in more than 80 countries.

The free Thanksgiving USADirect Service is one part of AT&T's commitment to Americans stationed abroad. The company added $500,000 in August to its annual commitment of $1 million to support USO activities in the gulf such as recreational centers and tours, including one by Jay Leno this week. Since September, AT&T has transmitted more than 250,000 free facsimiles from friends and family to U.S. service personnel in the Middle East through its Desert Fax program.

Numbers to reach USADirect Service vary by country. In some countries, the service is available from specially designated telephones. For further information about USADirect Service, call 1-800-874-4000.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Broad Inc. (NYSE: BRO), a leading financial services company, today reported audited net income of $33.4 million or $1.02 per share for the 12 months ended Sept. 30, 1990, up from $26.1 million or $.80 per share for the 10 months of fiscal 1989.

Reflecting continued operating progress, the company reported fiscal 1990 net operating income (before net realized losses) of $52.8 million or $1.60 per share, up significantly from $33.1 million or $1.01 per share in fiscal 1989.

For its fourth quarter ended Sept. 30, net income rose to $9.5 million or $.29 per share from $8.3 million or $.25 per share the prior year.

Broad Inc. Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer Eli Broad said that the company expects to report increases in both net operating results and net income for its 1991 fiscal year. Broad, who has purchased more than 550,000 shares of the company's stock this year and is its largest shareholder, says he is surprised by the recent weakness in the company's common stock, even give the general weakness in the securities of most companies in the financial services sector.

He noted that, at a time when the ratings agencies are downgrading others with great regularity, "investment grade" ratings have recently been reaffirmed for Broad Inc., SunAmerica and Sun Life Insurance Company of America.

Further, sales of SunAmerica products have been brisk. In 1990, the SunAmerica life companies produced a record $1.9 billion of premiums from the sale of popular fixed and variable annuities and guaranteed investment contracts (GICs), up sharply from the $853 million of premiums reported for the 1989 10-month year. They now rank among the top 10 issuers of individual annuities in the United States.

Broad Inc. used the marketing name "SunAmerica" to encompass its annuity, GIC, mutual fund, investment counseling, retirement trust and broker-dealer operations. The company finished its fiscal year with $11.3 billion of assets owned or under management, up from $7.0 billion at Sept. 30, 1989. At year-end, its book value was $9.98 per common share.

HOUSTON (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Iroquois Brands, Ltd. (AMEX: IBL) (Iroquois) reported a net loss of $2.6 million or $1.17 per share for its second quarter ended June 30, 1990, on net sales of $4.3 million. These results compare with a net loss of $1.8 million or 95 cents per share for the second quarter of 1989.

For the six months ended June 30, 1990, Iroquois reported a net loss of $5.2 million or $2.34 per share, compared to a loss of $2.0 million or $1.20 per share for the first six months of 1989.

According to David C. Whipple, executive vice president, "the profits generated by Iroquois' operating businesses during the second quarter of 1990 continue to be insufficient to offset corporate financial responsibilities." During the quarter, Iroquois incurred interest and debt amortization expense related to its outstanding subordinated debentures of approximately $1.0 million. In addition to ongoing corporate expenses, the company also incurred significant legal, auditing and investment banking charges as part of its acquisition of Benzole (UK) Limited which was completed on May 11, 1990.

On Sept. 17, 1990, Iroquois announced that it was unable to meet its sinking fund requirement pursuant to the terms of its subordinated debentures. Iroquois also failed to meet its semiannual interest payment on the debentures due on Sept. 15, 1990. Iroquois' external auditors noted in their report on Iroquois' 1989 financial statements that the requirements to make these payments, combined with certain other obligations of the company, raised doubt about Iroquois' ability to continue as a going concern without restructuring of the company debt. Iroquois management continues to explore all avenues to resolve matters associated with the subordinated debenture in the best interest of all concerned parties.

NORWALK, CT (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Evaluation Associates Investment Management Company (EAIMC) announced the recent introduction of an innovative Short Government Income Fund designed to produce high income while preserving capital. A blend of complementary mortgage-backed securities, the fund produced a 9.50 percent annualized yield in October, and a 2.64 percent total return since changing the fund's advisor in early September. To date, 11 banks and a number of registered investment advisors are utilizing the fund.

"In response to equity market uncertainty and growing concern over the quality of GIC and money market instruments, EAIMC has created a fund combining the safety of U.S. Treasury and agency securities with the relative price stability of a Treasury bill -- a combination previously unavailable to investors," said Robert Watson, president of EAIMC. "Originally projected to produce a yield of between 125 to 200 basis points above comparable maturity Treasuries and money markets, the fund so far has outperformed our projections."

Hyperion Capital Management, mortgage specialists, is advisor to the fund, and assisted in its creation. Hyperion chairman, Lew Ranieri, formerly vice chairman of Salomon Brothers, Inc., is generally credited as being the "father " of the secondary mortgage market.

"Although the mortgage segment represents 28 percent of the fixed income market and is second only to the U.S. Treasury market in size and liquidity, it has remained relatively untapped thus far," Watson said. "Our Short Government Income Fund sets a new standard for short- term investments."

Tom Welch, president of Minneapolis-based Resource Bank, which is offering the fund to its clients, said, "This fund allows us to take the cash in our portfolio and invest it for our clients in a vehicle which offers more safety and less volatility than longer term investments do right now. Like other EAIMC funds, the fund gives our clients access to specialized management combining a level of expertise, data access and analytical support usually available to only the largest, most sophisticated institutional investors. The fund has added value to the portfolios of our current clients and creates a competitive advantage for our business development staff."

Established in 1983, EAIMC is an investment management company which provides a series of mutual funds utilizing multiple managers selected and monitored with the assistance of its consultants, Evaluation Associates. The funds are all no-load and are available only through professional intermediaries, such as registered investment advisors and bank trust departments, on an advisory fee basis. EAIMC's funds, and its affiliated funds, are valued at approximately $1.4 billion.

WAYNE, NJ (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - GND Holdings Corporation, the indirect parent of The Grand Union Company, one of the nation's largest retail food chains, today announced a 19.5 percent increase in operating cash flow (EBDIAT-earnings before LIFO provision, depreciation and amortization, unusual items, interest and income taxes) for its 12-week second quarter ended Oct. 13

1990. For the first 28 weeks of fiscal 1990, operating cash flow rose to $104.5 million from $89.6 million in fiscal 1989, a 16.6 percent increase.

EBDIAT totaled $47.8 million for the quarter, a 19.5 percent increase over EBDIAT of $40 million for the same period of the prior year. EBDIAT as a percentage of sales was 6.85 percent in the second quarter, compared to 5.94 percent for the same period last year. Earnings before interest, taxes and unusual items (EBIT) totaled $27 million for the quarter, a 28 percent increase over EBIT of $21.1 million in the same period last year. The company's continuing improvement in EBDIAT and EBIT resulted in part from efficiencies as the result of the opening of a new 59,000-square-foot frozen food distribution center in Chester, N.Y., improved buying and merchandising programs and rigid control of all expenses.

Sales for the second quarter were $698 million, a 3.6 percent increase over sales of $674 million in the prior year. On July 31, McCaig noted, Grand Union entered into an agreement to lease 13 former P&C Food Markets in Vermont and New Hampshire. The company is now operating those stores as Grand Union stores. At the same time, a total of five Grand Union stores were sold to satisfy certain conditions imposed by state and federal anti-trust authorities related to last year's acquisition of the company.

Operating revenues for the second quarter increased 11 percent over the same period of the prior year, and increased 23 percent over the first quarter of this fiscal year. EXTON, PA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Chemical Leaman Corp. (NASDAQ: CLEA), whose subsidiaries include Chemical Leaman Tank Lines Inc. and NuBulk Services Inc., reported today net income of $112,110 or 13 cents per share, compared with a loss of $175,721 or 20 cents per share in the prior year's quarter.

Revenue declined, however, from $58,517,379 to $57,216,621. For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1990, revenues were down slightly to $175,834,846 from $176,258,264. Net earnings declined to $362,924 or 41 cents per share, from $889,381 or 94 cents per share in the nine months of 1989.

Chemical Leaman President David R. MAUMEE, OH (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Trinova Corporation (NYSE: TNV) announced today that its Vickers, Incorporated subsidiary has sold the businesses of its Statesville, N.C., and Hof, Germany, facilities to subsidiaries of Garphyttan Industrier AB, Norsborg, Sweden. Statesville was sold to John S. Barnes Corporation, Rockford, Ill., and Hof was sold to John S. Barnes GmbH, Dusseldorf, Germany.

The facilities produce hydraulic gear pumps, gerotor pumps, gear motors, and related products for the off-highway, mobile equipment and industrial markets.

"Statesville and Hof are fine operations with dedicated work forces. However, we believe their full potential can best be realized through an owner whose long-term focus is more in line with their product offerings. John S. MILPITAS, CALIF. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - For the first time ever, consumers can now rent and buy Tengen video games for the Nintendo Entertainment System (NES), Sega Genesis System and NEC TurboGrafx at neighborhood video rental stores.

In the past, consumers have been able to rent but not purchase video games at video rental stores. Now consumers can sample all Tengen games through rental and not have to go to another retail outlet to purchase the game. In addition, all Tengen video games, such as the popular "Ms. Pac-Man," "R.B.I. Baseball 2," "Skull & Crossbones" and "Klax," are subject to a $5 consumer rebate through Jan. 31.

"We see ourselves as an integral part of the video entertainment industry," said Ted Hoff, senior vice president of sales and marketing for Tengen. "It makes sense to offer consumers any type of video product they want at a video rental store: movies, music, or games. And, just like other videos, once consumers have sampled our products, they can buy them at the video rental stores and feel they have made an educated purchasing decision."

Hoff also feels the $5 consumer rebate program is an attractive holiday gift consideration for today's cost-conscious consumers. "Many video games today can cost from $40-60 without consumers having the benefit of knowing whether they like the games," continued Hoff. "Because all Tengen games are home versions of popular arcade games, consumers know they're of the highest quality. The $5 rebate makes a Tengen video game a smart purchase."

Tengen Inc. publishes more than 20 titles for all home video game systems. Tengen products are sold through quality retail chains, specialty stores, and more than 40,000 video rental stores nationwide.

Tengen Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of Atari Games Corp. and is headquartered at 1623 Buckeye Dr., Milpitas, Calif., 95035; 408-473-9400. Atari Games is a privately held company, is not affiliated with Atari Corp., and should be referred to as Atari Games.

Also general and administrative expenses have increased in order to support the additional offices as well as the increase patient volume throughout the company.

TORONTO (OCT. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Varity Corporation (NYSE: VAT) hopes an estimated 18,000 investors who hold less than 100 common shares as of Nov. 16, 1990 will accept the company's offer to pay brokerage fees if they participate in a small shareholder selling program announced today.

Varity said the program is commencing today (Monday, Nov. 19) and will continue to Jan. 31, 1991, although the company could extend it.

The company described the program as an attempt to economize on the costs of shareholder service. Holders of odd lots (less than 100 shares) constitute approximately 20 percent of its common shareholder constituency while owning less than 0.5 percent of total common shares outstanding. All shareholders receive the company's annual and quarterly reports and other corporate proxy solicitation material.

Brochures describing the program are being mailed to shareholders this week and the contact for the program is the company secretary, who may be reached by telephone at 416-593-3776. Under the program, which has been approved by The Toronto Stock Exchange, holders of odd lots will submit their shares to the company's agent which will subsequently sell the shares in board lots (100 shares and over). BEVERLY HILLS, CA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Pathe Communications Corp. (NYSE: PCC) today reported substantially improved results for the third quarter and nine months of 1990.

The company had a net loss of $2.9 million, or $.05 per share, for the 39-week period ended Sept. 29, 1990, compared with a net loss of $54.6 million, or $2.97 per share, in the prior year period. The loss before extraordinary items was $21.4 million, or $.36 per share, compared with a loss before extraordinary items of $80.9 million, or $4.40 per share, a year earlier. Nine month revenues were $214.8 million versus $276.1 million in the same period last year. Year-to-year revenue comparisons paralleled the reductions in operating costs and expenses.

Results for the 1990 period included extraordinary gains of $11.8 million due to the utilization of certain foreign tax loss carryforwards and $6.6 million from the company's early extinguishment of subordinated debt. In the prior year period, an extraordinary gain of $26.3 million was recognized on early extinguishment of debt.

For the 13 weeks ended Sept. 29, 1990, the company incurred a net loss of $22.5 million, or $.38 per share, compared with a net loss of $37.7 million, or $1.45 per share, in the prior year period. Revenues for the third quarter were $73.9 million vs. $105.5 million in the same period last year.

The decline in revenues for the 1990 periods was attributable primarily to fewer motion pictures in release by the company. This was due to the timing of a series of films for release that only began in the third quarter.

As previously announced, Pathe completed the $1.36 billion merger of MGM/UA Communications subsequent to the end of the quarter on Nov. 1, 1990.

The previously announced sale and leaseback of certain European theater and office building assets that were negotiated in 1989 resulted in a gain of $54.1 million recognized in the first nine months of 1990.

Net interest expense declined for the nine months of 1990 from a year earlier due to increase capitalized interest on more film production and significantly lower subordinated debt balances. The prior year periods also reflected $13.3 million in non-operating settlement expenses with a former officer.

Pathe and MGM/UA are one of the world's largest producers, distributors, and exhibitors of motion pictures. The company also distributes motion pictures for commercial television and home video markets.

CINCINNATI (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - The Kroger Co. (NYSE: KR) said today that it will proceed with its tender offer to oddlot holders of its 15-1/2 percent junior subordinated discount debentures regardless of whether a required minimum amount of debentures are offered for exchange in Kroger's plan to exchange a portion of its junior subordinated bonds for a new debt issue.

On Nov. 5, Kroger announced a plan to exchange between $575 and $660 principal amount of a new 13-1/2 percent junior subordinated debenture, due 2003, for each $1,000 face value of its 15-1/2 percent junior subordinated discount debentures. The Company said it would exchange up to $350 million of the 15-1/2 percent junior bonds, of which $1.4 billion will be outstanding when fully accreted.

As part of the offer, Kroger said it would pay cash to holders of oddlot junior subordinated bonds; i.e., those with a face value of less than $1,000.

As originally proposed, this transaction would only proceed if a minimum of $150 million of the 15-1/2 percent junior bonds were offered in exchange for the new bonds.

Now, because many oddlot holders of the junior bonds have expressed a desire to accept the oddlot exchange, Kroger said it will proceed with the oddlot tender even if the minimum amount of debentures are not exchanged.

Holders of oddlot debentures have until December 5 to exchange their bonds for cash.

Revenues for the nine months totalled $156,273,000 versus $152,435,000 for the same period last year. Net income was $2,587,000 or $.09 per share, as compared to $653,000 or $.03 per share in 1989. Net income for the 1990 period included an extraordinary item of $970,000, or $.03 per share.

There were 29,171,000 and 28,884,000 shares outstanding for the third quarter and first nine months, respectively, as compared to 24,306,000 and 24,423,000 for the same respective periods in 1989.

For the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1990, net revenues rose 56 percent to $6,061,000 from $3,877,000 in the same quarter of 1989. For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1990, net revenues rose 69 percent to $17,914,000 from $10,630,000 a year ago.

The net loss from continuing operations for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1990, rose to $580,000 or $.20 per share, from $475,000 or $.26 per share, in the third quarter of 1989. The net loss from continuing operations for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1990, was $1,497,000 or $.53 per share, compared to $1,085,000 or $.64 per share, in the first nine months of 1989.

Yaron Eitan, president and chief executive officer of Geotek, stated, "The substantial increase in revenues reflects the continued growth of Jerico Precision Mfg. NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Long Lake Energy Corporation (NASDAQ: LLEC) announced today a loss of $2,187,528 or $.21 per share on revenues of $509,724 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990. For the comparative quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989, the company reported net income of $6,154,022 or $.60 per share on revenues of $1,113,648. The 1989 net income included an operating loss of $3,379,827 or $.33 per share and a gain on transfer of one of the company's subsidiaries of $9,533,849 or $.93 per share.

The reduction in operating loss between the third quarter of this year and the third quarter of 1989 is attributable to the following major factors. First, the 1989 results included $1,173,553 of expense resulting from the company's decision not to pursue the Alice Falls project. Second, in August 1989, the company transferred to Harza Engineering Company two of its hydroelectric facilities which produced a combined loss for the third quarter of 1989 of $614,815. These reductions in operating loss were partially offset by an increase in general and administrative expenses in the third quarter of 1990 resulting primarily from an increase in professional fees incurred with

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the loss was $4,153,457 or $.41 per share on revenues of $2,913,858, compared to a gain of $6,412,560 or $.63 per share on revenues of $7,786,830 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989. The 1989 net income included an operating loss of $3,121,289 or $.30 per share and a gain on transfer of one of the company's subsidiaries of $9,533,849 or $.93 per share. The increase in operating loss for the nine-month period is attributable to the $1,949,357 in operating fees that the company earned in 1989 for the signing of certain power sales contracts. No development fees were earned in 1990.

The company has signed a letter of intent with Potomac Electric Power Company (PEPCO) of Washington to construct and operate a 315- megawatt, gas-fired generating facility in Loudoun County, Va. Electricity produced by the facility will be sold under contract to PEPCO. Siemens will jointly develop the facility with the company and the facility will use three Siemens V84.2 gas turbines.

Long Lake Energy Corporation is an independent power producer that builds and operates electric and steam power plants.

NORTHVILLE, MICH. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Guardian Industries Corp. (Guardian) announced the grand opening of its affiliated float glass manufacturing plant (C.V.G. Vidrios Monagas S.A. "Vimosa") located in Maturin, Venezuela. In addition to Guardian's 49-percent ownership of the project, its partners include Coporacion Venezolana De Guayana, ("CVG"), with a 30-percent shareholding and Inversiones Detroit 21, C.A. a private Venezuelan company, which owns the remaining 21 percent. The plant employs state-of-the-art technology to produce high-quality float glass for use in residential, commercial and automotive flat glass markets.

Venezuela President Carlos Andres Perez presided over the formal inauguration of the plant on Nov. 9 in Maturin. Others in attendance at the inauguration included William Davidson, president of Guardian; Leopoldo Sucre Figarella, president of CVG; Roberto Pocaterra Silva, Minister of Finance; Guillermo Call governor of the State of Monagas; George Landau, former U.S. Ambassador to Venezuela; Dezider Weisz, president of Century C.A. of Venezuela, and other various national and State of Monagas authorities. Vimosa commenced production of glass on Aug. 21, 1990, after approximately 18 months of construction. The plant has a manufacturing capacity of 450 metric tons per day which will be sold in Venezuela and in various export markets, including nearby countries in Latin America, the United States, Europe and Asia. The added production capacity will enhance Guardian's efforts to supply its existing world markets and to penetrate potential markets.

President Perez praised the partners for their efforts and spoke of the important boost the plant will give to Monagas State and the overall economy of Venezuela. In particular, President Perez cited that the plant not only creates direct employment for about 250 people, but also creates substantial employment indirectly because of local industrial development needed to support the glass plant.

Davidson publicly thanked President Perez and his administration for their strong support during the construction phase of the project. Davidson pointed out that continued strong government support is needed to provide access for Vimosa glass to nearby countries' glass markets on a fair basis. He assured the audience that Vimosa's production is already equal in quality and price to any of its competitors. "With fair access to Andean and other surrounding markets," Davidson stated, "Vimosa will be a major export concern for Venezuela. This is another significant step toward Guardian's objectives to be a major participant in the flat glass industry in every major international market."

The president of Guardian's Glass Division, Russ Ebeid, stated that, "Vimosa has a state-of-the-art manufacturing system that will enable it to rapidly serve customers in Venezuela and other markets. Vimosa's workers have been carefully trained in our other facilities and are performing very enthusiastically."

Guardian, a diversified manufacturer of flat glass, has been expanding aggressively throughout the world in recent years. Since 1988, Guardian has opened new float glass plants in South Carolina, Luxembourg and, in addition to the Venezuelan plant, expects to inaugurate its Hungarian plant in the first quarter of 1991. Furthermore, Guardian has developed a variety of products in the automotive glass fabrication area that has led to recent additional investments in the U.S. to support the company's growing presence as a glass supplier to the U.S. automotive industry.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Brooke Group Ltd. (BGL) (NYSE: BGL) announced today that it has completed a restructuring which has resulted in BGL becoming the parent company of its former parent, Brooke Partners, L.P. Through a series of transactions, BGL has acquired substantial assets including 70 percent of the common stock of MAI Systems Corporation and certain debt and equity interests in Western Union Corporation. BGL has also assumed the subordinated indebtedness (approximately $300,000,000) of Brooke Partners, L.P. which, prior to the restructuring, indirectly owned 84 percent of BGL's common stock.

As part of the transaction, BGL will distribute to its public shareholders of record as of December 14, 1990 one Contingent Value Right for each share of common stock. The Contingent Value Rights (CVRs) will be senior secured obligations of BGL and will be freely tradeable. The CVRs entitle holders to receive on November 15, 1993 a cash payment equal to the amount (if any) by which BGL's common stock price at that time (calculated as provided for in the Contingent Value Rights Agreement) is less than $18.25 (as reduced in accordance with the Contingent Value Rights Agreement for dividends paid since November 14, 1990). The CVRs have been designed to protect public shareholders against any decline in the price of BGL's common stock, and also guarantee public shareholders a 15 percent compound annual appreciation on their investment above the current price of $12.00 per share. After May 15, 1991, the CVRs may be redeemed in whole or in part at a price equal to the adjusted target price ($12.00 per share increased at a 15 percent compound annual rate as adjusted for dividends paid) minus the then market price of the common stock.

Bennett S. LeBow, Chairman of BGL, said, "This transaction is a confirmation of our previously announced diversification strategy for BGL." He added, "The CVRs were designed to protect the investment of public shareholders in BGL."

The former partners of Brooke Partners, L.P. will initially receive preferred stock which may be converted into BGL common stock at the earlier to occur of March 19, 1991 or the filing of a registration statement in respect of the underlying common stock. The preferred stock is convertible into the same number of shares of BGL common stock as were held by Brooke Partners, L.P. prior to the restructuring. Mr. LeBow stated that the transaction was unanimously approved by the BGL Board of Directors after it was recommended by the Independent Committee of the Board. The Independent Committee was advised by Oppenheimer & Co., Inc. that the transaction is fair from a financial point of view to the public shareholders of BGL.

Chevron agreed to pay about $8.3 million in severance benefits to former Gulf employees who left Chevron as part of certain assets divested between 1984 and 1986, and to increase obligations to the Chevron Pension Plan by about $16 million for vesting and early retirement of certain other divested Gulf employees. Chevron also agreed to pay reasonable attorney fees and expenses.

Unsettled and remaining to be litigated are complex issues such as the plaintiff's theory that class members are entitled to some or all of an alleged overfunding in the Gulf plan, that a partial termination of the Gulf plan occurred between 1984 and 1986, and that Chevron should not have paid certain retirement supplements from the pension plan. Trial resumed today on these issues in U.S. District Court in Houston.

The settled issues are: Severance -- Claims will be paid to all former Gulf employees who went to Champion Energy and Thermex, and to most former Gulf employees who went to Cumberland Farms when Chevron sold Gulf assets.

Early retirement -- Chevron will grant 50 percent of the early retirement benefit to former Gulf employees who went to Cumberland Farms and Sohio/BP, and will grant 100 percent to former Gulf employees of Champion if the employees in these companies were eligible for early retirement on the asset sale date.

Post-retirement welfare benefits -- Former Gulf employees transferred to Sohio/BP, Cumberland and Champion will have a one-time option to join Chevron's post-retirement benefits plan if they were eligible for early retirement on the asset sale date.

Vesting -- Chevron will grant vesting in its pension plan to all former Gulf employees who were not vested and who left Chevron (or purchasers of Chevron assets) between early 1984 and mid-1986. Plaintiffs agreed to drop claims that a partial termination of the Gulf pension plan occurred between 1982 and 1984.

Chevron plans to promptly review application of the settlement terms concerning severance, early retirement, and post-retirement welfare benefits for former Chevron employees involved in these divestitures.

HARRISBURG, PA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - As a result of an examination of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Harrisburg, the sole subsidiary of First Harrisburg Bancor (NASDAQ-NMS: FFHP), conducted by the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) earlier this year, the association received by letter dated Oct. 31, 1990, from the OTS a proposed cease and desist order.

The proposed order requires the association to adopt, revise or expand various policies and plans and to take various other actions. The provisions of the proposed order are designed to resolve various supervisory concerns raised in the recently received examination report from the OTS, particularly concerns regarding the association's non- performing loans and real estate owned in the southwestern United States, oversight of the association's mortgage banking subsidiary and the need for additional or more extensive policies.

The association is currently reviewing the provisions of the proposed order and said it intends to seek amendment, clarification, or deletion of several of the provisions. The association said it believes that several of the actions required by the proposed order have already been taken and that certain of the items merely require better written documentation of actions regularly taken by the association. Although the association said it intends to seek amendment, clarification or deletion of several of the provisions, the association said it also intends to cooperate with the OTS to ensure that all supervisory concerns are addressed to the fullest extent possible.

Because the Proposed Order does not restrict the association's lending or investment activities, or its deposits or borrowings, the association said it believes that the provisions of the proposed order will not have a materially adverse effect on the association's financial condition or results of operations. At Sept. 30, 1990, the association continued to meet each of its current capital requirements, and the association was profitable during the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990.

MCCONNELLSBURG, PA. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - JLG Industries Inc. (NASDAQ-NMS: JLGI) today reported sales for its first fiscal quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, of $25.6 million compared to sales of $32.9 million in the prior year period.

Net income for the quarter was $357,000, or $.10 per share, compared to net income of $1,872,000, or $.53 per share, in the fiscal 1990 first quarter.

Commenting on the first quarter results, John L. Grove, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said, "We were disappointed by the decrease in sales and net income in our first fiscal quarter, but these results were consistent with the depressed ecomonic conditions that currently persist in our marketplace. As reported in early August, and again with the release of our fiscal 1990 results, we began during the summer to experience a decline in new orders."

Continuing, Grove said, "When it became apparent that the fall-off in new orders was not a short-term trend, we rapidly took steps to scale back operations and cut expenses. We began by downsizing our work force, bringing manufacturing subcontract work in-house and repaying debt. It took time to implement these cost-cutting measures, and therefore, net income for the quarter declined by a greater percentage than the drop in sales. The positive effects of these cost reduction measures should become more apparent beginning in the second quarter."

JLG Industries Inc. is an international manufacturer and marketer of specialized hydraulic machinery, including mobile aerial work platforms and materials-handling products. Sales are made principally to independent distributors which provide sales and service support as well as rent the company's products to a broad customer base, including users in the construction and industrial markets.

FORT WORTH (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Team Bank, as Trustee of the San Juan Basin Royalty Trust (NYSE: SJT), today declared there would be no cash distribution to the holders of its units of beneficial interest of record on Nov. 30, 1990.

Royalty income from the properties from which the Royalty was carved was approximately $1,276,800 for the month of November. However, prior months' production expenses exceeded revenues by approximately $1,497,000 before applying the trust's share of November's income. In accordance with the Royalty Conveyance, the excess of expenses over income must be recovered from subsequent months' royalty income. Additionally, in order for the trust to pay administrative expenses for September, October and November, the trustee borrowed funds totaling $53,443. The deferred charge created by this borrowing must also be repaid before further distributions can be made to unit holders. Therefore, the total to be recovered from future income is approximately $593,200.

Capital costs for the month were lower primarily due to accrual revisions. Production for the properties from which the Royalty was carved totaled approximately 1,210,000 Mcf. The average gas price was $1.59 per Mcf.

CHICAGO (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Santa Fe Pacific Corporation (SFP) (NYSE: SFP) announced that it will split into three separate and independent entities effective Dec. 4, 1990. SFP's board of directors has approved a special dividend to its common stockholders consisting of the company's interest in its real estate and petroleum subsidiaries. In April 1990, the board had approved management's development of a plan which contemplated the spin-offs.

Holders of record of SFP common stock as of Nov. 29, 1990, will receive one share of common stock of Santa Fe Energy Resources for every approximately 3.3 shares of SFP common stock held, and one share of Catellus Development Corporation (formerly Santa Fe Pacific Realty) for every 4.0 shares of SFP common stock held. Stockholders entitled to receive fractional shares will receive cash from the sale on their behalf of such fractional shares. Santa Fe Pacific Corporation will continue to own The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, Santa Fe Pacific Minerals Corp., and its interest in Santa Fe Pacific Pipelines.

Robert D. Krebs, chairman, president and chief executive officer of SFP, said the company has received a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service that the distribution will be tax free to SFP stockholders and the company.

"In our view, the values of our significant and diversified assets, especially our real estate and petroleum properties, have not been reflected fully in SFP's stock price," Krebs stated. "Our stockholders should benefit from this separation, because it will place a spotlight on the values inherent in those companies. In addition, the directors, management and employees of all three companies will now be able to focus their energies on better utilizing and developing their assets," he said.

Santa Fe Pacific Corporation (SFX) and Santa Fe Energy Resources (SFR) are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The common stock of Catellus has been approved for listing on the New York Stock Exchange (CDX), and "when issued" trading is expected to being Nov. 23, 1990.

Management attributes the losses primarily to the costs associated with field (beta) testing the retail product line in various locations throughout the country. Randy Selman, president of SK, stated: "Based on our decision to focus our efforts on the development of a retail version of StoreKare, as we anticipated

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - The LVI Group Inc. (NYSE: LVI) today reported a net loss applicable to common stock for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, of $19,178,000, as compared to losses of $7,118,000 for the similar period in 1989. The losses may be attributed principally to the discontinuance of the company's energy recovery business segment, interest expense, and loss on valuation of marketable securities previously held as long-term investments, according to Salvatore J. Zizza, the company's president and chief operating officer.

The company incurred a third-quarter operating loss of $3,085,000, an improvement as compared to an operating loss of $3,645,000 for the same period in 1989. Performance of the company's interior construction segment was responsible for the loss, as all other continuing business segments achieved an operating profit for the period. Zizza said that the poor performance of the interior construction segment was due to a substantially reduced volume, which he attributed to the general downward trend in the construction industry and adverse publicity regarding the company's financial position.

The loss for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, translated to 89 cents per share applicable to common stock on a weighted average of 21,463,000 common shares outstanding, as compared to a loss of 35 cents per share applicable to common stock, on a weighted average of 20,203,000 common shares outstanding for the third quarter of 1989. Revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, were $93,491,000 as compared to $118,791,000 for the same quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989.

For the first nine months of 1990, the net loss applicable to common stock was $23,931,000 on revenues of $273,571,000, as compared to a net loss applicable to common stock of $13,385,000 on revenues of $352,801,000 for the same period in 1989. The loss for the nine months of 1990 translated to $1.12 per share applicable to common stock on a weighted average of 21,409,000 common shares outstanding, compared to a loss of 66 cents per share applicable to common stock on a weighted average of 20,142,000 common shares outstanding for the comparable period in 1989.

ARLINGTON, TEXAS (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - BizMart Inc. (NASDAQ: BZMT), one of the nations's fastest-growing office products superstore retailers, today reported a positive swing in profitability on a 114 percent gain in sales for the second quarter of fiscal 1991 that ended Oct. 27, 1990.

Net profit was $317,000 or $.03 per share on sales of $62.6 million for the second quarter, compared with a net loss of $271,000 or 3 cents per share on sales of $29.2 million for the second quarter of last year.

For the six months of fiscal 1991, sales were up 127 percent to $110.9 million from $48.9 million a year ago. The net loss of $798,000 for the first half of this year was significantly reduced from last year's $2.1 million loss.

"As we noted at the end of October, 21 of our 45 Office Products Supercenters were in operation during the second quarters of both years. These comparable stores produced a very solid 23-percent gain in same-store sales in this year's second quarter," said Ron Stegall, president and chief executive officer. "We are pleased with the return to profitability in the second quarter following our first profitable quarters in the last half of fiscal 1990."

Stegall noted that four stores were opened during the second quarter, including the first store in the Pacific Northwest in the Portland, Ore., market. During the second half of the fiscal year, BizMart plans to open a second store in Portland and three in northern California, a new market for the company.

"Our decision to almost fully develop the Houston market in just five months has impacted our current quarter and year-to-date results," said Stegall. "This impact is most noticeable in the company's sales and in the gross margin percentage, which includes occupancy expenses on the lower sales of these new stores. All of these units are still ramping up during this initial period of operation in the Houston market.

"While sales in Houston, which includes nine of the 13 stores we've opened this year, have been somewhat slower than originally anticipated, we believe that trends indicate that this major Southwestern market will provide excellent longer-term results," added Stegall.

"Once again we were very effective during the second quarter in controlling expenses at all levels of the company," said Stegall. "Store expenses as a percent of sales were lower than a year ago, and corporate overhead continued at 3.3 percent of sales, versus 4.0 percent a year ago.

"With the fiscal year half completed, BizMart remains in very strong financial condition, with no debt and more than $24 million in cash," Stegall pointed out. "Between this available cash and the stores' growing cash flow, we are in excellent position to continue our rapid store expansion program."

BizMart currently operates 45 high-volume Office Products Supercenters in 15 markets in Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Oregon.

AUSTIN, TEXAS (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Con-Way Southwest Express today won Texas Railroad Commission approval to purchase an existing certificate for intrastate transportation of goods between dozens of Texas communities.

"The Texas Railroad Commission today acted in the public's interest by allowing the transfer of this intrastate certificate," said John Hickerson, president of Con-Way Southwest. "The decision will translate into substantial benefits for Texas, including many new jobs for Texans and overall improved efficiency in intrastate transportation."

Con-Way Southwest opened its headquarters in the Dallas/Fort Worth area in November 1989 and began operations as an interstate common carrier handling commercial and industrial freight shipments to and from about 4,000 communities in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, western Tennessee and south Alabama. Approximately 220 of Con-Way Southwest's employees reside in Texas.

"This is an important milestone for our company. We're looking forward to bringing our 99.7 percent on-time service to shippers and receivers in all of our intrastate Texas markets," Hickerson said.

Today's vote by the Texas Railroad Commission culminates a careful review of this important transaction and clears the way for Con-Way Southwest to begin intrastate operations in Texas.

"Con-Way Southwest provides customers with quality transportation services, which results in numerous benefits to the shipping public," Hickerson said. "The Texas Railroad Commission obviously considered these benefits in approving our certificate purchase."

Primary markets to be served under the intrastate certificate include Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, Beaumont, Fort Worth, Corpus Christi, Waco, Temple, Laredo, Brownsville, McAllen and Harlingen.

Con-Way Southwest is one of four next-day motor carriers operated by Con-Way Transportation Services, a regional trucking and intermodal freight services company.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - R. D. Hubbard today announced that he has reached an agreement with Hollywood Park Realty Enterprises Inc. under which the company has confirmed that the Hollywood Park Realty poison pill does not apply to public proxy contests or consent solicitations. Hollywood Park Realty trades over-the-counter as a paired security with Hollywood Park Operating Company (NASDAQ: HTRFZ).

Under the agreement, Hubbard is dismissing the lawsuit filed by him in the Chancery Court of Delaware as it pertains to Hollywood Park Realty and its board of directors. He said that he intends to offer the board of directors of Hollywood Park Operating Company an opportunity to settle his lawsuit against it on the same basis.

Hubbard also announced that he has been elected to the Hollywood Park Realty Board of Directors, effective immediately. Accordingly, Hubbard said that he does not intend to proceed with his previously announced plans to conduct a proxy contest for the Realty board at its forthcoming annual meeting. However, Hubbard said that unless a satisfactory settlement is reached with the Hollywood Park Operating Company Board of Directors, he intends to proceed with the previously announced proxy contest and consent solicitation relating to the Operating Company.

In announcing the settlement, Hubbard said "I am delighted that the entire matter of a proxy contest for the Realty company and the Delaware litigation has been amicably settled with Realty's Board of Directors. These independent directors concurred in my view that a proxy contest relative to ResLvy was an unnecessary expense and that working together would best serve the interests of Realty stockholders.

"I have similarly advised the Board of Directors of Hollywood Park Operating Company that it has consistently been my desire to avoid a costly and unproductive proxy contest or consent solicitation. I regret that, to date, the independent directors of the Operating Company have not seen fit to take the actions, including replacing Ms. Marjorie Everett as chief executive officer, which could alleviate the necessity for a proxy contest or consent solicitation. It is my hope, however, that they will conclude that this course of action is in the best interest of all of Hollywood Park's stockholders and that ultimately a proxy contest or consent solicitation for the Operating Company will not be necessary."

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Unitog Co. (NASDAQ: UTOG) announced today that its revenues for the third quarter of fiscal 1991, which ended Oct. 28, 1990, were $35,061,000, an increase of $2,311,000 or 7.1 percent over the third quarter of fiscal 1990.

On Oct. 22, 1990, the company announced that based on new information received during the third quarter from its workers' compensation insurance carrier, it would revise its estimates of workers' compensation expense. This revision has resulted in a pre-tax charge of approximately $1.6 million in the third quarter of fiscal 1991. The charge represents the amount by which current estimates of workers' compensation expenses for injuries sustained in fiscal 1989 and 1990 and the first two quarters of fiscal 1991 exceed the amounts expensed for such periods. Of the total charge, approximately $300,000 relates to fiscal 1989 injuries, $625,000 relates to fiscal 1990 injuries and $675,000 relates to injuries sustained in the first two quarters of the current fiscal year. The company also experienced reduced margins which were caused in large part by the recent softness in the economy and associated cost increases, increased delivery costs and additional workers' compensation accruals for the third quarter. The pre-tax charge and reductions in margins lowered operating income to $907,000 for the third quarter, a decrease of $2,508,000 as compared to the third quarter of fiscal 1990.

For the third quarter of fiscal 1991, the company incurred a net loss of $197,000, or 4 cents per share, compared to net income of $1,425,000, or 28 cents per share, for the third quarter of fiscal 1990.

For the first nine months of fiscal 1991, revenues were $101,824,000, an increase of $7,495,000 or 7.9 percent over the comparable period last year. Operating income was $6,237,000, a decrease of $1,831,000, or 22.7 percent compared to the first nine months of fiscal 1990. Net earnings of $1,594,000 represents a decrease of $720,000 or 31.1 percent compared to the first nine months of fiscal 1990. Net earnings per share were 32 cents per share for the first nine months of fiscal 1991 as compared to 51 cents for the like period last year. The weighted average shares outstanding for the first nine months of fiscal 1991 reflect a 10.8 percent increase over the comparable period of fiscal 1990.

The fiscal 1991 results reflect previously announced rental acquisitions in the Scranton, Penn.; Denver; South Bend, Ind. and Huntsville, Ala. market areas.

Unitog, based in Kansas City, provides uniforms and other rental services to a variety of industries and sells custom-designed uniforms. The company manufactures substantially all the uniforms it rents or sells.

HOUSTON (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - BJ Services Co. (NYSE: BJS), announced that earnings per share for the fiscal year and fourth quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $1.42 and .53 cents per share, respectively. These earnings were achieved on revenues of $350 million for the fiscal year and $97 million for the quarter. Earnings for the fiscal year and quarter improved by 76 percent and 23 percent, respectively, over the comparable periods of the prior year. These improvements were achieved despite $500,000 of additional expenses directly associated with becoming a public entity in July 1990. In addition, the prior year's quarter included $2 million of non-recurring income from the sale of property and the reduction of insurance reserves due to favorable claims experience.

President and Chief Executive Officer J.W. Stewart commented, "It is impressive that we were able to achieve this significant earnings improvement, while at the same time increase our research and development, marketing and capital expenditures in anticipation of an upturn in the oil service industry. Near the end of the quarter, we saw the first signs of remedial activity increases resulting in increased stimulation revenues. As the U.S. rig count nears 1,200, we should begin to see capacity constraints in the pumping services segment which, in turn, could lead to significantly better pricing for our services. In the long term, however, we believe that the increased spending by the major oil companies will occur overseas, where we are well positioned in most of the key markets."

SANTA CLARA, CA (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Networked Picture Systems Inc. (NASDAQ: NPSI), a supplier of electronic design and prepress systems to the professional color printing industry, today announced that revenues for the three months and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $48,837 and $994,272, respectively. These amounts represent 90 percent and 1 percent decreases from the corresponding periods in 1989, during which sales were $469,852 and $1,002,139, respectively.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, NPS posted a new loss of $1,421,088, representing a 19 percent increase over the loss of $1,192,189 for the like period in 1989. The net loss of $342,178 for the three months ended Sept. 30 1990, represents a 17 percent improvement from the loss of $410,452 for the corresponding period in 1989. The company indicated that the improvement for the third fiscal quarter of 1990 is due in part to gains related to debt restructuring with certain unsecured creditors, and is not indicative of results to be expected for future periods.

Frank S. Greene, Jr., president of NPS, commented that, "Much of the decrease in sales is due to delays with customer acceptance for third quarter orders. These delays resulted from start-up performance problems in our systems and some of the third party peripherals. Our reduction in revenues is also due to difficulties in securing new orders from current and prospective customers. We started promoting our products with new third-party sales reps and distributors this quarter, so we're expecting to see a recovery in sales over the next several quarters."

NPS' proprietary software is at the core of its line of high performance IBM-compatible color electronic prepress systems. The Page Express(R) system performs a significant portion of the prepress functions currently performed on relatively expensive electronic publishing workstations. NPS' new Design Express(TM) system is used for electronic photo retouch and graphic design tasks, and the new Express Tinter(TM) was recently introduced as a system for colorizing black-and-white images and PostScript-generated linework.

NPS markets its systems principally to color separation trade shops, photographers, graphic designers, printers, and their clients that demand cost effective, high quality color printing. NPS systems are compatible with the leading commercial scanners and film plotters such as those supplied by Scitex Hell, Crossfield, and Dai Nippon Screen, as well as the new film plotter supplied by Optronics. In addition, the page description data from PostScript language files created with popular desktop publishing programs such as Aldus PageMaker, QuarkXpress, and Ventura Publisher are used by NPS with its image processing capabilities to generate printed pages consisting of electronically typeset linework combined with continuous tone full color images.

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (NOV. 19) PR NEWSWIRE - Jones Intercable Investors L.P. (AMEX: JTV), a publicly-traded master limited partnership for which Jones Intercable Inc. (NASDAQ: JOIN) serves as general partner, today announced financial results for its third quarter of 1990, which ended Sept. 30, as well as its cash distribution for the fourth quarter of 15 cents per unit and its latest system appraisal value.

Revenues for the three months ended Sept. 30 increased 13 percent from approximately $7.9 million in 1989 to approximately $9 million in 1990. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, revenues increased approximately 13 percent from approximately $23.3 million in 1989 to approximately $26.4 million for the like period in 1990. These increases are attributed to gains in subscribers and basic service rate adjustments implemented in both cable television systems owned by the partnership in February and March 1990. Equivalent basic subscribers in the two systems increased approximately 12,612 or 11 percent, from approximately 117,903 at Sept. 30, 1989 to approximately 130,515 at Sept. 30, 1990. This increase is due in part to the construction of 66 miles of cable plant, which passes approximately 3,300 homes since Sept. 30, 1989.

Operating, general and administrative expenses increased approximately $885,000 or approximately 24 percent, and approximately $1.8 million, or 16 percent, for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, due to increased programming costs, marketing expenses and personnel costs. In addition, during the third quarter of 1989, operating, general and administrative expenses were reduced by approximately $525,000, representing capitalized overhead related to 1989 construction projects. In the like period in 1990, only approximately $185,000 of such costs were capitalized.

Operating income before depreciation and amortization for the three-month period was approximately $3.34 million, an increase of 1 percent from approximately $3.30 million reported for the like period in 1989. Adjusting for the effect of the capitalized overhead discussed above, third quarter 1990 operating income before depreciation and amortization would have increased 13 percent over the prior year. For the nine-month period, operating income before depreciation and amortization increased approximately 11 percent, from approximately $8.9 million in 1989 to approximately $9.9 million in 1990.

Jones Intercable is one of the largest cable television operators in the United States. It is also the world's largest television management company with cable operations in 20 states.

(NOV. 19) UPI - Leaders of 22 NATO and Warsaw nations signed a massive conventional arms treaty today in Paris. The accord ends four decades of Cold War tension by eliminating the risk of a surprise attack in Europe.

President Bush and Soviet President Gorbachev are among the leaders attending a 34-nation summit in the French capital. Bush and Gorbachev talked about the Persian Gulf crisis during dinner at the U-S Embassy tonight.

In the Persian Gulf, Iraq today announced that it will send an additional 250-thousand troops to Kuwait. American officials estimate there are already about 400-thousand Iraqi troops in Kuwait, which Iraq invaded August 2nd.

A building in the early stages of construction collapsed tonight in Washington. Authorities are working to secure the site to search for possible victims in the heap of steel and concrete four blocks from the White House.

Witnesses say saw flames and smoke that looked to be electrically- generated at the site, but fire officials could NOT confirm the source. Witnesses and some officials say they heard an explosion-like roar before the collapse.

Frank Lorenzo says unless the federal government acts soon to lower jet fuel prices, four or five U-S airlines may go out of business. The former Texas Air Corporation chairman did NOT name specific carriers he believes are in danger.

California Governor George Deukmejian banned all hiring of new employees in the executive branch of state government today. The move is an effort to save one-BILLION dollars to cope with a feared revenue shortfall.

Hospital officials say a second infant who underwent a living-donor liver transplant at University of Chicago Hospitals has died in Memphis. Doctors say 17-month-old Carrie Ring died of an infection unrelated to the transplant.

Police officers and horrified tourists looked on as a man set fire to himself and burned to death on the steps of the U-S Capitol. Police found NO note and there was NO evidence that the man's action was meant as a protest.

(NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush told the leaders of 33 other nations today at a European summit in Paris that their success on the continent could be undermined if Iraqi aggression in Kuwait continues. He accused Iraq of ''shameless'' disregard for the rule of law. Soviet President Gorbachev , however, counseled patience in seeking a peaceful solution to the crisis, though he said the U-N Security Council resolution demanding an Iraqi withdrawal must be implemented.

Bush and Gorbachev and the leaders of 32 other nations are gathered in Paris for a three-day summit of the Conference on Security and Co- operation in Europe. The summit opened with the leaders of the Warsaw Pact and NATO nations signing a historic treaty for major reductions in conventional weapons in Europe. French President Francois Mitterrand welcomed the leaders this morning telling them they were present for the dawning of a new age.

The official Iraq News Agency grabbed some headlines away from the European summit today with word that Saddam Hussein is ordering another quarter-Million troops to Kuwait. The report says Saddam ordered the new troop movements because of the possibility of an attack by the U-S-led multi-national force.

In the region itself, heavy seas forced U-S military officials to cancel an amphibious assault exercise involving American and Saudi troops. The weather had forced postponement of the exercise yesterday, but the windy and wavy conditions continued today, forcing officials to scrub it entirely.

Senator Dennis DeConcini delivered an angry defense today in front of the Senate Ethics Committee in Washington. The Arizona Democrat is the last of the so-called Keating Five senators to address the panel in a bid to be cleared of influence-peddling accusations. During an impassioned, two-hour personal defense, DeConcini said his actions relating to indicted savings and loan owner Charles Keating Junior were legitimate constituent service involving an important home-state businessman. Special counsel Robert Bennett later said DeConcini was trying to shift attention away from the conduct that led to the hearings. As Bennett put it- ''When you don't like the message here on Capitol Hill, you burn the messenger.''

A group of doctors and medical researchers went to Capitol Hill today to urge the government lift its ban on the French abortion pill. They say promising medical research into diseases ranging from breast cancer to AIDs is suffering... because of the ban on the abortion pill. Congressman Ron Wyden, an Oregon Democrat, joined in urging the Food and Drug Administration to end the ban.

The doctor who heads the government's AIDS research effort says The National Institutes of Health should devote NO more than 10 percent of its overall budget to the deadly disease. Dr. Anthony Fauci says that's about the level now being spent and to increase it would mean encroaching on research to find cures for other diseases including cancer. In fiscal 1988, the government spent one-BILLION 300-Million dollars on aids research, treatment and prevention.

Twentieth Century Fox says its comedy ''Home Alone'' set a fall- season box-office record during the weekend... taking in more than 17- Million dollars. The three-day figure tops the previous high for a movie released in the same period. That was just last year with Columbia's ''Look Who's Talking.''

DALLAS (NOV. 19) UPI - Greyhound Lines Inc. filed a reorganization plan Monday designed to limit the bankrupt carrier's liability in a pending unfair labor practices case to $40 million - far less than what its potential liability could be.

Terms of the plan would give creditors 95 percent of the equity in a new company and $165 million in new notes, reduce the company's bus fleet by 26 percent and cut about 730 jobs.

Under the plan filed with U.S. Bankruptcy Court Judge Richard Schmidt in Corpus Christi, Texas, the company would concentrate mostly on passenger and package business, which together currently account for 90 percent of the carrier's total revenues.

If confirmed, the plan would reduce the company's total debt from about $631 million to about $460 million, of which about $150 million would be in secured bank debt.

The nation's largest bus transportation company filed for Chapter 11 federal bankruptcy protection from creditors June 4, three months after a sometimes violent strike by some 6,300 drivers. The drivers called the strike after negotiations broke down over a new contract, and Greyhound hired replacement workers.

The bus line was taken private in a $350 million leveraged buyout engineered in 1987 by an investor group led by Fred Currey, Greyhound's chairman.

''Our promise to creditors is to create a solid business without negative financial or legal contingencies,'' said George Hanthorn, the company's general counsel, in a statement.

''The five-year business plan, coupled with our carefully constructed legal plan to limit any potential claims from the National Labor Relations Board for liability, will fulfill that promise.''

The NLRB has filed unfair labor practice charges against Greyhound. If it loses the case, the company could be forced to rehire the striking workers and pay them millions of dollars in back pay. The back-pay figure could reach hundreds of millions of dollars, according to some estimates.

J. Michael Doyle, Greyhound's chief financial officer, said key conditions for confirmation of the reorganization plan are that the NLRB claim be classified as unsecured and that it not exceed $40 million.

Previously, the company has said the strikers have forefeited their right to have back-pay claims treated equally with those of other creditors because of the union's campaign of violence.

''The company believes the facts and the law in the labor dispute will sustain its position that there will be no NLRB back-pay liability, '' Hanthorn said.

Doyle said the reorganization plan calls for retaining Currey and the rest of senior management. Assuming the plan is confirmed, a new board would be formed with two directors and three outside directors.

Under the plan, the company said the $165 million of new 10-year notes paying interest of 10 percent would be the maximum debt it ''believes prudent.'' Equity held by present owners would be cancelled.

Money owed on secured bank debt, real estate mortages and bus leases would be paid in full.

On the equity side, the company would issue 10 million new common shares, 9.5 million of which would go to unsecured creditors. The other 500,000 would be contributed to an employee stock ownership plan.

The bankruptcy filing came after the company had missed some $16 million of interest, lease and principal payments. The company had listed assets of about $507 million and liabilities of $540 million.

The company also plans to reduce its bus fleet from about 3,700 to about 2,850.

(NOV. 19) UPI - The Bush administration is dismissing as propaganda Iraq's announcement Sunday that it will begin releasing all foreign hostages by Christmas unless ''the atmosphere of peace'' is upset. Secretary of State Baker describes the latest move by Baghdad as ''cynical manipulation of innocent people's lives.''

The Persian Gulf crisis is expected to be a major topic of conversation when President Bush and other world leaders begin a three- day summit Monday in Paris. Bush... speaking in Germany before traveling to the French capital Sunday... warned against rewarding what he termed ''naked agression.''

The standoff that has hundreds of thousands of U-S troops stationed in the gulf is also on the minds of the five astronauts aboard the shuttle Atlantis. The crew broke radio silence Sunday to send send their wishes for a speedy trip home to Americans deployed in Saudia Arabia. Atlantis ends its mission Monday at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

(NOV. 19) UPI - The elite of the NFL, either through good timing or relentless efficiency, found the way to do what they were supposed to do Sunday - win.

The San Francisco 49ers trounced, the Chicago Bears escaped with an overtime field goal; in two shutouts, the Buffalo Bills didn't seal the victory until 98 seconds remained and the New York Giants were never threatened.

As a result, the NFL still has two 10-0 teams and two 9-1 clubs entering the Monday night game featuring the 8-1 Miami Dolphins.

''One really positive thing is we are moving forward,'' San Francisco linebacker Matt Millen said after the unbeaten 49ers trampled 4-7 Tampa Bay 31-7. ''We are not going back and this is the time of the year to do it.''

With the hurdle ahead in their mission of an undefeated season, the Giants took advantage of a lesser challenge in a 20-0 defeat of the Detroit Lions, 3-7. Now, the teams get tougher and motivation becomes easier.

''I told them I'm not worried about getting ready to play anymore,'' Parcells said. ''Because the level of competition will take care of itself.''

New York plays at Philadelphia next week, then visits San Francisco in a game that has received a two-month buildup, since the Giants and 49ers became the only remaining undefeated teams on Oct. 7.

The 49ers became the third team in NFL history to win 18 straight games spanning two seasons. Joe Montana became the first player to throw for 3,000 yards in seven straight seasons and Roger Craig rushed for his 50th career touchdown but the 49ers focused on this year's quest.

''We're playing better every week,'' tight end Brent Jones said. ''I think in the next couple weeks, we're going to have to take it up to the great level.''

The Giants play Buffalo at home Dec. 15 in a game that could offer close to the same level of competition as New York-San Francisco, if not the same hype.

The Bills, who blanked New England 14-0, have not lost since the second week of the season at Miami. Buffalo needed a goal-line stand, two interceptions and four sacks along with Thurman Thomas's two touchdowns against the 1-9 Patriots.

''We're just pleased we came away with a win, whether it was 14-0, 3- 0 or 7-6

'' Buffalo Coach Marv Levy said after his team won its eighth straight game.

Chicago Coach Mike Ditka would say ''Amen'' after a 16-13 overtime victory. The Bears, 9-1, beat the Broncos, 3-7, on Kevin Butler's 44- yard field goal with 1:46 remaining after he missed a 41-yard kick as regulation expired. Chicago has won five games since its only setback, against the Raiders.

''They never turned it over; they never made a mistake,'' Denver Coach Dan Reeves said. ''That's the kind of team they are. They're playing well, forcing you to beat them, and they're not helping you.''

In other games, Washington bombed New Orleans 31-17, Houston beat Cleveland 35-23, Philadelphia edged Atlanta 24-23, Kansas City downed San Diego 27-10, Indianapolis nipped the New York Jets 17-14, Green Bay got by Phoenix 24-21, Minnesota defeated Seattle 24-21, Dallas upended the Los Angeles Rams 24-21 and Cincinnati pounded Pittsburgh 27-3.

-- AROUND THE NFL --

Redskins 31, Saints 17

At Washington, Mark Rypien returned from an early-season knee injury to throw for four touchdowns against New Orleans. The victory keeps the Redskins, 6-4, in a superior position for an NFC wild-card playoff berth. The 4-6 Saints, who have lost their last six games to the Redskins, decreased their chances of making the playoffs. Washington's Gary Clark caught two TD passes among eight receptions for 151 yards.

Oilers 35, Browns 23

At Cleveland, Warren Moon celebrated his 34th birthday by throwing for 322 yards and five touchdowns, helping Houston spoil the debut of Jim Shofner as Browns head coach. Moon, who exceeded 300 yards passing for the third straight game and seventh time this year, completed 24 of 32 passes and was not intercepted, helping the Oilers reach 5-5. Cleveland, 2-8, lost its fifth straight game. Shofner took over Nov. 5, replacing Bud Carson.

Eagles 24, Falcons 23

At Atlanta, Roger Ruzek kicked a 46-yard field goal with 1:45 to play and Randall Cunningham threw three touchdown passes to rally Philadelphia, 6-4. The Falcons, 3-7, took a 23-21 lead with 8:30 left.

Chiefs 27, Chargers 10

At Kansas City, Mo., Steve DeBerg hit J.J. Birden for a 90-yard scoring play for the Chiefs' first offensive touchdown in 10 quarters and threw two touchdown passes to Bill Jones, ending San Diego's three- game winning streak.

The Kansas City offense had not scored a touchdown since just before halftime of its Oct. 21 game at Seattle. Kansas City, 6-4, snapped a five-game losing streak to the Chargers, who fell to 5-6.

Colts 17, Jets 14

At Indianapolis, Jeff George threw two second-half touchdown passes and Dean Biasucci kicked the winning field goal with 1:46 to play and the 4-6 Colts extended to eight quarters the Jets' streak without a touchdown. New York backup quarterback Tony Eason tried to lead a rally after starter Ken O'Brien was sidelined with a concussion. Pat Leahy kicked four field goals, extending his streak to 16 in a row, for the 4- 7 Jets.

Packers 24, Cardinals 21

At Tempe, Ariz., Anthony Dilweg stepped in for injured Don Majkowski and threw a 1-yard touchdown pass to Ed West with 16 seconds remaining to carry Green Bay. Phoenix suffered its fifth straight loss and dropped to 2-8 while Green Bay reached 5-5. Dilweg completed 11 of 21 for 134 yards after Majkowski was sidelined in the second quarter with a strained right shoulder. Majkowski completed 9 of 13 passes for 143 yards.

Vikings 24, Seahawks 21

At Seattle, Faud Reveiz kicked a 24-yard field goal on the last play of the game, leading Minnesota. The Vikings, 4-6, scored 10 points in the final 2:28 to win their third consecutive game. Herschel Walker ran 58 yards for a touchdown with 2:28 left to bring the Vikings into a 21- 21 tie. Seattle fell to 4-6.

Cowboys 24, Rams 21

At Anaheim, Calif., Troy Aikman threw for 303 yards and three touchdowns and Ken Willis broke a tie with a 23-yard field goal with 4:24 left, lifting Dallas. The 4-7 Cowboys won after moving from their 5 to the Los Angeles 6 in an 11-play drive that lasted nearly six minutes. Dallas rookie Emmitt Smith finished with four catches for 117 yards - the most receiving yards by a Cowboys' back since Herschel Walker's 170 yards in 1986. Los Angeles, 3-7, got TD runs of 16, 4 and 1 yards from Cleveland Gary. Gary gained 103 yards on 24 carries.

Bengals 27, Steelers 3

At Cincinnati, Barney Bussey grabbed a fumble and raced 70 yards for a touchdown and James Brooks rushed 105 yards on 20 carries against Pittsburgh to give the Bengals sole possession of first place in the AFC Central Division. Cincinnati, 6-4, and Pittsburgh, 5-5, came into the game tied for first. The loss dropped the Steelers into a second-place tie with Houston.

(NOV. 19) UPI - Leaders of 34 nations will formally end a four-decade era of Cold War tension at a European summit that begins Monday in Paris. The three-day meeting will be highlighted by the signing of a massive conventional arms treaty that removes the risk of surprise attack in Europe. The 160- page pace was penned Sunday in Vienna... where negotiators have met since March 1989.

Four Democrats and one Republican will once again face scrutiny as the Senate Ethics Committee resumes its hearings Monday into the so- called Keating Five. The panel is looking into links between the lawmakers and indicted savings and loan kingpin Charles Keating. Some of the lawmakers involved in the case say it highlights the need for campaign finance reform legislation.

U-S military officials say they'll try an amphibious landing involving U-S and Saudi marines again Monday. High winds and rough seas forced the partial scrubbing Sunday of the highly touted mock landing on a beach near the border with Iraqi-occuped Kuwait. As one military official explained- ''there's NO sense endangering people unnecessarily for a training exercise.''

The U-S Supreme Court has refused to lift a restraining order barring Cable News Network from broadcasting taped conversations of Manuel Noreiga. The tapes involve telephone talks by the deposed Panamanian ruler from a Miami jail. Sunday's 7-2 ruling runs counter to the high court's historical refusal to allow prior straint on the publication or broadcast of news.

(NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush and Soviet President Gorbachev conferred privately late today at the U-S Embassy in Paris, where both leaders are attending a 34-nation summit. Bush earlier told the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe that the world canNOT allow the law to be- in his words- ''shamelessly disregarded.'' Gorbachev spoke after Bush, calling for ''patience'' in allowing U-N sanctions to take effect against Iraq.

The crew aboard the shuttle Atlantis was told to stay in space today, leaving the astronauts- in the words of commander Richard Covey- ''all dressed up with NO place to go.'' Dangerous crosswinds at the Mojave Desert runway prompted NASA officials to delay today's scheduled landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California. But the forecast tomorrow calls for more high winds... raising the prospect of yet another postponement.

A tense day ahead for Margaret Thatcher. Britain's prime minister tomorrow faces her first serious threat to her hold on government. 372 Conservative members of Britain's parliament will participate in a secret vote that will decide whether Thatcher or Michael Heseltine leads the party. Thatcher today accused Heseltine, her former defense minister, of favoring opposition Labor Party policies.

Some economists and Americans feel differently... but the White House is sticking to its position that the nation has yet to enter a recession. The chairman of President Bush's Council of Economic Advisers described the economy as in a ''lull'' in an address today to the National Press Club in Washington. Last week, Bush conceded he is concerned about the economy.

Prosecutors in Los Angeles today amended the 42-count grand jury indictment against failed savings and loan executive Charles Keating Junior. Prosecutors added four counts to the list of criminal fraud accusations and re-worded the indictment to make it more specific. The former owner of Lincoln Savings goes

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Phibro Energy Inc. Monday said it had received Soviet approval along with a Swiss company to drill for oil in three Siberian oil fields.

The new joint venture with the U.S. division of Anglo-Suisse L.P. located in Houston ''will be the first of its kind to explore for and develop oil fields in the Soviet Union,'' said Phibro, a Greenwich, Conn., unit of New York-based Salomon Inc.

''We are very pleased to be the first foreign firm to receive permission to begin work in exploration and production,'' said Phibro President Andrews Hall.

The so-called ''White Knights'' venture is a 50-50 cooperative effort with the Varyegannefstegaz of the Soviet Union. It will drill about 550 new horizontal wells in the project area and will attempt to complete 100 ''shut-in'' wells.

Preliminary work has begun and plans are for the initial field work to start in January 1991, the Phibro statement said.

Phibro and Anglo-Suisse will be allowed to export their shares of the output under the terms of the agreement, which was approved by the Soviet Ministry of Oil and Gas Industry Oct. 31 and the Ministry of Finance Nov. 15, it said.

Texaco Inc., Chevron Corp. and ELF Aquitaine of Paris also have been studying the feasibility of joint oil ventures with the Soviet Union.

In September, a Chevron spokesman said the company hoped to have a deal ''by the end of the year.''

Salomon oil analyst Bernard Picchi said the Phibro deal is the first one for the actual ''exploitation'' of Soviet fields known to contain oil as opposed to exploration looking for oil.

Based on the number of wells being drilled, Picchi estimated the deal was worth in the ''hundreds of millions of dollars.''

Joint ventures with American and other western oil companies could prove important to the Soviet Union, which has not had the technology needed to fully exploit the potential of its oil fields.

The Soviet Union still is the world's largest producer of crude oil, even though its output has slipped in recent years to a little more than 11 million barrels a day.

Cheap Soviet oil was the glue that held together the former Soviet bloc of East European nations, which Moscow has said will have to start paying world prices for petroleum come January.

As a result, these East European nations are expected to start competing with the West for Middle East oil.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Barry Bonds completed Pittsburgh's sweep of major postseason awards Monday by easily beating out Pirate teammate Bobby Bonilla for National League Most Valuable Player honors.

Bonds received 23 of 24 first-place votes from a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Bonds totalled 331 points and Bonilla, who collected the other first-place vote, had 212. Bonilla received 18 second-place votes.

Darryl Strawberry, who signed with the Dodgers after his contract with the Mets expired, finished third. Chicago second baseman Ryne Sandberg was fourth and Los Angeles first baseman Eddie Murray fifth.

Two writers from each National League city were asked to name 10 players on their ballots. The point system was 14 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

The American League MVP will be announced Tuesday. Rickey Henderson of the Oakland Athletics is the leading candidate.

Bonds, son of former major leaguer Bobby Bonds, claimed the MVP in his fifth major league season. His father never won an MVP in 14 years.

Pirates Manager Jim Leyland was named NL Manager of the Year and Pittsburgh pitcher Doug Drabek won the NL Cy Young in voting by the BBWAA. Like Bonds, Drabek also received 23 first-place votes and a second in his election.

The three, along with Bonilla, guided the Pirates to the team's first division title since 1979. Pittsburgh beat out Strawberry's Mets by four games in the NL East, but lost to Cincinnati in the playoffs in six games. MVP ballots are cast before the playoffs begin.

Bonds, 26, batted .301 with 33 homers, 114 RBI and 52 stolen bases. The left-handed hitting outfielder also led the league with a .565 slugging percentage.

Bonilla, a switch hitter who batted in front of Bonds, hit .280 with 32 home runs and 120 RBI. Strawberry, who two weeks ago signed a five- year contract worth $20.5 million with the Dodgers, belted 37 home runs with 108 RBI, while batting .277.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush, following talks with a go-slow Mikhail Gorbachev, deferred a decision Monday on whether to seek a U.N. resolution that would authorize a possible military attack against Saddam Hussein.

''There are still people we need to talk to (that) they want to talk to - so we simply have not reached the point of decision yet,'' White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said after a dinner meeting between two leaders.

Fitzwater said Bush did not specifically ask the Soviet president, who urged ''patience'' earlier in the day, whether he would support a U.N. war resolution. Instead, he said, they discussed under what circumstances one might be sought.

Initially, Bush and Gorbachev were to hold a news conference. But amid mounting signs of disagreement on the issue of force, Fitzwater and his Soviet counterpart briefed reporters instead.

''I would say that we have a conceptual agreement that force cannot be ruled out,'' said Fitzwater. ''We must be ... very firm in knowing what course we want to take before taking any further action.''

The press secretary denounced as a ''treacherous course'' Iraq's announcement earlier in the day that it was sending another 250,000 troops into Kuwait, which would raise the figure to about 650,000.

''Saddam Hussein's announcement ... only demonstrates his disinterest in a peaceful response.... He is thumbing his nose at the U.N.,'' the press secretary said. ''We must keep the pressure on.'' In recent weeks, Secretary of State James Baker has traveled the world, seeking to drum up support for possible military force against Saddam, who has thus far refused to bend under a 3-month-old U.N.-mandated economic embargo.

But Baker has been met by resistance, particularly by the Soviet Union, which is holding out hope for a negotiated settlement to Iraq's Aug. 3 takeover of Kuwait.

Bush is on an eight-day trip to Europe and the Middle East that will take him to the Persian Gulf on Thanksgiving Day for a holiday celebration with the troops.

Earlier Monday, Bush and Gorbachev joined other leaders from East and West in signing an arms-reduction pact that formally signified the end of the Cold War and a new era of cooperation.

Bush used the historic occasion to call upon members of the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe to build upon their triumph for peace by seeing to it that Kuwait is freed of Saddam.

He also warned, ''Our success here can neither be profound nor enduring if the rule of law is shamelessly disregarded elsewhere.''

Gorbachev, prior to his 2 1/2 hour talk with Bush at the U.S. Embassy in Paris told reporters at a picture-taking session: ''We are working together, and it leads me to believe that a solution will be found.''

The Soviet leader declined to answer when asked if he would back a U.N. war resolution. But he said, ''I think you know we are not going to change our position.'' He refused to elaborate.

Bush observed: ''Nowadays, we must carry on such balanced policies that bring about one common position, even on the Iraq issue.''

Afterward, Fitzwater sought to play down differences between the two. He said Bush and Gorbachev ''reaffirmed their unity and commitment in striving to implement'' U.N. resolutions against Iraq.

''Both the United States and the Soviet Union seek a peaceful solution,'' he said. ''We will continue to work within the U.N. Security Council framework.''

The three-day summit of the CSCE was called to sign treaties to dramatically cut weapon levels across a suddenly unified Europe and to celebrate a new spirit of cooperation between East and West.

But the Perian Gulf crisis cast a pall over the proceedings.

BANGKOK, Thailand (NOV. 19) UPI - A large male elephant went berserk after a performance for foreign tourists and plunged into a crowded market, destroying property and injuring at least 10 people, a police official said Monday.

A police officer in Surin Province, 250 miles northeast of Bangkok, said the elephant was one of 100 elephants that had just finished performing in the province's annual ''Elephant Roundup,''

''It went berserk in front of the market, rammed two cars and got into a noodle shop'' before being calmed by a trainer, said the officer, who asked not to be identified.

More than 10 people, including two children, were injured by the elephant and by the panicky rush to escape the enraged pachyderm, he said.

A 43-year-old man trampled by the elephant was in serious condition at a local hospital, the officer said.

All of those injured were believed to be Thais, he said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - A Chicago food processer is voluntarily recalling 10,000 pounds of beef frankfurters and 1,400 pounds of deli beef franks because they may contain a illness-causing bacteria, the government said Monday.

The recall by David Berg & Co. applies to 10,000 pounds of bulk-packed ''David Berg Beef Frankfurters'' and 1,400 pounds of ''David Berg Deli Beef Franks. The bulk-packed frankfurters were distributed in California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Texas. The franks were distributed to grocery stores and supermarkets in the Chicago area.

The bulk-packed products covered by the recall were sold in 10-pound boxes and carry the words ''Est. 1'' inside the Agriculture Department seal on the label as well has carrying the code 60250 on the bottom of the box.

The retail packages under recall are 12-ounce packages with ''Est. 1'' inside the Agriculture Department inspection seal and the legend ''Sell by Dec. 10'' stamped on the the side of the package.

No other products are involved in the recall.

People with questions about the recall can call the toll-free Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. EST Monday through Friday.

At other times, the caller will be connected with a tape recording with information about the recall.

(NOV. 19) UPI - The New Jersey Devils took both ends of a weekend home-and-home series, but you wonder how often they can win while publicizing their game plan.

Relying on goalie Chris Terreri's knack for keeping the puck away from attackers, the Devils beat the Philadelphia Flyers 4-1 Sunday. Terreri had helped New Jersey to a 3-2 triumph on Saturday afternoon. The goalie explained how his style works against the Flyers.

''They like to dump the puck (in the zone) a lot and I handle the puck very well,'' said Terreri, who is 3-1 lifetime against Philadelphia. ''That keeps me active and when it happens, I can stay focused on the game.''

Terreri only faced 15 shots in the contest but, according to Devils Coach John Cunniff, that was due largely to the way Terreri uses his stick to control the puck and keep Philadelphia from setting up.

''I decided to use Chris (Terreri) again because he handles the puck so well and I knew the Flyers would try to get control by dumping the puck in and sending the forwards after it,'' Cunniff said. ''They (the Devils) were prepared for this game because we knew how the Flyers like to play.''

''They (New Jersey) did a good job of shutting us down tonight,'' Philadelphia Coach Paul Holmgren said. ''We had an empty gas tank all night because we've played a lot of games in a short amount of time.''

''It is so important to win games in this division because no one seems to lose so this was big for us,'' said Terreri, who surrendered just three goals in the two games.

The second-year netminder has won six of his last eight games, allowing just 15 goals in that stretch.

''The defense is playing well in front of me and I'm seeing the puck real well '' Terreri added.

First-period goals by Troy Crowder and Kirk Muller put the Devils in control of the game.

Elsewhere in the NHL Sunday night, Winnipeg edged St. Louis 4-3 and Edmonton greased the New York Islanders 3-1.

-- AROUND THE NHL --

Jets 4, Blues 3

At Winnipeg, Manitoba, Phil Housley set up third-period goals by Brent Ashton, Danton Cole and Ed Olczyk, rallying the Jets and snapping the Blues' six-game winning streak. Brett Hull of St. Louis became the first player in the NHL to surpass the 20-goal plateau this season, scoring his 20th and 21st off a couple of rocket-like shots as the Blues grabbed a 2-1 first-period lead.

Oilers 3, Islanders 1

At Edmonton, Alberta, Bill Ranford blocked 31 shots, backstopping the Oilers to their third consecutive victory after a team-record nine straight losses. The Oilers took a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Petr Klima and Craig Simpson. Islanders defenseman Rich Pilon snapped in his first career goal in 95 NHL games on a feed from Ray Ferraro.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 19) UPI - Unless the federal government acts soon to lower jet fuel prices, four or five U.S. airlines could go out of business, some within six months, former Texas Air Corp. chairman Frank Lorenzo said Monday.

While not naming the specific carriers he thought in danger, Lorenzo said the airline industry was in a ''competitive crisis'' caused by a combination of higher fuel costs, ''flawed'' deregulation and a lack of access to foreign capital.

''If the current environment continues without any government response, four or five U.S. airlines will disappear, some perhaps failing within six months '' Lorenzo told the Commonwealth Club of California in a speech broadcast over more than 200 public radio stations. ''That means American travelers could be left with just three or four major carriers in three years.''

To alleviate the effect of higher fuel prices, which have more than doubled since last July, President Bush should release a portion of the nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve to airlines at below-market prices, Lorenzo said.

He also recommended Congress eliminate the law that prohibits foreign ownership of more than 25 percent of a U.S. airline, which he said deprived weaker airlines of a critical source of funding.

''If the Dutch can own one of our principal oil companies, Shell, why can't they own the Trump Shuttle?'' Lorenzo asked. ''It makes no sense.''

Lorenzo's speech was a rare public appearance by the controversial airline executive, who resigned as chief executive officer of Continental Airlines Holdings Inc., the successor to Texas Air, this summer and sold his interest in the company, which owns both Continental and Eastern airlines, to Scandinavian Airlines.

Lorenzo became a scourge of organized labor in 1983, when he took Continental into bankruptcy as a means of bringing the carrier's labor costs down.

By going into Chapter 11 bankruptcy, he was able to void binding union contracts. Continental emerged from bankruptcy in 1986 as a lower- cost, non-union carrier.

Similarly, Eastern filed for Chapter 11 protection from creditors a week after being cripped by a March 1989 strike. The Miami-based carrier remains in bankruptcy proceedings and sidestepped creditors' request that it be liquidated last week.

In response to often pointed questions from the audience, Lorenzo defended his handling of labor negotiations at Continental and Eastern.

He lashed out at the federal National Mediation Board, which mediates labor disputes involving airlines and railroads, as an ''anachronism'' staffed by ''old airline labor leaders and railroad labor leaders who couldn't get jobs.''

Government deregulation of the airline industry has been a failure in many ways, Lorenzo said. The disparity between large ''mega-carriers,'' such as United and American, and smaller, weaker rivals has only widened, he said.

United and American have an unfair advantage because they own computer reservation systems used by 70 percent of travel agents, yet federal regulators have not addressed the issue, he said.

In addition, Congress has ordered all airlines to gradually replace their older jets with newer, quieter models to reduce noise pollution, a move that Lorenzo said would hurt those airlines not able to easily afford new planes.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (NOV. 19) UPI - With 1 1/2 minutes to spare, the Atlantis astronauts aborted re-entry Monday, delaying touchdown at least 24 hours and raising the possiblity of a Florida landing because of dangerous winds at the shuttle's California runway.

Chief flight director Randy Stone would not rule out the possibility of a landing at the Kennedy Space Center if the outlook remained unfavorable for a touchdown Tuesday or Wednesday at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. But in the meantime, Edwards remained the primary landing site.

''We could choose to go to KSC (Tuesday), but those decisions are far from having been made,'' he said from the Johnson Space Center in Houston. ''We have alerted the KSC landing and recovery forces to the possibility.''

As Atlantis was sailing out of contact with mission control just minutes before a planned rocket firing to drop the ship out of orbit, flight director Lee Briscoe ordered the crew to abort the procedure after winds at Edwards suddenly changed direction, kicking up a stiff crosswind.

''Understand we're a wave-off,'' shuttle commander Richard Covey radioed to astronaut Kenneth Bowersox in Houston.

The astronauts then reopened Atlantis's payload bay doors for a bonus day in space with three California landing opportunities available Tuesday depending on the weather: 4:34 p.m. EST, 6:11 p.m. and 7:45 p.m.

But the forecast for Edwards called for high winds gusting to nearly 35 mph out of the west with three decks of scattered and broken clouds, raising the prospect of yet another landing delay. The outlook for Wednesday called for lighter winds but more cloudiness.

Like all space shuttles, however, Atlantis was launched with enough food, water, air and rocket fuel for at least two extra days in space and possibly more. Stone said the shuttle would have to land somewhere by Thursday, but ''we're not going to be faced with that.''

The primary goal of the 37th shuttle mission - the seventh and last flight to be conducted in total secrecy - was accomplished Friday when the astronauts are believed to have deployed a classified Pentagon satellite that may be used to spy on Iraq in some fashion.

Atlantis had been schedduled to touch down at 6:21 p.m. EST Monday - one orbit late because of the worsening weather - but it was not to be. The decision to abort the rocket firing came 1 1/2 minutes before Atlantis would have sailed out of contact with a NASA communications satellite.

Covey, 44, co-pilot Frank Culbertson, 41, and crewmates Charles Gemar, 35, Robert Springer, 48, and Carl Meade, 40, blasted off Thursday to launch a top-secret military satellite that may be used to support U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf crisis.

Whatever the satellite is, Atlantis's crew began training to launch it in May 1989 and any duty the spacecraft might ultimately see over the Persian Gulf would appear to be coincidental. Even so, Atlantis's crew broke radio silence Sunday to send greetings to U.S. troops in the region.

''To the men and women of Desert Shield,'' Covey said. ''Whenever we've passed close to Saudi Arabia, we could not help but think of our soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines deployed there for Desert Shield.

''As the holiday season approaches, the multi-service crew of Atlantis wishes those brave warriors peace and a speedy return home. Our prayers are for them and their families.''

Engineers at the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, meanwhile, are readying the shuttle Columbia for blastoff around Dec. 2 on a long- delayed 10-day astronomy mission just 17 days after Atlantis's ground- shaking launch last Thursday - a shuttle record.

Columbia and its seven-man crew originally were scheduled for takeoff May 30, but the spaceship was grounded the night before launch by a potentially dangerous hydrogen fuel leak.

Another leak later was blamed for grounding the ship twice in September but the shuttle passed a critical fueling test last month to finally clear the way for the ship's fifth launch try in six months.

MANILA, Philippines (NOV. 19) UPI - Four powerful explosions rocked the house of President Corazon Aquino's justice secretary Monday, causing considerable damage but no injuries, police said.

No one immediately claimed responsibility for the blasts, which occurred within seconds of each other about 4 a.m. at the home of Justice Secretary Franklin Drilon in an affluent area of San Juan, a Manila suburb.

''Immediately after the first explosion, I gathered my wife and children and told them to duck. Then there were three more explosions. Thank God none of us was hurt,'' Drilon told reporters.

The blasts tore the gates off Drillon's two-story house, demolished the perimeter wall and Drilon's room and shattered glass windows of five nearby houses and two cars parked outside.

''These (bombs) were the real thing,'' said chief National Police investigator Brig. Gen. Pantaleon Dumlao. ''The explosions were meant to kill.''

Investigators could not say whether the explosives were planted or thrown at the house, although witnesses said they saw a white car without plates speed away after the explosions.

Drilon said his office was prosecuting leftist and rightist extremists, and he did not know who was responsible for the attack.

Armed Forces chief Gen. Renato de Villa said the bombing appeared to be an ''individualized case of harassment'' and dismissed news reports of an upcoming coup attempt to mark the Dec. 1-9 rebellion last year in which about 100 people were killed.

Meanwhile, the military said unidentified armed men ambushed and killed Andres Quibuyen, a secretary of the mayor of Cabanatuan, and three aides as the four were driving to their City Hall 70 miles north of Manila.

More than 50 bombing incidents, which injured several dozen people, have rocked metropolitan Manila and nearby areas since August.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - House Narcotics Chairman Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., criticized the NFL Monday for letting Dexter Manley return to football one year after he was suspended for drug abuse, saying it tells America's youth ''doing drugs is fine if you can get away with it.''

''Professional football can no longer claim to be tough on drugs. This decision makes a mockery of the league's drug policy and trivalizes the drug problem in this country,'' Rangel said in a written statement.

Manley, 32, was suspended from the NFL on Nov. 18, 1989, after he tested positive for cocaine use. It was the defensive end's third violation of the league's substance abuse policy.

Manley, who was waived by the Washington Redskins immediately after the NFL's ruling, has been enrolled in a recovery program in Houston, and he says he has been drug-free for more than a year.

Rangel said the decision by NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue ''reinforces the attitude so many young people have that doing drugs is fine if you can get away with it.''

''It also reinforces the notion that drug use is excused if you happen to be someone who is well-known and admired by the public. Our youth see that a public figure is treated to a different standard than an ordinary citizen,'' Rangel said.

Tagliabue met with Manley Friday in New York to discuss Manley's rehabilitation from cocaine and alcohol addiction. The NFL's statement Monday said Tagliabue's decision is conditioned on several factors, including Manley's avoidance of drugs and the player's participation in a structured support program.

But Rangel thought Manley's punishment was too light.

''I always thought the word lifetime meant lifetime - forever. Players who have a substance abuse problem should get all the treatment and rehabilitation they need, but they do not deserve the privilege of returning to play at the professional level,'' Rangel said.

Rep. Lawrence Coughlin, R-Pa., the committee's ranking Republican, agreed with Rangel: ''By selling their policy as a 'lifetime ban' policy when it is a one-year ban, the NFL has told young people that our culture's anti-drug message is just for show.''

(NOV. 19) UPI - Given a chance to match up with Michael Jordan, Clyde Drexler proved what Portland fans have believed all along, that ''The Glide'' knows a little something about ''Air'' himself.

Drexler scored 30 points, grabbed seven rebounds and dished out nine assists Sunday night, leading the Portland Trail Blazers to a 125-112 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Jordan led Chicago with 29 points, five rebounds and seven assists. Last season he suggested Drexler was an MVP candidate before most of the rest of the league was taking notice.

''Drexler is a very good open court player, a strong offensive rebounder and you have to watch him a lot closer than some people you play,'' Jordan said Sunday night.

Drexler speaks modestly about his early-season success.

''We just go out and try to win the game,'' he said.

On Sunday, the Blazers hit 62 percent of their shots as they scored a 125-112 victory over the Chicago Bulls. It was the fourth straight time the Blazers have hit at least 60 percent of their shots. They now lead the league in shooting, hitting at a 53 percent clip.

So, it's not surprising that the Blazers have jumped out to a 9-0 start this season and are the only undefeated team in the NBA.

''You have to like the way Portland is playing,'' Jordan said.

Drexler led the way Sunday, hitting 12 of 19 shots. Kevin Duckworth had one of the best shooting games of his career as he knocked down 10 of 13 shots for 25 points.

Portland's top two shooters, Buck Williams and Danny Ainge, also had big games. Williams made six of seven shots for 13 points and Ainge scored 12 points, hitting all four of his attempts from the field, including two 3-pointers. Williams came into the game shooting 64 percent and Ainge was at 61 percent.

''Our focus is good,'' said Portland Coach Rick Adelman. ''We're finding one another, hitting the open man, it's unbelievable. At the start of the year if somebody said we'd go 9-0 I wouldn't have believed it.''

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday night, the Los Angeles Lakers pounded Golden State 115-93, the Los Angeles Clippers stfled Seattle 78-65 and Utah held off Minnesota 103-94.

-- AROUND THE NBA --

Lakers 115, Warriors 93

At Inglewood, Calif., Sam Perkins scored 22 points and James Worthy added 21 to lead the Lakers. The Lakers used a 9-0 run to open up a 30- 15 lead with :26 to play in the first quarter and they never looked back. Chris Mullin paced the Warriors with 17 points.

Clippers 78, SuperSonics 65

At Los Angeles, Ken Norman scored a game-high 22 points and Benoit Benjamin added 16 and grabbed 12 rebounds, leading the Clippers, who held the Sonics to their lowest point total ever. The combined total of 143 points was the fourth lowest in league history.

Jazz 103, Timberwolves 94

At Minneapolis, Minn., Karl Malone did not miss a field goal or a free throw in the first half and scored 24 points, helping the Jazz break a four-game losing streak. The Timberwolves lost their third in row.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 19) UPI - At least 19 people were either shot, hacked or burned to death overnight in a troubled squatter camp east of Johannesburg, extending a wave of violence that the South African Institute of Race Relations described Monday as the ''grimmest ever.''

The respected independent institute said 3,038 people have died in political violence this year, or an average of 10 every day, more than three times the average of last year.

Witnesses said police drove along a gravel road bordering a railway line alongside the Zonkwezizwe squatter camp Monday morning, stopping to pick up the bodies of victims of the latest fighting between supporters of the Zulu movement Inkatha and the African National Congress.

Police put the official toll at 19, raising to 35 the number killed in the camp in a week in an apparent extension of the factional clashes that exploded in townships surrounding Johannesburg in August in which about 800 people died in six weeks.

Witnesses identified the dead as mainly ANC supporters and said they were killed by Inkatha followers in revenge attacks. The dispute is believed to have been sparked by Inkatha's objections to ANC calls for a boycott of rent payments in the area.

''Police found the first body at half past six this morning,'' police spokeswoman Capt. Ida van Zweel said. ''They were all over. There were bodies in front of houses, in the field at the squatters camp and one at the taxi rank.''

Van Zweel said she expected the death toll to rise. Many of the victims, all black men, had either bullet or hack wounds. Witnesses reported seeing two bodies that had been set on fire.

Elsewhere in the country over the weekend, police reported 17 deaths, including two young white policemen and a black man whose bullet-riddled bodies were found near a beer hall in the black township of Zwide near the city of Port Elizabeth.

The Race Relations Institute said in the report released Monday ''the 1990 death toll was by far the grimmest ever. The 3,038 deaths in the first 10 months of the year made an average daily rate of 10 deaths, against a figure of 3.25 for the same period last year.''

The killings this year raised to 8,577 the number of deaths since September 1984 when widespread rioting erupted in black townships over the continued exclusion of the black majority from political power. But the study noted, nearly a third of those lives were lost in the first 10 months of 1990.

When the violence first erupted, it said, most of the victims were killed by security forces.

''Security forces now accounted for a relatively small proportion of the deaths in political violence,'' it said.

''Conflict within the black community continues to be the main source of casualties,'' it said.

COLUMBUS, GA (NOV. 19) UPI - Former Iraqi hostage Miles Hoffman returned home to Columbus Sunday, urging Americans to pray for the release of hundreds of other Westerners held captive by Saddam Hussein.

With his English fiance, Nikki Murgatroyd, at his side, Hoffman arrived at the Columbus airport about 5:45 p.m., and was welcomed home by a cheering crowd of 100 relatives and friends, including his mother and a group of students from Brookstone High School, his alma mater.

The 33-year-old Hoffman, wearing a black sweatshirt with the inscription ''Free Kuwait,'' was moved to tears by the emotional welcome.

''I'm very happy,'' said Hoffman, wearing bandages and splints to protect a wound suffered when he was shot in the arm by Iraqi soldiers.

''All these people have done so much to help me out,'' he said. ''I'm happy, but I'm sad for the people I left behind. They are my family, too, and they are sitting around wondering if they are going to make it out.''

Hoffman, a financial analyst for the Kuwaiti government, was one of 174 hostages freed by Iraq last week.

Hussein is still holding hundreds of other Western hostages as ''human shields '' and Hoffman asked everyone to ''please pray for the people who are still there and pray for the Kuwaiti people who are going through a hell of lot more than the hostages.''

He characterized Hussein as ''a mini-Stalin'' who is running a ''republic of fear.''

Hoffman's mother, Ann, greeted her son and his fiance with a bear hug before taking him home to a specially prepared meal of potato salad, quiche and baked ham, a favorite of his.

''He looks fine,'' Mrs. Hoffman said. ''But I'm tired of all this, and I can't wait to get him home.''

On Sept. 4, Hoffman was shot in the arm by a group of Iraqi soldiers as he holed up in his apartment with two other Americans. He said the arm ''feels fine.''

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - Despite the easing of tensions in Europe marked by this week's 34-nation summit in Paris, NATO's secretary-general says the Western military coalition is still needed for European security.

In an interview published Monday in the French daily Le Figaro, Secretary-General Manfred Woerner said the new alliance being formed by the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe ''cannot replace NATO, which has functioned for 40 years on the basis of common values and interests.''

Woerner said the CSCE structure offers the advantage of bringing the Soviet Union and Warsaw Pact nations into a new alliance. But he said the basis of common interests has not yet been fully established for all the nations.

The principal goal of NATO had been to contain Soviet expansionism, which Woerner said is no longer a threat. But he said that does not diminish the need to retain a balance of power.

''The disarmament accord with the Soviet Union is one thing, but the Soviet Union remains the principal military power in Europe,'' Woerner said.

''We must, therefore, be prepared for the risk of instability in the Soviet Union itself. Not to mention the uncertainties in the Balkans, the Maghreb or in the Middle East.''

''With fewer troops and less equipment, we have to maintain a coherent defense effort,'' Woerner said. ''That's all the more reason not to sacrifice the security that NATO provides. Moreover, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary are requesting it. They are saying say 'We need NATO even though we're not members' because it represents a measure of security.''

Woerner said that NATO is being forced to redefine its goals and strategies, and that the United States would be diminishing its forces in Europe under recents agreements.

But he added that the United States ''will not entirely leave. It's in their political and military interests to remain in Europe, and also in the interest of Europeans.''

A low-pressure system south of Cape Cod brought stormy weather and winds gusting over 25 mph to New England. A gale warning was posted for Narragansett Bay in Providence, R.I., with north winds moving at about 30 mph and average waves reaching 2 feet to 4 feet, the National Weather Service said.

Winds reaching 30 mph blew over the Boston area early Monday as temperatures dropped into the 30s. Snow and sleet coated northern Maine during the early morning, making roadways slippery for rush-hour traffic.

Skies were clear in New York City, where the mercury dropped into the low 30s overnight.

Partly cloudy skies covered much of the Midwest Monday, but fog was reported overnight in New Orleans and Oklahoma City, the NWS said.

Morning fog also draped much of the West Coast from Seattle to Los Angeles, the NWS said. Temperatures fell into the 30s in the Pacific Northwest and hovered in the 50s and 60s overnight in Southern California.

BEIJING (NOV. 19) UPI - U.S. and Chinese officials Monday were probing the mysterious death of an ailing American teacher who lost consciousness during a flight from the remote Silk Road city of Kashgar.

Questions about the illness of Thomas Raff of Dunkirk, Md.; his fitness for the difficult flight; and delays and miscues once his dire condition was discovered have left friends and kin scrambling for answers.

''There seems to have been no reason in the world for this guy to die,'' said a longtime friend in Beijing. ''This was a completely needless death.''

Raff, an accomplished linguist in his late 40s, recently began teaching English at a college in Kashgar, an ancient Silk Road stop near the Soviet border that is China's westernmost metropolis.

His friend in Beijing said Raff was healthy during a visit to the Chinese capital in September and was eager to return to the remote western province of Xinjiang.

Raff already had taught English for three years at a medical college in the Xinjiang province of Urumqi.

But colleagues in Urumqi said Raff fell ill soon after arriving in Kashgar in late September and recently had been hospitalized for what local Chinese doctors diagnosed as pneumonia.

Raff finally was found unconscious in the airplane's cabin, accompanied not by a doctor but by an official of the Chinese Foreign Ministry's local foreign affairs office in Kashgar.

''I don't know why Tom was on an airplane in that condition,'' a colleague said. ''But we just don't know anything about what happened before he got on the plane in Kashgar.''

Raff's arrival in Urumqi Saturday night was met by confusion. Chinese officials were unable to summon an ambulance or doctor and needed 10 minutes to authorize a waiting taxi to drive out to Raff's plane.

''He had arranged to have a car waiting, but no one expected an invalid,'' the Urumqi colleague said. ''It took a lot of time to get the car out to the plane.

''By the time we got him to the hospital it was too late.''

The colleague said he was reluctant to fault the Urumqi officials' response in light of the primitive conditions that prevail in China's western hinterland.

U.S. Embassy officials said the matter was under investigation and that a consul would fly to Urumqi and Kashgar on the next available flight to retrieve Raff's remains.

Raff's colleagues and friends described him as a devoted humanist and scholar who earned a doctorate at the University of Bonn and had mastered many languages, including Chinese, Arabic, Turkish, Mongolian, Russian and German.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - One by one, the dark gray Peugeot limousines, their flags flapping in the chill autumn air, rounded the gravel roadway and pulled up to the veranda overlooking the Elysee Palace park.

And one by one, the leaders of the new Europe, the United States and Canada climbed up the steps to greet French President Francois Mitterrand, who was obviously enjoying his role as host of one of the largest gatherings of world leaders in modern history.

There was British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, resplendent in a black suit, pearl necklace and brooch, smiling broadly and seemingly unperturbed by her political problems at home.

There was the austere Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Agostino Casaroli, who slowly removed his black raincoat to reveal an equally black suit before climbing the steps to greet Mitterrand.

And there was the president of the United States, who bounced up the steps to greet his host with a broad smile, perhaps his way of thanking Mitterrand for France's vow to support a U.N. Security Council resolution allowing the use of force against Iraq.

Like President Bush, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev arrived in his own car, accompanied by Defense Minister Dimitri Yazov, who sternly saluted Mitterrand.

The French leader waited for each guest on the red-carpeted veranda, posing individually with each for the benefit of history and photographers before accompanying them to the entrance hall. At one point the dignitaries were arriving so rapidly that some had to wait for a few seconds for Mitterrand to emerge from his palace.

Once inside, the leaders gathered under the glittering chandeliers of the Elysee ballroom, sitting on red velvet chairs.

Flanking Mitterrand on his right was Prime Minister Michel Rocard, looking uneasy hours before facing a crucial confidence vote in the National Assembly.

Like all good hosts, Mitterrand appeared concerned that all go smoothly, at one point asking an aide if everyone had arrived. Then he welcomed the leaders in the name of France.

''This treaty is laying down the basis for a new era of security for Europe and for its North American partners,'' he said referring to the agreement on Conventional Forces in Europe, the largest arms reduction pact in history that the presidents and prime ministers had gathered to sign.

''It will put an end to the disbalance between armed forces and the disbalance between security measures,'' he added. ''We're putting an end to the previous age.''

The French president then pulled out his pen and signed the documents contained in three red leather folders, including a non-aggression agreement between the former Cold War adversaries.

''This is a very good thing,'' Mitterrand said as he finished signing. ''It will be quite long (for everyone to sign). But that proves we're all here.''

The red folders made their way around the tables so the six members of the Warsaw Pact and the 16 North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries - who had eyed each other suspiciously for more than four decades while spending billions of dollars on weapons - could formally end the Cold War.

When everyone had signed Mitterrand presented the documents to Dutch Foreign Minister Hans Van Den Broek to wide applause. The Netherlands is the official guardian of the conventional arms reduction treaty and its accompanying agreements.

As the leaders filed out at the end of the 20-minute ceremony the widest smile was sported by West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl. After all, the Cold War had just ended, and a united Germany had finally joined the European community of nations as a full, respected and powerful member.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - Leaders of 22 NATO and Warsaw Pact nations signed a massive conventional arms treaty Monday to end a four-decade era of Cold War tension by eliminating all risk of surprise attack in Europe.

The treaty-signing opened a 34-nation summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, a three-day extravaganza ushering in a fresh epoch of East-West harmony.

The Charter of Paris for a New Europe, declaring ''a new era of democracy, peace and unity,'' will be signed on Wednesday as the summit's formal conclusions.

''We're putting an end to the previous age,'' French President Francois Mitterrand said moments before the Conventional Forces in Europe pact was signed by 22 heads of state in a chandeliered conference room at the Elysee Palace.

''This treaty is laying down the basis of a new era for Europe and Europe's North American partners,'' he said. ''The states of Europe will become more important than the old alliances.''

The treaty sets strict ceilings on tanks, artillery, combat vehicles and aircraft, and establishes detailed rules on verification and troop monitoring - meaning there would be ample warning of troop buildup and movements.

The leaders also signed three other documents relating to the CFE treaty, including a declaration that NATO and the Warsaw Pact are no longer adversaries.

The historic CSCE summit is being compared to the legendary Congress of Vienna in 1815, where storied names like Metternich, Wellington and Talleyrand redrew the map of Europe following Napoleon's defeat.

Mitterrand said the 1990 summit is in many ways even more majestic.

''This is the first time in history that we experience a change in the European landscape without a war or bloody revolution,'' he said in the summit's opening address. "We are not sitting here as victors or vanquished."

The Persian Gulf crisis was not on the summit's formal agenda, but figured prominently in the ''margins,'' including a hastily arranged Monday night dinner between U.S. President George Bush and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.

Bush denounced Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's offer to release Western hostages from Iraq and Kuwait on Christmas Day, dismissing it as a ''cynical ploy.''

Several casts of thousands are on hand for the summit - 10,000 police assembled because of fears of Middle East-sponsored terrorism; 1,000 delegates; and 7,000 journalists.

A triangular area around the sumptuous Kleber Conference Center, site of summit sessions, is closed to both automobiles and pedestrians, and the local subway station is also sealed off for security. Steel barriers are everywhere and a police helicopter hovers overhead. One Paris newspaper termed the area near the Arc de Triomphe ''the infernal triangle.''

Curiously, most Parisians seem unaware that a historical gem is even taking place, in sharp contrast to the intense publicity surrounding last year's bicentennial celebration of the French Revolution.

The CSCE, which held its last summit in Helsinki in 1975, includes all of Europe except Albania, plus the United States and Canada. Even tiny Malta and San Marino are members.

The summit's centerpiece, the CFE pact, limits NATO and the Warsaw Pact each to 20,000 tanks, 20,000 artillery pieces, 30,000 armored combat vehicles, 6,800 aircraft and 2,000 helicopters in four zones from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains.

The treaty, which was initialed on Sunday in Vienna after 20 months of negotiations, takes effect 10 days after ratification by all 22 nations.

About 55,000 pieces of heavy armament must be destroyed. Counting equipment already moved east of the Urals by the Soviet Union, 100,000 pieces will be destroyed or moved from Europe, 90 percent of it by the crumbling Warsaw Pact.

A second round of talks, focusing on manpower levels, begins next week in Vienna. The united Germany is already committed to a ceiling of 370,000 troops within four years.

The summit will institutionalize the now-homeless CSCE as a new pan-European security structure linking East and West in a partnership of trust and consultation.

The CSCE will have a small secretariat in Prague, a conflict-prevention center in Vienna and an election-monitoring agency in Warsaw. Creation of a CSCE parliamentary body in Strasbourg, France, will also be urged.

CSCE leaders will hold summits every two years, beginning in Helsinki in 1992, while foreign ministers will meet yearly.

The summit's social agenda includes a gala reception Monday night at the Palace of Chaillot, the sprawling white stone landmark facing the Eiffel Tower across the River Seine, and a Tuesday night ball in the majestic Hall of Mirrors at the Palace of Versailles.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, in Paris for a three-day summit designed to close the books on the Cold War, met Monday morning at the U.S. Embassy and joined in denouncing Iraq's offer to begin releasing its Western hostages on Christmas Day.

Bush and Thatcher held an hour-long breakfast meeting Monday and wasted no time in focusing their attention on a new post-Cold War goal: the removal of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein from Kuwait.

Bush told reporters that Saddam's offer to release the Western hostages held in Iraq and occupied Kuwait beginning on Christmas Day was ''more of the same - more of the cruel parceling out of human life. I see nothing new in it.''

Thatcher, facing a Conservative Party challenge Tuesday by former Defense Minister Michael Heseltine, denounced Saddam's offer and vowed that if he does not remove his invasion forces from Kuwait, ''he has to be removed by force.''

''Evil has to be stopped,'' Thatcher declared. ''Either he withdraws or the military option has to be used.''

Even though Bush was in Paris for the signing of the historic Conventional Forces in Europe treaty, Persian Gulf tensions dominated his schedule of talks with foreign leaders from the East and West.

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater told reporters that Bush's schedule had been revised so he could hold a dinner meeting Monday with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev to discuss the gulf crisis. The two leaders were expected to hold a news conference afterward.

Bush and Secretary of State James Baker also were trying to line up votes from members of the U.N. Security Council for a resolution authorizing the use of military force if necessary in the gulf region.

Baker and his Soviet counterpart, Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, huddled Sunday evening, and Baker later told reporters that Saddam's offer to release the foreign hostages was a ''cynical'' propaganda ploy.

Bush and other world leaders opened a three-day summit in Paris Monday that features the signing of arms-reduction treaties and the beginning of a new era of global cooperation that targets Saddam as public enemy No. 1.

Following talks Sunday with German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, Bush expressed hope that economic sanctions will lead to Saddam peacefully withdrawing from Kuwait. But he reiterated that he has not ruled out possible military force.

''It is very important to send a solid signal to Saddam Hussein that his aggression (against Kuwait) will not be rewarded,'' the president railed.

Bush plans to celebrate Thanksgiving Day with some of the more than 230,000 U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf. Earlier this month, he ordered in about 150,000 reinforcements for a possible military offensive.

Bush is on an eight-day tour of Europe and the Middle East to drum up support for the global condemnation of Saddam, and to attend the summit in Paris of the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

Joined by Gorbachev and other NATO and Warsaw Pact nations, Bush was to sign a treaty Monday cutting weapons in Europe - the Cold War's death certificate.

Bush had dinner in Paris Sunday with French President Francois Mitterrand, shortly after arriving from a six-hour visit to Germany. He began the trip Saturday with a visit to Czechoslovakia.

Bush, who polls show is losing support at home for his handling of the crisis, wrote an article in the current issue of Newsweek that reiterated his reasons for sending in troops.

''Iraq's occupation of Kuwait has been a nightmare,'' the president said, citing atrocities against men, women and children, as well as Saddam's takeover of much of the world's oil supply.

''Many, understandably, counsel prolonged patience,'' Bush said. ''Yet, it is grim reality that with each passing day the consequences of Saddam's aggression grow.''

''Our national security is at stake,'' he said.

Bush, during his visit Sunday to Germany, urged a greater world role for the recently unified nation, but maintained that he and Kohl were not at odds over policy in the gulf - where Germany has deployed no troops.

''He made it very clear that he would like to see a peaceful resolution of this question - and so would I,'' Bush, flanked by Kohl, told reporters after the two held talks in the town of Oggersheim.

''I think we are in very close accord,'' the president said, Kohl, in an interview broadcast Sunday on German radio, warned against a military assault and said a negotiated settlement was still possible with Saddam.

''Anyone who believes that this can be solved militarily must think of the end not the beginning, of the enterprise,'' Kohl said. ''What will be the consequences? How many victims will there be? And won't a political solution still have to be found afterward anyway?''

Germany has contributed no troops to the multinational force in the gulf. But it has provided military equipment and about $2.2 billion in economic assistance. The United States would like to see the aid increased.

SALT LAKE CITY (NOV. 19) UPI - Herbert B. Maw, who claimed no desire to be a career politician but served Utah as a state senator during the Depression and two-term governor during the 1940s, has died, his family said Monday. He was 97.

Maw died Saturday night at a nursing home of problems related to old age, his family said.

Following 10 years in the Utah Senate, Maw, a Democrat, served as governor from 1941 through 1948 and was instrumental in bringing an important small-arms manufacturing plant to Salt Lake City during World War II.

In a close race against a former Utah Congressman Don B. Colton, Maw was elected governor of Utah in 1940. He won his second term in 1944 by beating Republican J. Bracken Lee by 1,065 votes.

But, in 1948, Lee turned the tables, defeating Maw with 55 percent of the vote as the Republicans staged an upset sweep of the state.

Maw, a native of Ogden, Utah, returned to his law practice in 1949. Until he was in his 90s he worked up to 50 hours a week counseling longtime clients and those who could not afford legal services.

Born March 11, 1893, attended the University of Utah. In 1927, he received a law degree from Northwestern University.

His education was interrupted by World War I when he joined the 102nd Aviation Corps for pilot training. But he saw service in France as a chaplain in front line trenches rather than as an aviator.

Maw married Florence Buehler in 1921. She died in 1984. He is survived by two sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be Wednesday in the Garden Park Ward Mormon chapel.

(NOV. 19) UPI - A historic European summit meeting opened in Paris today to usher in an era of East-West harmony. Leaders of 22 Warsaw Pact and NATO nations signed a treaty ending Cold War tensions by eliminating the risk of a surprise military attack. French President Francois Mitterrand said- ''This is the first time in history that we experience a change in the European landscape without a war or bloody revolution.''

President Bush and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher met today to discuss the Persian Gulf situation. They repeated demands that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein immediately and unconditionally withdraw his invasion forces from Kuwait. Thatcher told reporters- ''Either he withdraws or the military option has to be used.'' Bush has dismissed an offer by Iraq to free thousands of hostages starting Christmas. He called it a ''cynical ploy.''

A man condemned for kidnapping and murdering a businessman was executed this morning in Florida. Robert Raymond Clark was put to death in the electric chair in Starke, Florida. He was condemned for the 1977 kidnapping and killing of David Drake. An appeals court granted him a temporary stay Saturday so the Supreme Court could consider his case. The court denied his appeal yesterday.

White House news secretary Marlin Fitzwater says Florida Governor Bob Martinez is the leading candidate to head the administration's war against drugs. Martinez lost his re-election attempt this month. William Bennett resigned recently as anti-drug chief. Republican sources say he has agreed to become chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Representative Barney Frank is recovering in a Boston hospital from a mild heart attack. He is described as ''resting comfortably.'' Frank left a health club after exercising Saturday when he was stricken. The Massachusetts Democrat was investigated by the House Ethics Committee because of his relationship with a male prostitute. He was reprimanded, but won re-election this month.

Senator Alan Cranston begins radiation therapy today for prostate cancer. He is one of five senators being investigated by the Ethics Committee for accepting campaign money from Charles Keating. Keating is a figure in the S-and-L scandal who is charged with racketeering. The committee's hearings resume today. Cranston argued last week that he did NOthing improper for Keating.

(NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush, meeting with world leaders Monday in Paris during a historic treaty summit, said there is ''no room for compromise'' with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and dismissed his offer to free thousands of foreign hostages held in Iraq and Kuwait beginning Christmas day.

Bush, in Paris to officially end the Cold War with the signing of the Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty, called the surprise Iraqi announcement a ''cynical ploy'' and joined British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in demanding the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Iraq's invasion forces from Kuwait.

The U.S. dominates a multi-national force of nearly a half-million troops in the Persian Gulf area to discourage Iraq from expanding its Aug. 2 invasion and annexation of Kuwait to other nations, especially the Saudi Arabian oil fields.

Thatcher said after a breakfast meeting with Bush at the U.S. Embassy that Saddam's ''evil has to be be stopped'' and vowed ''either he withdraws or the military option has to be used.''

Iraq's information minister condemned the two leaders for the statements, counter-charging the U.S.-dominatd military buildup in the Persian Gulf is a Western ploy to dominate oil resources in the region.

Meanwhile, a chartered Iraqi airliner with 76 Americans, 12 Britons and 22 other former hostages arrived in London early Monday from Kuwait on a flight delayed by an emergency stop in Athens for repairs, Cairo radio said.

The Americans were to continue on to the United States and arrive at Washington's Dulles International Airport at 7:30 p.m. EST.

In another development, Iran accepted a new ambassador from Kuwait in Tehran in an apparent acknowledgement that Iraq now controls the occupied emirate.

The official Iranian news agency IRNA said in a brief dispatch that President Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani accepted the credentials of Ambassador Fawzi al-Jasim.

Other countries have refused to recognize Kuwaiti diplomats appointed by the Iraqi authorities.

''The president expressed concern over the incidents in Kuwait and hoped that the country's problems would be solved soon so that the Kuwaiti people will be able to live in complete security and peace in their homeland,'' IRNA said.

Iran, which fought a bitter Persian Gulf War with Iraq from 1980- 1988, has condemned the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait but has been receptive to Baghdad's overtures in recent months.

Iraq has returned hundreds of Iranian prisoners of war since the crisis began and has agreed to recognize disputed borders between the countries.

A brief dispatch by the official Iraqi news agency INA Sunday said Saddam would release all hostages in phases beginning Christmas day and ending about March 25.

About 3,000 foreigners, most of them men, are trapped in Iraq and Kuwait, either as hostages held against their will at key sites to discourage attack by the multi-national force, or because they are hiding from the authorities.

Observers said Iraq may be trying to buy more time by announcing the release of the hostages over a protracted period.

But Bush reiterated that there is ''no room for compromise'' with Saddam.

''We are racheting up the pressure: I hope he understands,'' he said.

INA quoted Information Minister Latif Nassayif Jassim as ''sternly condemning the statement of American and British officials on Iraq's decision to allow foreign nationals to travel as from Christmas.''

INA also quoted Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz as reiterating Saddam's willingness to negotiate a settlement to the crisis as long as the Palestinian question is also on the agenda.

Saddam has repeatedly tried to link his invasion of Kuwait with the Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza strip, but Bush and other leaders have rejected the connection.

Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency reported Monday that the United States had begun transfering troops from Germany to the gulf.

(NOV. 19) UPI - The three-day Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe has opened with leaders of 22 NATO and Warsaw Pact nations signing a conventional arms treaty that ends 40 years of Cold War rivalry. The treaty places ceilings on everything from tanks to artillery, combat vehicles to aircraft. It helps eliminate the risk of suprise military attacks in a Europe once divided along political barriers that are now crumbling.

President Boris Yeltsin of the Russian Federation is calling for a referendum in the largest of the Soviet republics on the performance of President Iraq's offer to free human shield hostages over a three-month period beginning at Christmas is being dismissed as a ''cynical ploy'' by President Bush. Those were his words today in Paris as he attends a historic summit with other world leaders. Bush met with Britain's Margaret Thatcher for breakfast and Thatcher later told reporters that ''evil has to be stopped.'' She said that Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein has two real options, to get out of Kuwait or be forced out.

CAIRO, EGYPT (NOV. 19) UPI - A senior Arab diplomat said Monday that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's plan to start releasing foreign hostages Christmas day is a bid for time, while exiled Kuwaiti officials called it a ploy to distract world attention from the emirate Saddam invaded Aug. 2.

In a surprise move, Iraq announced Sunday it would release the 3,000 foreigners held in Iraq and Kuwait in batches from Dec. 25 to March 25. World leaders, including President Bush, condemned the move as a ''cynical ploy.''

The Cairo-based Arab diplomat said by offering to release the hostages, Saddam may also be sending a signal to the West that he is looking for a compromise to the crisis touched off by his invasion and annexation of the oil-rich emirate.

''What we heard from their official statements and from Saddam himself indicate the Iraqis are now ready to negotiate with the United States and Saudi Arabia over the crisis without any preconditions,'' he said.

''Time is important for both sides,'' the high-ranking diplomat, who asked not to be identified, told United Press International.

He said Iraq would beneift if the U.S.-dominated multinational force delayed a military strike until after the hostages are released because the weather will grow hot again, making any offensive action difficult.

U.S. opinion is also changing with the seasons. Polls show fewer and fewer Americans are supporting Bush's Persian Gulf policy as the months drag on.

In Taif, Saudi Arabia, the headquarters of the exiled Kuwaiti government, a senior Kuwaiti minister said Saddam's decision to release hostages was intended to distract the world from what Kuwaitis see as the main issue - the occupation of Kuwait.

''The Iraqi regime is using the hostages card every time it feels the impact of the international economic sanctions,'' acting information minister Jassim Yacoub told the official Kuwait News Agency in a statement.

''By using the hostages, Iraq is seeking to distract the world public opinion from the major goal - the implementation of the U.N. Security Council resolutions calling for the withdrawal of the Iraqi trooops and the restoration of the legitimacy to Kuwait,'' the minister said.

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (NOV. 19) UPI - A war to liberate Kuwait from Iraqi occupation would kill tens of thousands of Americans and hundreds of thousands of Arabs, says a former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia.

James Akins, speaking to about 700 people during a four-hour teach-in on the Persian Gulf crisis Sunday at the University of Michigan, said the United States should give anti-Iraq sanctions as much as a year to work.

In public statements, Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein has said he is willing to negotiate his claim to Kuwait with the United States and Saudi Arabia, but the Bush administration seems determined to fight a war, Akins said.

A war in the Middle East would not be as easy to fight as U.S. battles in Grenada and Panama because the Iraqis would fight to defend their country from military attack, he said.

The result of such a war, he said, would be death for ''tens of thousands of American troops and hundreds of thousands of Arabs.''

The United States can head off a war by allowing Saddam to leave Kuwait with his honor intact, Akins said.

Akins said the United States can give Saddam an honorable exit without rewarding him any territory by letting Kuwaitis elect their government, agreeing to hold an international conference on the Arab- Israeli conflict and committing Iraq to eliminating chemical, biological and nuclear weapons from the Middle East.

Akins was U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia from 1973 to 1975, when he was fired after disagreements with then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

VATICAN CITY (NOV. 19) UPI - Pope John Paul II appealed to Filipino families Monday in the predominantly Roman Catholic nation to follow the dictates of the church regarding artificial birth control.

The pontiff's message was issued as the Philippines tries dealing with a growing population and severe poverty. The government recently started a controversial birth control policy that includes the use of contraceptives.

Speaking to a conference of Filipino bishops at the Vatican, the Polish pope praised the ''strong tradition of the family'' in the Asian nation, and urged the bishops to ''publicly defend the teachings of the church on the principal role of married couples.''

''Today the church is called upon to defend its precious heredity, especially in light of the difficult circumstances which afflict many families,'' John Paul said.

Emphasizing repeatedly the church's total opposition to any form of artificial birth control, John Paul told the bishops: ''You are aware of the important responsibility to defend and promote the moral law which regards the regulation of births.''

John Paul called the topic ''a delicate area,'' and told the prelates to instruct their parishioners on church beliefs about the sanctity of unborn children.

''Catholics should not hesitate to defend the teachings of the church on the principal role of married couples'' the pope said. ''Parents should decide to generously accept the arrival of children.''

President Corazon Aquino's government, under pressure to ease grinding poverty in the islands of 60.5 million people, has begun a five-year, $200 million program to bring down the country's annual population growth rate.

The program involves a massive information campaign on family planning and various government services open to couples, including use of contraceptives.

The program was roundly condemned by the 89-member Catholic Bishops Conference in Asia's only Christian country, which in a pastoral letter issued Oct. 11 reiterated a 17-year-old policy frowning on any measure of birth control other than the church-prescribed rhythm method.

They stress that all of the 10 Helsinki Principles are of primary significance and that, accordingly, they will be equally and unreservedly applied, each of them being interpreted taking into account the others. In that context, they affirm their obligation and commitment to refrain from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or the political independence of any state, from seeking to change existing borders by threat or use of force, and from acting in any other manner inconsistent with the principles and purposes of those documents. None of their weapons will ever be used except in self- defense or otherwise in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

They welcome the prospect of new negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union on the reduction of their short-range nuclear forces.

8. They welcome the contribution that confidence- and security- building measures have made to lessening tensions and fully support the further development of such measures. They reaffirm the importance of the ''Open Skies'' initiative and their determination to bring the negotiations to a successful conclusion as soon as possible.

9. They pledge to work together with the other CSCE participating states to strengthen the CSCE process so that it can make an even greater contribution to security and stability in Europe. They recognize in particular the need to enhance political consultations among CSCE participants and to develop other CSCE mechanisms. They are convinced that the Treaty on Conventional Armed Forces in Europe and agreement on a substantial new set of confidence and security building measures, together with new patterns of cooperation in the framework of the CSCE, will lead to increased security and thus to enduring peace and stability in Europe.

They believe that the preceding points reflect the deep longing of their peoples for close cooperation and mutual understanding and declare that they will work steadily for the further development of their relations in accordance with the present declaration as well as with the principles set forth in the Helsinki Final Act.

(NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush told the 34-nation summit marking the end of the Cold War that East and West now should- his words here- ''build on this success'' to see to it that Iraq withdraws from Kuwait. Bush spoke at the opening of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe, saying the success in Europe canNOT last if Iraq is allowed to ignore the rule of law.

Bush added his signature to those of other world leaders on the Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty. It effectively ends the Cold War and contains promises from both NATO and Warsaw Pact members never to wage war on each other again.

But the topic of war remained on everyone's lips at the summit. Specifically, the chances for war over Iraq's invasion of Kuwait. Britain's Margaret Thatcher says the military option remains open as long as Iraq does NOT get out of Kuwait.

ERIE, PA (NOV. 19) UPI - A soldier facing shipment to Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield has filed suit in federal court to stop his transfer.

Pvt. Sandy Todd Mysnyk, 22, of Fairview claims the Army is not living up to promises made to him when he enlisted in September 1988.

Mysnyk says recruiters promised him that because he is an only son, he would not be sent to an overseas post. The suit claims that in March 1989, after training at Fort McClellan, Ala., Mysnyk was scheduled for service in Germany.

That schedule was changed after Mysnyk told his superiors about the enlistment promises regarding overseas duty. But now Mysnyk is temporarily assigned to Fort McClellan for reconnaissance vehicle training in preparation for shipment to Saudi Arabia, the suit said.

Mike Abrams, an Army spokesman at Fort McClellan, said Army officials have reported no problems with Mysnyk, despite his unhappiness with a potential overseas assignment.

''The soldier is still in training, the last I heard, and he has not been a difficult soldier here,'' Abrams said. ''He's apparently a good soldier.''

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush, speaking at a 34-nation summit formally marking the end of the Cold War, declared Monday that East and West ''must build on this success'' to see to it that Saddam Hussein withdraws from Kuwait.

''Our success here can be neither profound nor enduring if the rule of law is shamelessly disregarded elsewhere,'' Bush told the opening day of the meeting by the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

Earlier Monday, Bush and his 33 counterparts, including Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, signed an arms-reduction treaty - the Cold War's death certificate.

Bush promptly sought to use the new era of East-West cooperation to further escalate world pressure on Saddam to withdraw from Kuwait, which the Iraqi leader seized on Aug. 2.

Bush, on the third day of his week-long trip to Europe and the Middle East, is seeking to build support for the possibility of using military force against Iraq. He says, however, he is still willing to give U.N.-mandated economic sanctions more time to produce a peaceful settlement. Earlier Monday, Bush and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher jointly denouced as a propaganda ploy Iraq's offer to begin releasing all hostages on Christmas Day - provided it is not attacked.

Bush, following a breakfast meeting with Thatcher, called the offer ''more of the same - more of the cruel parceling out of human life. I see nothing new in it.''

Thatcher angrily denounced Saddam's offer and vowed that if he does not remove his invasion forces from Kuwait, ''he has to be removed by force.''

''Evil has to be stopped,'' Thatcher said. ''Either he withdraws or the military option has to be used.''

The Persian Gulf crisis clearly dominated the CSCE conference, called to formally sign pacts to dramatically cut weapons across a suddenly more unified Europe.

Bush said the principles that have guided the CSCE include the beliefs that individuals must be able to ''enjoy the fruits of their labors'' and that nations ''must live by a rule of law as a prerequisite for human progress.''

''As we consecrate those principles here today, those same principles are grossly violated in the Persian Gulf,'' where Saddam has dismantled Kuwait, Bush said.

The president said the CSCE has come a long way in building a new level of East-West cooperation.

''Now we must build on this success here, and we should stand on it squarely, everywhere,'' the president said.

Bush, who drew prolonged applause from fellow CSCE members, read from the joint statement he and Gorbachev issued last fall after holding an emergency summit in Helsinki on the gulf crisis.

''Nothing short of complete implementation of the U.N. Security Council resolutions,'' which seek complete and unconditional withdrawal of Iraqi troops from Kuwait, ''are aceptable,'' the president said, reading from 3-by-5 cards.

Then, looking up, the president said, "Can there be room for any other view?"

Bush planned to hold a dinner meeting Monday with Gorbachev and then hold a news conference, possibly joined by the Soviet leader.

The president is trying to line up votes from members of the U.N. Security Council for a resolution authorizing the use of military force if necessary in the gulf region.

Bush plans to celebrate Thanksgiving Day with some of the more than 230,000 U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf. Earlier this month, he ordered in about 150,000 reinforcements for a possible military offensive.

The president, who polls show is losing support at home for his handling of the crisis, wrote an article in the current issue of Newsweek that reiterated his reasons for sending in troops.

''Iraq's occupation of Kuwait has been a nightmare,'' the president said, citing atrocities against men, women and children, as well as Saddam's takeover of much of the world's oil supply.

''Many, understandably, counsel prolonged patience,'' Bush said. ''Yet, it is grim reality that with each passing day the consequences of Saddam's aggression grow.''

''Our national security is at stake,'' he said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Deteriorating economic conditions have led banks to increasingly tighten their credit standards, especially for commercial real estate loans, a Federal Reserve survey showed Monday.

The survey of senior loan officers, conducted in October, found that agencies and branches of foreign banks reported more restraint in their lending activities than did domestic banks. The pullback was least evident in consumer and home mortgage lending and was clearest in commercial real estate lending, the survey said.

"In sum, the results of this lending practices survey suggest that a deterioration in the general economic outlook since summer has prompted a sizable share of domestic (banks) to tighten credit standards more ..." the Fed said.

The survey appeared to lend credence to anecdotal evidence from borrowers who believe a "credit crunch" has been squeezing their pocketbooks in recent months.

The Fed said almost half of the domestic banks participating in the survey said they have tightened their terms and lending standards during the past three months for commercial real estate loans. Nearly two-thirds of the domestic bankers said they have tightened credit standards for construction and land development loans.

Home mortgage lending remained a favorite vehicle among banks, although an increasing number of domestic banks reported a tightening of credit standards for residential mortgages during this quarter.

Virtually all of the banks indicated a "deterioration in the economic outlook" as a reason for the tightening, the Fed said. About two-fifths of the banks cited problems specific to the industries of their borrowers.

About one quarter of the participants cited a deterioration in the quality of their loan portfolio, pressures on capital positions and regulatory pressure as factors in their decisions to tighten.

Many bankers also told the Fed they have increased their fees for lines of credit and charged greater spreads of loan rates over base rates during the quarter. Nearly half of the bankers said they have reduced the sizes of credit lines to mid-sized and large borrowers.

A number of bankers also said customers denied credit at their banks were able to obtain loans at other institutions. Fewer numbers of bankers said their customers simply reduced their borrowing plans. Larger banks customers turned to public debt markets for alternative sources of funding while smaller customers favored finance companies.

As for household loans, about one quarter of the bankers said they have tightened credit standards for residential mortgages. Most of these bankers, located primarily in the Northeast, also noted higher downpayments and stricter household income requirements for loan approvals. Bankers were about split evenly on their willingness to make consumer installment loans.

MIAMI (NOV. 19) UPI - A Panamanian official said he heard a tape recording of Gen. Manuel Noriega's telephone calls from jail more than four months ago during an official visit to the United States, The Miami Herald reported Monday.

The official's account indicates tapes of Noriega's phone conversations were being shared with others long before the Cable News Network broadcast portions last week.

CNN's airing of the tapes touched off a court battle over whether a news organization can be prohibited from broadcasting information in its possession.

The Supreme Court declined Sunday to review an order by U.S. District Judge

William Hoeveler barring CNN from broadcasting the tapes. Hoeveler issued the order after Noriega attorney Frank Rubino said airing the tapes would reveal the contents of confidential conversations between Noreiga and his attorneys and damage his right to a fair trial.

CNN said it would abide by an order to turn over the tapes to a magistrate for review but had not yet done so Monday.

The Herald quoted the unidentified Panamanian official as saying that a person with access to the recordings played one tape for him more than four months ago in order to prove to him that Noriega was conspiring to topple the government of Panamanian President Guillermo Endara.

''They allowed me to hear one tape to show me that Noriega was conspiring,'' The Herald quoted the Panamanian official as saying. ''Noriega talked with about eight people and would deliver coded messages in the midst of seemingly innocuous conversations.''

The Herald said the Panamanian official asked the newspaper not to disclose the position of the person who allowed him to hear the tape or the city where it was played.

He said he heard tapes containing conversations Noriega had with, among other people, Luis Gomez, a former legislator for Noriega's Revolutionary Democratic party who has taken refuge at the Cuban Embassy in Panama, and with media consultant Norma Amado, who is the mother of one of the general's friends.

Parts of the conversations heard by the Panamanian official coincided with those released by CNN in recent days, the official said. But the tapes aired by CNN offered little evidence that Noriega is waging a campaign to topple the Endara government.

The most enigmatic passges are those in which Noriega seems to order money transfers.

In his conversation with Gomez, Noriega ordered a transfer of either $5,000 or $5 million for a book Gomez is writing. Another transfer of $3,000 that is alluded to in a conversation with Amado was meant for Noriega's attorneys, he claimed.

Mario Rognoni, a former Noriega commerce secretary who receives frequent phone calls from Noriega, said reports that Noriega was ordering money transfers to promote a military rebellion ''are nonsense.''

''It's not in Noriega's interest to topple this government,'' Rognoni said. ''This government is sinking so fast and the U.S. intervention is turning into such a disappointment for the people, that the best thing for Noriega to clear his name is not to do anything,'' Rognoni siad.

Noriega has been jailed in Miami since shortly after the December invasion of Panama. He is awaiting tiral on charges of marijuana smuggling and providing a drug-trafficking and money laundering sanctuary for South American drug smugglers.

DETROIT (NOV. 19) UPI - Chrysler Corp. employees have given overwhelming approval to their new three-year labor contract reached with the United Auto Workers Oct. 31, the union said Monday.

Workers gave the pact an 89 percent approval rate, surpassing approval rates last month for similar "pattern" agreements by workers at General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. Those were 80 percent and 82 percent, respectively. The new Chrysler/UAW contract covers about 60,000 hourly and 6,000 salaried workers, union spokesman Bob Barbee said.

All three pacts follow the same basic patterns of wages, benefits and pension gains, as well as extensive income security measures that the union established in negotiations with GM this summer.

All three pacts call for a three percent wage increase in the first year and three percent lump sum payments in the second and third years, as well as three annual Christmas bonuses of $600 each.

Layoffs are limited to 36 weeks over the life of the agreements, while pensions have been raised from about $1,500 to $1,800 a month. Penalties against excessive use of overtime instead of additional new jobs hirings also were stiffened. The Chrysler pact is backed by a $705 million commitment to maintain workers' income, even if sales slump and plants close.

While that is seen as expensive for the No. 3 automaker, Chrysler was able to obtain a three-shift system at its St. Louis No. 2 minivan plant in Fenton, Mo., which allows it to increase production and profits on those popular vehicles.

That provision calls for three shifts of workers at the Fenton plant, with workers assigned a 35-hour week but getting paid for 40 hours. In two of every three weeks, each crew could be required to work a nine-hour shift on Saturdays.

Fenton workers had voted against this plan last November, in part because it would have reduced their overtime income. But under the new plan, overtime would be paid for the ninth and tenth hours of a scheduled ten-hour shift.

The UAW was able to retain a provision that allows Chrysler workers to retire after 30 years of service before they reach age 60. Chrysler, which has the highest ratio of active to retired workers of any U.S. automaker, had sought to scrap that provision.

(NOV. 19) UPI - Iraq said Monday it would send more than 250,000 additional troops to Kuwait in anticipation of a possible attack from the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf.

The official Iraqi news agency INA reported the decision was made during a meeting of the general command of the Iraqi armed forces presided over by President Saddam Hussein.

''During the meeting it was decided to mass immediately an additional seven divisions (of about 20,000 men each) and call in more than 150,000 reserves,'' INA quoted an official statement as saying. ''Therefore we are adding to our strength in Kuwait more than quarter of a million fighters to keep our superiority, which is unquestionable.''

According to American estimates, there are about 400,000 Iraqi troops already in the emirate Iraq invaded Aug. 2 and later annexed. Iraq is estimated to have 1 million troops in its regular army and another 500, 000 in reserve.

The United States has deployed over 230,000 troops to Saudi Arabia and plans to deploy another 100,000 in the coming weeks.

President Bush, meeting world leaders during a historic treaty summit in Paris said there is ''no room for compromise'' with Saddam and dismissed an Iraqi offer to free thousands of foreign hostages in Iraq and occupied Kuwait beginning on Christmas Day.

Bush, in Paris to officially end the Cold War with the signing of the Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty, called the surprise Iraqi announcement a ''cynical ploy'' and joined British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in demanding the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Iraq's invasion forces from Kuwait.

The U.S. dominates a multi-national force of nearly a half-million troops in the Persian Gulf area to discourage Iraq from expanding its Aug. 2 invasion and annexation of Kuwait to other nations, especially the Saudi Arabian oil fields.

Thatcher said after a breakfast meeting with Bush at the U.S. Embassy that Saddam's ''evil has to be be stopped'' and vowed ''either he withdraws or the military option has to be used.''

Iraq's information minister condemned the two leaders for the statements, counter-charging the U.S.-dominatd military buildup in the Persian Gulf is a Western ploy to dominate oil resources in the region.

Meanwhile, a chartered Iraqi airliner with 76 Americans, 12 Britons and 22 other former hostages arrived in London early Monday from Kuwait on a flight delayed by an emergency stop in Athens for repairs, Cairo radio said.

The Americans were to continue on to the United States and arrive at Washington's Dulles International Airport at 7:30 p.m. EST.

In another development, Iran accepted a new ambassador from Kuwait in Tehran in an apparent acknowledgement that Iraq now controls the occupied emirate.

The official Iranian news agency IRNA said in a brief dispatch that President Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani accepted the credentials of Ambassador Fawzi al-Jasim.

Other countries have refused to recognize Kuwaiti diplomats appointed by the Iraqi authorities.

''The president expressed concern over the incidents in Kuwait and hoped that the country's problems would be solved soon so that the Kuwaiti people will be able to live in complete security and peace in their homeland,'' IRNA said.

Iran, which fought a bitter Persian Gulf War with Iraq from 1980- 1988, has condemned the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait but has been receptive to Baghdad's overtures in recent months.

Iraq has returned hundreds of Iranian prisoners of war since the crisis began and has agreed to recognize disputed borders between the countries.

A brief dispatch by the official Iraqi news agency INA Sunday said Saddam would release all hostages in phases beginning Christmas day through March 25.

About 3,000 foreigners, most of them men, are trapped in Iraq and Kuwait, either as hostages at key sites to discourage attack by the multi-national force, or because they are hiding from the authorities.

Observers said Iraq may be trying to buy more time by announcing the release of the hostages over a protracted period.

TROY, MI (NOV. 19) UPI - Volkswagen of America Inc. announced Monday company president and chief executive officer Hans-Jorg Hungerland has been named to the newly created board of management of the Volkswagen brand in Wolfsburg, West Germany.

Hungerland, 49, will be succeeded at VWoA by William J. Young, currently vice president in charge of Volkswagen United States. Young, 47, will maintain day-to-day management responsibility for Volkswagen United States.

As the member of the Volkswagen board in charge of sales, Hungerland will be responsible for VW and Audi sales worldwide. His appointment is effective during the first quarter of 1991.

The appointments result from actions approved Friday by the Supervisory Board of Management of Volkswagen AG, which extended Chairman Dr. Carl Hahn's contract until Dec. 31, 1993, and created a new organizational structure that makes a distinction between management of the VW Group and the Volkswagen, Audi and SEAT brands.

Assigning day-to-day management of the VW brand to a separate board is intended to allow the VW Group Board, headed by Hahn, to devote more time to managing the VW Group's global activities.

Hahn, 64, had been scheduled to retire on Dec. 31, 1991, but was asked by the board to continue as chairman for two additional years to continue to lead the company's expansion drive in Eastern Europe, Asia and the Americas.

The VW Group is the world's fourth-largest carmaker. VWoA has been marketing VW models in the United States since 1949 and Audis since 1969. It employs 1,900 people nationwide, including about 900 in southeastern Michigan.

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 19) UPI - Laventhol & Horwath confirmed Monday its partners met over the weekend to discuss proposals to save the nation's seventh-largest accounting firm.

Chief Executive Officer Robert Levine declined to detail the business proposals discussed by some 350 partners at a meeting in Houston, but a report in the New York Times said the partners were considering possibly disbanding the firm or cutting the number of offices by almost half to about 25.

''At this time we cannot comment on any of the business plans discussed at the meeting,'' Levine said in a press statement.

The firm, which recently cut its employees' pay by 10 percent, has been under financial strain because of several lawsuits that allege poor work on a number of audits and consulting projects.

Among its troubles: Laventhol is defending itself in a multimillion- dollar lawsuit over its audit of the PTL ministry of Jim Bakker.

In recent weeks, partners have of the firm, which built its reputation as a lodging industry specialist, have been leaving in droves.

Several offices around the country, including San Francisco and Kansas City, Mo., are said to have explored separating from the national firm, the New York Times said.

The paper reported two of Laventhol's lenders have proposed paring Laventhol's offices from 50 to about 25 to 30.

Laventhol's client roster includes such companies as Trans World Airlines Inc. and Hyatt Corp.

The next few weeks will be crucial, since they represent the last chance for Laventhol's clients to defect before year-end audits begin.

(NOV. 19) UPI - Reports Iraq was sending more troops to Kuwait caused a turnabout in oil markets, sending crude prices higher in morning trading Monday after they had dropped over $1 a barrel.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, the U.S. benchmark West Texas Intermediate for December delivery was selling at $30.60 a barrel in late morning trading Monday, 82 cents higher than Friday's $29.78 a barrel close, after trading as low as $28.50 a barrel.

''There's a story out that (Iraqi President) Saddam Hussein is ordering about 200,000 more troops to Kuwait,'' said Tom Bentz, director of trading at United Energy Inc. in New York.

''Crude came in bearish, but the story turned a lot of people around and created an uneasy feeling in the market,'' the trader said.

Monday is the final day of trading the WTI December delivery contract and many traders had expected it would fall as low as $27 a barrel in the absence of any war news from the Persian Gulf as the market focused on ample supplies of crude worldwide.

The January delivery WTI contract, which becomes the Merc's spot- month contract Tuesday, had gained 81 cents in late morning trading to $30.40 a barrel.

The official Iraqi news agency INA said Iraq would send more than 250,000 additional troops to Kuwait in anticipation of a possible attack from the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf.

On the Merc, unleaded gasoline for December delivery was up 2.57 cents to 80.20 cents a gallon, while December home heating oil had gained 1.18 cents to 85.60 cents a gallon.

On the European spot market, where crude is bought and sold for cash,

Britain's widely traded North Sea Brent was up 33 cents to $30.53 a barrel.

United Arab Emirates' Dubai Light for January delivery - the key OPEC crude from the Middle East shipped mainly to the Far East - had gained 50 cents to $25.80 a barrel.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 19) UPI - Earth tremors at two gold mines have killed six workers and left six missing thousands of feet underground, mine officials said Monday.

A tremor measuring 1.67 on the Richter scale caved in a shaft at the Western Deep Levels mine early Monday, killing three men and leaving six others missing, parent company Anglo American Corp. said.

Rescuers were searching for the six, an Anglo spokesman said.

The accident at the mine west of Johannesburg took place some 11,500 feet below the surface, the spokesman said.

Three men died 6,900 feet underground at the Buffelsfontein mine in the central town of Klerksdorp Saturday after a tremor measuring 3.2 shook loose tons of earth, mine onwer Genmin said.

South Africa's worst mining disaster this year killed 19 miners and injured 22 at the Vaal Reefs mine, southwest of Johannesburg, in September.

The black National Union of Mineworkers estimates more than 68,000 miners have died and 1 million been disabled in mine accidents since 1900 in South Africa, the world's biggest gold producer.

In 1989, the NUM says, 735 workers died, a total it expects to be eclipsed this year. The union has calculated a miner who works underground for 20 years risks one chance in 30 of being killed and has a 50 percent chance of being disabled.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Pitcher Tim Leary Monday signed a guaranteed three-year contract with the New York Yankees, with the club holding options for the 1994 and 1995 seasons.

Leary, who had been a free agent, was 9-19 with a 4.11 ERA for the Yankees last season. The Yankees acquired him from Cincinnati before last season in the trade that sent first baseman Hal Morris to the Reds.

Leary, 31, pitched 208 innings to lead the Yankees in 1989. It was his fourth straight season with more than 200 innings pitched. He was victimized by poor support, receiving a total of 38 runs in his 19 losses.

In six-plus major league seasons, Leary is 54-75 with a 3.79 ERA. His best season was 1988, when he went 17-11 with a 2.91 ERA for the World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers. He also pitched for the New York Mets and Milwaukee Brewers.

''We showed Tim at the end of the season that we were interested in bringing him back to pitch in 1991 for the New York Yankees,'' Yankees General Manager Gene Michael said. ''This is a very nice contract. Tim pitched well last year but I think he will have a better record in 1991.''

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (NOV. 19) UPI - Hungarians who lost property when the communists seized power in 1948 may be able to buy back their land using so-called ''damage bonds'' under a proposed agreement among officials of five leading political parties.

The proposal, which must be approved by parliament, attempts to answer one of the thorniest questions posed by the breakup of communism in Eastern Europe - how to fairly redistribute land and businesses that were collectivized four decades ago.

The Smallholders Party, a junior partner in the ruling coalition, ran its election campaign on a promise to fully restore all property to the owners of record in 1948, or to their descendants.

But others contend such a move would be disruptive to the economy and in many cases virtually impossible to administer. Opponents also claim that peasants who worked collective farms over the last four decades should not be merely pushed aside but should be entitled to some equity for their labor.

Under the proposed agreement late Sunday by financial experts of five of the six parliamentary parties, Hungarians who owned property before 1948 would be given ''damage bonds'' which they could use repurchase their property. If their former lands are now part of a collective farm, they could use the bonds to purchase shares in the farm.

In addition, members of agricultural cooperatives would receive ''property bonds'' enabling them to purchase shares, party officials said.

Hungary's major political parties have acknowledged that land owners were wrongfully deprived of their property by the communists, and that the government must somehow rectify this injustice.

Geza Zsiros, a legislator for the Small Holders' party, described the proposed compromise as the ''most important step since the land reform of 1945, which would affect millions of people.''

The 1945 land reform act broke up the vast estates formerly owned by the nobility and the church, distributing most of the land among peasants.

But three years later, following the forced nationalization of industry and commerce by the communists, many landowners were forced to surrender their holdings to state-run cooperatives.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 19) UPI - The radical anti-apartheid Pan Africanist Congress accused the government Monday of insincerity in refusing to grant 14 senior exiles of the movement temporary immunity so they could return home for major policy discussions.

The Justice Ministry rejected the criticism in a statement issued later in the day, saying the 14 refused to comply with even the minimum requirements put by the government, namely to subscribe to the principles of peaceful solutions and development in South Africa.

President Frederik de Klerk invited the exclusively black PAC to join preliminary power-sharing talks in much the same way the larger African National Congress had held negotiations with the minority white government.

Unlike the ANC, the PAC has not declared a formal suspension of armed struggle against white rule. In August, at its second round of formal talks with the government, the ANC declared an indefinite suspension of its 29-year guerrilla war in exchange for further racial reforms.

But PAC General Secretary Benny Alexander told a news conference the refusal by the Justice Ministry raised doubts over the government's sincerity and ''exposed the lie that political organizations are totally unbanned and free to conduct their affairs normally.''

Legal representatives applied for temporary indemnity under recently enacted legislation for 14 exiles to return for a three-day national conference starting Dec. 7.

The PAC originally sought permission for the exiles to return for the funeral earlier this month of PAC President Zeph Mothopeng but the government said not all ''bureaucratic procedures had been met,'' Alexander told reporters.

The exiles included PAC Administrative Secretary Joe Mkhwanazi, Secretary for Foreign Affairs Ahmen Gora Ibrahim and the chief representative in Australia, Neville Legg.

The PAC in September deferred a decision on whether to join preliminary talks with Pretoria on ending apartheid, pending the national conference. The PAC was formed in 1959 in an ideological split with the ANC. Both movements, outlawed in 1960, were legalized Feb. 2 by de Klerk in the opening moves of his racial reform campaign.

(NOV. 19) UPI - The Cold War officially ended in a historic ceremony in Paris today in which leaders of the Warsaw Pact and NATO nations signed a conventional weapons reduction treaty. The ceremony opened a three-day summit of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe... a meeting of 34 nations. In opening remarks, French President Francois Mitterrand told the nations that they were ''putting an end to the previous age.''

Within hours, Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev called for further arms talks to reduce short-range nuclear weapons and naval-based armaments. Gorbachev also said the world-wide reaction to the August 2nd Iraqi invasion of Kuwait shows what he termed the ''radical shift in our mind-set'' because an armed attack united the nations, rather than divided them. Gorbachev said the world is ready to show patience in the quest for a political solution to the crisis but also is determined to enforce U-N resolutions on the situation.

Iraq is ordering another seven divisions... plus 150-thousand reservists... into the front lines opposite the U-S-led multi-national force in the Persian Gulf. The addition of another 250-thousand Iraqi troops to the front is expected to push their total numbers to 650- thousand.

The troop movements come as world leaders dismiss an Iraqi offer to free all foreign hostages over a three-month period- if it is NOT attacked. One planeload of hostages made it as far as London today aboard a chartered Iraqi jetliner. The plane is to land in Washington later today.

BEIRUT (NOV. 19) UPI - The Christian Lebanese Forces militia Monday halted its withdrawal from east Beirut, defying a government warning to evacuate the capital by midnight, a militia official said.

LF Command member Alfred Madi said his militia stopped the pullout from the Christian neighborhood of Ashrafiyeh and the nearby seaside headquarters in Karantina ''until a number of issues are settled.''

''We are not ready to hand Ashrafiyeh over after the government (of Syrian-backed President Elias Hrawi) failed to maintain security in the Metn areas,'' Madi told United Press International.

He was referring to the presence of rival Syrian-backed militia groups that occupied buildings in the Metn areas east of Beirut following the ouster of Christian Gen. Michel Aoun by a Syrian-Lebanese thrust Oct. 13.

Madi's remarks came on the last day of an ultimatum set by Hrawi's government for all militias to evacuate the capital as create a militia- free, unified Beirut. The ultimatum was to expire at midnight.

All other militias present in Beirut, including the Shiite Amal movement, the Druze-dominant Progressive Socialist Party and the pro- Iranian Hezbollah, pulled out last week.

Christian militia chief Samir Geagea told the government he would not pull his forces from east Beirut as long as gunmen of the breakaway LF militia of Elie Hobeika and the Syrian Social National Party remained active in the region.

Hobeika was toppled by Geagea in 1986 after he signed a Syrian- sponsored peace treaty to end the civil war with Moslem militia groups. Hobeika then rallied supporters in Syrian-patrolled Lebanese areas and formed the ''Waad'' Party.

The spillover of pro-Syrian militiamen into the Christian heartland provoked outrage by traditional leading Christian figures, namely Geagea, the Maronite Patriarch Nasrallah Sfair and George Saadeh, chairman of the Phalange Party.

The LF measure was taken despite a government announcement that all Hobeika and SSNP offices in the newly captured Christian region were shut down and controlled by the army of Gen. Emile Lahoud.

''The government has so far failed to maintain security in these areas. We are not ready to accept that Ashrafiyeh becomes a place for kidnapping and chaos '' Madi said.

He charged Hobeika's gunmen with kidnapping a number of LF supporters and the government with failing to contain such violations.

Madi said the Lebanese Forces supported government efforts to eliminate all armed militias in and around Beirut but ''more time was needed until the government regains full control of these areas.''

Presidential sources described the LF move as ''a last-minute maneuver'' and expressed its belief that the militia will pull out before the day ends.

The sources said the ultimatum may be extended 48 hours to break the stalemate.

MILAN, ITALY (NOV. 19) UPI - Three World War II-era machine guns and more than 1,000 rounds of ammunition were discovered in a ceiling Monday by workers renovating Milan's municipal accounting office, police said.

The weapons, wrapped in brown paper and in good working order, were labeled with a ''Do Not Touch'' warning, investigators said. Police also found a packet of vintage cigarettes from the wartime era in the fourth- floor office.

Investigators said they believe that the well-protected guns, of German, British and Italian manufacture, were hidden half a century ago to be used in resistance fighting against invading German troops.

The city office is across the street from the famed La Scala opera house.

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYSIA (NOV. 19) UPI - The first U.S. citizen charged under Malaysia's harsh drug trafficking law testified Monday in a trial that could send him to the gallows, telling a judge he bought $19 of marijuana to ease his pain.

Kerry Lane Wiley, 38, told Justice Shaik Daud Ismail he smoked marijuana daily because of pain in his joints, saying he had given up on other medicines because they were ineffective.

''I have a medical problems which have no standard cure and a missing cartilage in both my knees,'' said Wiley, of Sacramento. ''I have a symptom of arthritis in my both hands and also periostitis in my left arm, wrist and ankle.''

Wiley, who works as a computer technician, said his illness was the result of an accident at age 12 when he fell off a 60-foot cliff in Hemet, Calif., where he broke an arm and foot and suffered several head lacerations.

Wiley is the first U.S. citizen to be charged under a Malaysian statute mandating the death sentence for anyone caught with half an ounce or more of heroin or morphine, 2 pounds of opium, or 6.4 ounces of marijuana.

He was charged with trafficking in 9.4 ounces of marijuana, worth about $19.

Malaysia first introduced the death penalty for drug offenses in 1975 as an option for judges sentencing convicted traffickers. The government of Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad amended the law in 1983 to make it mandatory that all convicted traffickers be hanged.

Since 1975, more than 100 people have been executed under Malaysia's tough anti-drug laws, including 27 foreigners.

Questioned by defense attorney Shafee Abdullah, Wiley said his problems seemed to start during a trip between Thailand and Malaysia when he had an argument with customs officer who asked for money to grant him an extended visa. He said he told them he would report the matter to the Malaysian government and the American Embassy.

The judge interrupted, correcting Wiley that it is not customs who issues visa but immigration officers.

Wiley said customs officers later raided a house in the suburb of Kuala Lumpur where he had been a guest. In a storeroom, they retrieved a bag they said belonged to him, which contained several items of clothing and six tin cans of marijuana.

BUCHAREST, Romania (NOV. 19) UPI - About 300 people demonstrated in the capital Monday to protest the founding of a new left-wing political party that includes remnants of the discredited Romanian Communist Party.

''They're back again,'' said one protester, Dr. Dorin Scafes, 60, a retired physician who literally shook with rage when asked about the newly formed Socialist Workers Party.

''These are the original communists, the worst kind,'' he said.

The party was established over the weekend with the merger of the Democratic Workers Party and the Socialist Party, the reincarnation of the Communist Party that ruled Romania for four decades.

The leader of the new party, Nicolae Balasoiu, has hinted that Romania's government should resurrect some of the hard-line tactics of the past, saying, ''Discipline and hard work are what's lacking now.''

Some of the 300 protesters who gathered outside the communists' old Central Committee building said they would oppose any attempt to return Romania to authoritarian rule.

''We're afraid that this party will either fuse with the Front or will distract people from the Front,'' said Constantin Buzea, a car salesman. The National Salvation Front, which won a landslide victory in the historic parliamentary elections in May, has been criticized by the opposition for its alleged authoritarian tendencies and because many of its members are former communist officials.

''The biggest fear is that communism will come out in the open again. It's already here with the human face of the Front,'' Scafes said.

At the time of the overthrow of dictator Nicolae Ceausescu, the Romanian Communist Party had 3.8 million members, more per capita than in any communist group in Eastern Europe.

The party was outlawed shortly after Ceausescu's execution Dec. 25 but the ban was lifted three days later.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev called Monday for negotiations on reducing tactical nuclear weapons in Europe and renewed an earlier proposal to include naval forces in future arms talks.

The Soviet leader, addressing a session of the Conference on European Security and Cooperation, said Moscow would be patient in seeking a peaceful solution to the Persian Gulf crisis but insisted on implemention of the U.N. Security Council resolutions demanding an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait.

Gorbachev told the 34 heads of state and government in Paris that no one has fully grasped the implications of the changes taking place in Europe.

''It can be said with full certainty that 1990 will be remembered as the decisive year of an age we are leaving behind us marked by two world wars and almost half a century of nuclear antagonism between two social systems,'' he said.

He said the political changes brought the issue of tactical nuclear weapons in Europe to the forefront and urged that the agenda of the upcoming Vienna negotiations on troop levels be broadened to include the short-range weapons.

''We would be prepared to start negotiations on that subject within another month or two,'' he said.

''Our proposal to jointly give some thought to the concept of what exactly we mean by nuclear deterrence and where to draw the line beyond which nuclear retaliatory capability may develop into an offensive capability, is indicative of our willingness to proceed gradually towards the elimination of that capability,'' Gorbachev said.

The second phase of the Vienna negotiations scheduled to begin next week will deal with the reduction of troops within the Warsaw Pact and NATO.

Tactical or short-range nuclear weapons are not on the agenda of the Vienna negotiations. The first phase in the talks led to a wide-ranging agreement on the reduction of conventional forces in Europe that was signed Monday by the leaders of the Warsaw Pact and NATO.

Gorbachev also called for the continuation of talks on the ''open skies'' negotiations that would allow each side to fly over the other's territory to verify comliance with disarmament treaties.

The Soviet leader hinted he would not use Moscow's veto power to block a U.N. Security Council resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

He said the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait had become a ''grave test as we begin our movement toward a new, peaceful period in history.''

''Our unity in condemning it and our shared concern over the outcome of the crisis are also indicative of a radical shift in our mindset and the perception of the goals and means available in world politics,'' he said.

''Any armed attack, wherever it may occur, now unites us rather than scatter us on the different sides of the baricades,'' Gorbachev continued.

''Urging the aggressor's withdrawal from Kuwait, we are defending the hopes that millions of people have begun to pin on the ability of the international community to cope with even the most critical conflicts. If we disappoint these hopes much of what we have accomplished in the last few years will be in jeopardy.''

''We are prepared to show patience in the quest for a political solution, but we will remain firm and determined in implementing the will of the United Nations,'' he said.

Recognizing the internal problems fragmenting his country, Gorbachev said the Soviet Union ''will remain a great world and European factor, playing an innovative and stabilizing role in line with its huge potential.''

Gorbachev said he hoped the NATO alliance would follow the Warsaw Pact and begin to transform itself in order to take ''stock of the profound and apparently irreversible changes taking place in Europe.''

The Soviet leader recalled that Monday marked the first anniversary of his first summit with President Reagan in Geneva.

''Whereas five years ago we discussed ways of reversing the slide towards nuclear catastrophe, today the Soviet Union and the United States are no longer adversaries, but partners.''

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - The head of striking unions at the Daily News put pressure on Police Commissioner Lee Brown Monday to follow up on a charge that policemen are being used as a private security force for the newspaper.

George McDonald, president of the Allied Printing Trades Council, arranged a meeting with Brown to discuss the charge made Sunday by the American Civil Liberties Union, according to council spokesman Mike Cunningham.

''The role of the police in the 26-day strike is what McDonald is interested in,'' Cunningham said. ''The ACLU charge only backs up what we've been saying all along. It calls for an investigation and Mr. McDonald is going to find out if there will be one.''

Norman Siegel, executive director of the ACLU's New York chapter, accused the Police Department of siding with the News and preventing workers from exercising their rights to fee speech and assembly. He said there was growing hostility on the part of police officers against striking News workers.

''The police have to be neutral in this strike and all others, and they are not,'' Siegel said. ''There's a complete non-recognition of the strikers' First Amendment rights. The NYPD has turned into a private security force for the Daily News.''

The Police Department had no immediate comment, according to Sgt. Grace Ridley a police spokeswoman, but a 3 p.m. meeting between Brown and McDonald was hastily arranged at McDonald's request.

Lisa Robinson, a Daily News spokeswoman, said the newspaper would have no comment on Siegel's charge.

Siegel said the attitude of some policemen, whom he described as young and poorly trained, was that supporters of the strike were ''anti- establishment, anti-status quo'' and therefore ''anti-police.''

He noted the case of Ed Borges, a striking News reporters who was arrested Friday after he tried to write down police badge numbers at a striker demonstration. Borges claimed at a press conference an on television that he was beaten and verbally abused and displayed wrists swollen by handcuffs to prove it.

Police said Borges, who attended the demonstration as a reporter for the union-sponsored strike paper, had been issued a desk appearance ticket on charges of resisting arrest, harassment and interfering with the arrest of another striker accused of pushing a police officer. If convicted, he could be sentenced to a year in prison and fined $1,000.

Siegel said Borges' arrest violated a 1977 federal court decree tht gives citizens the right to ask for police badge numbers. He asked police to drop charges against Borges or he would file a police brutality report or a civil rights suit.

LONDON (NOV. 19) UPI - Stock prices closed broadly higher in moderate trading Monday on the London International Stock Exchange, boosted by the U.S. Federal Reserve's moves to ease monetary policy and brokers's predictions the traditional year-end rally had begun.

The blue-chip Financial Times 100-stock index, which gained 8.0 points Friday, climbed 27.9 points to 2,095.0. The narrower top 30 industrial average surged 33.2 points to 1,648.0.

Volume amounted to around 401 million shares.

The Financial Times 100 index ended at its best level since Oct. 25, but late news Iraq was sending another 200,000 troops to Kuwait dampened the euphoria as oil prices, which had slipped to $27 per barrel, bounced back to around the $30 a barrle level, analysts said.

Analysts said Friday's move by the Federal Reserve easing credit boosted local enthusiam.

Market watchers said stocks were also boosted by Iraq's offer to free thousands of foreign hostages held in Iraq and occupied Kuwait beginning on Christmas Day.

A brief dispatch Sunday by the official Iraqi News Agency in Baghdad said the announcement to release hostages beginning on Christmas Day came after Saddam Husseim met with government officials.

''It has been decided that foreign guests would be allowed to travel in batches ... from Dec. 25 and within a period of three months, the last batch of which would leave the Iraqi territories on March 25 unless something would take place that (would) mar the atmosphere of peace,'' INA said.

Observers said Iraq may be trying to buy more time by announcing the release of the hostages over a protracted period.

Meanwhile on the local economic front, the Central Statistical Office reported Britain's gross domestic product fell 1 percent in the third quarter, for its first drop in output in more than 5 years.

On the trading floor, among some of the day's highlights, WPP Group tumbled $2.41 to $5.30 after the company issued a profits warning. Analysts said they are now expecting the company to report profits of $176 million, $215 million lower than expected.

Grand Metropolitan added 20 cents to 11.20 and Bass gained 42 cents to $19.65as speculators awaited a ruling on a pubs swap deal.

Elsewhere, Thorn EMI gained 38 cents to $12.12.

Meanwhile, in Frankfurt, stock prices closed broadly higher in active trading on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange.

The closely watched German Stock Index, which gained 4.49 points Friday, climbed 41.79 points to 1,467.47.

Traders said local enthusiam was boosted by Iraq's offer to free ''foreign guests.''

Elsewhere stocks ended broadly higher in Paris. The Paris General Index gained 4.23 points to 354.32.

Meanwhile, a strike by floor traders pressing for government legislation to reform the market in Milan closed the Milan Stock Exchange for the second consecutive session. The strike was expected to continue Tuesday.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 19) UPI - Van Camp Seafoods said Monday it would place a new label on its Chicken of the Sea tuna cans so that shoppers will have an easier time finding dolphin-safe tuna in grocery stores.

The red-on-white logo featuring a larger mermaid will begin appearing on supermarket shelves nationwide later this month, the company said in a statement.

''We selected this new logo so consumers can quickly recognize they are selecting the right (tuna),'' said marketing director Don George.

''Our research shows consumers strongly prefer our new design, and that it enhances the product's image.''

Van Camp said in April it would stop buying tuna caught in the Eastern Tropical Pacific unless it was verified that it was not caught with fishing techniques that endanger dolphins that usually swim with tuna in that area.

A bill requiring all tuna canned in the United States to be labeled as either dolphin-safe or unsafe is expected to be signed by President Bush later this month, Van Camp said.

American tuna fishermen, most of whom fear they will be driven out of business by the new purchasing practice, currently use giant purse sein nets that trap dolphins along with the fish. Fishermen have argued that they go to great lengths to shoo the dolphins out of the nets before drawing them in.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - Political observers predicted that Prime Minister Michel Rocard will narrowly survive a no-confidence vote Monday in the National Assembly with a handful of independents determining his fate.

Debate began Monday afternoon and the votes were expected to be counted by 6 p.m. EST.

A no-confidence vote would require President Francois Mitterrand to appoint a new prime minister and to organize a new government, which would be a major embarrassment for France amid the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe that opened Monday in Paris.

The prominent center-left afternoon daily Le Monde predicted that Rocard's opponents had 286 or 287 votes, must short of the 289 needed to topple the government. The left-wing daily Liberation reported that the motion of no-confidence had 285 votes, four short of a majority in the 577-member assembly.

While putting Rocard to his stiffest challenge in morel than two years in office, the vote could have positive results for him by affirming his ability to push through his policy despite political pressure. Le Monde said Rocard hoped to use the ballot as a vote of confidence.

If voted down, Rocard would be the first prime minister since Georges Pompidou in 1962 to be toppled by a no-confidence vote. Pompidou at that point was reappointed by President Charles de Gaulle to form another government.

Rocard's Socialist governmnent, which has on occasion drawn help from communist, centrist and independent deputies, survived eight previous no-confidence votes. But in each of the previous attempts, the communist deputies did not join the conservative opposition.

At issue in Monday's vote was a proposed new social security tax. The Rocard plan would create a 1.1 percent payroll tax to bail out the French social security system, which includes family allocations, health care and retirement funds.

The measure would raise about $7.5 billion for social security, but labor organizations, which largely support the Communist Party, have vociferously opposed the plan on grounds it would create a new category of tax without resolving the problems of social security.

Raymond Barre, a conservative former prime minister who is influential with the independents, said during the debate he decided to vote against the government.

Referring to the new tax plan, Barre said, ''I cannot to my great regret support a measure that I approve of in principle,'' adding that Rocard did not provide ''clarifications and details that partisans of this measure expected.''

Barre said he did not see how the government would ''keep a lid on health care expenses and put order in the retirement system.''

Moreover, Barre said recent events ''raised doubts about the capacity of the government to resist pressures to increase spending.''

Barre's statement alluded to last week's demonstrations by more than 100,000 high school students in the French capital, after which the government announced a plan to allocate $900 million more for education.

Rocard said the government would ''pursue the work it has undertaken, and pursue it with stubbornness.''

Bernard Pons, a deputy from the Gaullist Rally for the Republic party, called the proposed tax ''unjust, improper and unpopular, in the image of the government.''

Pons said the government is ''running out of breath, with its socialism tangled in its contradictions and methods of government.''

Sociality Party General Secretary Pierre Mauroy, addressing the communist deputies, said they would be opening themselves up to an ''immense misunderstanding'' by voting with the right wing.

Mauroy said the communists were ''running to the help of the proponents of rampant liberalism against which he have battled together for so many years.''

Mauroy also cautioned that the fall of the government could send the wrong message at a time when French troops are deployed in the Middle East.

BROMONT, QUEBEC (NOV. 19) UPI - Hyundai Motor Co.'s Canadian division Monday officially opened a $102 million press shop at its Bromont manufacturing plant.

The press shop will allow Hyundai Auto Canada Inc. to make various body panels and metal components including fuel tanks, door panels, floor and roof pieces, for assembly on Sonata sedans.

The Korean automaker said the new operation is expected to bring in orders worth about $12 million a year for about 16,500 tons of sheet metal from suppliers in Canada and the United States.

Y.I. Lee, president of Hyundai Canada, said the auto maker "has experienced a success in North America, and around the world, that has compelled us to expand our manufacturing facilities."

The press shop completes a five-year construction plan costing more than $380 million, at Bromont. The plant is about 50 miles southeast of Montreal, north of the Quebec-Vermont border. Sheet metal will come from four suppliers, Dofasco Inc. and Stelco Inc. in Canada and Armco and U.S. Steel in the United States.

The Bromont plant is a fully integrated facility incorporating a body shop, a paint shop, final trim and assembly shop and a test track. At full capacity the plant is projected to produce 100,000 Sonata cars a year. Hyundai Canada said it expects to produce 29,000 units in 1990, 51,000 in 1991 and 70,000 in 1992.

GENEVA (NOV. 19) UPI - Despite an inability to establish an overall agreement, the Uruguay Round of world trade liberalization talks will formally end as scheduled at a meeting of ministers Dec. 3-7, GATT Director General Arthur Dunkel said Monday. As the world's only trading framework, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade has headed the negotiations which began in 1986.

Dunkel said the originally scheduled Dec. 3-7 concluding meeting in Brussels of trade ministers from the 105 participating nations would proceed as planned although a complete package agreement has proved elusive. He said ministers should make the political decisions required to "tie up the loose ends" as quickly as possible after their session.

Called the Uruguay Round because they were formally launched in the Uruguayan resort of Punta del Este, the negotiations were aimed at an average 33 percent cut in 15 areas of world trade - currently worth $3 trillion a year. For the first time in GATT talks, the negotiations covered the sectors of agriculture and services such as banking and insurance.

Dunkel said a "final protocol" to the ministers from the negotiators in Geneva would comprise three categories - sectors on which there was an agreed text, sectors on which there was text but with brackets indicating discussion was forthcoming, and sectors "on which there is no basis for negotiation."

He refused details but the United States and other major farm exporting countries have rejected an overall package unless the European Community agrees to sharply cut its system of farm export subsidies.

Other nations have criticized the United States for initially demanding the inclusion of services industries in the Uruguay Round, and then demanding the exclusion - after domestic pressures - of opening the U.S. market to foreign banking, insurance, transport, and communications competition.

EASTERN SAUDI ARABIA (NOV. 19) UPI - U.S. Marines carried out a successful simulated armored attack against mock Iraqi forces in the Saudi desert Monday but rough seas forced the cancellation of an important sea leg of the Imminent Thunder exercise.

For the second day, military officials canceled the launching of speedy hovercraft vessels, Landing Craft Air Cushions, that are used to quickly ferry supplies ashore to attacking Marines.

The hovercraft are an important compenent of any amphibious assault during an ''over-the-horizon'' attack, a tactic military officials say allows the launching of a speedy attack out of sight from shore.

Officials Sunday postponed the hovercraft landings and cited safety Monday in scrapping that portion of the exercise.

''You know, if it's real world or an operation you execute it,'' said Marine Maj. Patrick Sivigny, explaining why the Landing Craft Air Cushion vessels were held back a second day and would sit out the rest of the operation.

''But, when it's an exercise - whether it's here, back home in the states, if it's out on sea, shore or land - safety is always a primary consideration and that's what dictates whether or not you postpone any part of an exercise.''

While the hovercraft portion of the exercise was scrubbed, Marine commanders from the 3rd Light Armored Infantry were sending eight- wheeled armored reconnaissance vehicles known as LAV-25s into the barren desert to serve as mock Iraqi tanks.

Each of the reconnaissance vehicles represented 10 Iraqi tanks and the purpose was to detect invading scout cars and muster a credible defense against them.

Officials said one of the reconnaissance vehicles did succeed in briefly getting past the range of fire of the mock defenses by accelerating quickly after first traveling at a leisurely pace for several miles.

Despite the one slip, Marine officers were satisfied that had the invading scout cars actually been Iraqi tanks they would have been spotted and destroyed.

The exercise also gave officers a chance to see how the scout vehicles, some with colorful names like ''Little Miss Dangerous'' and ''Bad Company,'' performed in the desert environment.

In a war scenario, the LAV-25s would be used primarily for probing enemy positions for strengths and weaknesses before speeding back and reporting to higher headquarters.

While combined U.S. and Saudi forces continued their mock battles Monday, medical personnel also trained in simulated exercise.

A mass casualty drill involved stretcher-bearers carrying mock casualties to two CH-46 Sea Knight helicopters, which lifted them to a Surgical Support field hospitals.

At least 80 casualties were simulated at five field hospital. However, in a war situation, operating rooms would be filled within 15 minutes and medical personnel would have less than 30 seconds to decide where to send the injured.

''We're going to be overwhelmed,'' Lt. Cmdr. Chris Kain, an orthopedic surgeon said of the burdens real battle would place on doctors and nurses.

''We're talking about massive injuries. None of us has ever encountered this tremendous volume.''

Nonetheless, the Bremerton, Wash., surgeon remained philosophical about the grim realities brought home in the mock casualty drill.

''Are we scared? Absolutely. Can we handle it? Yes,'' Kain said.

FORT WORTH, TX (NOV. 19) UPI - Union workers at General Dynamics Corp.'s local plant have approved a new, three-year contract that boosts pay 5.5 percent this year.

Members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers District 776 approved the agreement 5,834 to 1,013 on Sunday. The pact is virtually the same one rejected a week ago.

Pat Lane, union district president, changed his stance and recommended that the members representing 10,000 workers at the aircraft plant approve the proposal. "I recommended it because I felt it was the best contract we could get at this time," he said.

The new pact gives workers a 5.5 percent pay increase this year, followed by three percent raises each of the next two years. The company did increase its offer for a one-time bonus by $100 to $1,100. The average worker at General Dynamics makes about $27,747 annually.

Lane said he supported the contract to avoid a protracted strike with the giant St. Louis-based defense contractor. "I think our membership realizes the company did everything it's going to do without a long dispute," he said.

General Dynamics has watched orders for its F-16 Fighting Falcon decline. The company has already laid off more tha 1,200 hourly workers at the plant and has announced plans to cut as many as 1,000 salaried employees in January.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (NOV. 19) UPI - Insolvent Columbia Savings and Loan Association, dragged down by huge declines in the value of its junk-bond portfolio, has conceded it will probably be seized by regulators, a Securities and Exchange Commission filing disclosed Monday.

Many analysts believe regulators would have taken over Columbia some time ago but such a move has been delayed as the thrift tries to sell the junk bonds, with as many as eight possible buyers having made bids.

Columbia has seen the value of its junk bonds plummet from $4 billion to $2.5 billion over the past year. It had a negative net worth, or shareholders' deficit, of $709 million as of Sept. 30, off sharply from $352 million as of June 30.

"Because of the present magnitude of the Association's stockholders' deficit, it is extremely likely that the Association will be placed in a conservatorship or receivership by the Office of Thrift Supervision," Columbia said in the filing.

"Whether the high-yield portfolio is sold in a single transaction or retained and liquidated by the Association, it is highly unlikely that the Association will be able to return to a solvent financial condition or achieve compliance with any applicable capital standard for the foreseeable future because of the present magnitude of the Association's stockholders' deficit," the thrift also said.

Analysts have estimated that the cost of bailing out Columbia will probably run between $500 million and $1.5 billion. It lost $591.1 million last year and has lost $781.8 million in the first nine months of this year.

Columbia amassed the portfolio largely through purchases from ex-junk bond king Michael Milken of now-bankrupt Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. The thrift made a $4.5 billion claim last week against Drexel's assets, seeking triple damages for its $1.5 billion loss on the value of the junk bonds.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. made a $6.8 billion claim against Drexel last week, alleging that it had looted more than 40 thrifts in various deals, with Columbia sustaining the biggest losses.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Dennis DeConcini, the last of the so-called Keating Five senators to address the Senate ethics committee, demanded Monday to be cleared of influence-peddling accusations he said were supported by ''lies and allegations and hearsay.''

In an impassioned, two-hour personal defense, DeConcini, D-Ariz., said his actions relating to indicted savings and loan owner Charles Keating Jr. were legitimate constituent service involving an important home state businessman.

The six-member committee is examining whether DeConcini and four other senators - Alan Cranston, D-Calif., John Glenn, D-Ohio, John McCain, R-Ariz., and Donald Riegle, D-Mich. - improperly pressured bank regulators on behalf of Keating, who donated $1.3 million to the senators' re-election campaigns and other favorite causes.

Special counsel Robert Bennett last week described DeConcini and Cranston as ''by far the most active on Mr. Keating's behalf'' of the five accused senators, hinting that political contributions bought their influence.

But DeConcini, saying his personal reputation is ''in a freefall,'' lashed out at Bennett for concocting ''some sinister plot'' using ''disgraceful'' and ''unconscionable'' tactics that are ''enough to make me gag.''

He objected to ''the lies and allegations and hearsay without any foundation that Mr. Bennett goes out and gets people to give.'' DeConcini also charged that Bennett had overstepped his authority as an impartial fact-finding lawyer working on behalf of a committee, and had become a criminal prosecutor.

DeConcini, addressing the six members of the committee that has not leveled charges against the senators, forcefully demanded exoneration.

''You'll be criticized for an in-house deal, the good-old-boys club,'' he told the panel. '' I understand how difficult it is. But to do other than to dismiss the charges against me is unjust.

''I broke no law,'' he said, ''I broke no rule. I broke no standard. I committed no improper conduct.''

Pointing at Bennett and raising his voice, DeConcini added, ''I resent that man ... tying this senator to bribery, to a 'crook,' to the bond holders and the elderly who lost money when Keating's Lincoln Savings and Loan failed in 1989.''

DeConcini painted Keating and his Arizona-based American Continental Corp., the parent company of Lincoln, as important to his home state. He said American Continental had 2,000 employees in Arizona, a $49 million payroll, $1 billion invested in the state and was the state's leading home-builder through much of the 1980s.

Lincoln's collapse, pegged to cost taxpayers $2 billion, was the largest in the nation's savings and loan scandal.

DeConcini, who received $81,000 in contributions from Keating, said Keating was not always reviled as an S&L kingpin, pointing out that Keating was known for his contributions to charitable causes. DeConcini noted a conversation he said he had with Nobel Peace Prize recipient Mother Teresa.

''In 1986 in this city, when I was introduced to (Mother Teresa) and told her what state I came from, the first thing she said was, 'How is my friend Charles Keating?''' DeConcini told the committee.

DeConcini also blasted federal bank regulators whose statements have contributed to Bennett's case against the Keating Five. DeConcini said the regulators were seeking a scapegoat at the same time ''the savings and loan crisis was coming down on their heads.''

During a point-by-point rebuttal of Bennett's claims, DeConcini also openly disputed statements made by McCain, the other Arizona senator. DeConcini hinted that Bennett may be giving McCain, the lone GOP senator in the Keating Five, preferential treatment.

Keating faces civil racketeering charges in California under a criminal fraud indictment stemming from the Lincoln collapse.

The ethics committee is empowered to recommend disciplinary action against the senators as severe as explusion.

CHICAGO (NOV. 19) UPI - Soybeans, corn and wheat closed higher Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade but oats were mainly lower.

Soybeans made gains on speculation of the potential of exports to the USSR. Traders said President Bush's European visit could result in a USSR food-aid package. Professional selling trimmed gains as did losses in soyoil.

Corn trading generally was quiet with short covering adding support and some followthrough buying. But strong cash fundamentals and producer selling brought a round of gains at the close.

Trading in wheat also was generally quiet with commission house demand and short-covering helping prices.

Forecasters said wetter weather is expected in central growing areas about midweek.

At the Gulf, corn bids were firm while beans were steady to weak.

At the close, corn was up 1 3/4 to up 2 3/4, wheat was up 1 1/2 to 2 1/2, soybeans were off 1/2 to up 2 1/4 and oats were off 3/4 to up 1/2.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Michael Boskin, chairman of President Bush's

Council of Economic Advisers, Monday maintained the administration's position that the U.S. economy has yet to enter a recession.

Boskin, in remarks after a speech to the National Press Club, repeated his description of the economy as being in a "lull" rather than an outright recession. A recession is generally defined as two consecutive quarters of negative economic growth.

"The economy certainly has slowed. It's been growing sluggishly for seven quarters and we now have the oil shock on top of that," Boskin said. He said the U.S. gross national product "is going to take a hit" in the fourth quarter because of rising oil prices and the tension in the Middle East.

"I think it is too early to tell if the United States will have a negative fourth quarter," he said. "I am not prepared to say the economy did or did not go into a recession in the fourth quarter."

Last week, Bush conceded he is concerned that the economy is in a downturn following a series of meetings with advisers and business leaders. Bush, in an interview with Cable News Network, said that should the economy slip into a recession, "it will not be deep and we will come out of it relatively soon - six months at most."

Several private economists have already declared the economy is in a recession a conclusion that seems to fluctuate with each release of a major government economic report.

"Regardless of what you call it, we are in a lull," Boskin said. He said the economy faces a "substantial risk" of further weakening unless oil prices come down.

"I think the basic analysis is that when you have a $10 per barrel increase for a couple of quarters that would destabilize GNP," Boskin said. "We have a great deal of uncertainty about where oil prices will be and when they will come down. "As an economic forecast, I do expect oil prices to come down considerably next year."

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - Representatives of three Baltic republics seeking independence from the Soviet Union were refused admission Monday to the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, and one accused the French hosts of bowing to pressure from Moscow.

Foreign ministers from Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, all republics of the Soviet Union, had previously received assurances from French Foreign Minister Roland Dumas that they could attend the conference as observers.

But a statement from the Free Latvian Federation said the three ministers were notified that Dumas ''withdrew the invitation that he had addressed to them as honored guests of France'' because the Soviet Union would be representing their nations.

The statement described the action as an ''expulsion'' from the conference.

A French government official said all decisions on representation must be decided by consensus among the members and that the Soviet Union objected to their participation.

On Sunday, Endel Lippmaa, an aide to Estonian Foreign Minister Lennart Meri, said the Baltic states would take part in the conference as France's ''guests '' saying that Paris had created a ''separate status'' for them.

A senior U.S. negotiator had said that the Bush administration would like to see the three Baltic republics become full members of the CSCE.

The three Baltic foreign ministers met Sunday with Secretary of State James Baker in Paris, and Baker reaffirmed at the start of their talks that ''the United States has been one of the first countries to support the Baltic request to have observer status at the CSCE.''

Meri said the status of the troubled Baltic Republics ''remains the only European problem that has not been resolved.''

In an effort to force Soviet troops out of Latvia, the republic's Parliament decided last week to cut power and heat to Moscow's troops there. Lt. Gen. Oleg Zinchenko, head of the political command of the Baltic Military District, warned Sunday that the army would seize power and heating stations if the threat were carried out, according to the Moscow daily Komsomolskaya Pravda.

And in neighboring Lithuania, soldiers in Vilnius, the capital, used water cannons Saturday and fired warning shots to disperse demonstrators near the Lithuanian capital's military garrison, the official Tass news agency said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - The Corcoran Gallery of Art, rocked by controversy over homoerotic art and censorship, Monday named art historian David C. Levy as its president and director effective Jan. 1.

Levy, 52, succeeds Christina Orr-Cahall, who resigned earlier this year after an uproar involving a Robert Mapplethorpe exhibit of photographs, which was canceled following pressure from members of Congress and conservative activists.

At the same time, trying to put the Mapplethorpe controversy behind it, the Corcoran issued a statement affirming artistic freedom.

The statement said Corcoran ''is committed to the preservation and enhancement of freedom of speech, thought, inquiry and artistic expression through its exhibition and educational activities as well as its programs of outreach into the local, national and world communities.''

''An institution whose mission is the enrichment of cultural and intellectual life is compromised without unhindered exchanges of ideas, however unpopular, and without the assurance that both presentation and confrontation of ideas takes place freely,'' the Corcoran said.

''This does not limit, and in fact assumes, the right of those with differing points of view to be heard and represented in a manner appropriate to the time-honored traditions of intellectual, artistic and academic freedom,'' it said.

Levy, an expert on medieval and renaissance painters, is also a photographer and jazz saxophone player in painter Larry Rivers's band. He comes to the Corcoran from the New School of Social Research in New York, where he is chancellor for the arts.

Levy, a native New Yorker, joined Parsons School of Design in 1961. In 1970, he initiated the merger between Parsons and the New School and, for 19 years, he guided the institution as Parson's chief administrative officer.

Upon his appointment, Levy said he is confident that ''as partners we can and will strengthen the Corcoran's distinguished tradition as both a symbol and example of the vitality of our national artistic heritage.''

BANGKOK, THAILAND (NOV. 19) UPI - A group of American veterans of the Vietnam War is building a clinic in a village pounded by American warplanes in the ''Christmas bombings'' of 1972, the official Vietnam News Agency said.

''American Vietnam veterans are helping the Vietnamese people heal war wounds by building clinics for them,'' said the news agency in a dispatch dated Sunday.

The agency said nine American veterans were working with Vietnamese villagers to build the 10-room clinic at Yen Vien, 6 miles east of Hanoi.

It said the village ''was razed by U.S. carpet bombing in late December 1972'' when then president Richard Nixon ordered expanded bombing in an effort to force North Vietnam to sign a peace agreement.

The construction costs of more than $30,000 are being provided by the Veterans Vietnam Restoration Project and medical facilities and medicines will be provided by the North Country Clinic of Arcata, Calif., the agency said.

It said the Yen Vien Clinic is the third clinic built in Vietnam by the veterans' group.

John Burns, 43, from Hawaii, said he came back to Vietnam where he served from 1967-1969 for two reasons.

''One was to find some peace of mind. The other was to have an opportunity to come back to learn the truth about Vietnam,'' the agency quoted him as saying.

''We learned nothing about Vietnam before, except what our government told us '' he said. ''It didn't take long to figure out, to feel that something was very wrong with what was going on.''

The agency quoted other members of the group as calling on the U.S. government to end its economic embargo against Vietnam and establish formal diplomatic relations with the Communist government.

''The government would like us to think that there's an enemy somewhere out here. But it's not true,'' said Art James, a 40-year-old former infantryman from Maryland.

''Your forgiveness is what touches my heart,'' he was quoted as saying.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Lower- and middle-income consumers are losing money at big commercial banks that are charging higher fees and paying lower interest rates to make up for failed investments, according to a survey released Monday.

"Ranking Banking: The 1990 Consumer Bank Scorecard," released jointly by city Consumer Affairs Commissioner Mark Green and State Sen. Franz Leichter, D-Manhattan, computed the "consumer quotient" of 49 city banks.

The quotient was figured by examining bank fees and interest earnings for checking, savings, NOW, Super-NOW and money market accounts and for basic services such as money orders and stop payments.

At a news conference outside Amalgamated Bank - one of the three top-rated institutions - on 54th Street and Broadway, Green and Leichter urged New Yorkers to shop around and find higher-rated banks to handle their accounts. Said Green, "If consumers use our scorecard to find the right bank for them, they could save a couple of hundred bucks a year."

Ridgewood Savings and Greater New York Savings also finished in the top three, while the three most expensive banks were found to be Bank Leumi, Dime Savings and Citibank. "For wealthy customers, big may be better," Green said. "But for average consumers, we found that smaller is beautiful."

Leichter blamed bad real estate loans made by bigger commercial banks for pushing up consumer fees faster than the rate of inflation. "The big banks are trying to profiteer from consumer banking to make up for their billion dollar losses from unwise foreign loans and real estate speculation," Leichter said.

The survey found that savings banks generally had lower interest fees and higher interest rates on demand-deposit accounts than big "money center" commercial banks, all of which ranked in the lower third of the survey.

Leichter, who has issued bank scorecards for seven consecutive years, said, "I am sure many consumers have over the years saved hundreds of dollars because of the scorecard."

Green added that during the research for the survey, his investigators came across numerous bank advertisements that violated the spirit - if not the letter - of the city's Consumer Protection Law. The Consumer Affairs department will issue a report on those findings next month, Green said.

MIAMI (NOV. 19) UPI - Mervyn's department store chain said Monday it plans to open 12 stores in Florida in 1991, including five that will replace existing Lord & Taylor stores to be bought from May Department Stores Co.

Mervyn's of Hayward, Calif., a subsidiary of Dayton Hudson Corp. of Minneapolis specializing in moderately priced fashions and home goods, said it expects to hire about 2,000 people as part of the expansion. Terms of the acquisition were not disclosed.

Mervyn's said it agreed to buy Lord & Taylor stores in Dade County, Coral Springs, Boynton Beach and Jensen Beach. The company said it expects to close the stores in January and re-open them as Mervyn's locations in July. Mervyn's bought and converted two Lord & Taylor stores in Houston in 1989.

Lord & Taylor operates six other stores in south Florida - two each in Dade, Broward, and Palm Beach counties. Those stores are not for sale, spokeswoman Jann Walker said.

Walker could not say how many people Lord & Taylor employs at the five stores it plans to sell. However, a spokeswoman for Mervyn's said the company is under no obligation to rehire the Lord & Taylor employees.

Mervyn's spokeswoman Sandra Salyer said the company plans to open seven other stores next year in Florida. To accomplish that, Mervyn's plans to build some stores and buy others, she said.

Salyer declined to say whether the company plans to buy other Lord & Taylor stores in Florida. Locations will be announced later, she said.

Mervyn's operates 227 stores in 15 states, but only one store in Florida, in Lakeland. The company sells casual apparel and home fashions at prices that are generally lower than other department stores, Salyer said.

"We have been looking at real estate in Florida for a number of years, and have just had difficulty in coming up with the right real estate locations," she said. "We've wanted to be in Florida for a long time."

The company also operates stores in Georgia and Louisiana.

Salyer said the expansion makes sense for Mervyn's despite the current economic downturn and falling consumer confidence because of the company's niche as a discount retailer, and because of the size of the expansion.

"It is clearly going to be much more cost efficient and we are going to be much better able to serve our customers both from a distribution and advertising standpoint with a greater number of stores," she said.

Also Monday, Lord & Taylor's announced plans to reduce the size of its store at the Galleria in Fort Lauderdale.

Other stores to be retained by Lord & Taylor's are located at the Aventura and Dadeland malls in Dade County, the Palm Beach Mall in West Palm Beach, Boca Town Center in Boca Raton, and the Fashion Mall in Plantation.

Stores to be sold are located at the Cutler Ridge and International malls in Dade County, Boynton Beach Mall, Coral Springs Shopping Center, and Treasure Coast Square in Jensen Beach.

PARIS (NOV. 19) UPI - An appeals court panel Monday ordered the head of the Vichy government's police in occupied France to stand trial for ''crimes against humanity,'' including roundup and deporting Jews during World War II.

Rene Bousquet, 81, who headed the police from April 18, 1942, to Dec. 31, 1943 would be tried under the same procedure used for Gestapo chief Klaus Barbie, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in Lyon in 1987.

The panel in Paris headed by Judge Albert Moatty rejected a recommendation from the state prosecutor's office that the case be heard by a special post-war tribunal on crimes during the Occupation, known as the Haute Cour, or high court.

Civil plaintiffs in the case, headed by famed Nazi hunter Serge Klarsfeld, argued that the Haute Cour, which included high-ranking parliamentarians from the period, would be difficult to reconsitute and would make a trial unlikely because of Bousquet's age and poor health.

In 1949, the Haute Cour sentenced Bousquet to five years of ''national indignity'' that deprived him of the right to vote or be elected to public office.

Klarsfeld and organizations of former deportees argue that new evidence indicates Bousquet's close involvement in raids and deportation of Jews during the Nazi Occupation in France. They blamed Bouquet for the deportation of at least 8,000 Jewish children under 13, even though the deportation of young children was not requested by the Germans.

Bousquet is the first high-ranking official of the Vichy government to be formally accused of war crimes since the immediate post-war period.

Klarsfeld and others have accused France's successive governments of trying to protect high-ranking officials as part of an effort to heal the rift in French society and to allow former ''collaborators'' to resume their role in politics and government.

The trial is expected to begin early next year.

MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 19) UPI - A prominent banker was kidnapped at gunpoint Friday morning but escaped about two hours later unharmed.

John Grundhofer, chief executive officer of First Bank System Inc., was abducted by an unidentifed man about 8:30 a.m. as he pulled his Mercedes into a downtown Minneapolis parking ramp.

About one-half hour after the abduction, Grundhofer, with the kidnapper allegedly holding a gun to his head, called in a ransom demand on the telephone in his car.

The FBI would not say how much the kidnapper demanded.

''He was taken directly over to Wisconsin,'' said FBI agent Jeff Jamar. ''There, he was left by the abductor in a position where he could escape. He was able to escape and went to a nearby farmhouse.''

Grundhofer called authorities from the farmhouse.

Authorities were vague about the details of the kidnap, but they said the kidnapper, who also was armed with a knife, threatened to harm the banker if he tried to escape. He then drove away in Grundhofer's car.

Grundhofer, 51, appeared with Jamar at a noon news conference at First Bank headquarters.

''First of all, I'm OK,'' he said. ''I have no idea why this took place this morning. Right now, I've got a bank to run. That's what I intend to do.

''I'm not going to comment further on details except to say thank you for all the concern expressed to me and my family.''

Jamar said authorities were looking for Grunhofer's dark gray, four- door 1990 Mercedes.

HOLLYWOOD (NOV. 19) UPI - Twentieth Century Fox's vacation-comedy "Home Alone" set a box-office record over the weekend for a fall season movie with an impressive $17.1 million take at the box office, the studio said Monday.

"The movie just exploded in terms of its popularity," said Thomas Sherak, Fox's executive vice president. "Our surveys showed 51 percent of the people leaving the theaters rated the movie 'excellent' and 74 percent said they would recommend it."

The film average $14,211 per screen and was shown at 1,202 theaters. Fox will add more screens this Wednesday, but Sherak could not say how many, then add about 400 screens on Dec. 14.

The three-day domestic gross surpassed the previous high for a movie released in the period between the end of summer and Thanksgiving weekend, set in October 1989 when Columbia's "Look Who's Talking" grossed $12.1 million.

The success of "Home Alone" is the latest for producer-writer John Hughes, whose credits include "Christmas Vacation," "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," "Uncle Buck," "Sixteen Candles" and "Pretty in Pink."

MGM-UA's "Rocky V" also debuted strongly, with a $14.1 million opening at 2,053 screens.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 19) UPI - Tainted Canadian track star Ben Johnson said Monday he is happy he got caught using steroids during the 1988 Seoul Olympics and expressed confidence that he can stay with longtime rival Carl Lewis in a race sometime next year.

''A lot of people are saying I can't make it back,'' Johnson said at a news conference called to promote his appearance in the Jan. 18 Sunkist Invitational indoor track meet. ''I'm in the greatest condition of my life. In practice I've been running very well. I don't even want to tell you how fast I've been going.''

Johnson ran 100 meters in 9.79 seconds in Seoul, but he was stripped of his gold medal after testing positive for steroids. He was later suspended for two years by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, but he was reinstated in September.

''I am rather glad I got caught,'' Johnson said. ''I'd rather have been caught to eliminate the possible long-term damage the drug could do to me. If I were to keep up the steroid use I could have damaged my liver. But I didn't.

''I never considered quitting. I just plan to come back. I have the support of my family and my friends. I'm glad everything is back to normal. I've always believed in myself and I train very hard.''

Johnson will return in a Jan. 12 meet in Toronto. It has been rumored he will meet Lewis in a match race for large dollars. Lewis was given the world record in the 100 at 9.92 seconds for his run in Seoul.

''I can't wait to run against Carl,'' Johnson said. ''I've been dreaming about it all the time I've been away. I've got no fear of Carl Lewis. I admire him and respect him but I don't fear him.''

The Canadian sprinter said the last two years have been draining.

''Its been tough,'' Johnson said. ''I lost a lot of my friends. Most of the friends left that I practiced with. The friends I lost weren't really my friends.

''Yes, I've paid my dues. It was unfair. I've known all along that I wasn't the only one using steroids. But I have to get back on the right track. I got caught. I was the big name, a great athlete and I came across as the bad guy. As time goes by, things will be back in my favor.''

Johnson said the steroids in his system in Seoul gave him very little advantage.

''Maybe one-half meter,'' he said. ''Not much, really. As it turns out I didn't need steroids. As time went on I realized that they were wrong.''

Johnson has looked slimmer during workouts, but he claimed he has not lost pounds since giving up steroids.

''My weight is right at 174,'' he said. ''The same weight I had when I set the world record.''

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Promising medical research into diseases ranging from breast cancer to AIDS is suffering because of a goverment ban on the French abortion pill in the United States, doctors and a congressman charged Monday.

Medical researchers and Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., sharply criticized the Food and Drug Administration during a contentious three-hour hearing on the status of the controversial drug RU 486.

''In the name of taking some kind of symbolic action ... critical medical research is being derailed,'' Wyden said. ''Americans are going to suffer needlessly due to this position. I think it's very irresponsible.''

FDA officials defended their decision to issue an alert that RU 486 cannot be brought into the country for personal use because it can cause serious side effects like bleeding and may be used without a doctor's supervision.

''The import alert was to try to protect individual citizens in this country '' said Ronald Chesemore, the FDA's associate commissioner for regulatory affairs. The alert, similar to that previously issued for nearly 60 other drugs, placed no limitations on importing the drug for research, he said.

RU 486 has been shown to be safe and effective for inducing abortions early in a pregnancy, allowing women to avoid surgical procedures. The drug has been made available for that use in France and other countries.

But the drug has not been approved in the United States. The drug's manufacturer, Roussel-Uclaf of Paris, has no plans to seek approval, in part because of strong opposition from anti-abortionists.

The FDA does, however, make exceptions in rare cases for individuals to bring small quantities of unapproved drugs into the country for their own use. But in June the agency issued an ''import alert'' announcing RU 486 would not be permitted in that way because of concerns over ''safety of the user.''

Wyden charged that the move was spurred by pressure from anti- abortionists and ''sent a message around the world'' that could discourage Roussel-Uclaf from making the drug available, even for testing for non-abortion uses.

Before FDA officials addressed Wyden's Subcommittee on Regulation, Business Opportunities and Energy, researchers testified the drug has shown promise for a wide range of diseases, including breast cancer, Cushing's disease, controlling obesity and even possibly treating AIDS and limiting aging.

If RU 486 was not also effective for inducing abortions, it would be considered ''a major medical breakthrough,'' said Dr. William Regelson, a professor of medicine at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

But despite the strong promise, research into RU 486's medicinal value has been severely limited in the United States because of a lack of availability of the drug, which works by blocking the action of the hormone progesterone, the researchers said.

''I believe enforcement of the import alert means that thousands of men and women are denied access to a safe and critically important drug to treat not only cancers but to correct many other hormonal problems,'' said Kathryn Horwitz of the University of Colorado in Denver.

Several patients who had been helped by the drug described their experience, and representatives from the American Medical Association, American Public Health Association and patients' groups called for more research.

''The issue here is not abortion, the issue is the life or death of women with breast cancer,'' said Helen Byrne of the Cancer Patients Action Alliance in New York, who described herself as a devout Catholic who is opposed to abortion.

(NOV. 19) - Winter bore down on the American Northwest with storm warnings and watches in several mountain states while snow fell on northern Maine and the sun shone in the south and the desert Southwest, the National Weather Service reported Monday.

A winter storm warning was in effect through Monday night for the Cascade and Olympic mountains of Washington and a watch was posted for other high elevations in the state. More than a foot of snow was likely above 3,000 feet in the Olympics and Cascades.

Strong winds accompanied the wet weather in the Pacific Northwest. Winds at Bellingham, Wash., gusted to 52 mph in late morning and gale warnings flew through the day along the coast.

Snow advisories were issued in Oregon for the Cascades and other high elevations. Up to 10 inches was possible before the snow eased off.

A winter storm watch was posted for most of Idaho, parts of Montana west of the Continental Divide, the western mountains of Wyoming and the high country of Utah.

The weather service in Salt Lake City said the system should produce abundant snow for the northern Utah mountains in time for Thanksgiving weekend travel.

''A winter storm watch has now been posted for all the Utah mountains Tuesday, as a winter-like storm will feast on Utah,'' said Bill Alder, the weather service's chief Utah meteorologist

Tropical moisture moving inland from California and cold Canadian air from British Columbia ''will join together over the Great Basin and produce a significant snow event, especially for the Utah mountains,'' he said.

A weak storm system dumped light rain over eastern New England but snow, sleet and freezing rain blanketed northern Maine as a winter weather advisory was posted for up to 6 inches of snow. Gale warnings flew along the coast of Maine New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

It was dry and bright over most of the nation and the sun burned off dense fog in the Central Plains and the middle Mississippi Valley, south to southern Texas.

Sunny skies prevailed over much of the Southeast and the Southwest.

Afternoon temperatures ranged from the the 20s and 30s in eastern New York and New England, the 40s in the Great Lakes region, the 60s and 70s across the South and the 80s in south Texas.

Sunshine and brisk southerly winds sent temperatures into the 50s in the northern central states and the 60s and 70s in the deserts and valleys and coastal Southwest.

Elkins, W.Va., was the cold spot in the nation for the second day, at 14 degrees. Record lows were set or tied in Asheville, N.C. (26), Elkins, (14, tied), and Tallahassee, Fla., (29, tied)

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Washington Redskins defensive end Dexter Manley was approved Monday for reinstatement to the NFL one year after he was suspended for a third violation of the league's substance abuse policy.

The Redskins immediately announced they have placed Manley on waivers, meaning he is eligible to sign with any team, and added in a statement: ''We wish him well.''

The reinstatement takes effect Tuesday, the league said in a statement from its New York offices, but he will not be eligible to play again until Dec. 9.

Manley, 32, was suspended Nov. 18, 1989, after testing positive for cocaine use. He was suspended for life but he was eligible to apply for reinstatement after one year.

''I would like to thank Commissioner (Paul) Tagliabue for approving my petition for reinstatement,'' Manley said in a statement released through his attorney, Bob Woolf. ''I am most grateful to the commissioner for the faith, trust and confidence he has placed in me.

''I will make every effort never to violate that trust.''

Manley has been enrolled in a substance abuse program in Houston and says he has been drug-free for more than a year.

Woolf, in a telephone interview, said he believed the delay in Manley's potential return to regular-season play in the NFL was to give his client and the league time ''to work out an after-care program that we can all agree on.''

''He's so very happy to be back in football,'' said Woolf, who spoke with Manley soon after the ruling was issued.

Woolf said Manley was at his home in Northern Virginia and ''wants to wait to see if he's picked up on waivers before making any further comment.''

The NFL statement said Tagliabue's decision is conditioned on several factors, including Manley's continued avoidance of further drug involvement and the player's participation in a structured support program.

''Manley must be enrolled in such a program before he may play in an NFL game on the weekend of Dec. 9,'' the statement said.

Teams expressing interest in Manley include the Phoenix Cardinals - caoched by former Redskins assistant Joe Bugel - the Miami Dolphins and the Los Angeles Raiders. NFC teams will get the chance to sign the Redskins' all-time sack leader before AFC teams and the order is determined by fewest victories.

The Redskins said in their statement they do not have room for Manley on their roster, citing a ''full complement of seven defensive linemen and another one on injured reserve.''

The Redskins this year traded for defensive linemen Eric Williams and Tim Johnson and signed Jumpy Geathers as a Plan-B free agent.

''We are pleased that the commissioner has reinstated Dexter Manley,'' the Redskins statement concluded, ''thus giving Dexter a second chance to prove himself to his football fans. We wish him well.''

Some fans attending the game Sunday at RFK Stadium in Washington made their feelings known, hanging banners in support of Manley, whose onfield enthusiasm made him a favorite among the faithful.

''Hey, Jack! We need more sacks. Bring Dexter back,'' said one directed at Redskins owner Jack Kent Cooke. ''Please keep 72. R.S.V.P. the fans'' and ''Dexter come home'' read two others.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Kuwait's ambassador to the United Nations said Monday it is doubtful that the U.N. embargo will force Iraq, with its ample supplies of military spare parts and food, to leave Kuwait in the foreseeable future.

"I doubt that sanctions will bite in the foreseeable future," said Mohammed Abdulla Abulhasan in reply to a question at a luncheon of businessmen at the World Trade Center.

He said Iraqi President Saddam Hussein has stockpiled "a tremendous reserve" of food, some of it taken from Kuwait, and has little regard for suffering of Iraqis, other than those in the army.

"With the reserves he has and the (disregard) he has for his people, the sanctions will not be as effective as we hoped in the beginning," Abulhasan said. "He has enough spare parts to carry him for quite a long time."

The ambassador stopped short of explicitly calling for an invasion by the multinational force to eject Iraqi forces, despite widespread reports that Kuwaiti officials favor that option. But he said, "The language of force is the only language he (Saddam) knows. He does not know the language of diplomacy, the language of sense."

Abulhasan said he knew "fractures" were starting to appear in the American people's support of the buildup of American forces in Saudi Arabia. "I know some are asking why American lives should be risked for a cheaper gallon of oil ... And I will tell you quite frankly: I am worried because Saddam Hussein has waited, and waited patiently, for just these fault lines to appear."

Abulhasan warned, "Oil is power. Whosoever controls the lion's share of it has much to say about the direction the developed world takes; about the health of the world's economy, and the stability of its markets. I don't think this is a privilege we want to cede to Saddam Hussein."

He called Saddam's offer to start releasing western hostages at Christmas "an idea to delay an American and multinational response." Saddam "is under pressure and he is starting to realize the multinational force ... means business," he said.

Asked later by reporters how much damage Iraq has inflicted on Kuwaiti oil fields, he said, "We don't have any exact report of damages. But we know there are now some mines that have been put there and we know that there are intentions of inflicting damage if any assault takes place."

He said Kuwait currently has 7,000 to 9,000 troops under arms in Saudi Arabia and more are arriving every day. "We hope by the time a military option (would) be needed, we should be able to have (sufficient forces there to be) a real part of that troop to liberate Kuwait."

(NOV. 19) UPI - Iraq says it is moved another 250-thousand troops into Kuwait because of the threat of an attack by the U-S-led multi-national force. The official Iraq News Agency says President Saddam Hussein gave the order today.

The new Iraqi troop movement comes the day after the nation said it would free all its foreign hostages in ''batches'' beginning on Christmas Day and running for three months after... if the multi- national force does NOT attack.

The leaders of 34 nations are gathered in Paris for a Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe. The three-day summit opened with the signing of a treaty that formally ended the Cold War.

In remarks to the conference, President Bush praised the success in negotiating conventional arms cuts in Europe and creating an atmosphere of peace. But he said that success must be matched by the world blocking any Iraqi profit from its aggression in Kuwait.

Soviet President Gorbachev told the Paris summit that his nation is patient in seeking a peaceful solution to the Persian Gulf crisis. But he also indicated that the Soviet Union would NOT cast its veto against a U-N Security Council resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 19) UPI - Farmers may cut their wheat acreage by ten percent next year in the face of a record world harvest this year and stronger prices for competing crops, the government said Monday.

"U.S. wheat prospects for 1991 point to decidedly lower production than the near-record 1990 crop," Agriculture Department economists said in a quarterly "outlook" report.

Growers harvested 2.74 billion bushels of wheat this year, up 35 percent from 1989 and the third-largest wheat crop ever. Yields averaged a record 39.6 bushels an acre. The spring wheat crop, at 586 million bushels, was a record.

As a result of a bumper crop worldwide, wheat prices are forecast to run at least $1 a bushel below the $3.72 a bushel paid for the 1989 crop. The government said the prospect for more attractive prices in other crops and a larger land setaside requirement to qualify for the farm program "will assure sharply reduced wheat seedings."

"Assuming the minimum (setaside) of 15 percent for 1991, a participation rate similar to this year likely would lead to four to five times more wheat area idled ... in 1991 than the approximately two million acres in 1990," the report said. The minimum decrease suggested in the report, 8 million acres, would equal slightly more than ten percent of the land sown for this year's crop.

The report said the new five-year farm policy bill, which would make some land ineligible for crop subsidies and in other instances would allow farmers to experiment with other crops without jeopardizing future eligibility for subsidies, would mean that even if farmers enroll in the farm program, some of their wheat land could be planted to other crops. "For 1991, the major impact of these provisions on participants is expected to be on spring wheat plantings," the report said.

U.S. wheat exports are projected to drop by 200 million bushels during the current marketing year, to 1.08 billion bushels. The U.S. stockpile of wheat could almost double by June 1, reaching an estimated 945 million bushels, compared to the 536 million bushels on hand when this year's harvest began.

The report said this year's large world crop probably would discourage wheat production in other countries as well, although some nations, including China and the Soviet Union, "are not very responsive to world price movements."

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - Stocks gained Monday in light holiday week trading as optimism about the outlook for interest rates allowed the market to shake off a sharp rise in oil prices.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 5.20 Friday, gained 15.10 to close at 2565.35.

Among broader market gauges, the New York Stock Exchange composite index added 1.04 to 174.34 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index gained 2.22 to 319.34. The price of an average share rose 18 cents.

Advances led declines 894-614 among the 1,987 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Volume amounted to 140,950,000 shares, down from 165,410,690 traded Friday.

Analysts said Wall Street's optimism about a further decline in interest rates allowed stocks to overcome a sharp rise in oil prices brought on by hawkish news from the Mideast.

Iraq said it would send more than 250,000 additional troops to Kuwait in anticipation of a possible attack by the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf. December crude oil futures closed up $1.72 at $31.50 a barrel.

Don Hays, director of investment strategy at Wheat, First Securities Inc. in Richmond, Va., said that, in his view, the oil market's reaction to the news was muted. So it was not surprising that stocks did not tumble on the news, he said.

"The price of oil was up $1.70 with the news that Saddam Hussein is sending 250,000 troops to the region. That's a modest reaction to headline news," Hays said. "A month or two ago, oil would have hit $50 on that."

As for why stocks closed higher, Hays said the market's optimism about interest rates stemmed from the Federal Reserve's move Monday to add more reserves to the banking system, sending the key rate that banks use to make overnight loans to each other down to 7 1/2 percent or 7 5/8 percent.

"That almost dictates a prime rate cut in the next day or two," Hays argued. "The prime rate is pegged off that rate. It's usually no more than 2 percent above it. With the overnight rate at 7 1/2 percent, under any kind of normal conditions that dictates a 9 1/2 percent prime rate, which is now at ten percent." The central bank had similarly intervened last Friday.

Hays also said there are "tremendous seasonal tendencies" coming up in the market over the next five weeks, as money managers seek to put money to work before the end of the year. "That should be very positive," he said.

On the trading floor, USF&G was the most active issue, plunging 2 3/8 to 7 3/4 amid fears the insurance company may have to cut its dividend even more to control costs. Philip Morris followed, up 3/4 to 49. IBM was third, up 1 1/8 to 114 7/8.

Among other blue chips, Eastman Kodak gained 1 1/8 to 43 1/8, Coca-Cola rose 1 1/8 to 46 7/8, Union Carbide added 3/8 to 16 1/4, and Sears was up 1/2 to 26 1/2. AT&T was unchanged at 32.

Elsewhere, MCA surged 2 3/8 to 67 1/4. Paul Marsh, an entertainment analyst with Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards in Los Angeles, said the gain stemmed from a published report that MCA has hired several leading Washington lobbyists to smooth out political opposition to the company's proposed acquisition by Japan's Matsushita Electric.

"That solidifies the feeling in investors' minds that there will be a deal," Marsh said. "Those kind of efforts show that MCA is really interested in doing a deal."

CBS fell four to 159 3/4 after saying that losses from baseball coverage were more than expected and that it expects a loss from continuing operations in the fourth quarter.

Volume of NYSE-listed issues, including trades in stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 171,845,890 shares, compared with 198,446,600 shares traded in the previous session.

Prices fell in light trading on the American Stock Exchange. The Amex Market Value index lost 1.05 to 296.47. Declines led advances 289-253 among the 785 issues traded. The price of an average share fell four cents. Composite volume totaled 10,554,400 shares vs. 11,029,080 traded Friday. B.A.T. Industries led the Amex issues, unchanged at 11.

The National Association of Securities Dealers composite index rose 1.88 to 352.73.

(NOV. 19) UPI - President Bush joined 21 other national leaders in Paris to sign a treaty to end the Cold War, but then he warned that their success will be diluted unless Kuwait is freed from the occupation by Iraq. NATO and Warsaw Pact nations signed the treaty that reduces conventional weapons in Europe as the opening of a three-day summit of 34 nations at the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein is ordering another quarter-Million troops into Kuwait. The official Iraq News Agency reported the decision today, saying Saddam acted after a meeting with his general command. The report says the order was issued because of the possibility of an attack by the U-S-led multi-national force gathered in the Persian Gulf region.

Earlier, President Bush ripped as a ''cynical ploy'' the Iraqi offer to free all its foreign hostages over a three-month period beginning on Christmas Day... if it is NOT attacked. Bush said the hostages should be freed immediately.

Soviet President Gorbachev also is in Paris for the European conference... even as a new challenge to his leadership emerged in the Soviet Union. Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin told the parliament in Ukrainia today that his republic- the largest in the Soviet Union- is ready to conduct a referendum on the Gorbachev presidency. He said the referendum also would check on voter confidence in the central Soviet government in Moscow.

NASA delayed the return of the shuttle Atlantis and its five-man crew by at least one 90-minute orbit today because of unacceptable wind conditions at the Edwards Air Force Base landing strip in California. The wind conditions threatened to delay the return still further, because forecasters say it is likely to remain windy through tomorrow.

Milli Vanilli will NOT get the chance to turn back their Grammy Award. It already has been taken from them... on paper at least. The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences voted today to revoke the 1989 Best New Artist Grammy because the pair did NOT sing as advertised on the top-selling album ''Girl You Know It's True.'' Academy President Michael Greene in Los Angeles said the ruling to rescind the Grammy was taken ''regretfully.'' The academy says that since Rob Pilatus and Fabrice Morvan did NOT sing, the album credit was incorrect and thus ineligible to compete for best new artist. Milli Vanilli plans a news conference in Los Angeles tomorrow.

NEW YORK (NOV. 19) UPI - The dollar mostly advanced Monday in light trading on news reports saying Iraq is to send another quarter-million soldiers to Kuwait and on market talk of dollar-buying by the Federal Reserve.

Currency traders said the New York foreign exchange market was in a "pre-holiday mode" in anticipation of the long Thanksgiving weekend.

But Iraq's decision to add 250,000 troops to its Kuwait occupation force to fend off any U.S. offensive to liberate the Persian Gulf emirate seized Aug. 2 spurred dollar purchases fueled by renewed war anxieties.

Dealers also reported hearing the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the central bank's agent in currency markets, had been buying dollars. But it was not clear such purchases, if made, had been interventionary. "Apparently, they bought," one New York trader said, "But it was not clear-cut enough for the market to say it was intervention."

In late New York trading, the dollar was quoted at 1.4730 German marks, up from 1.4678 marks Friday, and at 128.75 Japanese yen, down from 129.37.

First Interstate Bank currency vice president Charles Spence said the market was "overly short of dollars" under the 1.47-mark level and "extremely nervous about things such as (Fed) intervention or a flareup in the Mideast." "That's why we got such an exaggerated move," Spence said.

Other New York dollar rates: 1.2465 Swiss francs, up from 1.2450; 4.9765 French francs, up from 4.9635; and 1,109.25 Italian lire, up from 1,108.50. The British pound advanced to $1.9735 from $1.9675.

Sterling gained as players covered "short," or selling, positions ahead of Britain's ruling Conservative Party vote Tuesday deciding whether Margaret Thatcher, the prime minister, should continue to head the party.

In Europe, the dollar closed lower under the influence of the lastest easing by the Fed. Dealers reported quiet trading ahead of holidays this week in the United States, Japan and Germany.

The Fed eased its key Fed funds rate to 7.5 percent from 7.75 percent Friday as moderating inflation and a narrowing trade deficit pointed to U.S. economic weakness. Lower interest rates send investors into other units.

The dollar fell in both Frankfurt, closing at 1.4668 German marks vs. 1.4790, and Zurich, at 1.2425 Swiss francs vs. 1.2430.

In London, the pound closed higher, at $1.9715 vs. $1.9665, despite uncertainty over the Conservatives' leadership vote. Britain, a net oil exporter, also saw sterling gain on higher oil prices.

The dollar fell in Paris, Brussels and Milan, to, respectively: 4.9610 French francs vs. 4.9935; 30.32 Belgian francs vs. 30.40; and 1, 107.55 lira from 1,115.10.

Earlier in Tokyo, the dollar lost ground to the yen, closing at 128.95 yen, down from Friday's 129.73.

The dollar fell at the start of Monday's trading in reaction to an Iraqi announcement that Baghdad would conditionally free thousand of foreign hostages starting Christmas Day. But the impact seemed to wear off as the session continue.

Gold closed higher in Zurich, at $379 an ounce vs. $377.50 Friday, and in London, at $379.75 an ounce vs. $376.50.

Silver closed unchanged in Zurich at $4.15 an ounce but rose in London to $4.16 an ounce from $4.12 late last week.

Republic National Bank in New York closed cash gold at $381.75 an ounce, up from $379.50 Friday. The New York Commodity Exchange settled contract gold at $381.40 an ounce, up from $378.90.

Republic closed cash silver at $4.145 an ounce, down from $4.16. Comex silver ended at $4.14 an ounce, down from $4.15.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - The pop-singing duo Milli Vanilli was stripped Monday of its 1989 Best New Artist Grammy because the pair did not sing on the top-selling album ''Girl You Know It's True'' although it carried the group's name.

The award was revoked by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences' national board of trustees following a vote Monday, marking the first such occurrence in the 33-year history of the Grammys.

Academy President Michael Greene said the ruling to rescind Milli Vanilli's award had been taken ''regretfully.''

''The decision comes as a result of admissions and revelations ... that the label credit on their album 'Girl You Know It's True' was incorrect and the group was thus not eligible to compete in the Best New Artist category,'' Greene said.

A spokesman for Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan - the pair promoted as the group Milli Vanilli who announced over the weekend they would willlingly return their Grammy - said they would withhold comment until Tuesday, when the performers scheduled a news conference to discuss the controversy in depth.

''We know that we were involved in something that was wrong,'' Pilatus told the Los Angeles Times Saturday.

The academy waited several days before deciding how to handle the embarrassing incident that came to light last week when group's German- based producer, Frank Farian, fired Pilatus and Morvan and announced the two did not sing on their debut album, which was distributed by Arista Records and sold 7 million copies.

Pilatus and Morvan also confirmed that they did not sing on the album and admitted they lip-synched in music videos and during live concerts, including their performance on the televised Grammy Award show in March.

The Grammy is considered a symbol of recording artistic excellence and winners are selected by approximately 6,000 voting members of the academy, which is made up of a broad spectrum of singers, musicians, producers, engineers, songwriters, conductors and other creative figures in the recording industry.

Greene attempted to downplay the academy's oversight that led to the selection of Milli Vanilli, saying the music organization receives up to 9,000 entries annually in the Grammy Award process and relies on the accuracy and credibility of label credits supplied by the record companies.

''In this specific instance, critical portions of this label credit are incorrect and misleading to the recording academy's voting membership,'' Greene said. ''This is deemed totally unacceptable.''

He added that the academy planned to review whether to award the 1989 Best New Artist Grammy to another musician and would make an announcement on the matter ''in the near future.''

Members of the academy base their voting decision on the album credits provided by record companies. Morvan and Pilatus allege that top officials at Arista Records and the German conglomerate Bertelsmann Music Group (BMG) were aware fo the false album credits prior to their Grammy nomination.

NARAS has often been criticized for recognizing stylish, successful musicians over artists who may be more talented, but have a harder time racking up record sales.

Meanwhile, in Oakland, Calif., a woman sued the group, claiming her 14-year-old son and other Milli Vanilli fans were defrauded by the musicians and their managers.

''The entire Milli Vanilli success story is a fake foisted upon unsuspecting consumers by the defendants in this action who bilked untold numbers of consumers, many of them children, out of tens of millions of dollars,'' contended the lawsuit filed by Sheila Stalder in Alameda County Superior Court.

Stalder is asking for unspecified punitive damages from the duo and also demanded Pilatus and Morvan, their agents, and Arista records, to refund the purchase price of the album, compact disc, tapes and videotapes to consumers.

The lawsuit contends Milli Vanilli and the producers and marketers of the Grammy-winning album engaged in a ''pernicous, elaborate and fradulent scheme'' because the singers failed to perform.

''We don't have an accurate accounting yet but they sold seven million of the one that won the Grammy,'' said Alan M. Caplan, Stalder's attorney. ''It could run into the tens of millions of dollars.''

ISSAQUAH, WA (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Personal computer software reseller Egghead Discount Software (NASDAQ: EGGS) today reported second quarter fiscal 1991 earnings of $1.5 million, or $.09 per share, representing the company's fourth consecutive profitable quarter and an increase of $5.9 million over its second quarter fiscal 1990 loss of $4.3 million, or $.27 per share.

Egghead's second quarter results included a $1.7 million accrual for costs expected to be incurred in the $2.9 million settlement of a class action shareholders' lawsuit. Egghead's sales for the twelve-week quarter ended Oct. 13, 1990, increased 17 percent to $114.8 million compared to sales of $98.5 million in the like period a year ago.

Earnings in the first half of Egghead's fiscal 1991 were $3.7 million, or $.22 per share, up $13.2 million from a loss of $9.5 million, or $.59 per share, in the first half a year ago. Sales increased 18 percent to $259.5 million in the first half fiscal 1991, from $220.8 million in the first half a year ago.

The company attributed the second quarter earnings improvement to an increase in its gross margin rate and to a significant decrease in selling, general, and administrative expense (SG&A) as a percentage of sales. Egghead's gross margin grew from 16.7 percent of sales in second quarter fiscal 1990 to 17.5 percent in second quarter fiscal 1991, even though direct sales -- which typically have lower margins than retail sales -- increased as a percentage of total sales. Additionally, the company reduced SG&A expenses from 18.5 percent of sales in second quarter fiscal 1990 to 15.0 percent in second quarter fiscal 1991.

Egghead Discount Software sells personal computer software, peripherals, and accessories to individuals, businesses and government accounts through its company-operated retail stores and through its direct sales force in the U.S. and Canada. Egghead currently operates 188 retail stores and employs a direct sales force of approximately 330.

Troutman attributed the gain in third quarter net income to improved gross margins and higher net sales. He added that orders received during the third quarter exceeded expectations.

These orders included an initial order from a West German car manufacturer for the company's combustion analysis system, a contract from Martin Marietta for a system to be used for monitoring acceleration and pressure data during Titan IV lift- off and an order from Wichita State University, Kansas, for equipment to test the safety of airplane seats. Troutman added, ''The two latter orders represent new applications in the aerospace industry for the company's products.''

(RGI), giving Oce Graphics exclusive marketing and distribution rights of RGI's current and future products throughout Europe, and non-exclusive rights in other geographic markets.

Oce Graphics currently holds over one-third of the pen and direct imaging plotter market, worldwide. Jean-Paul Villot, chief executive officer of Oce Graphics, predicts immediate success with the commercialization of RGI's first product offering, a 24-inch color raster plotter, set to begin early next year.

''We are confident that we will rapidly capture one-third of the wide format color raster market in Europe,'' he said. ''Raster Graphics' innovative and technically advanced products combined with Oce Graphics' expanding sales and service network, will intensely challenge the European plotter market,'' Villot further explained.

''We believe that Europe is an ideal marketplace for our advanced technology products,'' commented Andreas Bibl, chief executive officer of Raster Graphics. ''We are excited that Oce Graphics will be our partner in pursuing this market and we are looking forward to a very successful relationship.''

Raster Graphics, founded in 1987, manufactures and markets a family of large format, laser quality color printers. The ColorStation D was originally introduced to the U.S. market in August of 1989. In April of 1990, the ColorStation was introduced in Japan through an exclusive distribution arrangement with NKK.

According to Bibl, ''The agreement with Oce is a major milestone for Raster Graphics, giving us a strong partner in the dynamic European marketplace.''

Founded as Benson in 1955, Oce Graphics produces and markets a wide range of graphics peripherals used in engineering, drafting and graphic design applications. The firm is the largest seller of pen plotters in Europe, and third largest worldwide.

GLENDALE, CALIF. (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - A stunning $225 million in total lease transactions have been finalized by Lincoln Property Company N.C. Inc. at its new Carnation Building in Glendale, resulting in full occupancy of the 21-story high-rise on the day it officially opened, company officials reported Tuesday.

One of the few bright spots in an otherwise spotty Southern California office market, the 502,000-square-foot structure will be occupied by a host of professional service firms in addition to housing two of the nation's more recognizable names -- Carnation and Walt Disney.

Although Carnation Co., in its first-ever joint-venture office development, occupied 55 percent of the building, the other 225,000 square feet posed a particular marketing challenge to Lincoln's in-house marketing team led by John R. Miller, senior vice president and operating partner.

Miller and Allen Palmer, director of marketing, led a skeleton staff of just six Lincoln employees to one of the fastest and most valuable leasing cycles for any building in the Los Angeles area over the past five years.

They marketed the building's features, which included Carnation as the lead tenant, architecture by Scott Johnson of the firm Johnson Fain and Pereira Associates, and a premier location on Brand Boulevard, as major attractions to the structure.

''One of the major challenges developers face in a market like this is the competition for tenants, especially when your potential lead tenant is a major national corporation looking for 275,000 square feet,'' said Miller. ''After we made our joint-venture deal with Carnation, we could breathe a little easier but we still had to fill up about half the building.''

HILLIARD, OH (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Medex Inc. Tuesday announced it has signed an agreement to acquire Ivion Corp., a privately held Delaware corporation with its principle place of business in Englewood, Colo., through a merger transaction, which provides that Ivion will become a wholly owned subsidiary of Medex.

The acquisition builds Medex's presence in the high-technology, precision fluid and drug administration niche of the medical products marketplace.

The approximately $6.5 million acquisition will be paid by Medex through cash assets and borrowings.

For the first three quarters of 1990, Ivion posted sales of approximately $13.5 million and a net loss of $1.5 million, due in part to write-offs associated with a restructuring program. For the fourth quarter ending Dec. 31, Ivion anticipates sales of $4.6 million and a net loss of $250,000.

Ivion manufactures precision fluid infusion pumps and related disposable sets serving adult and pediatric hospitals and the ambulatory and home health care markets. During the year it introduced the KIDS pump for pediatric hospitals and the EZ-1 pump for general adult hospitals. Ivion's market niche complements that of MedFusion, the Georgia-based Medex subsidiary that manufactures syringe pumps and ambulatory pumps used in pediatric and home health care settings.

''The addition of the Ivion product line enables Medex to supply products meeting virtually every drug infusion procedure practiced in hospitals and home health care,'' said Craig Waldbillig, chairman and chief executive officer. ''Medex will leverage significant opportunities to build market penetration and internal efficiencies by exploring joint efforts of Ivion and MedFusion.''

Medex designs, manufactures and distributes a wide range of disposable medical products for critical and acute care. Life-support products include disposable sets for intravenous fluid and drug administration and invasive pressure monitoring, as well as products for anesthesia, intensive care, cardiac catheterization, oncology and pain management.

Operating subsidiaries of Medex include Medex Medical Inc., Rossendale, England; Cardionova, GmbH, Dusseldorf, West Germany; and MedFusion Inc., Duluth, Ga. Medex stock is traded over-the-counter on the NASDAQ National Market System under the MDEX symbol.

DENVER (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Mountain Medical Equipment Inc. (AMEX:MTN) Tuesday reported a net loss of $421,000, or 13 cents per share, on revenues of $6,080,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

This compares to net income of $423,000, or 13 cents per share, on revenues of $9,816,000 for the same period last year. For the six months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the company reported a net loss of $597,000, or 18 cents per share, on revenues of $12,697,000 compared to net income of $744,000, or 23 cents per share, on revenues of $18,414,000 for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

While revenues from the sale of concentrators declined by 50 percent for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared to the same period the previous year sales of the company's nebulizers, including the ultrasonic medication nebulizer, MicroStat, continue to be strong, showing a 14 percent growth in revenues for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, vs. the same period last year. Revenues from sales of the Avatar Personal Bowel Care System were insignificant during the quarter, however, in October the company introduced a model of Avatar designed for high-volume use by institutions.

Milton G. Adair, president and chief executive officer, noted: ''that at the end of the first quarter, while the market for oxygen concentrators continued to be extremely depressed, we were cautiously optimistic regarding the company's ability to show improved operating results throughout fiscal 1991, particularly as a result of increased market acceptance of MicroStat and Avatar. ''While market acceptance of these products has been encouraging, the market for oxygen continues to be extremely depressed and we believe it is unlikely we will see any significant growth in this product line in fiscal 1991.''

Adair further commented that: ''based on the operating results to date, it is unlikely we will be profitable for the year ending March 31, 1991...However, we are continuing our efforts to reduce costs and believe we soon will reach an agreement with our banks, which will include a plan to raise $3 million of additional capital, which should enable us to increase our focus on competitively meeting the needs of our marketplace.''

KANSAS CITY, MO (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - UtiliCorp United (NYSE:UCU) announced Tuesday that the Missouri Public Service division has filed a request with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to increase its wholesale electric rates by approximately $830,000 annually, or an average of 12.75 percent.

Under the request, the new rates would be effective on Jan. 15, 1991.

The increase is needed primarily to offset the costs of an ongoing project to rebuild the division's Sibley Generating Station. Increasing costs of purchased power capacity, required to meet greater customer demand, also have contributed to the need for more revenues.

The last wholesale rate increase occured in 1984. Rates were decreased by 3 percent in 1987 to offset beneficial impacts of the 1986 Tax Reform Act.

The rate action affects the Missouri communities of Odessa, Rich Hill, El Dorado Springs, Liberal, Pleasant Hill, Harrisonville, Gilman City and Galt. Those communities buy electricity wholesale from Missouri Public Service and distribute it over municipal systems. The FERC has jurisdiction over wholesale rate matters.

Missouri Public Service provides service to about 160,000 electric customers and 40,000 natural gas customers located in north-central and west-central Missouri. The service area includes much of the eastern and northern portions of the Greater Kansas City area.

Based in Kansas City, UtiliCorp provides gas and electric service to 820,000 customers in eight states and the province of British Columbia. SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - BRE Properties Inc. (NYSE:BRE) reported net income of $3,218,000 (41 cents per share) for the company's first fiscal quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, compared with net income of $17,692,000 ($2.24 per share) in the like period a year ago.

In last year's first fiscal quarter, net income included a net gain on sales of investments totaling $10,434,000 ($1.32 per share) and the benefit of a litigation settlement amounting to $3,424,000 (43 cents per share).

Also, BRE Properties Tuesday declared a quarterly dividend of 60 cents per share, payable Dec. 20, 1990, to shareholders of record Dec. 3, 1990.

Funds from operations, the company's benchmark measure of performance, totaled $4,467,000 in the quarter, down from $4,900,000 in the first quarter last year.

Funds from operations in the most recent quarter were reduced by special expenses amounting to $621,000, primarily for the re-roofing and renovation of common areas at two apartment properties.

Total revenue for the first fiscal quarter was $10,075,000, compared with $13,448,000 (including a $3,424,000 litigation settlement) in the like quarter last year.

BRE's President and Chief Executive Officer, Arthur G. Von Thaden said: ''The economy of California and its overall real estate picture remain fundamentally strong. Although the state is not immune from the effects of a national recession, it should continue to progress at a rate ahead of the nation.''

Von Thaden said: ''In any case, BRE is well-fortified to withstand a slowdown in the economy. The company has substantial liquidity and shareholders' equity in more than two times total liabilities. BRE is not highly leveraged and the majority of its properties have strong occupancy levels.''

He added that BRE was focusing sharply on selected vacancies. In the first quarter BRE wrote off the unamortized portion of tenant improvements at the vacant 54,000 square-foot Peppertree Warehouse facility in Hayward, Calif., adding $134,000 to depreciation.

BRE Properties is a real estate investment trust which invests primarily in apartments, shopping centers, light industrial, office and warehouse buildings in the Western United States.

KANSAS CITY, MO (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - US Sprint will offer an unprecedented free calling program to thousands of military personnel in Saudi Arabia beginning over the Thanksgiving holiday.

For many of the troops in the forward lines, it will be the first opportunity to call home to family and friends. US Sprint expects to carry several thousand calls placed by military personnel directly back to the United States and into Sprint's all-digital fiber-optic network during the holiday period. US Sprint also is offering the free calls to Navy and Air Force personnel in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf.

''If our troops can't be home for Thanksgiving, at least many of them will be able to talk to their families and loved ones,'' said Ron LeMay, president of US Sprint. ''This is the most comprehensive, and rewarding, of all the special free holiday calling plans we've offered for the military over the past seven years.''

This program is an extension of US Sprint's ongoing calling effort with the Military Affiliates Radio System (MARS), which has offered free emergency and medical calling since the crisis began. This expansion to include free calling for front-line troops will extend through the end of the year.

The MARS program uses radio frequencies from ships and foreign countries back to amateur radio operators in the United States, who patch the calls onto the Sprint network. US Sprint has been offering free holiday calling over the MARS system for seven years.

US Sprint's additional free communication programs supporting Desert Shield include Persian Gulf hourly news updates via facsimile to more than 30,000 callers, and several long distance and conference calling services for hostages returning to the United States, and their families.

EAST HANOVER, NJ (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - The Ultimate Corp. (NYSE:ULT) said Tuesday that its board of directors has amended the company's Shareholder Rights Plan, adopted April 11, 1990, and amended previously on Oct. 25, 1990.

The board's amendment, made at the request of a large shareholder, will allow the accumulation of up to 25 percent of the company's common shares by a beneficial owner before the rights under the Plan become exercisable.

The board's action does not affect any other provision of the Plan, which continues to specify that a tender or exchange offer for 20 percent or more of the company's shares will trigger the exercisability of the rights.

In commenting, Ultimate Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer Michael J. O'Donnell said: ''The Plan is intended to protect shareholders by encouraging a potential acquiror to negotiate with the company's board. It has never been intended to discourage investors.

''The board believes that, under today's market conditions, this Plan, as modified, adequately protects shareholders' equity investment from unfair or coercive bidding tactics.''

DFW AIRPORT, TEXAS (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - American Airlines Tuesday announced it will create a new West Coast gateway to Japan on March 2, 1991, when it inaugurates non-stop service between its San Jose hub and Tokyo.

American will serve the route with the first of its new long-range McDonnell Douglas MD-11 aircraft.

Also on March 2, American will begin non-stop service between San Jose and Boston. The same MD-11 airplanes that fly the new Tokyo route also will operate to and from Boston, thus providing a one-stop, same-airplane service between Boston and Japan.

The new flights will mark the first time in American's history that it has recorded a triple inaugural -- a new international route, a new domestic route and a new aircraft in international service -- all on the same day.

''We are delighted to be creating this new West Coast gateway to the Pacific '' said Jospeh J. D'Ambrosio, American's western division vice president. ''Japan is one of the largest and most important aviation markets in the world and the new flights to Tokyo will be a major step forward in making San Jose an important West Coast gateway for travel and shipping in the Pacific.''

The Tokyo service also underscores the strong development of the San Jose hub and its ability to support long-haul, international flights, D'Ambrosio said.

The new 245-seat MD-11s American will use on the route will be delivered to American in January and will be outfitted promptly for service in the Pacific. American has ordered a total 15 MD-11s, with options for 35 more. Five of the airplanes will be delivered to American in 1991.

The MD-11 will fly in a three-cabin configuration that includes 16 sleeper seats in first class, 66 seats in business class, and 163 seats in economy class.

American's in-flight services between San Jose and Tokyo will feature the airline's new International Flagship Service, which includes newly designed in first class and business class, an elaborate meal and beverage service, and new in-flight entertainment systems.

FOSTER CITY, CALIF (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - For the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, Blyth Holdings Inc. (the ''company'') announced that it had a net loss of $128,154 as compared to a net profit of $155,683 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $964,969 as compared to $970,294 for the like quarter in fiscal 1990. The results for the quarter were negatively impacted by significantly higher expenses relating to the consulting and training costs for the company's systems integration business.

In addition, the company incurred higher marketing, sales, advertising and tradeshow expenditures in an effort to increase sales of software, consulting and training. The financial results for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 included insurance proceeds from the death of the company's founder during the second quarter of fiscal 1991.

Without giving effect to such insurance proceeds, the company's net loss would have been $673,804.

A. Brean Murray, president and chief executive officer of the company commented: ''During the first two quarters of fiscal 1991, the company has stepped up its efforts to make the corporate 1000 marketplace aware of the capabilities of the Omnis family of products and to provide this marketplace with the services necessary to assist in implementing these capabilities.

''The additional working capital received during the second quarter, including the infusion of $1,890,000 from the company's private equity financing, will allow the company to continue its aggressive marketing efforts and to provide the necessary professional services to its corporate customers.

''The company believes that these efforts will begin to have a positive impact on the company's revenues in the future.''

MILPITAS, CALIF. (NOV. 21) BUSINESS WIRE - System Industries Inc. (AMEX:SYI) Tuesday announced revenues of $23,883,000 for the first quarter of fiscal 1991 ended Oct. 20, 1990, an increase of $25,000 from the $23,858,000 reported in the comparable quarter of fiscal 1990.

For the first quarter, the company posted a net loss of $253,000 (5 cents per share primary and fully diluted) vs. a net loss of $705,000, for the comparable period in fiscal 1990 (13 cents per share primary and fully diluted).

''The company anticipated strong competitive pricing pressures to continue in our North American sales, but the industry-wide slowdown in shipments further adversely affected the company's operating results,'' said Andrew D. Wahl, vice president of finance and chief financial officer.

He added, ''However, we believe that the company's results indicate substantial improvement in the company's ability to maintain margins and control expenses in a difficult marketplace. In the next quarter, new product introductions, cost improvements, and continuing focus on expense controls should result in increased revenues. First quarter results were favorably affected by the reversal of approximately $650,000 of restructuring revenues which were no longer considered necessary.''

The first quarter was highlighted by the introduction of the Rx Series Relational Accelerator. This strategically significant product continues System Industries focus on highly differentiated products that address specific customer problems and that require solution selling and field maintenance.

An outgrowth of a strategic partnership with Charles River Data Systems of Framingham, Mass., the Rx Series offers very effective cost and performance advantages for processing of the ORACLE relational database management system. It is essentially a peripheral system that plugs into Digital Equipment Corp. VAX computers and takes over a portion of the ORACLE processing load. This increases performance, enables customers to add more online users, and frees the host VAX computer for other tasks. The ORACLE RDBMS is the leading database system in the VAX market with about 42 percent of the installed RDBMS base.

LOWELL, MA (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - TIL Systems Tuesday announced that it has been awarded a multi-million dollar contract by EDS (Electronic Data Systems Corp.) for their Out-dial products.

The total contract worth approximately $10 million was granted to EDS by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). ''Through our continuing research into advanced data communications technology, we have been able to develop and refine an extremely cost-effective alternative to dedicated leased lines.

''This highly focused technical drive has been instrumental in securing this major government contract and is indicative of the growing demand for error-free, inexpensive data communications solutions,'' said Paul Hyde, TIL's senior vice president of marketing and sales.

TIL's Emucom products will replace USDA's manual dial modems. The Emucom product line provides a low cost method to transparently use dial-up telephone lines for data transmission across X.25 wide area networks. It presents a ''leased line'' appearance to the X.25 devices.

FastComm Inc. of Reston, Va., a major supplier to TIL, contributed the V.32 modem technology incorporated in the Out-dial product. Further this Out-dial technology is fully complian twith CCITT V.32 and X.32 recommendation.

SPARTA, NJ (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Laser Recording Systems, Inc. (''LRS'') (NASDAQ:LRSI (common stock), LRSIW (warrants) LRSIU (units); Boston Stock Exchange:LRSU) Tuesday announced that it has been awarded the largest single contract award in its history from Schering-Plough Corporation's Research Division.

Under the terms of the contract, LRS will provide Schering-Plough with a turnkey document management system designed to convert to digital form and index the massive documentation stemming from multi-year clinical human trials. Before a pharmaceutical company makes a new drug application (NDA) to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, it must conduct human clinical trials on thousands of subjects, across the globe, over many years. The data accumulated is not only voluminous, but in many different formats, from handwritten ledgers to text-base systems initiated on a wide variety of non-compatible computer systems. The LRS system, which will run on Schering-Plough's existing Digital Equipment Corporation DECnet local area network, will incorporate VAX-based optical disk jukeboxes, DOS-based image workstations and customized software.

Carver Washburn, President of Laser Recording Systems, commented, ''Beyond its dollar value, this contract is of particular significance to us. For one, it is our first contract for a turnkey system designed to support the clinical trial stage of new drug development. Moreover, we beat out several important competitors. We believe that our reputation within the pharmaceutical industry, due primarily to our ONDA system which allows FDA reviewers and pharmaceutical company personnel to easily navigate through the entire NDA on a desktop size system, played an important role in getting this major project. This contract award has also helped to strengthen our relationship with DEC. Finally, we are naturally pleased by the increase in our backlog that this contract produced and the new revenues it will generate.''

Laser Recording Systems, Inc. offers an integrated optical disk-based systems solution to the pharmaceutical industry and other market niches through the application of proprietary software, data base management, local area networking and optical disk technologies.

SCHENECTADY, NY (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - GE Power Generation announced Tuesday that it has signed a $34.5 million contract with the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) for a two-year program to inspect and repair 44 of the utility's GE Frame 5 and Frame 7 gas turbines, capable of supplying more than 2,000 megawatts to TVA's system to meet peak power demands.

GE will also replace Mark I controls on the gas turbines with new Simplex control panels.

The contract calls for GE to inspect the gas turbines and make reliability and availability improvements by installing new hot gas and combustion parts, controls and other components as needed. The program includes 16 GE MS5001Ns, each rated at 21 megawatts, and 28 GE MS7001Bs each rated at 60 megawatts, located at TVA's new Johnsonville, Colbert and Allen power stations.

Utility industry reports indicate that within the next five years 25 percent of the U.S. power plants now operating will be nearing the end of their expected useful lives. As a result, many of those power plants have undergone or will undergo some type of life extension through upgrades, refurbishments or repowering.

Based on average U.S. usage, 2,000 megawatts is enough power to meet the needs of approximately 1.4 million people, roughly the size of the Milwaukee metropolitan area.

Some of the units included in the program have been in service as long as 20 years. TVA wants to complete the renovation program in time for its 1992 summer peak season.

GE is the world's leading manufacturer and supplier of power generation systems and services, including steam turbines, gas turbines, generators, controls, STAG combined-cycle systems, cogeneration power equipment and a variety of uprate, upgrade and power plant maintenance programs. Through a subsidiary component, GE Environmental Systems, GE provides flue gas desulfurization and other air purification systems.

RIVERSIDE, CA (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Rastra Building Systems Inc., Riverside, (NASDAQ:RAST), has completed two southwest stores for McDonald's Corp. and is in discussions with managers of other regions who are looking to use the patented RASTRA material and process for other McDonald's facilities.

The Rastra material, developed in Austria in 1968 and currently being manufactured in eight countries around the world, grinds recycled polystyrene into small beads, coats the beads with a cementious ''skin'' and then forms the coated beads into a long cinder-block-like construction element.

The result is an exceptionally strong, fire-resistant wall or ceiling material that also provides high insulation value and excellent soundproofing.

In addition to the McDonald's contracts, RASTRA announced this week the approval of the RASTRA product for use in the construction of an 82-room motel in Bentonville, Ark. Start date is Dec. 1, 1990.

Mitsubishi Cement Co. also ordered the RASTRA material for the construction of an addition to their office building at Bear Valley and they have asked that the RASTRA product be considered in bids for two completely new office buildings at other locations. The Bear Valley project began on Nov. 12 and is expected to be completed in early January 1991.

Near Scottsdale, Ariz., the Pima Maricopa Indian Community has begun construction of their new 60,000 square foot, three-story court house using the RASTRA product and has placed orders for additional product for use in the construction of shops, storage and other facilities.

COLUMBUS, OH (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Goal Systems International Inc. (NASDAQ:GOAL) Tuesday announced unaudited results for its quarter and nine months ended Oct. 31.

Revenue for the quarter was $28.0 million, a 42 percent increase over $19.7 million for the like quarter last year. Net income for the quarter was $2.4 million, a 21 percent increase over $2.0 million for the like quarter last year. Earnings per share were 12 cents, compared to 10 cents in the prior year's quarter.

For the nine months, revenue increased by 39 percent to $77.2 million from $55.5 million a year ago. One-time merger and acquisition-related expenses of $5.2 million (or 20 cents per share) in the first quarter adversely affected net income for the period of $2.3 million, or 12 cents per share, vs. $4.7 million, or 26 cents per share, a year ago. Without the one-time expenses, net income for the nine months would have been $6.0 million, or 31 cents per share.

All prior year numbers have been restated to reflect poolings of interest from two acquisitions completed in the first quarter of this year.

Revenue growth was led by the domestic Data Center Management (DCM) Division and international operations which both experienced a more than 50 percent increase over the like quarter a year ago. Information Technology Division (ITD) revenue increased only 6 percent over the like quarter last year due in part to a lengthening of the sales cycle.

''Our impressive overall results were fueled by significant increases in revenue from recently acquired products, as well as continuing strength in our core DCM business,'' said Goal Systems President and CEO David C. Wetmore. ''We are very pleased to see such strong market acceptance of our entire DCM product line.''

Goal Systems designs, develops and markets software products grouped into two business units. The Data Center Management Division consists of a broad range of systems software products for IBM and compatible mainframe computers which allow users to manage, automate, monitor and analyze the use, cost and performance of their data processing resources. MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Dayton Hudson Corporation today reported higher operating profit and lower earnings in the third quarter ended November 3, 1990. The corporation also announced a $1 billion capital spending plan for 1991.

Operating profit rose slightly from the record 1989 third quarter, while nine-month 1990 operating profit was 12 percent ahead of last year.

Net earnings for the third quarter declined to $58 million compared with $64 million last year due to the impact of the ESOP and the acquisition of Marshall Field's.

Fully diluted earnings per share in the third quarter were 70 cents, compared with 83 cents in the 1989 period.

The third-quarter results are flat with 1989 when the impact of 8 cents for the ESOP program and approximately 5 cents net dilution from Marshall Field's are excluded.

Revenues from our three operating divisions in the 1990 third quarter were $3.62 billion, an increase of 16 percent from the same period a year ago. Comparable-store revenues rose 3 percent.

Target's contribution to operating profit was up in the third quarter due to continued sales growth and improved gross margin. Mervyn's sales rose. However, its savings from tight expense controls were more than offset by lower gross margin, primarily from a higher LIFO charge. Operating profit at the Department Stores rose due to the Field's LIFO credit.

NEW YORK (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Millicom Inc. (NASDAQ: MILL) Tuesday reported results for the third quarter and nine month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Revenues from sales and services in the 1990 nine month period were $122,233,000 compared to $76,652,000 in the same period last year, an increase of 60 percent. For the first three quarters of 1990, the company reported a net loss of $46,937,000 compared to a net loss of $23,471,000 in the prior year.

For the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, the company reported revenues from sales and services of $45,867,000 vs. $35,354,000 in the same period a year ago, which represents an increase of 30 percent. For the third quarter, Millicom reported a net loss of $23,462,000 compared to a net loss of $18,233,000 in the prior year.

The increases in revenues relate principally to growth of the company's cellular telephone operations in the United Kingdom and the worldwide alphanumeric paging operations of approximately $14,800,000 and $19,500,000, respectively, for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Profit contribution before marketing, general and administrative expenses in the third quarter rose to $3,761,000 from $1,716,000 in the same period last year and for the nine months rose to $8,810,000 from a loss of $2,003,000 in the prior year.

Commenting on the results, J. Shelby Bryan, the company's chairman and chief executive officer, stated: "Millicom's U.S. paging operations and U.K. cellular service provider have recently completed a dramatic growth phase which has required considerable investment in marketing costs.

"These businesses have now attained a sufficient revenue base to cover their operating costs. Future growth in these businesses will be held down to a more deliberate pace thereby significantly reducing our marketing expenses."

Millicom also announced that it had reached agreements with Industriforvaltnings A.B. Kinnevik ("Kinnevik") concerning the previously announced intention to form a new company in Luxembourg called Millicom International Cellular, SA ("MIC").

MIC will be formed this week and Millicom and Kinnevik shortly thereafter will transfer their international cellular properties to MIC in exchange for equity interests and promissory notes each in a principal amount of approximately $100 million.

Upon completion of either investments from strategic third parties or other financing sources, Millicom will then reflect the appropriate financial statement effects of this transaction.

SG&A expenses increased approximately $132,000 due to marketing expenses of our TY-BREAKERSR apparel. As a result of these expanded marketing efforts, net sales of our TYVEKR apparel increased by approximately $332,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 1990. The Company's net loss was affected by a decrease in sales and increased marketing, general and administrative costs.''

Mr. Drohan continued, ''ALFA's corporate strategy remains focussed on our TYVEKR division. Market acceptance has been quite favorable and we anticipate generating increased volume as well as improved earnings. We are actively reviewing acquisition possibilities to enhance the visibility and profitability of this core business.''

JOHNSON CITY, TN (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Vance W. Cheek, chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Home Financial Corp. (NASDAQ/NMS:HFET), Tuesday announced that the company's board of directors has declared a special year-end dividend of 54 cents per share to be paid in addition to the company's regular quarterly payout.

Cheek noted that the special dividend has been increased 35 percent from the 40 cents per share special payout at the end of 1989.

Home Financial's regular quarterly dividend remains unchanged at 12 cents per share. It will be paid on Dec. 14, 1990, while the special 54 cents per share dividend will be paid on Dec. 21, 1990. Both payments will be made to stockholders of record as of Nov. 30, 1990, and will bring total dividend payments in 1990 to $1 per share, up 25 percent from 1989.

In making the announcement, Cheek noted that Home Financial has posted strong earnings in its first three quarters of 1990. Excluding the effects of investment sales in the previous year, Home Financial reported 8 percent higher pre-tax income for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, versus the same period last year. Net interest income for the period rose 7 percent.

''We are very pleased with the company's operations in 1990 and expect the fourth quarter to reflect a continuation of the trends we have witnessed this year,'' said Cheek.

''In making this dividend declaration, the board of directors have not only considered the strength of the company's earnings, but also the results of a recent examination of our subsidiary, Home Federal, by the Office of Thrift Supervision.

''This examination ended with minimal impact on our reserves for loan losses, which we believe affirms the sound lending practices to which we have adhered.

''We are glad to have the opportunity to increase our stockholders' direct participation in the company's earnings through this higher special year-end dividend,'' he concluded.

''We believe our efforts to enhance stockholder value through higher dividends contrast greatly with the current performance of many other financial institutions that have found it necessary to reduce or eliminate dividends in the wake of significant lending problems.''

Home Financial Corp. is the holding company for Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Upper East Tennessee, which is the leading financial institution headquartered in the region. Federally chartered in 1934, the Association offers a broad line of lending and financial services through eighteen offices strategically located across the Upper East Tennessee area.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (NOV. 20) BUSINESS WIRE - Providence Energy Corp. (AMEX:PVY) reported fiscal 1990 net income from ongoing operations of $5 million or $1.17 per share.

This compares to $3.2 million or 77 cents per share from ongoing operations for the fiscal period last year. Operating margin rose to $65 million this year, a 9.9 percent increase over last year. The main contributors to the increase in earnings were the rate increase that was implemented by Providence Gas Co. (Providence Energy's largest subsidiary) in June 1989 and the growth in natural gas customers.

The total number of customers at year end rose 5.3 percent, totaling over 155,000 customers. This can be attributed to 3,500 additional customers from the South County aquisition in June of last year, an increase in coversions for the year and continued growth in the residential and commercial areas. Total gas sold and transported for the year was 27.7 billion cubic feet (Bcf), up 12 percent from the previous year.

Robert W. Owens, vice president and treasurer, stated that, ''We are pleased with the improved earnings results. Our renewed focus on the natural gas distribution business has proved timely as demand for conversion from other fuels has been strong. A pending Providence Gas Company natural gas rate increase filing and aggressive marketing in both core and non-core markets will provide the margin growth in the future.''

Providence Energy serves as the holding company and parent of Rhode Island's largest gas distribution company, the Providence Gas Co. Providence Energy utility subsidiaries provide natural gas service to over 155,000 accounts in Providence, Newport and 24 other cities and towns in Rhode Island and nearby Massachusetts.

By WALTER ANDREWS

NEW YORK (NOV. 20) UPI - Have oil companies been able to use a peculiar accounting system to quietly hide billions of dollars in profits accrued from soaring crude oil prices during the Persian Gulf crisis as has been charged?

The answer is ''yes'' with a qualification.

The Last In First Out system of accounting, which ties the cost of goods sold to the cost of the most recent purchases, is accepted for use by businesses based on commodities such as oil, whose price sometimes changes rapidly.

''LIFO can be used by any company with inventory. It's allowable for federal income tax purposes. If you use it for federal income tax purposes, you have to use it for financial reporting,'' said Paul Rosenfield, director of accounting standards for the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants in New York.

The other main generally accepted industry accounting method is FIFO - the First In First Out principle, Rosenfield said.

In contrast to FIFO, LIFO produces a higher cost of goods sold and a lower gross prifit and taxable income.

Under FIFO, profits and losses as a result of rising and falling commodity prices are more readily shown. They are balanced out, however, to a greater extent under LIFO, he said.

The mentality behind LIFO apparently led the oil companies to raise gasoline pump prices within days of Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait based on higher crude prices they were starting to pay rather than the much lower prices they had paid for the crude already in their storage tanks.

The public outcry led President Bush to ask the oil companies to show restraint.

The LIFO method helps oil companies during periods of rising prices, but the sword is double-edged, Rosenfield said.

''It does reduce the profits that you show in periods of rising prices (but) ''it will hurt you in periods of falling prices,'' he said.

''The LIFO method is not something you turn off and on. Although it helps a firm during periods of rising prices, it will come back and bite you in periods of falling prices. What goes around, comes around,'' said D. Larry Crumbley, professor of taxation at Texas A&M University and editor of the Oil and Gas Tax Quarterly.

''If we believe the function of accounting is to replicate as closely as possible economic gain or loss, the LIFO method is preferable,'' said Joseph Tovey, a New York consultant to the oil industry.

To the extent individual oil companies were oriented to refining and marketing they reported a reduction in third-quarter profits from a year ago as a result of the higher prices they had to pay for crude.

Mobil Corp., the nation's second-largest oil company, and Shell Oil Co., the sixth largest, reported third-quarter earnings fell 29 percent and 33.l2 percent respectively.

Exxon Corp., the world's largest, reported earnings level with last year. Atlantic Richfield Co., Los Angeles, reported third-quarter earnings rose 21.9 percent from a year ago.

But Edwin Rothschild of the Citizen Action Energy Coalition in Washington charges that LIFO has allowed the oil industry to net $14 billion in unreported profits since the Iraqi invasion.

Crude oil is currently selling around $35 a barrel and has risen as high as $40 a barrel, bringing oil companies a windfall on oil in storage they had paid as little as $16 a barrel for earlier in the year.

The potential windfall is formidible. Oil companies had in their commercial storage tanks at the time of the invasion 55 million barrels more of crude then they did in August 1989. This ''surplus'' is now gone.

''Unfortunately, none of these inventory gains are showing up in oil company third quarter profit reports. This is because the companies employ the Last In First Out method of accounting,'' Rothschild said. ''The point is the companies have the cash,'' he said.

''If oil goes back down to $16 a barrel, it will balance out,'' he acknowledged. But he doubted that oil prices would return to that level.

Rothschild said the oil companies went to LIFO accounting in the 1970s when profits ''really ballooned'' after a Middle East oil shock. There was a public hue and cry then and congressional calls for regulation of the industry.

''The companies didn't want that to happen again,'' he said.

Charles DiBona, president of the American Petroleum Institute, labeled Rothschild's charges as ''absolute nonsense.''

He compared the benefits oil companies received from rising crude prices to those of a homeowner in a rising real estate market.

The homeowner may get $100,000 more than he or she paid for house. But the money would have to be paid out if the seller went into the market for a dwelling of similar size and location, DiBona said.

''The purpose is to gauge profitability on the basis of on-going business, not the price of a shutdown,'' he said.

DiBona added, ''If an oil companay decided to go out of business, then the oil in its pipelines ... could be sold and there would be some kind of inventory profit if the price of oil had risen from the time it had been bought.''

TOKYO (NOV. 20) - Japan's broad measure of money supply grew at an annual rate of 11.8 percent in October, but was down from 12.0 percent in September, the Bank of Japan said.

The central bank said financial factors like payments of pensions pushed up money supply but a shift to non-monetary financial assets helped to push it down.

The money supply comprises cash in circulation, bank deposits and certificates of deposit.

Tokyo (NOV. 20) - Japan's economy grew for the 48th consecutive month in November, the Economic Planning Agency said in a report released here Tuesday.

Japan has only nine months to go in order to match the longest uninterrupted boom period in the country's history (November 1965 to July 1970), the agency said.

The growth was buoyed by strong domestic demand together with growth in corporate investment and consumer spending, said the report. Japan's current account surplus has also shrunk in the past few months, it added.

''High interest rates are beginning to show an effect in the construction industry but in the short term, we do not expect any change in the continued growth.'', said an agency spokesman. Prices were up 3.1 percent over last year according to the consumer index.

CANBERRA (NOV. 20) - In an effort to sell more of its stockpiled wool, Australia is to offer the Soviet Union 500 million dollars (381 million U.S.) of credit for commodity purchases.

The offer is subject to Moscow repaying an 84 million dollar (64 million U.S.) debt owing to Australian wool exporters for wool bought before March.

A spokesman for Primary Industries Minister John Kerin said the offer included 400 million dollars (305 million U.S.) for wool and meat sales on credit and 100 million (76 million U.S.) for wheat.

The minister is on his way to Moscow to try to persuade the Soviet Union, previously one of Australia's biggest wool customers, back to the depressed wool market.

Mr. Kerin, who will also visit Europe, China and Japan, arrives in Moscow on Thursday with his delegation, which includes senior officials of the Australian Wool Corporation.

The spokesman said the Soviet Union would have 240 days to repay the 400 million dollar facility which would be provided on a renewable basis, and two years to repay the 100 million.

ATHENS (NOV. 20) - A leading Greek businessman and shipbuilder, Vardis Vardinoyannis, escaped unhurt early Tuesday when a booby trapped car blew up as he passed by in his own car on his way into Athens, police said.

Mr. Vardinoyannis' vehicle was damaged in the attack, which occurred in a residential suburb north of the capital.

Police said the bomb was planted in a car with stolen license plates. It went off the moment the car carrying Mr. Vardinoyannis, who had left home and was heading into the city center, drove by.

The businessman heads a large group of refineries, a fleet with several merchant ships and oil tankers, hotels, and a newspaper.

SEOUL (NOV. 20) - A high-ranking Moscow official proposed here Tuesday that South Korea commercialize Soviet scientific knowledge and high technology for sale in world markets.

Vadim Medvedev, a member of the Soviet Presidential Council, said at a seminar that the Soviet Union and South Korea should join hands to develop commodities by combining their industrial and scientific advantages.

"We believe it would be most promising to combine Soviet scientific and technological development with the industrialization and marketing capability of South Korean firms," Mr. Medvedev said.

Stepping up bilateral cooperation in the science and technology sector is a top aim of his delegation's visit here, he said.

Mr. Medvedev, the highest-ranking Soviet official ever to visit South Korea, arrived here Friday for a week at the head of a 14-member high-powered delegation to facilitate economic cooperation between the two countries, which set up ties in September.

Mr. Medvedev asked for South Korean investment in the Soviet Union to produce consumer goods such as laundry machines, vacuum cleaners and disposable syringes.

Fishing and the processing and sales of fisheries products were also promising fields, he said.

Kim Chong-In, the top economic aide to President Roh Tae-Woo, said in a keynote speech at the same seminar that the prospects for economic cooperation between Moscow and Seoul were bright despite various problems.

Mr. Kim pointed to geographic proximity, the mutually complementary nature of the two countries' industries, and the possibility of commercializing Soviet scientific achievements by South Korean firms.

He predicted that bilateral trade would increase 10 times to 10 billion dollars by 1995.

TOKYO (NOV. 20) - Japan's Toyo Sash Co. Ltd. said Tuesday its net profit fell 10.5 percent from a year earlier to 10.4 billion yen (75 million dollars) in the six months to September.

The company, Japan's leading producer of alumimum housing materials with operations in Hong Kong and Thailand, also cut its earnings forecast for the full year by 15 percent to 21 billion yen (152 million dollars).

Toyo Sash said it was particularly concerned about the Gulf crisis, rising interest rates and a stronger yen, adding that it planned to make the company "leaner" by streamlining operations and diversifying its range of products.

In the six months, sales grew 15.2 percent to 223 billion yen (1.6 billion dollars). Sales of window frames for houses rose 14.5 percent to 159 billion yen (1.2 billion dollars) while sales of frames for commercial buildings jumped 25.8 per cent to 51 billion yen (370 million dolars). Other sales also rose.

The company said its sales projection for the full year was unchanged at 435 billion yen (3.2 billion dolars) despite the lower profit forecast.

SEOUL (NOV. 20) - South Korea's trade deficit on a customs clearance basis has soared to almost six billion dollars, ensuring red ink for 1990, the trade ministry said Tuesday.

The expected annual deficit will be the first in four years.

The high cost of oil because of the Gulf crisis and imports of automation machinery pushed up the imports, a ministry spokesman said.

November imports as of Saturday were 4.54 billion dollars, a rise of 46.3 per cent over the same period last year.

The annual imports to that date were 60.37 billion dollars against exports of 54.46 billion, for a customs clearance deficit of 5.91 billion, the ministry said.

Import approvals, an indicator of import trends, also rose 45.4 per cent over the same period last year to 3.2 billion dollars.

All figures were on customs clearance basis, which include insurance and freight costs and exaggerate imports.

Current account figures were not available, but the annual current account deficit for the first nine months of 1990 was 4.57 million dollars against 3.019 billion on a customs clearance basis.

PRAGUE (NOV. 20) - The Soviet Union on Tuesday called off a planned meeting between Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and Czechoslovak President Vaclav Havel but gave no reasons, the CTK news agency said.

The two leaders were to have met, at Mr. Havel's request, on Tuesday on the sidelines of the summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE).

The cancellation of the meeting by the Soviets follows a call by Mr. Havel, a former dissident playwright who was the main inspiration behind the "velvet revolution" which ousted the Communist Party from power in Czechoslovakia, for the Baltic states to be given observer status at the summit.

"It all the same took us by surprise," presidential spokesman Michael Zantovsky said of the Soviet decision.

Foreign ministers of the three Baltic states were prevented from joining the 34-nation CSCE summit on Monday following a protest by the Soviet Union, the Latvian delegation here has said.

Lennart Meri of Estonia, Algirdas Saudargas of Lithuania and Latvian Janis Jurkans, who said they had been invited to attend as the "guests" of France, said they were turned away from the government centre here as they arrived for the opening session.

All three Baltic states have declared independence from the Soviet Union, a status which Moscow refuses to recognise. The West meanwhile has never acknowledged Stalin's 1940 annexation of Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia under secret protocols in a Nazi-Soviet pact.

HANOVER, Germany (NOV. 20) - Continental, the leading German tyre manufacturer, warned shareholders Tuesday that its performance continued to deterioriate in the second half of the current financial year and dividends would be hit.

Continental did not say what the dividend would be and does not publish nine-month pre-tax profits figures.

In an earlier letter to shareholders in September, Continental said its first six-months pre-tax profits had fallen by 39 percent to 100.5 million Deutsche marks.

The management said in a new letter to shareholders Tuesday that turnover had only improved by about 1.2 percent in the subsequent three months compared with the same period last year and blamed the weakness of the dollar and the "price war" between tyre manufacturers.

Continental revised its annual turnover predictions down from an optimistic six percent, made only two months ago, to around 2.4 percent.

Continental employs 50,281 people worldwide.

In its letter, the management referred to its recent rejection of an offer from Pirelli to merge the two companies' activities.

It said it was prepared to continue negotiations with Pirelli so long as the Italian company renounced any takeover attempt.

Pirelli has so far refused to give this undertaking.

LE HAVRE, France (NOV. 20) - Some 1,600 Irish sheep have been stuck in the port of Le Havre since Thursday because of a row between French and Irish veterinary authorities, and some of them may die, authorities here said Tuesday.

Philippe David, head of the port veterinary services in this northwestern city said his officials were refusing to let the sheep into France because the animals arrived without individual tags authorizing they were in good health.

Meanwhile Irish authorities, he said, would not allow the livestock to be sent back to Ireland, fearing "they could have contracted illnesses" in France.

Dr. David alleged Irish authorities considered that Ireland's status as an island "protected the animals from epidemics".

He accused them of engaging in a "trial of strength" with the French authorities and said the only way out now was for Irish officials to come to Le Havre and draw up individual health certificates for the sheep, which were imported for fattening and slaughter in France.

Some of them might die if the row is not sorted out quickly, he said.

SINGAPORE (NOV. 20) - Singapore's economy will grow by 8.3 percent this year but probably slow to between percent three and six percent growth in 1991 or even less if a major Gulf conflict erupts, the government said Tuesday.

"The outlook for 1991 is uncertain, and we expect three to six percent growth barring any major catastrophe in the Gulf. That is the best estimate we can make," said Mah Bow Tan, minister of state for trade and industry.

He told a news conference that if war broke out in the Gulf, there would be major disruptions to oil supplies leading to sharp rises in prices with adverse consequences for the entire world economy.

He said Singapore was already seeing signs of a slowdown in the economies of the United States and Britain and also in the leading indicators in Singapore.

Mr. Mah said that the economy grew by 8.1 percent in the third quarter, higher than the revised 7.8 percent in the second quarter. But most of the effects from Iraq's invasion of Kuwait were not yet fully felt, he added.

"The momentum generated in the first and second quarters helped the economy in the third quarter, but we are already seeing signs of slowdown and we do not expect to do so well," he said. "The last quarter will see effects of the Gulf crisis."

He said the financial and business services sector grew by 17 percent, compared with 14 percent in the previous three-month period, and has been the fastest growing sector for seven consecutive quarters.

The offical attributed the latest rise to the uncertainty in the Gulf region, which boosted activities such as foreign exchange trading and insurance.

MALE (NOV. 20) - Leaders of seven South Asian nations will seek to boost regional cooperation when they gather here for a summit beginning Wednesday amid rising economic problems at home.

But given the slow and torturous progress of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) since it was formed in 1985, no major breakthroughs were expected at the fifth summit, officials and diplomats said.

Yet the latest gathering of the leaders of Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, the Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka promises not to be dull either, they said.

Officials here noted that since the last summit in Islamabad in 1988, four new governments have assumed office - in Sri Lanka, India, Pakistan and Nepal.

The changes in government might have slowed the implementation of certain programmes adopted at the last summit, and this meeting will have a full agenda, officials said.

"The SAARC leaders know it is time they put their act together - and fast," said one diplomat. "The economic and political issues in the region are so grave that they (the leaders) can no longer trot out an excuse that SAARC is still growing."

Founded on the vision of late Bangladeshi President Zia ur-Rahman, who wanted a regional body to foster friendship and eliminate an atmosphere of mistrust, SAARC is far from achieving its goals for the future of South Asia.

More than 50 percent of the world's poorest live in South Asia, which is also home to more than a billion people or one-fifth of the world's population.

A close aide to Maldivian President Maumoon Abdul Gayoom said prospects for progress, through pooling member states' economic resources, remain bright as long as SAARC exists.

"Even the fifth summit may not have anything spectacular, but the fact that the leaders are meeting after an absence of almost two years is in itself a boost for regional cooperation," he said.

The summit was originally to have been held in Colombo last year but Sri Lankan President Ranasinghe Premadasa opposed the meeting while Indian troops sent under a July 1987 bilateral accord remained in the island.

Indian troops pulled out from Sri Lanka in March this year. Mr. Premadasa has opted to skip this year's summit, and Sri Lanka will be represented instead by Prime Minister D.B. Wijetune.

Lagos (NOV. 20) - Nigeria recorded a balance of payment surplus of 1.143 billion dollars in the first seven months of this year, the central bank reported Tuesday.

The report said 6.265 billion dollars in foreign exchange receipts were recorded against an outflow of 5.122 billion dollars.

The foreign exchange receipt during the period was a 46.5 percent increase over the corresponding period last year.

The most significant factor in the increase was oil earnings, which accounted for 4.508 billion dollars, or 72 percent of the total. The oil earnings rise reflected both greater exports and higher prices.

Foreign exchange outpayment during the period was 53.1 percent higher than the figure for the corresponding period last year, the greatest factors being visible imports and debt service payments.

Payments for merchandise imports increased 44.4 percent to 2.287 billion dollars while external debt service payments increased by 85.8 percent to reach 2.099 billion dollars.

The higher rate of debt servicing was said to be due to increased payments to the Paris Club of creditors, the World Bank and other creditors.

BAGHDAD (NOV. 20) - Iraqi President Saddam Hussein Tuesday ordered the release of all German hostages in Iraq in appreciation of Arab-German ties and German Chancellor Helmut Kohl's stand on the Gulf crisis, Baghdad Radio reported.

The decision was taken during a meeting of the Iraqi Revolutionary Command

According to the radio broadcast, the gesture was taken to confirm the links existing between Iraq and the Arab nation on the one hand, and Germany on the other.

The Council discussed the Arab and international political situation and blessed the Iraqi President's idea to allow "German nationals and guests in Iraq" to leave or stay in the country, the radio said.

Bremen (NOV. 20) - Despite a slightly larger cotton harvest, the Soviet Union is exporting less cotton this year, reflecting the internal political changes in the country, importers said here Tuesday.

The Bremen Cotton Exchange said Soviet cotton exports were expected to reach 2.7 million bales this year, down from the 1989 level of 3.0 million bales. The cotton crop was expected to reach 12.4 million bales, up from 12.2 million bales in 1989.

The exchange said in its weekly report that the political changes in relations between the central Soviet government and the constituent republics were affecting the transportation sector, in turn curbing cotton exports.

It also noted that starting next January 1, the Soviet Union intends to sell its cotton abroad only for hard currency.

In the past, the chief customers for Soviet cotton were the other East Bloc countries, along with Cuba and North Korea. Soviet cotton exports also go to Western Europe, Japan, Bangladesh and Indonesia.

Baghdad (NOV. 20) - Iran has executed six political prisoners who had been held in jails for years and subjected to savage torture, exiled Iranian oppositionists said here Tuesday.

The Office of the People's Mujahedin of Iran said that according to its sources, four of the prisoners were executed in the southwestern town of Gachsaran.

Two other political prisoners were arrested, tortured and later executed solely for contributing money to the Mujahedin organisation, the ofice added.

Iranian newspapers have reported 18 executions over the past week in the cities of Torbat-Heydarieh, Torbat-Jaam, Ahwaz, Kerman, Rasht and Yassouj, said the office.

This brings to 116 the number of executions officially announced over the past month. Many of those executed on political grounds were convicted of crimes, such as drug-trafficking, the Mujahedin sources said.

JOHANNESBURG (NOV. 20) - Ten South Africans die daily in political violence, the South African Institute of Race Relations said here Tuesday.

Despite President Frederik de Klerk's sweeping reforms in 1990, more than in any other year since the ruling-National Party (NP) came to power 50 years ago, this year's death toll is "by far the grimmest ever", the institute said.

Releasing its latest political fatality statistics, the institute said 3,038 people had died in political violence in the first 10 months of this year. This was an average daily rate of 10, against a figure of 3.25 for the comparative period last year.

"In other words," the institute said, "people are dying this year in political violence at more than three times the rate at which people lost their lives in this way last year."

Between September 1984, when the present cycle of violence first erupted, and the end of last month, the total number of fatalities was 8,577.

"1990 alone already accounts for more than a third of all the people killed in political violence over this six-year period," the institute added.

Whereas security forces accounted for most of the political fatalities when the violence first erupted, the position had soon changed, the institute said. Security forces now accounted for a relatively small proportion of the deaths in political violence.

"Conflict within the black community continues to be the main source of casualties."

In the last three months, conflict between the broad camp involving the socialist black nationalist African National Congress (ANC), its affiliate the United Democratic Front, and the million-strong Congress of South African Trade Unions on the one side and Zulu leader Mangosuthu Buthelezi's Inkatha Party and KwaZulu tribal homeland on the other, had been "the largest single source of fatalities", the institute said.

Political fatalities outside war-torn Natal - where a virtual Zulu civil war has raged over the past four years between these groups and resulted in some 4,000 deaths - accounted for only 10 percent of the total in the first 10 months of last year. It now accounted for 46 percent of the total fatalities.

LONDON (NOV. 20) - Money in circulation in Britain rose by only 0.1 per- cent in October over September, slowing the annual growth rate of the monetary mass to four per cent against 4.6 percent only a month earlier, the Bank of England announced Tuesday.

This annual rate of MO - coins and notes in circulation - is the lowest since August 1986. The government has said it wants this trend to continue as part of its battle against inflation before it lowers interest rates .

The Treasury said Tuesday that there would be no cuts in interest rates until it was prudent to make them.

Analysts were not surprised by the slow down, which brings the annual money supply increase into the one to five percent target range set by the government.

In the broader based M4, the monetary mass remained unchanged in October and is now running at an annual rate of 14.2 percent. Analysts had expected an increase of 0.5 percent.

PARIS (NOV 20) - French business leaders remain pessimistic about the industrial outlook in France over the next few months and report a further decline in orders, particularly from overseas.

The INSEE monthly survey said businessmen expected the slowdown in economic activity to continue in early 1991 and thought prices would rise.

French economic indicators issued Monday showed a 1.1 percent drop in industrial output in September.

Business leaders also reported stocks of finished goods higher than normal.

COLOMBO (NOV. 20) - The Sri Lankan government will recruit 2000 youths from all three communities in the country as a ''guard battalion'' para-military force to be deployed in the northwestern Mannar district, a senior military official said Tuesday.

The northern military commander, Major-General Denzil Kobbekaduwa, talking to reporters in the Mannar Islands 240 kilometres north of Colombo, said, ''the main objective of the guard battalion is to activate civil administration in the northwestern district''.

Youths from the majority Sinhala community, along with minority Tamils and Moslems will be detailed to this force, he added.

Mannar Island, which had been in the hands of the separatist Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (Ltte) since June 11 following an Ltte offensive, was secured by government troops last week.

The Tamil rebels also chased away over 50,000 Moslems living on the island, which they intended to use as a major trans-shipment base for fuel and weapons coming from India, General Kobbekaduwa said.

The general stressed that ''Mannar Island is safe now and those Moslems who fled the area can come back.'' Several non-governmental organisation including foreign agencies are distributing food and dry rations in the area.

Meanwhile, government troops in the same district shot dead 15 suspected members of the Ltte, which is fighting for a separate Tamil homeland in northeastern Sri Lanka.

Over the past week ending late Monday, 67 Tamil rebels and 14 soldiers had been killed in continuing operations in the northeast, sources said.

Elsewhere, government troops apprehended 19 suspected members of the militant Marxist People's Liberation Front (Jvp) in the southern part of the country.

PARIS (NOV 20) - Cypriot President George Vassiliou made an impassioned appeal for an end to the partition of his country when he addressed the summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSEC) here Tuesday.

Mr. Vassiliou, addressing the 33 other heads of state or government gathered for the East-West summit, called on CSCE member states to persuade Turkey to abide by the Helsinki Final Act.

"Cyprus must not remain an anachronism, the only country in Europe which has a foreign army occupying its territory, and whose citizens are deprived of basic human rights," Mr. Vassiliou said.

He said that if the 10 principles laid down in the Helsinki Final Act and the United Nations Charter were respected, "it would transform the problem of Cyprus into one of the past."

Mr. Vassiliou said that the problem of Cyprus was "a European problem" and that to resolve the issue would provide "a lasting contribution to the consolidation of peace and security in Europe."

In his speech Greek Premier Constantin Mitsotakis said it was up to all CSCE members to "contribute toward ensuring that international justice is respected in respect of the last remaining European drama -- one which has dragged on for 16 years."

Without referring specifically to Turkey, also a CSCE member, Mr. Mitsotakis said Greece condemned "the brutality of the invasion, the violation of national rights, manoeuverings against integrity and independence, wherever they surface, wherever they persist."

United Nations Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar in his address to the opening session of the summit on Monday called the situation in Cyprus "an aberration".

Turkey's President Turgut Ozal, however, made no reference to the Cyprus problem in his speech on Monday.

Turkish troops invaded northern Cyprus in summer 1974 after a short-lived coup in Nicosia, backed by the right-wing junta then ruling Greece, against the late president Archbishop Makarios.

The island has since been rigidly divided into Turkish and Greek-speaking sectors, following an exchange of populations. The north declared itself an independent state in 1983, but is recognized only by Ankara.

Turkey has an estimated 30,000 troops deployed in the "Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus."

LONDON (NOV. 20) - The British government Tuesday gave the green light to a share swap agreement between Grand Metropolitan and Elders IXL under which the British company will cede its brewery interests to Elders and jointly operate some of its public houses with the Australian group.

The transaction was approved after a pledge from both groups to respect certain restrictions in what beers will be available in the jointly run public houses, Inntrepreneur Estates, the ministry of trade and industry said.

The British subsidiary of Elders, Courage, must end its exclusive ties with pubs in the Inntrepreneur group after seven years instead of 10. A similar restriction applies to pubs wholly owned by Grand Metropolitan after four years.

These limitations were demanded last month by the Monopolies Commission which had temporarily blocked the deal.

The initial agreement announced in March by Grand Met and Elders, in addition to the share swaps, called for a 366 million pound payment to Grand Met.

Analysts said that the decision to shorten Courage's exclusive supply ties with the pubs means this payment will probably be cut to 260 million pounds.

KATOWICE, Poland (NOV. 20) - Workers at almost half the coal mines in Silesia went on strike Tuesday seeking higher wages and an end to price controls on coal, a Solidarity trade union official said in this southern city.

Thirty-four of the southern region's 71 mines fell idle for periods varying from two to 24 hours after negotiations between the government and Solidarity's National Commission of Mines, headquartered here, broke down in Warsaw late on Monday, Commission official Andrzej Kozak told Agence France-Presse.

Some 350,000 miners - or half of all miners in Poland - are employed in the region.

Solidarity's national leadership had opposed the stoppages, which came five days before Poland holds a first round of presidential elections. Solidarity head Lech Walesa and Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki are the leading candidates in the race.

In a related development, seven miners went an open-ended hunger strike at the Kazimierz-Juliusz mine.

Trade union officials were to meet Tuesday in Katowice "to study the follow-up" to the strike movement, expected to be suspended until the elections, Mr. Kozak said.

The miners want their lowest salaries increased. On an average they earn 1.6 million zlotys (160 dollars) a month, one-third more than the national average.

Strikers also want coal prices decontrolled, which, according to Solidarity, would then rise by 80 percent. The goal would be to make coal mines more profitable.

The mines are heavily indebted and about 20 face bankruptcy by the end of the year, despite state subsidies which this year reached 9,600 billion zlotys (960 million dollars), Mr. Kozak said.

Brussels (NOV. 20) - The ''Uruguay Round'' of world trade talks, derailed by the European Community (E.C.) proposal on farm subsidy cuts, will resume in Geneva on Thursday, the E.C. said Tuesday.

An E.C. Commission spokesman said the talks by the some 100 participating General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (Gatt) negotiators would tackle the farm subsidy issue.

The talks had been broken off amid sharp criticism of the E.C. subsidy cut proposal, submitted several weeks behind schedule, calling for a 30 per cent reduction in farm subsidies.

The United States and other major food exporting countries, backing a subsidy cut of at least 75 percent, had rejected the E.C. position as inadequate.

The Uruguay Round of negotiations to liberalise world trade began in Punte del Este in 1986. They are supposed to be concluded at Gatt ministerial conference in Brussels in early December.

BRUSSELS (NOV. 20) - European Economic Community (EEC) finance ministers approved a 12 percent increase in the second reading of the EEC's budget for 1991, an EEC spokesman said here Tuesday.

The budget, which totals 52.5 billion European Currency Units (ECU's - 68.25 billion dollars) and passed its second reading late Monday, must still be approved by the European Parliament next month in Strasbourg.

The 12 per cent increase proposed in the budget is the largest in 10 years. About 39 billion dollars (57 percent of the total amount) is set aside for subsidies to farmers - 13.5 percent more than was budgeted in 1990.

The United States and other exporting countries consider EEC farm subsidies the biggest threat to world trade negotiations currently being held under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

The EEC ministers proposed that spending ceilings in 1991 be raised to allow a reserve of 1.4 billion ECU's (1.8 billion dollars) to support German reunification and countries hurt by the Gulf crisis.

PARIS (NOV. 20) - A senior European Community official said here Tuesday that the 12-nation organisation had still not set a firm policy on when Japanese cars should be given free access to its market.

Frans Andriessen, vice-president of the EEC Commission held talks in Paris on the topic with French Prime Minister Michel Rocard.

France has its own large auto industry. It is leading demands that the transitional phase for the ending of restrictions on Japanese cars once the EC's internal customs barriers are lifted in 1993, should be as long as possible.

On a visit to Japan this month, Mr. Rocard said the timetable should be around 10 years.

But Martin Bangemann, another Commission vice-president, said in Tokyo on November 6 that the Commission favoured a five year transition period after the creation of the single European market during which controls on Japanese car imports would be kept up.

Mr. Andriessen said "the European Commission does not have a definitive position yet." He explained that a five year period had been discussed by the commission "but nothing decided."

"We have tried to clear the situation" with Mr. Rocard, he added, and when asked whether the time could be more than five years replied: "Why not?"

MADRID (NOV. 20) - Amper, one of Spain's main telecommunication groups, has started talks on forming an alliance with American Telephone and Telegraph and Ericsson, a company official said here on Tuesday.

Amper has been hit by lower commands from its main client, Spain's semi-public telecommunications company Telefonica, after the deregulation of the country's telephone system.

It also has problems with its defence unit Amper Programas, because of fewer orders from the Defence Ministry, the official said. Amper Programas was only set up last year at the suggestion of the government.

Since its fusion with Fiat subsidiary Telettra, the French-American conglomerate Alcatel has cornered more than half the Spanish market for telecommunications equipment, according to the official.

He said Amper needed to form links with other firms, but wants to keep control over decision making in Spain.

The official did not say at what stage the talks were at with the American and Swedish concerns nor what kind of alliance was envisaged.

But the official denied reports in Spanish business newspapers that contacts had been made with Siemens of Germany and Alcatel.

Amper already has close links with AT and T through its 49 per cent share in a Spanish subsidiary of the American multinational which makes telephone switchboards. The official said this had helped contacts.

Amper has 4,300 employees and last year had a turnover of 40 billion pesetas (400 million dollars).

Amper recorded 1989 pre tax profits of 772 million pesetas, but said the concern had been in loss for the first nine months of the this year though no figures have been given.

Fifteen percent of Amper's capital is held by Telefonica, 10 percent by a subsidiary of the INI state holding company, five per cent by Banco Bilbao-Vizcaya and five per cent by several other banks.

TOKYO (NOV. 20) - Japan's Nissho Iwai Corp. said Tuesday it will set up a joint venture this year with Brazilian firms for paper and pulp production and afforestation in the lower reaches of the Amazon River.

It said the new firm, Celmar Industria de Celulose, will be capitalized at 480 million dollars, owned 85 percent by the Brazilian firms and the remaining 15 per cent by Nissho Iwai and a few Japanese paper and pulp companies.

The state-run Brazilian mining company Companhia Vale do Rio Doce-CVRD is one of the partners, Nissho Iwai officials said.

The new firm will buy 250,000 hectares (620,000 acres) of land in Maranhao to plant eucalyptus trees beginning in 1991. It will begin production of pulp in 1999 at an annual rate of 420,000 tons, the officials said.

PARIS (NOV. 20) - The Gulf crisis and general Middle East tension have made the cold but calm oilfields of the Soviet Union look like a new El Dorado for Western oil companies, according to market analysts.

Not even the difficulties being experienced as the Soviet Union falteringly becomes a market economy have put off Western oil firms as they prospect for Soviet black gold.

"The Soviet Union is the great hope of the oil world because no-one knows what its limits are," said Peter Bogin of the U.S. consultants Cambridge Energy Research Associates.

Michel Pecqueur, former president of the French state owned oil company Elf Aquitaine, described the Soviet Union as "a promising opening" to escape reliance on the Middle East.

"We have the money, the men and the technology to make the most of this considerable potential," he said.

Western companies are tempted even more by the fact that so much of the Soviet Union, notably in Siberia and off the Siberian coast, remains to be explored.

The Soviet Union, the world's largest oil producer, in turn urgently needs foreign technology.

The state of its equipment and the haphazard way in which oilfields are managed has threatened internal supplies and exports, which are the country's main source of foreign currency.

Soviet economists have said production could continue to fall this year to 585 million tonnes, from 610 million tonnes in 1989 which was already 15 million tonnes lower than the previous year.

Vladimir Arutunian, president of Sojuznefteexport, admitted at the Oil and Money conference in London in October that the extraction rate had fallen below 12 million barrels a day to about 11.5-11.6 million tonnes.

He said it was imperative that production did not decline further lower.

CAIRO (NOV 20) - Egyptian President Hosny Mubarak believes his Iraqi counterpart Saddam Hussein misjudged the consequences of Baghdad's invasion of Kuwait on August 2, and also miscalculated during the Iran-Iraq war (1980-88), it was reported here Tuesday.

The Egyptian news agency Mena quoted Mubarak as saying Saddam had believed the world would accept the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait and would only protest.

He said in an interview to be published Wednesday by the Kuwaiti daily as-Seyassa, which is currently based in London, that the Iraqi leader would not succeed in driving wedges among the multinational coalition against him.

Mubarak also charged that forces outside Iraq were involved in the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait. These forces ''needed money and believed the booty would be split''. More details would be released during the coming days, he said.

Meanwhile, a Kuwaiti envoy handed Mubarak a message from the exiled Kuwaiti ruler, Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmad al-Sabah, Mena reported.

Kuwaiti State Minister for Cabinet Affairs Abdel-Rahman al-Awadi said the message he had delivered dealt with the Gulf crisis and other Arab issues.

It was up to the Iraqi president to decide whether a military confrontation would be avoided in the Gulf, but all signs indicated that Saddam could not accept an unconditional pullout from Kuwait, al-Awadi said. Mubarak had told him he hoped Kuwait's sovereignity would be restored quickly.

TUNIS (NOV. 20) - PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat Tuesday said a statement by the Israeli Prime Minister that his country would hold on to Arab occupied territories for Jewish immigrants was a "declaration of war".

"This is a declaration of war against the Arab nation," said Mr. Arafat.

Yitzhak Shamir's remarks "prove that the Israeli leaders have a plan aimed at definitively annexing the occupied territories to consider them part of Greater Israel," said the Palestine Liberation Organisation leader.

Mr. Arafat accused the United States of "complicity" with Israel in its quest to "refuse the Palestinian people their national and historic rights and to attempt to waste the wealth of the Arab nation and to shed its blood."

Mr. Shamir Sunday told veterans from his right-wing Likud bloc that Israel was "committed to holding onto Greater Israel from the Mediterranean Sea to the Jordan for the sake of the future generations and a massive immigration."

For Mr. Shamir, Greater Israel is a term that encompass the occupied territories -- the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip which Israel occupied during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Jerusalem was also occupied during the June war and subsequently annexed by Israel, which considers it part of its united capital.

Mr. Arafat said massive Jewish immigration to Israel was a serious threat to the Christian and Moslem holy sites in Jerusalem and to the "security and future of the Middle East."

LA PAZ (NOV. 20) - The agriculture ministers of Bolivia, Colombia and Peru warned Tuesday that insufficient economic resources were preventing their governments from waging an effective war on drugs because they cannot afford to replace coca plants with legitimate crops.

The ministers - meeting here this week with Ecuadoran and Venezuelan agricultural officials on the region's food situation - called on the United States to use peaceful and "educated" means to fight the drug war by providing greater aid for economic and social development.

U.S. anti-drug aid to the region has in the past focussed primarily on crop eradication programs and other law enforcement efforts to stem drug trafficking.

"As long as we don't offer a real alternative to coca-growing farmers, crop subsitution efforts will yield insufficient results," said Colombian Minister Rosario Cintes de Restrepo.

Bolivian Minister Mauro Bertero, speaking to reporters on the sidelines of the meeting, said nevertheless that his government had enjoyed limited success with its crop substitution efforts.

While some 100,000 hectares (250,000 acres) of coca still flourishes in the country, authorities managed to erradicate 6,200 hectares (15,500 acres) by September and hope to reduce the crop by 11,000 hectares (27,500 acres) by the end of the year, he said.

Peruvian Minister Enrique Roselink said coca farming was expanding daily in his country due to the lack of profitable domestic and foreign markets for alternative crops.

Investigative organizations in Peru claim that some 300,000 hectares (750,000 acres) of coca are growing mainly in the Andean Upper Huallaga valley and they are spreading to other areas.

BRUSSELS (NOV. 20) - About 200 Belgian farmers disrupted truck traffic crossing into Belgium from Germany Tuesday to protest cheap imports of allegedly diseased livestock from Eastern Europe, police said.

At one point, the protest caused traffic jams stretching 15 kilometres (10 miles) from the border crossing of Lichtenbusch-Eynatten back to the German town of Aix-la-Chapelle.

The protest was organised by the Belgian farm youth alliance JAP to protest what it called imports of diseased animals into Belgium and other European Economic Community (EEC) countries through slack border controls.

JAP members told Agence France-Presse that livestock from eastern Europe was threatening the livelihood of Walloon (French-speaking) farmers. Sheep were selling for one-tenth the local price and pigs for a half, they said.

The protesters, who stopped only westward-bound cattle trucks, took blood samples from some of the animals for laboratory tests.

They claimed that border sanitary checks were a sham. One banner bore the slogan: "Mangez de la viande de l'Est et vous aurez la peste (Eat meat from the east and you'll catch the plague)".

MUNICH (NOV. 20) - South African Foreign Minister Roelof F. Botha Tuesday said here the colour of skin would be unimportant in a politically reformed South Africa.

He said that the Pretoria government wanted to introduce a multiparty democracy with regular elections, the right to vote for everyone, the protection of minorities, an independent justice system and freedom of religion, opinion and the press.

Botha called on the international community to accept the new political developments in the country and scrap the United Nations-sanctioned economic boycott of South Africa.

Sanctions only led to poverty, which ignited explosive consequences for the whole of southern Africa, he told a conference, the Franz Josef Strauss Symposium.

A spokesman for the black nationalist African National Council (Anc), Waledi Tsiki, said at the symposium that equal voting rights and the right to self-determination should be implemented first.

The Anc has repeatedly said international sanctions against South Africa should stop only after reforms were introduced.

WASHINGTON (NOV 20) - A group of 45 Democratic members of Congress filed a lawsuit Tuesday to prevent President George Bush from declaring war on Iraq without congressional approval.

The lawsuit focuses on a war authorization clause in the Constitution giving Congress the power to "declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water."

The clause did not stop U.S. presidents in the past from ordering military attacks abroad without a formal declaration of war and since the Vietnam War legislators and the White House have repeatedly debated the issue.

The 45 members of the House of Representatives lawmakers are seeking an injunction barring Mr. Bush "from launching or initiating an offensive military attack by United States forces against Iraq without obtaining a declaration of war or other explicit authorization from the Congress."

"This case poses a question of supreme importance to this nation ... whether a major war, not partaking of the element of surprise and leaving ample room for deliberation, may be initiated by the president without the consent of Congress," the Democrats said in their court papers.

"The framers of our Constitution thought not; most members of today's Congress think not," they said.

The legislators are represented in their lawsuit by the Center for Constitutional Rights, which also represents Army National Guard reservist Sargeant Michael Ange, 26, who is challenging Mr. Bush's authority to send him to Saudi Arabia.

BAGHDAD (NOV. 20) - Iraqi authorities Tuesday started an airlift for Vietnamese workers to fly home to Hanoi on Iraqi Airways planes, the director general of the national carrier said.

Nureddin Safi Hammadi told Agence France-Presse that three Boeing 707 planes would repatriate 7,000 of the estimated 14,000 Vietnamese stranded in Iraq, at a rate of 600 people per day.

The other 7,000 will be sent home once their work contracts have expired, he said. A first flight took off Tuesday from Saddam International Airport here with 175 Vietnamese on board.

Iraqi Airways started Saturday to repatriate Sri Lankans trapped in Iraq and Kuwait, organizing two or three flights per week.

More than 85,000 Sri Lankans lived in the two countries when Iraq invaded the emirate on August 2. A Sri Lankan official said last month that 43,000 had already returned home while 11,000 were still in transit camps in Jordan.

ABU DHABI (NOV. 20) - A new United Arab Emirates (UAE) government was formed here Tuesday with the notable absence of veteran oil minister Mana Saeed Al-Oteiba from the list, officials said.

Mr. Oteiba, who ran the oil ministry since 1971, was replaced by Yussef ben Omeir ben Yussef, a newcomer to the government.

Mr. Oteiba was a leading figure in the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEP), where he represented his country.

With an estimated production of 1.5 million barrels of oil per day, the UAE are among the first producers of crude in the world.

The formation of the new UAE government, which was announced by the official WAM news agency, had been forthcoming since the death last month of Sheikh Rashid Ben Saeed Al-Maktoum.

His son, Sheikh Maktoum Bin Rashid Al-Maktoum, succeeded him as prime minister and as ruler of Dubai one of the seven emirates making up the 19-year-old federation.

Cabinet ministers are drawn proportionally from the seven emirates, which also include Sharjah, Ras al-Khaimeh, Ajman, Fujeirah, Abu Dhabi and Umm Al-Quwain.

The new government consists of 24 ministries, including the prime minister's portfolio, and a vice-premiership, with 10 newcomers on the list.

Besides Mr. Oteiba, the interior minister in the former government, Sheikh Mubarak Ben Mohamad al-Nahayan has also been replaced by Hamouda Ben Ali.

SAN SALVADOR (NOV 20) - Leftist guerrillas launched a nationwide offensive early Tuesday, attacking an air force base on the edge of the capital and at least six provincial capitals in northern and eastern El Salvador.

Rebels severed the main highway linking the capital to the country's northern provinces in fighting just 12 kilometers (7 miles) north of San Salvador, AFP reporters on the scene said.

Army helicopters criss-crossed the capital and troops fanned out through the city amid fears of a replay of a nationwide offensive a year ago that turned the capital into a battleground for the first time in the decade-old war and caused thousands of casualties.

Thundering explosions could be heard in the capital as Air Force planes bombed the slopes of the Guazapa volcano, a rebel bastion 24 kilometers (15 miles) north of here.

At least 44 rebels and government troops were killed or wounded in the fighting, according to initial reports by the armed forces press office. The government said three soldiers were killed and 30 others were wounded while the guerrillas suffered at least 11 guerrilla dead.

The offensive -- the largest since last year's all-out battle for the capital -- came amid year-old peace talks that have deadlocked over rebel demands that the military be dismantled and officers tried for human rights abuses.

In a communique sent to news agencies, the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN) said the current offensive would be "nationwide but limited in scope," but threatened a large-scale offensive if peace talks were not pursued earnestly.

"In the spirit of accelerating the negotiating process, we have decided to respond militarily to the impunity, repression and military operations of the armed forces and to the intransigence of the government in rejecting the total demilitarization of society," the statement said.

"If the government and the military continue resisting international pressures the demands of the entire nation, our military pressure and keep opposing a peaceful solution we claim the right to launch a large scale military offensive in the short or medium term," it added.

The FMLN dubbed the offensive "Punishment for the anti-democratic armed forces."

JERUSALEM (NOV. 20) - Israeli troops shot and wounded 12 Palestinians in violence that flared Tuesday in the occupied Gaza Strip as a general strike gripped the territory, the occupied West Bank and east Jerusalem, Arab sources said.

The strike answered a call by underground leaders of the anti-Israeli uprising to protest the killings of 18 Palestinians last month near Islamic holy sites in east Jerusalem.

At least one of the Palestinians was in critical condition after being hit by a bullet, Arab sources said.

They said there was shooting in the Palestinian refugee camps of Shati, Maghazi, Bureij and Khan Yunis as well as in Gaza City.

On Tuesday Israeli authorities began distributing 2,400 green-colored identity cards to residents of the West Bank as part of a campaign to keep undesirable Palestinians out of Israel, military sources said.

Some 3,400 Palestinians from the West Bank and around 5,000 others from Gaza have already been issued with such cards for "security reasons", the sources said.

Israeli authorities decided earlier this month to tighten security after a series of knife, hammer and axe attacks by Arabs against Jews that left three dead and some 20 wounded.

Only Palestinians with orange-colored cards are allowed to enter Israel, while Palestinian residents of east Jerusalem have blue identity cards.

STRASBOURG, France (NOV 20) - The European Community parliament on Tuesday expressed its opposition to Fujitsu's takeover of Britain's last big computer producer ICL.

EC deputies voted a motion saying the purchase "endangered" the aim of a "strong and independent European electronics industry."

The motion was proposed by British Labour Party members of the parliament.

It called on EC countries to adopt a "clear strategy" for American and Japanese countries wishing to tap into European research programmes by buying EC companies.

The parliament asked the European Commission to make sure that Fujitsu keeps promises to preserve ICL's activities and the employment prospects of the company's British staff.

ABIDJAN (NOV. 20) - Liberian rebel leader Charles Taylor will attend a summit of West African heads of state scheduled for November 27 in the Malian capital of Bamako to discuss the country's 11-month civil war, the guerilla chief said Tuesday.

"I will personally be in Bamako. I would like to look into the faces of all the other people who are going to be there. I will be there personally, I promise," Mr. Taylor said in an interview with the British Broadcasting Corporation monitored here.

He said he was going to the Malian capital "over the next several days to begin the peace process" at the meeting of leaders from the 16-nation Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), which sent in an intervention force in August to impose a ceasefire between rebels and government troops.

Mr. Taylor, a former government official under the late president Samuel Doe, has opposed the sending in of the force, known as ECOMOG and comprising troops from Nigeria, Ghana, Sierra Leone, Guinea and the Gambia.

"The point is to stop this war, sit down, begin talking," he said.

Asked about shelling of the Monrovia port by his National Patriotic Front of Liberia (NPLF) forces Sunday and Monday, Mr. Taylor said his men "have capabilities of hitting Monrovia from almost any point."

He denied reports that his forces missed their targets and killed civilians, including some children.

"We cannot permit any boats coming into that port when these people are trying to prevent relief supplies coming into other ports," he said, in reference to the rebel-held port of Buchanan to the east which was attacked by Nigerian fighters last Wednesday and Friday.

"We have confirmed intelligence reports that there was a stockpile of arms in the Freeport of Monrovia and are being used by the enemy (ECOMOG)," he added.

"This is just a decapitating exercise to reduce the capabilities of the enemy " he concluded.

BELGRADE (NOV. 20) - Nationalist parties were clearly leading reformist movements and the former Communist Party in Bosnia-Hercegovina's first free elections since World War II, according to early results Tuesday.

The nationalist lead was most pronounced in elections to the Yugoslav republic's seven-member collegial presidency, where two seats are reserved for Serbians, two for Croations, two for Moslems and one for other ethnic groups.

The three nationalist parties, the Party for Democratic Action (PDA, Moslem) the Serbian Democratic Party (SDP) and the Croatian Democratic Community (CDC) seemed set to win all seven seats.

The nationalist parties were also leading in elections to the Chamber of Citizens, or parliament.

The nationalist parties' regional results closely mirrored their ethnic ties with the PDS gaining 44.91 per cent in predominantly Serbian Banja Luka, the PDA holding 51.88 per cent in the primarily Moslem area of Bihac and the CDC winning 60.14 in heavily Croation Mostar.

Electoral participation was estimated at 77 per cent.

Bosnia-Hercegovina is the fourth of Yugoslavia's six constituent republics to hold elections.

BRUSSELS (NOV. 20) - An accord by Western Europe, Japan, the United States and the Soviet Union to develop a revolutionary new energy source will probably be renewed soon despite British misgivings, sources said here Monday.

European Economic Community (EEC) energy ministers agreed here Tuesday that the community should next month negotiate phase two of the joint project to develop an international thermo-nuclear experimental reactor (ITER).

The project's goal is to build a thermo-nuclear reactor which, using controlled fusion, will provide virtually pollution-free, inexhaustible and safe energy sometime in the next century.

Of the 12 EEC countries, only Britain expressed misgivings, and abstained from voting. One source said the British were worried about current large cost overruns, unsolved radiation problems and excessive scientific optimism.

According to initial estimates of the fusion method, one million kilowatthours of electricity could be produced using only 35 grams of lithium and 10 grams of deuterium (heavy water), both elements plentifully available.

By contrast, a conventional power station would need 240 tons of oil or 360 tons of coal to generate a similar amount of power.

Phase two of the Iter project will comprise the "engineering design phase" following a feasibility study which started in 1988 and ends on December 31.

Sir Ron's stake, held through his Hong Kong based company Industrial Equity (Pacific) stood at 6.35 percent in late October.

According to the bourse authorities, Industrial Equity now only holds 162,340 voting shares in the French concern whose stores include the Bazar de l'Hotel de Ville chain.

Industrial Equity, a subsidiary of Brierly Investments Limited, had 522,340 shares on October 22. It informed the Paris Bourse on October 23 that its share had fallen below five percent.

It was announced later that Swedish firm Proventus had bought shares in Nouvelles Galeries from Industrial Equity.

The pound also fell against the dollar from 1.9705 to 1.9635.

NEW DELHI (NOV 20) - Indian Prime Minister Chandra Shekhar will announce his long-delayed cabinet lineup early on Wednesday, sources here said after his party retained control of India's biggest state of Uttar Pradesh.

A spokesman for the presidential palace said the cabinet would be sworn in by President Ramaswamy Venkataraman shortly before Mr. Shekhar left for the Maldives to attend a South Asian summit.

The 63-year-old prime minister delayed his departure for the Maldives capital of Male by three hours for the swearing-in ceremony, which the Press Trust of India (PTI) news agency said would be televised live.

A senior official at the television station told PTI that the swearing-in was scheduled for 9 a.m. local time (0330 GMT).

The press agency, quoting unnamed sources from Mr. Shekhar's party, said 20 ministers were expected to take the oaths of office and secrecy.

Mr. Shekhar will expand the cabinet after he returns from the seven-nation South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) summit, PTI said.

The premier has held his cards close to his chest, giving no clue as to who will get what portfolio.

Bureaucrat-turned-politician Yeshwant Sinha, former Harvard economist Subramaniam Swamy and former premier Rajiv Gandhi's estranged sister-in-law Maneka Gandhi are three of those tipped for cabinet posts.

No definite candidates have surfaced for the four crucial posts of external affairs, defence, finance and home affairs.

The way for Mr. Shekhar's cabinet-making exercise was cleared Tuesday with his party retaining control of the electorally crucial northern state of Uttar Pradesh, ending two weeks of uncertainty over its fate.

State chief minister Mulayam Singh Yadav, a close Shekhar ally, won a vote of confidence in the Uttar Pradesh legislature to continue governing the state with the 11th-hour support of former premier Rajiv Gandhi's Congress (I) party.

BEIJING (NOV. 20) - Chinese President Yang Shangkun told former U.S. defense secretary Frank Carlucci on Tuesday that the two countries should normalize relations as soon as possible, the official news agency said.

"China and the United States should adopt a positive attitude and make joint efforts to restore their hard-won normal, friendly relations," the New China News Agency (NCNA) quoted Mr. Yang as saying.

Mr. Carlucci agreed with Mr. Yang, the report said.

The former U.S. official urged the two countries to "enhance mutual understanding and strengthen cooperation, for that is important for world peace and stability," NCNA said.

The agency did not give the length of Mr. Carlucci's visit.

Later Tuesday, he was the guest at a banquet given by Liu Huaqing, vice-chairman of the Central Military Commission of the Chinese Communist Party, the report said.

Mr. Carlucci last visited China in September 1988, while he still held the top position at the Pentagon.

His visit this year follows that of former U.S. secretary of state Henry Kissinger in September.

Assistant Secretary of State Richard Solomon visited Beijing in August after the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait to ask China to halt its arms sales to Baghdad.

PARIS (NOV. 20) - A declaration to officialize the European Community's existing bilateral relationship with the United States could be initialled Wednesday, French presidential spokesman Hubert Vedrine said Tuesday.

The substance of the declaration was agreed on the sidelines of the CSCE summit.

The so-called trans-Atlantic declaration could be initialled by U.S. President George Bush and Italian Prime Minister Gulio Andreotti. Italy currently holds the EC's revolving presidency.

The EC will sign a similar declaration in the next few days with Canada, Mr. Vedrine said.

The two declarations would officialise the "deep" bilateral links which exist between the 12-nation trade bloc and its two North American partners.

Negotiations over their contents had been underway for several months.

Although the EC has signed trade and cooperation agreements with almost all East European nations since their move to democracy and a market economy last year, it has no such formal ties with either the United States or Canada, observers noted.

A spokesman for the Spanish delegation here said a final sticking point appeared to be U.S. and Candian insistence that a reference be made in the declarations to the General Agreement on Tarriffs and Trade, which had met with European opposition.

Other European sources said that paragraphs to which France and Italy objected which in their view would make the United States effectively the 13th EC member, were omitted from the final document.

GENEVA (NOV 20) - Negotiators have made considerable progress in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) Uruguay Round of negotiations on protection of intellectual property, and are hoping to draw up a draft accord before the end of the week, GATT sources said Tuesday.

Agreement was reached on protection of trademarks, on guaranteed vintages and on the establishment of regulations to fight intellectual piracy and counterfeiting, an industry valued at between 90 to 150 billion dollars a year, or between three and five percent of world trade, GATT said.

Delegates made progress on the question of patents, but some decisions will probably be left to the trade ministers who will take part in the final meeting of the Uruguay Round from December 3 to 7 in Belgium.

Disagreement between the U.S. and Europe over attribution of patents -- the U.S. recognizes the inventor, while most other countries favor the first person to obtain a patent -- may be glossed over by an as-yet undetermined legal formula, the sources said.

Negotiators have also reached agreement on the thorny question of textiles and clothing, a sector which represents close to 10 percent of world trade and is of particular concern to leaders of developing countries.

PARIS (NOV. 20) - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev hinted here Tuesday that Moscow may not veto a possible United Nations Security Council motion on the use of military force against Iraq.

''We will not allow (Iraqi President) Saddam Hussein to gain the upper hand over the world community,'' he told French television viewers. ''That would be unacceptable.''

Gorbachev, in Paris for the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe, said the U.N. Security Council would convene to examine the situation in the Gulf and then pass ''a well-considered resolution''.

The ''brutal annexation'' of one country by another must not be left ''unpunished'', he said.

The Soviet leader accused the world media of attempting to divide politicians into supporters and opponents of a military solution.

He said his meetings with the leaders of the United States, Britain, France, Germany and Italy had shown that there were no differences in their analysis of the situation.

BEIJING (NOV 20) - Car manufacturer Volkswagen signed the largest Chinese joint venture agreement in the industry Tuesday, agreeing to produce 150,000 vehicles a year.

The projected annual production wuld be five times the current annual total of all foreign car manufacturers in China.

The 800 million U.S. dollar joint venture will begin operations in Changchun in northwestern Jilin province in 1994 and reach capacity by 1996, the official New China News Agency said.

The agreement was signed at the Great Hall of the People by Volkswagen's Board of Directors chairman, Carl-Horst Hahn, and the head of China's First Automobile Works (FAW).

The FAW-Volkswagen Automotive Co. Ltd. was the result of China's open-door policy, officials at the signing ceremony said.

"The aim is to stop the importation and meet the demands of the market," FAW President Geng Zhaojie told reporters.

The first cars off the assembly line -- the Golf and Jetta -- will be slightly larger than similarly named models produced elsewhere in the world. Volkswagen is already jointly producing Audi 100s with FAW.

"Until the end of this year ... nearly 10,000 Audi 100s will run on Chinese roads," Volkswagen chief representative Heinz Bauer said.

The new joint venture also plans to produce 270,000 engines, 100,000 of them destined for foreign Volkswagen plants, Mr. Bauer said.

Despite "certain economic difficulties" facing China, Mr. Hahn said he was "very optimistic" about Volkswagen's development in China and the plant at Changchun.

Mr. Hahn said Chinese-made Golf cars would be cheaper than the Santana, which currently sells in China for the prohibitive equivalent of 27,000 U.S. dollars.

Hard hit by the government's austerity program imposed two years ago and by particularly heavy taxes on luxury goods, Volkswagen and two other major car manufacturers -- AMC and Peugeot -- cut back or completely stopped production in China last year.

French automaker Citroen announced in November that it had nearly finished construction of a plant producing 150,000 newly designed cars per year in central Wuhan.

NEW YORK (NOV 20) - Saint Irene apparently doesn't want war to break out in the Gulf and thousands of believers are flocking to a small Greek Orthodox Church here to see a statue of her likeness which they believe sheds tears for endangered world peace.

The purported miracle first took place October 17 in Chicago where the statue of Saint Irene Chrysovalantou had been transported for a special mass for peace, said Bishop Vinkentios of Avlon.

Later, back in New York, the small statue painted by a Greek monk on Mount Athos in 1919 became the object of a genuine cult following.

"We had more than 100,000 people -- Catholic, Orthodox, Jewish and even Moslem " said the bishop, his white beard standing out against the traditional long black robe of Greek Orthodox clerics.

Faced with the crowds, the little church in the New York borough of Queens has had to remain open until the middle of the night some Sundays to accommodate the faithful.

If it were not for the police barriers out front, the black and grey marble facade of the church, set beside a railroad bridge and thousands of ordinary middle-class houses, would scarcely attract attention.

Inside, the twilight barely illuminates the saints painted on the church's walls in neo-Byzantine style.

At the back of the church, to the right of the altar, a small elderly woman dressed in black stands watch by a gold canopy. There the statue is protected behind a pane of glass surrounded by precious stones, set against a dark background, her head crowned by a golden halo.

Saint Irene was born to a noble Byzantine family of Cappadocia in the eighth century and preferred the religious life to that of a queen.

BAGHDAD (NOV. 20) - The Iraqi National Assembly (parliament) Tuesday decided to submit to President Saddam Hussein a draft bill urging the death sentence against speculators, an Iraqi official said.

Parliament's initiative is aimed at "putting an end to attempts by those who exploit the current situation in Iraq to make illegal benefits at the expense of the people," the official said.

He said he expected President Hussein to approve the draft within weeks.

In response to a U.N. trade embargo intended to force it out of Kuwait, Baghdad started at the end of August to ration 10 basic food supplies, including rice, flour and tea.

And in a further bid to end speculation and ensure a just distribution of food supplies -- which are banned under the U.N. trade embargo -- Iraqi authorities have also taken over the distribution and marketing of rice and wheat.

PARIS (NOV. 20) - Moscow and Washington are agreed that ''if necessary'' the United Nations Security Council should ''pass new resolutions'' to roll back Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze said here Tuesday.

Shevardnadze, speaking to reporters after two rounds of talks with U.S. Secretary of State James Baker, said Moscow and Washington maintained that the Security Council should examine the effect that previous Gulf motions had had and if necessaary pass new ones.

The Security Council has passed several motions, demanding the unconditional withdrawal of Iraqi troops from Kuwait, the return of the legitimate Kuwaiti government and the release of all hostages being held in Kuwait and Iraq.

BOGOTA (NOV 20) - Anonymous judges will preside over carefully guarded trials in virtual bunkers next year for individuals charged with drug trafficking, terrorism and subversion, the Justice Ministry announced Tuesday.

Justice Minister Jaime Geraldo announced the decree that is aimed at providing a significant measure of security to jurists handling the country's most difficult and, often deadly, drug trafficking cases.

Beginning January 16, 83 judges will be assigned to preside over cases involving drug trafficking, terrorism and subversion, Mr. Geraldo said.

The identities of judges, prosecuting attorneys, witnesses and paid informants

-- those who were most often the targets of assassinations -- will be withheld from the public.

The assassinations and threats have had a chilling effect on the legal system of this South American country of 28 million people, and because of the the intimidation factor many cases have not been resolved.

Security will be stepped up sharply at heavily guarded sites where the cases are to be heard in the country's five principal cities: Bogota, Medellin, Cali, Barranquilla and Cucuta.

Those involved with the case will not be able to leave the sites until the legal proceedings are completed, Mr. Geraldo said.

The media will also be prohibited from releasing the names of those involved in the cases and any government employee who provides information to the media will be dismissed, Mr. Geraldo said.

Under the new decree, police msut first obtain search warrants before conducting raids, unless time or distance precludes it.

Even if a raid is conducted without a warrant, the police must bring suspects before a judge within 48 hours.

NEW YORK (NOV. 21) - United Nations Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar is considering agreeing to an Israeli suggestion to send a senior aide to Israel and the occupied territories to review problems facing Palestinians living there, a statement said Tuesday.

''The secretary-general continues to be deeply concerned about the situation in the occupied territories and, accordingly, feels that a visit by his envoy might be useful,'' he said in a statement ready by spokeswoman Nadia Younes.

She said Jean-Claude Aime, a department head at U.N. headquarters, would probably leave for Israel after the U.N. Security Council has finished its current debate on the situation in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The U.N. chief has just returned from a 10-day trip to Japan and France. In Paris he discussed the Aime visit with a number of politicians including the Israeli foreign minister, David Levy.

Israeli has already made it clear that the envoy's visit should not be linked to a Security Council resolution last month calling for a U.N. mission to investigate the deaths of at least 17 Palestinians on the Temple Mount in Jerusalem on October 8.

The 15-nation Security Council criticised Israel over the killings which occurred when Israeli security forces opened fire on rock-throwing Palestinian demonstrators. The council also condemned Israel for rejecting the U.N. inquiry.

As a compromise, Israel suggested Aime would be welcome to continue talks he began in June during an investigation into the deaths of seven Palestinians shot dead by a deranged Israeli gunman.

BONN (NOV. 21) - Most pundits agree that Social Democrat (Spd) challenger Oskar Lafontaine, 47, has already lost the first all-German polls on December 2.

The compact politician has been called ''the wrong man'', ''the outsider'' and ''a candidate without a chance'', but Lafontaine is determined to keep up the fight despite a dismal showing in the opinion polls.

He wants the Spd to at least gain so much support in the election that the Christian Democrats (Cdu) of Chancellor Helmut Kohl, 60, will not be able to form a majority in the Bundestag parliament.

Lafontaine stands in the overpowering shadow of Kohl who has presented himself to the country's almost 60 million voters as ''Unity Chancellor''.

Faced with Kohl's success in domestic German politics, the Spd challenger can only warn that after the elections many Germans will experience a ''bitter awakening'', namely massive state debts, a growing army of unemployed and higher taxes.

Lafontaine is paying the price for the Spd's months of wrangling over the ''right path'' toward German unity and the lack of a stirring concept to counter Kohl's decisive handling of the issue.

The Spd standard-bearer still maintains that reunification came too swiftly and that the cost of the treaty was too high in terms of social hardship. ''The priority now is to prevent the worse and ensure more social justice,'' said Lafontaine.

For a long time, Lafontaine was a controversial figure within his own party. Assured of his power, the Spd politician frequently took an aggressive stance which contradicted party policy.

He advocated Sunday working, claiming that the machine age made such practices indispensable and urged restrictions on Germany's political asylum legislation in view of the immigrant influx.

Amid the heady days of reunification, Lafontaine warned that patriotic feelings could easily turn to nationalism or chauvinism.

Lafontaine managed to have incorporated into the Spd's election programme a clause stipulating that if the Social Democrats won the election, Germans in the higher income bracket would have pay a tax supplement to finance unity.

JERUSALEM (NOV. 21) - The Israeli parliament on Tuesday adopted on first reading two laws proposed by a tiny ultra-orthodox party, banning public transportation on the Jewish Sabbath and "lewd" advertising in public places.

The two laws are to go before a parliamentary committee for a second and third reading before being voted upon by the full Knesset, or parliament.

Israel's ruling Likud bloc last Friday agreed to support the legislation in exchange for backing in parliament by a tiny ultra-orthodox party, Agudat Israel.

With the party's support, the conservative government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir has secured a firm parliamentary majority for the first time since taking office last June.

Agudat Israel is also seeking a ban on the sale of pork throughout Israel.

The proposed legislation on public transportation requires Israel's two main public transportation companies, Dan and Egged, to halt services from nightfall Friday until Saturday evening.

The law on "lewd" advertising would mean the removal from public places of any advertising posters of a "pornographic" nature that might offend religious feelings.

PANAMA CITY, (NOV 20) - General George Joulwan Tuesday assumed the post as the chief of the U.S. Southern Command, taking over from General Maxwell Thurman who retired shortly after the U.S. invasion of Panama.

Gen. Joulwan, 51, is a graduate of the West Point military academy and has a master's degree in political science from Loyola University in Chicago, Illinois, said a Southern Command spokesman.

Gen. Joulwan will be responsible for carrying out U.S. national security policies in Latin America, the spokesman said. The United States protects the canal and shares the administration of the waterway with Panama.

The United States maintains about 13,000 troops in Panama. Under the 1977 Panama Canal Treaty, those troops will leave Panama in the year 2000 when Panama assumes total control over the canal.

Southern Command troops participated in the December 1989 U.S. invasion of Panama that ousted de facto Panamanian leader Manuel Noriega, who surrendered to U.S. authorities and is awaiting trial in Miami, Florida on drug charges.

NEW YORK, United Nations (NOV 20) - Mired in financial and morale problems, the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) Tuesday received 141 million dollars towards its fiscal 1991 budget -- less than half its planned total expenditre, officials said.

Sergio Viera de Mello, director of the agency's foreign relations department, said the UNHCR's total 1991 budget was 345.5 million dollars for its regular programs and 214.9 million for special programs.

Western sources say the agency, responsible for 15 million refugees worldwide, is currently running a 64-million-dollar deficit.

Tuesday's announcement of the budget disbursement comes amid controversy over U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar's efforts to appoint a new commissioner to replace Norway's Thorvald Stoltenberg, who has stepped down to become his country's foreign minister and deputy premier.

Mr. Stoltenberg, whose surprise resignation came several days ago, had succeeded Jean Pierre Hocke, who quit amid allegations of misuse of UNHCR funds.

Mr. Perez de Cuellar nominated his own chief of staff, Virandra Dayal of India to take over for Mr. Stoltenberg. But Mr. Dayal withdrew his candidacy after the New York Times quoted unnamed U.S. adminstration officials as suggesting the secretary general had engaged in cronyism by picking his own aid for the job.

In a blistering response, Mr. Dayal criticized unnamed officials in "certain capitals" for what he saw as racism by considering him unqualified to raise funds for the agency.

Six countries have put forward candidates for the job, and Mr. Perez de Cuellar is expected to make another nomination soon.

PANAMA CITY, (NOV 20) - The Comptroller's Office Tuesday ordered assets held by former Panamanian leader Manuel Noriega to be frozen and began a probe into 800,000 dollars in state funds spent to finance his legal defense.

The Panamanian Government also froze assets belonging to Mr. Noriega's attorneys including Ramon Arosemena, Raymond Takiff, Joaquin Fernandez, Frank Rubino and Steve Collins.

The Panamanian Government informed the banks that the money that they disbursed belonged to the state and not to Mr. Noriega, who is awaiting trial in Miami, Florida on drug charges.

Mr. Noriega surrendered to U.S. authorities in January after the December 1989 U.S. invasion of Panama.

TOKYO (NOV. 21) - The Japanese Finance Ministry is to sell five million Nippon Telegraph and Telephone Corp. (NTT) shares held by the government in the seven years from fiscal 1991, a leading financial newspaper said Wednesday.

The Nihon Keizai Shimbun, quoting government sources, said the plan is aimed at dispelling uncertainty in the stock market, aiding NTT's issuance of convertible bonds and increasing its capitalization.

The government will keep its NTT stock at a fixed level of 5.2 million shares, down from its current level of one-third of all outstanding issues, the newspaper said. The ministry currently holds 10.2 million shares of NTT stock.

Asked to confirm the report, Finance Ministry officials said the ministry is studying plans to sell off some government-held NTT shares over several years, but they said no definite plan has been worked out.

In fiscal 1989 and 1990, the governent planned to liquidate no more than 1.95 million NTT shares, but depressed stock prices forced it to abandon the plan.

The new plan, according to the Nihon Keizai Shimbun, calls for the government to release 500,000 to 800,000 shares annually for sale at regular intervals regardless of lower stock prices, with liquidation to be completed in fiscal 1997.

The government is currently obliged to hold one-third of all outstanding shares of NTT stocks, making it difficult for NTT to procure capital by increasing the number of outstanding shares.

Converting the government's holding from a proportion of all stocks to a fixed number of shares should make it easier for NTT to raise capital, market analysts said.

PARIS (NOV. 20) EFE - German Chancellor Helmut Kohl took the floor Tuesday in Paris at the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe to pledge that his recently unified country would be a pillar of peace and unity in post-Cold War Europe.

Kohl pointed to the recent accord recognizing Germany's border with Poland, as it was drawn up by the victors in World War II, as an example of his country's willingness to accept the moral and political responsibilities deriving from its past history.

With the formal end of the post-war occupation, Germany has totally recovered its sovereignty but was willing to cede much of this for the sake of European unity, Kohl said.

He noted that his country has also set a good example for the disarmamant process by reducing its military strength to half of the combined forces of the former East and West Germany, and renouncing the use of chemical, biological and nuclear arms.

The German leader cautioned that the rise of ethnic and nationalist tensions and the contrast in development and prosperity between Western and Eastern Europe should serve as reminders that there was still a considerable distance to be travelled on the road to European unity.

TOKYO (NOV. 20) EFE - Japanese Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu Tuesday condemned the latest build-up of Iraqi troops in Kuwait and urged Baghdad to respect a United Nations resolution calling for Iraq to withdraw from the emirate.

Kaifu told senior members of his ruling Liberal Democratic Party that Iraq was trying to cement its occupation of Kuwait by sending a further 250,000 troops, bringing its military presence there to 450,000 soldiers.

Kaifu also said he opposed Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein's efforts to link the Gulf crisis to the Palestinian question over Israel's occupation of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

The prime minister's party, along with the Komeito (Clean Government) Party and the Democratic Socialists, were preparing a constitutional ammendment which would allow a non-military peace-keeping force to be sent to the Gulf.

Japan's constitution forbids sending troops abroad, although Kaifu's government has pledged dlrs four billion to help finance multinational forces in the Gulf region and to aid countries hardest hit by the economic embargo on Iraq.

Buenos Aires (NOV. 20) EFE - Beleaguered Argentine union boss Saul Ubaldini suffered another setback Tuesday when state health workers pulled out of his union confederation that opposes President Carlos Menem's economic policies.

The health workers are the third union to pull out of Ubaldini's Azopardo faction of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) in recent weeks, while another three unions are also considering withdrawing.

Ubaldini split the CGT in 1989 over the economic policies of President Carlos Menem, taking with him some one million mostly state workers.

Last week the CGT-Azopardo called a day of protest highlighted by a rally in the capital's central square, the Plaza de Mayo, attended by an estimated 25,000 people.

The powerful oil workers union separated from the CGT-Azopardo in October, followed earlier this month by the huge steelworkers union.

CGT-Azopardo officials have said they feared that the postal employees will now leave, as well as granary workers and Automobile Club staff, which would leave the association with only 400,000 members.

Many unions oppose what they see as Ubaldini's unwieldly approach in countering the massive state-sector cutbacks which Menem has ordered as part of a program to reduce government spending.

Some 200,000 state employees are faced with layoffs.

Metalworkers' leader Lorenzo Miguel called last week's day of protest "inopportune", as talks with the government were still possible.

Following the day of protest, Ubaldini said he was prepared to negotiate with the government, but added that if talks failed he would have no option but to implement a "combat plan".

Paris (NOV. 20) EFE - Eastern European leaders warned Tuesday at the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) summit in Paris of a rich-poor division in Europe which could bring political destabalization.

In their inaugural speeches, the leaders of Hungary and Poland echoed warnings that underdevelopment and nationalist discontent in Eastern Europe could easily undermine the integration process being sought by the CSCE.

Addressing delegates at the 34-nation summit, Hungarian Prime Minister Joszef Antall recommended that the CSCE focus on economic development in the emerging democracies of the east to prevent +a wall between rich and poor+

Polish Premier Tadeusz Mazowiecki continued in similar vein, charging that, +Our common future runs the risk of being overshadowed if the old problems of rich and poor are not overcome.+

Mazowiecki said he would be seeking closer economic and political relations between Poland and the European Community.

In a sideline meeting, Czechoslovakian Prime Minister Vaclev Havel met Antall and Mazowiecki, agreeing to meet next year in Hungary and then in Poland to set up a specific cooperation policy between their respective countries.

SANTIAGO (NOV. 20) EFE - A delegation of Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) officials cut short their visit to Chile after denying all involvement in a weekend terror attack which killed a Canadian businessman, Palestinian sources said Tuesday.

They said Saturday's bombing was the work of the Israeli secret service Mossad and was intended to torpedo the visit aimed at persuading Chile to recognize the independent Palestinian state proclaimed two years ago by PLO leader Yassir Arafat.

Following the attack in which a Canadian businessmen was killed and five other people were wounded when a bomb concealed in a baseball bat went off, phone callers claiming to speak in the name of the PLO said they were responsible for the blast.

But a spokesman for the Palestinian community in Chile, Cristian Zaror, said the alleged Israeli plot had failed to achieve its aim and that Chile would "very shortly" recognize Palestinian independence.

The Israeli ambassador in Santiago, Daniel Mokady, denied his government was in any way involved in the bombing which he said was characterized by the sophisticated expertise shown in the past by the PLO.

TEHRAN (NOV. 20) EFE - Iran and Iraq will exchange all war prisoners who have been convicted of crimes, the Iranian news agency IRNA quoted Foreign Minister Morteza Sarmadi as saying Tuesday.

The 79 Iraqi convicts held by Iran and the 239 Iranian convicts in Iraqi prisons will be freed and repatriated Wednesday, Sarmadi said.

It is to be the first exchange of war prisoners between the two countries since September 16.

Between August 17 and September 16, Baghdad and Tehran exchanged some 75,000 war prisoners captured during the 1980-1988 Gulf War.

Sarmadi said that in addition to the prisoners to be released Wednesday, Iraq was holding more Iranians and should release them.

After a two-day visit to Baghdad last week, Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati announced that the two countries would resume prisoner exchange this week.

Iran recently said it would free 100 Iraqi prisoners a day to "encourage Baghdad to release more Iranian prisoners".

Neither country has said how many of the other's nationals are in its prisons.

The exchange of convicted prisoners, under which they are being formally pardoned, was arranged with the help of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

The prisoner exchange followed the decision by Iraqi President Saddam Hussein on August 15 to accept the internationally recognized border between the two countries and to pull Iraqi troops out of Iranian territory occupied during the war.

Observers said Saddam's concessions were aimed at obtaining Iran's help in breaking the U.N. embargo imposed on Baghdad following the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait August 2.

NEW YORK (NOV 20) EFE - Brazil has offered to pay dlrs one billion of its more than dlrs eight billion in arrears to private banks this year, but European bank sources Tuesday described the offer as unacceptable.

Brazilian negotiator Jorio Dauster presented the offer Monday in New York, as a counter-proposal to a demand by a committee of bank representatives for a larger payment.

The committee was meeting Tuesday to decide on a response to the Brazilian offer, which some European committee delegation members described as unacceptable.

The banks had proposed that Brazil pay dlrs 2.5 billion of its arrears this year and refinance the remainder at one point above LIBOR, with an amortization period of five years.

When the talks began last month, Brazil ruled out any payment of its arrears until the negotiators reached an accord on its approximately dlrs 60 billion in medium and long-term loans.

Last week it hinted that it would show more flexibility in the talks on arrears.

The European bank sources, who charged that Brazil was not negotiating seriously, also acknowledged that the committee is divided on how much to demand.

They said U.S. banks wanted Brazil to make some payment as soon as possible, however small, because they fear U.S. banking authorities will oblige them to increase their reserves because of the risk of default by Brazil.

The European bankers said they hoped their U.S. colleagues would realize that the latest Brazilian proposal is unrealistic.

Brazil says the governments of the creditor nations are trying to block new loans by multilateral institutions until Brazil pays part of its arrears to private banks.

TEGUCIGALPA (NOV. 20) EFE - The Honduran government Tuesday officially closed the Yamales camp which formerly served as the headquarters of Nicaragua's Contra rebels.

Yamales, just across the border from Nicaragua, was the main base from which some 12,000 guerrillas financed by Washington waged an eight-year war to oust Nicaragua's former leftist Sandinista government.

The camp was also home to some 30,000 of the rebels' dependents.

Following conservative Violeta Chamorro's victory over the Sandinistas in February elections, the guerrillas poured back into Nicaragua under a planned demobilization accord.

Some 18,000 Contras of the 37,119 registered in 1990 are still in Honduras, said Col. Abraham Garcia Turcios, president of the National Commission of Refugees.

Honduran civilians and soldiers, United Nations Observers for Central America and the U.N. High Comissioner for Refugees all attended the shutdown of the Yamales camp.

Also attending the ceremony were representatives from the International Support and Verification Commission (CIAV) who have provided the former rebels with food assistance and implemented a voluntary repatriation programme due to end Saturday.

Several dozen ex-Contras have recently mounted protests in Nicaragua demanding that Chamorro give them land, credits and food, which she promised in exchange for their demobilization when she took office in April.

Two dozen people have died in violence related to the protests.

BOGOTA (NOV. 20) EFE - The Colombian government Tuesday unveiled a new judicial plan that names 82 new judges to hear cases of drug trafficking and terrorism, but keeps their identities secret to protect their lives.

Under the new law, known as the Statute for the Defense of Justice, judges will be able to try cases without revealing their identities.

Approximately 80 judges have been murdered in Colombia in the last 12 years, many by the counry's powerful cocaine-smuggling gangs.

The new law contains 102 articles that spell out new procedures for the security of judges, lawyers and witnesses.

Witnesses in drug-trafficking, terrorism and subversion cases will use only fingerprints to identify themselves and will not know the name of the judge hearing the case.

Judges involved in dangerous cases will also be given increased police protection and will not be required to investigate cases on their own as in the past.

The new law also offers rewards of up to dlrs 100,000 for information that leads to the resolution of a drug-trafficking case, and more than dlrs 100,000 for cases involving bloodshed.

PARIS (OCT. 20) EFE - French Defense Minister Jean-Pierre Chevenement Tuesday said events in the Gulf had to speed up over the next few weeks as the current situation could not last another four or five months.

"We are walking on the edge of the precipice," Chevenement said in an interview to be published Wednesday in London and Paris by Arab daily newspaper Al Hayat.

He said United Nations trade sanctions against Baghdad were having some effect but were not sufficient to oust Iraq from Kuwait following its August invasion.

France wanted Iraq to leave Kuwait but not "the preventive destruction of Iraqi potential", Chevenement said.

"We must reach an agreement to control arms in the region" and to strengthen the non-proliferation treaty on nuclear weapons particularly in those countries which could soon acquire them, the defense minister said.

He added that the 6,000 French troops sent to Saudi Arabia would, in the event of war, pass into Saudi operational control if President Francois Mitterrand so decided.

Earlier Tuesday, at the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) in Paris, France backed calls for a special Security Council session to draw up a resolution which would allow for the possible use of military force to resolve the Gulf crisis.

Presidential spokesman Hubert Vedrine said Mitterrand had agreed to the proposals following talks with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

France -- one of the five permanent members of the Security Council -- has previously expressed its reluctance on agreeing to the use of force and has insisted that diplomatic efforts be given more time.

France and the four other permanent members -- the Soviet Union, Britain, the United States and China -- all have the right to veto a resolution.

NEW YORK (NOV. 20) UPI - Prices were sharply lower at the close of the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday in moderate trading, succumbing to profit taking after last week's gains and to program selling.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 15.10 Monday, lost 35.14 to 2530.20, according to an unofficial tally.

Declines pounded advances 1,026-505 among the 1,995 issues crossing the NYSE tape at 4 p.m. EDT. Volume amounted to about 162,000,000 shares, up from 140,950,000 traded Monday.

Prices were lower in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues.

Analysts said the market was depressed by profit taking before the holiday weekend, after last week's gains. Prices extended their losses on some program selling, but analysts said they would not assign any particular significance to this week's action with many players away for Thanksgiving.

''It should be quiet for the balance of the week,'' said Peter VandenBerg, vice president of equity trading at Lehman Bros. ''That doesn't mean it might not be volatile, with some ups and downs, but it should be quiet.''

VandenBerg blamed most of the modest loss in the Dow early Tuesday on the slide in Boeing, which suffered from being removed from some analysts' lists of recommended stocks. Some cited the effect of the development of the 777 aircraft on earnings.

''The loss in Boeing accounts for seven points in the Dow,'' he said.

Elsewhere in the market, VandenBerg mentioned weakness in some oil stocks since oil prices were sharply lower. January crude oil was down $1.32 at $29.40 in late trading.

He also pointed out weakness in some paper stocks and computer stocks such as NCR, which was down sharply. The stock had climbed on talk of a takeover, but tumbled Tuesday when analysts reportedly downgraded the stock and cut earnings estimates for the company.

On the trading floor as of 3 p.m. EST, Boeing was the most active issue, plunging.

Varity followed, down sharply. IBM was third, also sharply lower.

Eli Lilly was also active, tumbling. The company's market share for its anti-depressant drug Prozac reportedly fell during October.

Among the other blue chips, AT&T was up but General Electric and American Express were down sharply.

Fruit of the Loom led the Amex issues, sharply higher.

MAPUTO (NOV. 20) XINHUA - ABOUT 170 WORKERS OF MOZAMBIQUE'S MASS COMMUNICATIONS OFFICE (ICS) WENT ON STRIKE IN MAPUTO TODAY, DEMANDING BACK PAY FOR THE YEARS 1987 AND 1988 AND RECLASSIFICATION AND THE REGULARISATION OF THEIR CONTRACTS.

THE ICS IS THE SOLE NEWS ORGANIZATION IN MOZAMBIQUE THAT IS DIRECTED MAINLY TOWARDS RURAL JOURNALISM. IT PRODUCES A TELEVISION PROGRAM "CHANNEL ZERO", BASICALLY DEALING WITH DEVELOPMENT ISSUES OF THE COUNTRY, A RADIO PROGRAM "COMMUNAL VILLAGE" AND A MONTHLY PAPER "O CAMPO" (THE COUNTRYSIDE).

TODAY'S STRIKE WAS STAGED AFTER THE ICS MANAGEMENT REJECTED THE KEY POINTS IN A LIST OF DEMANDS PRESENTED ON MONDAY BY THE WORKERS.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE STRIKERS SAID TODAY THAT THE MANAGEMENT HAD ONLY AGREED TO WHAT THE WORKERS CONSIDERED LESS IMPORTANT DEMANDS, INCLUDING PAYMENT OF MEDICAL EXPENSES, OVERTIME PAY, AND A GUARANTEE THAT PRODUCTS DONATED BY THE UNICEF (UNITED NATIONS CHILDREN'S FUND) WILL BE DISTRIBUTED TO THE WORKERS.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 21) KYODO - A GROUP OF FIVE WOMEN LAUNCHED A CAMPAIGN ON TUESDAY CRITICIZING U.S. PRESIDENT GEORGE BUSH'S POLICY ON THE PERSIAN GULF CRISIS AND DEMANDING A WITHDRAWAL OF U.S. FORCES FROM THE GULF.

URGING AMERICAN WOMEN WITH DRAFT-AGE CHILDREN OR GRANDCHILDREN TO JOIN THEM, THEY CALLED BUSH'S DECISION TO DEPLOY AN ADDITIONAL 200,000 TROOPS TO THE

BUSH HAS SAID HE HAS A LIMITED ''WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY'' TO USE OFFENSIVE FORCES IN THE GULF BEFORE U.S. POPULAR SUPPORT DWINDLES AND AMERICANS QUESTION U.S. OBJECTIVES IN THE REGION.

''BUSH IS ACTING LIKE A MACHO, LIKE A RAMBO,'' SAID ONE OF THE WOMEN, PAT CORTEZ, WHOSE SON WAS RECENTLY ASSIGNED TO THE GULF.

THE STATEMENT ALSO CALLED ON THE PRESIDENT TO SUBSTITUTE THE PRESENT TROOP DEPLOYMENT WITH THE ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS TO IRRIGATE THE MIDDLE EAST DESERTS.

THE FIVE MOTHERS, ALL FROM PENNSYLVANIA, SAID THEY FORMED THE GROUP AFTER FINDING MANY OTHER MOTHERS IN THE STATE SYMPATHETIC TO THEIR VIEWS.

#90324m0002 11/20/1990 ~Market Consensus Surveys

FALLS CHURCH, VA (NOV. 20) MCS - A SAMPLING OF TODAY'S COMMENTARY COMPILED BY MARKET CONSENSUS SURVEYS, INC. IN TWO SECTIONS (1) STOCKS (2) MONEY & ECONOMY.

MONEY & CREDIT:

DAVID GILMORE, currency analyst at McCARTHY CRISANTI & MAFFEI, says there are differences within the administration on the strength of the dollar. He says TREASURY SECRETARY NICHOLAS BRADY is probably looking for a weak dollar helping our export growth and offsetting some economic weakness domestically. "On the other hand there are probably some senior people at the Treasury who are a bit concerned," he says. "They don't want to see an absolute free fall in the dollar or a massacre and will do all they can to avoid that. Nevertheless, there is no real urgent pressure for them to come in right now, step to the plate and buy some dollars." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/19)

"There is a slight amount of disarray at the Fed, but the economy and the economic numbers are going to be so bad - are so bad - that they're going to ease some more," says BILL WOLMAN, chief economist at "BusinessWeek" and "CNBC." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/19)

"I have to believe that any drop in rates in the U.S. is leading the drops in rates around the world," says EDWARD YARDENI, chief economist at PRUDENTIAL-BACHE SECURITIES INC. "We're leading by several months," he says, estimating it will be "sometime early next year" before Germany or Japan

eases. ("Investor's Daily", 11/20)

"The pressure on the Fed to ease more aggressively is building," asserts BRIAN FABBRI, chief U.S. economist at MIDLAND BANK. "Timid reductions of 0.25 percentage point [in the fed funds rate] may not be sufficient to offset the mounting economic and financial problems. As the evidence of recession mounts, particularly in the critical holiday shopping season, the Fed [might] become more aggressive. The next time it eases policy, it probably will reduce the discount rate as well as the federal funds rate." ("Investor's Daily", 11/20)

An immediate prime-rate cut "just isn't in the cards these days," says ROBERT DEDERICK, executive vice president at NORTHERN TRUST CO. in Chicago. "I don't know why it is that banks are presumed to be the only business in the country that bases its prices on only one particular cost factor." However, Mr. Dederick does expect a cut in the prime rate by year end. (WSJ, 11/20)

"For the time being all of the good news is out," says one trader in government bonds. "The Fed has eased and there are no economic reports for a while. To me that's a formula that says the [bond] market stays kind of soft through this week. But it's a thin, holiday market, and you can't put too much emphasis on what's going on." STEPHEN GALLAGHER, a money market economist at KIDDER, PEABODY & CO. agrees, "As the week progresses, more and more people will be out on vacation. The fact that we will have these early market closes, a full day off and no new data gives us very little incentive to trade." (NYT, 11/20)

"Until the Iraqi oil crisis is settled and inflation can be seen to be headed lower," there's little chance interest rates will come down any further, says ALLEN SINAI, chief economist at the BOSTON CO. ECONOMIC ADVISORS in New York. Mr. Sinai believes the bond market has exhausted the upside potential for now. "It's going to settle in around these yield levels," he says, with yields on the benchmark 30- year bond fluctuating between 8 1/2% to 8 3/4%. ("Investor's Daily", 11/20)

THE ECONOMY:

"The economy is in recession and growing worse very rapidly, and inflation is running at levels better than expected," says ALLEN SINAI, economist at BOSTON CO. (WSJ, 11/20)

"I think it is too early to tell whether the United States will have a negative fourth quarter or whether we will enter a recession," says MICHAEL BOSKIN, chairman of the White House COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS. "I think we will just have to wait for the data for another couple of months to get a better feel for how the economy is doing." ("The Washington Post", 11/20)

There's a crisis of confidence on both the builder and buyer sides of the residential housing market, says KIDDER, PEABODY analyst BARBARA ALLEN.

Existing home sales are holding up better than new homes, says Allen. While sellers' asking prices for homes are declining, as yet there has been no overall decline in sales prices which Allen says are up 1%-2%. (CNN "Business Day", 11/20)

A FEDERAL RESERVE survey of banks has found increased credit restraint, with a large majority tightening standards for commercial real estate loans. "As in past surveys, the pullback was least evident in consumer and home mortgage lending and was clearest in commercial real estate lending, a category for which a large majority of respondents continued to raise their credit standards," the central bank says. "In sum, the results of this lending practices survey suggest that a deterioration in the general economic outlook since the summer has prompted a sizable share of domestic respondents to tighten credit standards." (NYT, 11/20)

LAGUNA HILLS, CA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Advantage Life products Inc. (NASDAQ: ADVT) today announced results for the second quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990.

Revenues for the quarter were $1,898,000 versus revenues of $2,722,000 for the second quarter of fiscal 1990. the company reported a loss for the quarter, before non-recurring expenses, of $80,698, or 2 cents per share as compared to net income of $306,000, or 6 cents per share, for the same period last year.

In the quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, the company recorded non-recurring expenses totalling $261,851, which include merchandising costs being amortized over a one-year period and a write-down of packing material and obsolete inventory previously carried at full value. As a result, the net loss for the quarter was $342,556, or 7 cents per share.

Revenues for the six months ended Oct. 31, 1990, were $4,034,511 versus $5,162,268 for the first six months of fiscal 1989. The loss for the first six months, prior to extraordinary items, is $47,658, or 1 cent per share. The net loss for the period is $309,516, or 6 cents per share as compared to net income for the first six months of fiscal 1990 of $566,144, or 11 cents per share.

During the second quarter, sales of the CigArrest Stop Smoking System suffered from what appears to be a broad based effort by retailers to minimize inventories in anticipation of a recession as well as competitive pressures. While the company's current retailer base continues to replace inventories, promotions by these retailers have been dramatically curtailed. In addition, the company also incurred increased advertising costs for the quarter in an effort to support continued sales of CigArrest.

NEW YORK (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Medizone International, Inc., through its Canadian company, Medizone Canada, Ltd., and departments of the Canadian government today announced the commencement of a joint interagency cooperative research program which could result in human trials of the Medizone therapy beginning in the Spring of 1991.

Medizone's technology and drug production system is focusing on two main areas -- decontamination of blood and blood products and the treatment of human virally-caused diseases, especially AIDS and hepatitis.

The Canadian government's initial work will be simply to replicate the work of Dr. Bernard Poiesz of the State University of New York at Syracuse. Once the replication of Dr. Poiesz's work is completed, the Medizone therapy will then be studied in S.I.V. (Simian Immunodeficiency Virus) infected rhesus monkeys, which offers an excellent animal model of AIDS in human beings.

In making the announcement, a Medizone spokesman said, "This research work and other activities around the world soon-to-be- announced, will enable the company to offer its treatment regime, as approved by appropriate authorities, to the reportedly more than 10 million AIDS and 130 million hepatitis victims globally."

DANBURY, CT (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Union Carbide Corporation (UCC) (NYSE: UK) and Mitsubishi Corporation of Tokyo, today announced that they have entered into an agreement for Mitsubishi to purchase 50 percent of the equity of UCAR Carbon Company Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Union Carbide. UCC will retain ownership of the remaining 50 percent.

The purchase price is $232.5 million in cash. UCAR Carbon is also responsible for $321 million of Union Carbide's consolidated debt. Of that amount, approximately $210 million is represented by inter-company debt owed Union Carbide by UCAR Carbon that now will be financed directly by UCAR Carbon and repaid to UCC at closing. The balance is existing debt of UCAR Carbon's foreign affiliates for which UCC is not liable.

The proposed UCAR Carbon transaction is subject to the approval of government authorities in the U.S., European Community and Japan.

The transaction will result in a non-recurring after-tax book loss to Union Carbide of between $70-90 million as previously reported. An earlier announcement said the loss would be partially offset by expected asset sales of Union Carbide's 50 percent interests in KEMET Electronics and Lincare, a home oxygen service business, which should result in net income of about $40 million.

Robert D. Kennedy, Union Carbide chairman and chief executive officer, said that the sale and joint ownership of UCAR Carbon Company by UCC and Mitsubishi would create a global alliance that would strengthen the business considerably. He said it would support Carbide's value-building strategy and the company's interest in creating long-term value for shareholders.

UCAR Carbon is the major international supplier of carbon and graphite electrodes to the steel and other industries, and of carbon and graphite specialties to metallurgical industries. UCAR Carbon sales in 1989 totaled $802 million worldwide. The company has graphite electrode manufacturing facilities in nine countries in North America, Western Europe and Brazil.

UCAR Carbon's current management will continue to operate the business, which will retain its current work force of approximately 7,000. Robert P. Krass will continue to serve as president and chief executive officer. Mitsubishi Corporation will use its international sales force to support UCAR Carbon.

Union Carbide and Mitsubishi will have equal voting representation on UCAR Carbon's board of directors. Kennedy will serve as chairman of the board.

Union Carbide, with 1989 sales of $8.74 billion, is one of the 60 largest U.S. industrial corporations, a major producer of chemicals and plastics and one of the world's leading suppliers of industrial gases.

Mitsubishi Corporation is an international trading company with 1989 sales of $117.6 billion in the natural resource, fuel, agricultural, industrial products, biotechnology, electronics, telecommunications and aerospace industries.

SOUTH WINDSOR, CT (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Gerber Scientific, Inc. (NYSE: GRB) today reported lower second quarter and six-month operating results. Consolidated sales for this year's second quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, decreased 9 percent to $68,235,000 from $75,300,000 for the same period last year. Consolidated net earnings for the second quarter of this year were $2,896,000 compared with $8,071,000 for the second quarter of last year, a decrease of 64 percent. Earnings per share declined to $.12 in this year's second quarter from $.34 last year based on average shares outstanding of 23,546,000 and 24,037,000, respectively.

For the six months ended Oct. 31, 1990, sales decreased 10 percent to $134,844,000 from $149,970,000 for the previous year. Net earnings in this year's first six months were $5,629,000 compared with $15,792,000 last year, a decrease of 64 percent. Earnings per share were $.24 in this year's first six months compared with $.66 in the same period of last year based on average shares outstanding of 23,594,000 and 24,051,000, respectively.

The company reported that new orders received in the first six months of this year were $127,600,000 compared with $143,800,000 for the same period last year, a decrease of 11 percent. Backlog at Oct. 31, 1990, was $63,600,000 compared with $76,600,000 at Oct. 31, 1989.

On July 24, 1990, the company issued a news release regarding its outlook for operating results for the current fiscal year. The release indicated earnings for the first six months were expected to be significantly lower than the prior year and that without an improvement in economic conditions or significant near-term success for new product introductions, the unfavorable trend in operating results would be difficult to reverse in the second half of the year. The company noted several factors that contributed to this outlook, including increased worldwide competition, a softer U.S. economy, tighter credit availability to customers, bankruptcies in the retail industry, lower military spending, and disruption in Eastern Bloc markets. The company now expects these conditions to continue and to adversely impact operating results in the second half of the year. Where prudent, the company has taken action to reduce costs. However, the company believes it must look beyond the current business cycle and intends to maintain its long-term strategy of developing new products. This will position the company for future growth when economic conditions improve.

The company remains financially strong, with high liquidity and a low ratio of debt-to-equity. Cash and short-term investments increased $11.2 million during the first six months of the current year to $40.9 million at Oct. 31, 1990, and total debt as a percentage of shareholders' equity was 10 percent.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Caesars New Jersey Inc. (AMEX: CJN) today announced net income of $5,768,000, or 35 cents per share, for the fiscal 1991 first quarter, compared with $11,104,000, or 68 cents per share, for the fiscal 1990 first quarter.

Revenue for the three-month period ended Oct. 31, 1990, amounted to $79,039,000, compared with $87,069,000 in the first quarter of the prior fiscal year.

The declines resulted mainly from lower table-game win percentages and activity at Caesars Atlantic City. The resort also has been adversely affected by a slower growth rate in the overall New Jersey casino marketplace coupled with the opening of a new, large casino/hotel during April 1990. These factors more than offset the favorable effects of lower marketing costs resulting from a reduction in busing programs at Caesars Atlantic City.

In July 1990, Caesars Atlantic City opened its new parking and transportation center which accommodates some 2,500 vehicles. This facility, along with slot marketing programs and a new premium slot area in the casino, contributed to Caesars Atlantic City increasing its slot activity over the prior-year quarter despite the reduction in busing programs.

MONROE, MI (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Profits for La-Z-Boy Chair Company (NYSE: LZB) rebounded in the second quarter of fiscal 1991 (ended Oct. 27, 1990), more than matching fiscal 1990's record second- quarter level.

Net sales for the quarter exceeded last year's second quarter's sales by 5 percent. This improvement followed a 5-percent increase in the first quarter of fiscal 1991, resulting in a new first-half sales record for La-Z-Boy despite flat sales for the furniture industry generally.

Consolidated net sales reached $166.8 million, up 5 percent from sales of $159.3 million in the second quarter of fiscal 1990. Operating profit increased 3 percent to $15.6 million. Net profit was $9.0 million, or 50 cents per share, 2 percent higher than the $8.8 million recorded last year. In the first quarter of fiscal 1991, La-Z-Boy recorded a 1-cent-per-share loss when earnings were impacted by costs of expanding the company's production capacity and by an accelerated upgrading of certain key manufacturing operations.

Consolidated net sales increased to $290.2 million, up 5 percent from the prior fiscal year's first half. Operating profit for the period was $17.1 million, down 16 percent, and net profit was $8.8 million, down 20 percent from the same period last year. Profit per share was 49 cents versus 62 cents in the fiscal 1990 first half.

"These figures show how rapidly we recovered from the first quarter," Knabusch said. "If strength in sales and margins can be maintained in the third and fourth quarters, then results for the second half of the year will be very good. Clearly, much depends on the national economy and the willingness of consumers and business people to invest in new furniture."

After several years of essentially flat sales, the furniture industry continues to wait for pent-up demand to trigger a resurgence. "Instead of waiting," Knabusch said, "La-Z-Boy is moving ahead with operational and product improvements intended to keep us outperforming the furniture industry as a whole, which we have been doing consistently.

La-Z-Boy is the nation's largest manufacturer of upholstered furniture and the leading producer of reclining and motion chairs. The company employs 8,000 people, operates 19 manufacturing plants and markets its products through seven divisions: La-Z-Boy Residential, La-Z-Boy Contract, La-Z-Boy Canada, Burris, RoseJohnson, Hammary and Kincaid.

MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Excluding the effect of merger and acquisition costs, Medtronic, Inc. (NYSE: MDT) announced second- quarter earnings per share of $1.11 today as it reported the first consolidated financial results since merging with Bio-Medicus, Inc., on Sept. 21, 1990. Net earnings, excluding merger and acquisition costs, were $32.9 million, compared with $27.3 million in the second quarter a year ago. Earnings per share were up 18.1 percent from $0.94, the comparable figure for a year earlier.

Revenues were $254.6 million, an increase of 22.7 percent over restated results of the second quarter last year. Operational performance was strong and was enhanced by the impact of favorable currency translation.

Including recognition of merger and acquisition costs, net earnings set a second-quarter record of $28.7 million, compared with restated earnings of $26.2 million last year. Merger and acquisition costs in the quarter reduced consolidated earnings $0.14 per share to $0.97 in the current year and $0.04 to $0.90 in the previous year.

Winston R. Wallin, chairman and chief executive officer, noted that, "It was an especially strong quarter, with all six Medtronic businesses contributing to revenue and market-share increases. Sales were excellent around the world, especially in Europe."

Worldwide revenues from the company's pacing business increased significantly as pulse generator unit sales posted gains both inside and outside the United States. In late October, Medtronic introduced the world's smallest pacemaker -- the 17-gram Micro Minix(TM) -- to the United States market.

Medtronic recently announced that it had submitted to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration an application for premarketing approval of its implantable PCD(TM) (pacemaker-cardioverter-defibrillator) device with an epicardial lead system. The PCD, designed to offer staged therapy for tachyarrhythmia (too-rapid heartbeat), has been implanted in more than 400 patients during worldwide clinical trials.

The company's heart valve revenue continued strong growth, primarily attributable to sales of bioprosthetic models.

NASHVILLE, TENN. (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - GENESCO Inc. (NYSE: GCO) announced today operating results for its third quarter ended October 31, 1990.

As expected GENESCO reported lower sales and a loss for the third quarter. Sales for the quarter were $118,645,000 with a net loss of $337,000, or $.02 per share, compared to sales of $127,989,000 and net earnings of $5,423,000, or $.23 per share, in 1989.

The third quarter loss includes a previously announced, one-time net charge of $1.3 million, or $.06 per share, for the establishment of reserves to cover anticipated costs to sell or close an unprofitable footwear wholesale company and a footwear components manufacturing operation. The $1.3 million charge is net of favorable adjustments to reserves relating to previously divested operations, including the substantial completion of an environmental remediation project at less than originally estimated costs.

For the nine months ended October 31, 1990, sales were $345,736,000 with a loss of $2,058,000, or $.10 per share. This loss includes the $1.3 million reserve and an extraordinary charge of $1.2 million recorded in the first quarter from the early retirement of long-term debt. This compares to sales of $352,512,000 and earnings of $10,896,000, or $.48 per share, in the same period a year ago.

"A recession is clearly impacting our business," William S. Wire II, chairman and chief executive officer of GENESCO, said. "This recession doesn't change our long range plans. But we are making adjustments for the present. We intend to manage our way through the recession by controlling expenses and working capital, and to emerge from the recession lean and competitive.

"We previously announced our plans to sell or close an unprofitable women's footwear wholesale business. In addition, we are closing an unprofitable footwear components facility in Reynosa, Mexico," Wire said.

GENESCO, headquartered in Nashville, Tenn., is a consumer products company with operations concentrated in footwear and men's apparel.

PRINCETON, N.J. (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The Liposome Company, Inc. (NASDAQ: LIPO) and Pfizer Inc. (NYSE: PFE) today announced that The Liposome Company has licensed to Pfizer worldwide rights to TLC D-99, an anticancer drug being developed by The Liposome Company.

The agreement between Pfizer and The Liposome Company (TLC) provides for continued development of TLC D-99, currently in Phase II clinical trials, by TLC with reimbursement by Pfizer of TLC's development expenses. All product development activities will be overseen by a product development committee chaired by Pfizer with members from both companies. TLC will be compensated by payments that reflect success in meeting developmental milestones and by royalty payments that are based on sales of the product in world markets. Pfizer expects to manufacture and will market the product on a worldwide basis. It is anticipated that, in the United States, TLC will be involved in educational activities with clinical investigators and other key oncologists.

TLC D-99 is a liposomal formulation of doxorubicin, one of the most widely used drugs in the treatment of cancer. While effective, doxorubicin is associated with significant side effects, including cardiotoxicity, nausea, alopecia (hair loss), and mucositis (inflammation of the mucous membranes). In cancer patients, Phase I studies with TLC D-99 demonstrated reductions in serious doxorubicin side effects.

Liposomes are microscopic man-made spheres composed of lipids. These spheres can be designed to encapsulate a drug. The lipid encapsulation of doxorubicin is expected to form a new drug with doxorubicin's efficacy and a significantly improved side effect profile.

In the United States, sales of chemotherapy agents and radiation equipment used to treat cancer patients exceed $1 billion. Sales of doxorubicin total approximately $300 million on a worldwide basis.

Pfizer, Inc. is a diversified, research-based health care company with businesses in pharmaceuticals, hospital products, consumer products, animal health, specialty chemicals and specialty minerals. The company reported sales of approximately $5.7 billion for 1989.

The Liposome Company, based in Princeton, N.J., is the largest company dedicated exclusively to the development of liposome-based pharmaceuticals, and is primarily focused on developing advanced liposomal drugs for the treatment of cancer and serious infectious diseases.

SAN ANTONIO, TX (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Additions to reserves as a result of the regular annual examination by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency have caused Cullen/Frost Bankers, Inc. (NASDAQ: CFBI) to report a loss of $9.9 million or $1.12 per common share for the third quarter ending Sept. 30, 1990, the bank announced today. This compares to net income of $754,000 or $.09 per common share for the third quarter of 1989.

"We anticipate returning to profitability in this next quarter ending Dec. 31, 1990," said T. C. Frost, chairman of the board. "The loss resulted from changes in the regulatory environment which required us to add to reserves. We regret the loss, but it should be considered in relation to the size of our total capital funds and reserves of $218 million."

"We continue our history of maintaining the strength of our balance sheet through a high level of liquidity, sufficient reserves, and a good capital base," Frost added.

During the quarter, the provision for possible loan losses was $15.3 million. After net charge-offs of $11.8 million, the balance in the reserve for loan losses was $45.5 million or 3.54 percent of period- end loans at Sept. 30, 1990.

Non-performing assets were $127 million or 3.94 percent of period- end assets at Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $137 million or 4.20 percent reported for the previous quarter.

"We are encouraged that our non-accruing asset levels appear to be stabilizing " said Frost. "And our sales of foreclosed assets are progressing at a much improved pace compared to last year. In addition, our selling prices of these properties have averaged book value."

Cullen/Frost's highlights include: -- Net interest income on a non-taxable equivalent basis was $27.9 million for the third quarter of 1990, up from $27.5 million for the previous quarter and three percent ahead of 1989 year-to-date results.

-- Non-interest income of $13.1 million for the third quarter was flat with the previous quarter. This category grew eight percent year-to-date when one-time gains occurring during 1989 are eliminated.

-- Trust fee income increased six percent from the previous quarter and is up 16 percent year-to-date.

-- Non-interest expenses totalled $35.5 million for the third quarter, compared with $34.0 million for the previous quarter. Year-to-date increases are primarily attributable to increased costs of operating foreclosed assets. Salary and benefit expenses were down from both the previous quarter and the third quarter of last year.

-- Total deposits are steady at $2.9 billion. The third quarter 1990 loss results in a year-to-date loss of $8.8 million, $1.00 per common share. This compares to net income of $2.2 million or $.26 per common share last year.

Cullen/Frost Bankers, Inc. is a multi-bank holding company with assets of $3.2 billion at Sept. 30, 1990. The corporation has four member banks and 21 offices in five major Texas banking markets -- San Antonio, Houston/Galveston, Austin, Corpus Christi and Dallas.

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Laventhol & Horwath expects to file a Chapter 11 bankruptcy petition tomorrow (Wednesday, Nov. 21) seeking court protection from its creditors, the firm said today.

"A series of tragic circumstances brought this proud firm to this sad day," said Robert Levine, executive partner and chief executive officer of the accounting firm.

Levine emphasized that "despite our sorrow, the partners have every intention of continuing to serve our clients."

According to Levine, the Chapter 11 filing will be made due to a severe cash squeeze and the firm's inability to repay its bank loans.

"My management team and I did all we could do to avert this tragedy, but the clock ran out on us," said Levine.

Levine, who has officially held the top office at the firm since June 1, 1990, said the cash squeeze resulted from high litigation defense costs, a dramatic downturn in the real estate and hospitality markets, two of the firm's major industry specialties, and the softening of the general economy.

"Most accounting firms are suffering from high litigation costs and our firm is no exception," Levine said. "Because of the raised expectations of plaintiffs and the popular misconception of auditors as all-seeing and all-knowing, the number of lawsuits against accounting firms has skyrocketed."

Including Laventhol & Horwath's contingent liabilities for litigation and other matters, the firm's liabilities far exceed its assets. Bank debt stands at approximately $85 million.

"Laventhol and Horwath has made arrangements for the partners to acquire the rights to service our clients," said Levine.

Laventhol & Horwath began a major acquisition program in 1984, acquiring 65 local and regional accounting and consulting firms through 1989.

Based in Philadelphia, Laventhol & Horwath has 50 offices in principal U.S. cities.

BALTIMORE, MD. (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. (NYSE: BGE) has established an in-house recycling program with potential benefits to not only the environment, but the company, the community and the city of Baltimore.

Earlier this month, BG&E implemented a pilot white paper recycling program at its downtown headquarters that could save $20,000-$25,000 annually in waste removal costs. Savings from the program are going to the BG&E Foundation, which provides corporate donations to charitable causes.

In addition to the environmental and economic benefits, the white paper recycling program is expected to cut up to 800 pounds a week of white paper currently discarded at the two locations, the G&E Building and adjacent One Center Plaza.

This reduction could assist the city of Baltimore in adhering to the Maryland Recycling Act, passed by the Maryland General Assembly in 1988, which requires each state jurisdiction to recycle between 10 and 20 percent of its solid waste by 1992.

"The city is relying on businesses to lead the way in these reduction efforts " said Clare Miller, senior public affairs representative, who represents BG&E on the Baltimore City/Baltimore County Task Force on Waste Stream Management and Reduction.

"This particular recycling program carries a lot of benefits, from reducing the amount of waste BG&E is contributing to the environment, to helping others. The time is right for this type of program at BG&E."

The program consists of BG&E employees collecting recyclable paper in receptacles located at their desks, then taking the paper to bins placed on each floor of the building. The Vangel Paper Co. in Lansdowne is handling the company's recycling effort.

BG&E's recycling movement is being spearheaded by an internal task force which is studying ways to reduce the company's $1 million annual waste removal costs. Along with the white paper project, the task force is overseeing an aluminum can recycling project underway at the Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant, where an estimated 860,000 aluminum cans are discarded each year.

PRINCETON, NJ (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Cytogen Corp. (NASDAQ: CYTO) reported today it has successfully completed a multicenter Phase I human clinical study for OncoScint(R) PR356, the company's monoclonal antibody-based imaging agent for prostatic cancer.

Based on encouraging preliminary findings, Phase II studies have been initiated in patients scheduled to undergo staging lymphadenectomy. These studies are designed to provide a definite evaluation of the imaging performance of the product and the impact of OncoScint upon the management of prostatic cancer patients.

The results of the initial clinical investigation demonstrate that this agent has been safely administered to patients with prostatic carcinoma. In addition, immunoscintigraphy with OncoScint PR356 detected soft tissue disease and bone lesions, including occult disease, thereby suggesting the potential utility of this agent in improving the accuracy of staging (determination of the extent of spread) of prostate cancer patients.

"We are very optimistic about the diagnostic potential of OncoScint PR356," noted Thomas J. McKearn, M.D., Ph.D., executive vice president of Cytogen. He continued, "In these Phase I studies, which involved more than 40 patients, no adverse reactions were experienced. Additionally, we are pleased that only one of these patients developed a positive human anti-mouse antibody (HAMA) response after infusion. This favorable HAMA profile may be very significant for repeated diagnostic infusion and possible therapeutic applications of this antibody."

Prostate cancer is now the most common cancer among men in the United States, according to the American Cancer Society. It is estimated that one out of 11 men will develop prostate cancer during his lifetime. More than 100,000 new cases of prostate cancer will occur in the United States in 1990 and nearly 30,000 will die of the disease. Accurate diagnosis of prostate cancer is essential prior to treatment, and histologic and/or cytologic grading and determination of the stage of disease are necessary to plan appropriate treatment and to provide patient prognosis.

OncoScint PR356 is one of six cancer imaging agents being developed by Cytogen. Two of these agents, OncoScint CR103 for imaging colorectal cancer and OncoScint OV103 for imaging ovarian cancer, are awaiting FDA marketing approval. OncoScint CR103 is also under review with the Committee for Proprietary Medicinal Products (CPMP) in Europe.

Cytogen Corp. is a biopharmaceutical company which has developed proprietary systems for linking drugs and diagnostic agents to monoclonal antibodies in order to optimize the function of the antibody as a delivery vehicle. With major emphasis on human cancer, current product development efforts at Cytogen are focused on improved cancer diagnostic imaging agents and the targeted delivery of cancer therapeutic agents directly to tumor sites.

MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Endotronics, Inc. (NASDAQ: ENDO) and Cellco Advanced Bioreactors, Inc. (Cellco) today announced they have resolved a patent dispute regarding distribution of cell culture instruments in Japan. The resolution of this issue provides a reopening of the Japanese market for Endotronics and allows the company to sell and distribute its equipment in the Japanese marketplace.

Effective Sept. 30, 1990, Endotronics signed a non-exclusive license agreement with Cellco, of Kensington, Md., for the use of certain basic patents owned by Cellco. The license also allows for the manufacturing, distribution and sale of hollow fiber cell culture devices in the Japanese, European and Canadian markets. "Cellco is pleased that this longstanding dispute is now resolved. Both companies can now devote their total efforts to promoting hollow fiber as a powerful cell culture technology worldwide unhindered by litigation and patent issues," said R. William Lynn, president and chief executive officer of Cellco.

Endotronics had previously reported that access to the Japanese market was blocked due to a patent infringement claim regarding cell culture instruments. Although Endotronics was not named as a specific party in this action, a provisional injunction was issued against Endotronics' current Japanese distributor, the Kyoto Daiichi Kagaku Company (KDK).

"Approximately 24 percent of the company's instrument and disposable revenues in fiscal 1989 were represented by sales to KDK. During fiscal 1990, revenues from instrument and disposable sales decreased due to the absence of sales to major customers, particularly in Japan. We believe our revenue base will be strengthened during fiscal 1991 through the renewed access to the Japanese market," said Richard E. Sakowicz, president and chief operating officer of Endotronics.

Endotronics, Inc. is a Minneapolis-based company which supplies products and services for the processing of mammalian cells to biotechnology, pharmaceutical, diagnostic companies and research centers worldwide.

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The board of directors of CoreStates Financial Corp (NASDAQ: CSFN) today declared a quarterly dividend of 48 cents per common share, payable Jan. 1, 1991, to shareholders of record Dec. 3, 1990.

The dividend maintains the level paid each quarter during 1990. Terrence A. Larsen, chairman, said the board decided not to increase the dividend because of current uncertainties in the economy and widespread concerns about capital levels in the banking industry.

"Historically, CoreStates has emphasized prudence and financial strength in its approach," he said. "We are clearly facing difficult times in the economy and the industry, and decided it would be most appropriate not to increase the dividend at this time.

"In particular, the banking industry has had extraordinary scrutiny from the public arena as well as from customers.

"We recognize that it is often difficult for observers to differentiate between stronger and weaker banks. Strong capital is one ratio that can be easily measured," Larsen said.

"The decision not to increase our dividend at this time reflects CoreStates' commitment to maintaining its historic position among the nation's strongest banking companies," Larsen said. "We believe this decision is in shareholders' long term interest.

"Our capital will not only cushion us against economic uncertainties, but will help to insure that we will have resources available to pursue opportunities," he said.

CINCINNATI (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - E. Thomas Arington, president and chairman of Duramed Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (NASDAQ: DRMD) announced today Duramed's operating results for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990. Net sales for the quarter were $7.2 million compared to $6.6 million for the third quarter of 1989. The loss for the third quarter of 1990 was $2.9 million compared to a third quarter 1989 loss of $866,000.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, net sales were $20.8 million compared with net sales of $22.5 million for the first nine months of 1989. The cumulative loss for the first nine months of 1990 was $4.5 million compared to a profit of $41,976 for the first nine months of 1989.

Arington explained the results for the quarter were adversely affected by the company's decision to recall 30 batches of its Conjugated Estrogens product manufactured during 1990 which failed to meet new USP dissolution requirements which became effective in 1990. This recent development is a new Conjugated Estrogens issue, which when considered along with other issues including the FDA's continuing goal of removing all current generic Conjugated Estrogens products from the market, has caused the company to decide to stop marketing its current product. Operating results for the quarter include a charge of $2,150,000 shown as a reduction in net sales for credits expected to be issued to customers for returns of Conjugated Estrogens. Additionally, a charge of $500,000 was recorded to write off existing inventories of the product. The 30 failed batches are from a total of 135 manufactured during 1990. At this time the remaining lots are passing all required tests. However, these lots could be subject to recall if future test results indicate failure.

Arington further explained that Duramed and the FDA are presently addressing other regulatory and compliance issues that need to be resolved. Many of these issues center on changes in manufacturing which, at the time they were made, were deemed not to require FDA approval prior to implementation.

Accordingly, Duramed has initiated an internal audit of all of its ANDA's and subsequent modifications to them. In keeping with management's commitment to product quality and regulatory compliance, Duramed has suspended shipment of all ANDA products. Shipment of individual products will resume as soon as the company is satisfied that the product and manufacturing process meet regulatory requirements. At this time it is not possible to reasonably estimate the outcome of product examinations being conducted by the company and the FDA. Due to the company's limited resources, an extended interruption of product shipments, or findings that result in permanent discontinuance of certain products, and/or extensive product recalls would have a material adverse effect on the company and would threaten the company's ability to survive.

In view of the decision to suspend product shipments, the company will be initiating the temporary elimination of all non-essential activities in order to conserve resources. Despite these cutbacks, a substantial loss is expected for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1990, as a result of what is expected to be substantially reduced revenues.

Considering these recent developments and their adverse effect on the company's financial position additional capital is likely to be required. Although capital raising activities are being pursued, it is not known at this time what sources of financing may be available.

The following table sets forth Duramed's comparative operating results for the three month and nine month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990 and 1989:

PARIS (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The following statement was issued by the Pechiney Group in Paris today:

Pechiney Group Consolidated net sales for the first nine months of 1990 amounted to FF 58,884 million, compared with FF 66,565 million for the same period in 1989. The average exchange rate for the U.S. dollar was FF 5.575 for the first nine months of 1990, vs. FF 6.45 for the year earlier period. If the exchange rate had remained unchanged, the Group's manufacturing sales would have declined by 0.7 percent.

The company pointed out that period-to-period variations in sales caused by exchange rate differences do not result in corresponding variations in earnings; a lower U.S. dollar reduces sales as well as costs denominated in that currency.

Contributions to consolidated sales by sector of activity were as follows:

(In millions of French francs)

First nine months:	1990	1989
Packaging	23,532	24,986
Aluminum	15,022	17,580
Engineered products	7,275	7,343
Other industrial activities	5,248	5,891

International trade	7,807	10,765
Total	58,884	66,565

If the 1989 exchange rate had remained in effect, a period-to-period comparison would show that packaging sales rose 7 percent and engineered products sales increased 8.6 percent, while aluminum sales declined by 12 percent due to the drop in metal prices.

Pechiney International Pechiney International's consolidated net sales for the period ending Sept. 30, 1990, amounted to FF 33,845 million, compared with FF 37,211 million for the first nine months of 1989. The average exchange rate for the U.S. dollar was FF 5.575 for the first nine months of 1990, vs. FF 6.45 for the year-earlier period, declining by 13.6 percent. Expressed in U.S. dollars, consolidated sales rose 5.6 percent from one period to the other and reached US$6,083 million.

Contributions to consolidated sales by sector of activity were as follows:

FRESNO, CA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - ValliCorp Holdings Inc. (NASDAQ: VALY) today announced the promotion and election of two senior officers. J. Mike McGowan, currently executive vice president and chief financial officer, was promoted and will assume the newly created position of executive vice president and chief operating officer for the Bank of Fresno, effective Dec. 1 1990. Also on that date, Wolfgang T.N. Muelleck will join the company as executive vice president and chief financial officer for ValliCorp and Bank of Fresno, filling the position previously held by McGowan.

''The expansion in key management will allow us to more quickly achieve our strategic objective of being the dominant independent financial institution in the Central San Joaquin Valley,'' commented John W. Brocks, president and chief executive officer.

With McGowan designated to assume increased operating responsibility, Brocks will have more time to focus on enhancing the company's successful market position and financial strengths throughout the Central San Joaquin Valley. Management's objective is to build ValliCorp into a dynamic confederation of community banks -- through internal growth, merger and acquisition -- and expand its current asset base form $371 million to $500 million in 1991.

Commenting on Muelleck's addition to senior management, Brocks stated, ''The strong accounting and auditing background Wolf brings with him will make a substantial contribution to the company and will build on the foundation we have established for exemplary credit analysis and asset management.''

McGowan joined ValliCorp in June 1990 as executive vice president and chief financial officer after more than 20 years with Ernst & Young (formerly Arthur Young), the last 10 years as a partner in Little Rock, Ark., and Houston. He served as a director of the Financial Services Industries Group for Arthur Young and was a member of the accounting firm's National Banking Committee.

Following the announcement of his promotion, McGowan made a number of observations. ''Ten years ago, Bank of Fresno had assets of approximately $30 million and was considered a limited financial force in Fresno had assets of approximately $30 million and was considered a limited financial force in Fresno and the surrounding area. Today, the bank is the largest financial institution headquartered in the Central San Joaquin Valley. Our twelve-fold growth in the past decade -- to an asset size of more than $330 million, soon to be $370 million with the acquisition of Madera Valley Bank -- has brought many benefits to the region and to our customers.

''The most significant benefit is our ability to contribute to business and consumer growth in the area. We currently have the capability to lend $5 million on an unsecured basis to any single borrower. This lending capacity, along with our nine branch retail network, are significant factors in enabling Bank of Fresno to serve the banking needs of its customers in Fresno and surrounding communities. All the members of the Bank of Fresno team have dedicated themselves to the theme, ''We are the bank that cares.' ''

Muelleck comes to ValliCorp from Ernst & Young (formerly Ernst & Whinney) after a 15-year career with the public accounting firm where most recently he was the partner in charge of the Audit Department at the company's Fresno location. Muelleck is a 1975 MBA graduate of the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - United Press International editors are directing UPI newsgathering from emergency newsrooms, in the wake of a construction site cave-in that temporarily cut UPI headquarters communications with the news agency's clients and bureaus.

"The crisis has not ended, though we are coping with it," said UPI Executive Vice President Pieter VanBennekom. "We urgently need telephone services restored at headquarters in order to return operations to acceptable levels," he added.

VanBennekom said UPI editorial and technical staff worked through the night to restore news services abruptly cut at 8:30 p.m. Monday when the walls of an excavation pit apparently collapsed at 14th and H streets N.W., destroying UPI communications links.

Within an hour after the accident, VanBennekom temporarily shifted control of UPI's national news to UPI's Los Angeles bureau.

Soon afterward, National Public Radio (NPR) and Reuters news agency respectively arranged to transmit UPI Radio Network and news photo services to UPI clients nationwide.

By dawn today UPI editors were operating from facilities in the U.S. Senate press gallery; a UPI Radio Network bureau in New York City; and, from a newsroom created by UPI and IDR staff members overnight near Tyson's Corner, Va., in the computer operations center of IDR, and Infotechnology, Inc. sister company.

Some UPI staff members traveled by auto from Washington to New York City in the early morning hours today, in order to transfer UPI Radio Network operations from NPR to UPI audio services bureau in Manhattan.

Reuters this morning continued to transmit UPI photos to UPI clients, VanBennekom said.

"We are immensely indebted to UPI staffers and to Reuters and NPR for their Herculean efforts, which narrowly averted a disastrous interruption in UPI services," VanBennekom said.

UPI telecommunications were knocked out for six hours Nov. 16 when links between UPI's central computer and UPI clients were accidentally severed by a construction crew operating in northern Virginia.

UPI is owned by Infotechnology, Inc. (NASDAQ/NMS: ITCHE), the New York City-based information and communications company that also owns 47 percent of Financial News Network Inc. (NASDAQ/NMS: FNNIE). Infotechnology management recently announced plans to sell both UPI and FNN.

SEATTLE (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The Bahrain-based carrier Gulf Air has ordered 12 Boeing 767-300 extended range jetliners, Boeing Commercial Airplane Group confirmed today. Value of the order is approximately $1.15 billion in delivery year dollars.

Gulf Air, owned by the Gulf states of Bahrain, Qatar, Abu Dhabi and Oman, already operates six Boeing 767-300ERs, the largest 767 fleet in the Middle East. The airline is acquiring the new aircraft to meet projected traffic growth. Gulf Air has said it will use some of its new 767-300ERs to inaugurate service to Singapore and Sydney.

As configured for Gulf Air, the twin-aisle 767-300ERs will seat 212 passengers in a three-class configuration of 15 in first class, 18 in business class and 179 in tourist class. The new twinjets will be powered by General Electric CF6-80C2 engines and are certified for a maximum takeoff weight of 387,000 lbs (175,540 kgs). With a full passenger payload, Gulf Air's 767-300ERs have a range of 6,210 statute miles.

"Gulf Air's decision to add another 12 Boeing 767-300ERs to its fleet is a tremendous vote of confidence in this aircraft," said Seddik Belyamani, Vice President, International Sales at Boeing Commercial Airplane Group. "It is also an expression of confidence in the region's long-term future, a view which we share."

The Boeing 767 makes use of the latest technology to provide maximum efficiency in the face of rising operational costs, while extending twin-aisle comfort to routes never before served by wide-body airliners. Extended-range versions of the 767 are the longest range twin-engined jetliners available.

The Boeing 767's two-aisle passenger cabin follows the tradition of spaciousness established by the Boeing 747, first of the wide-body airliners. Extensive passenger research has shown the seven-abreast seating concept is preferred by the great majority of those surveyed, because 87 percent of the seats are by the window or on the aisles. Center seats are only one seat from an aisle.

The 767's design provides excellent fuel efficiency, operational flexibility, low noise levels and advanced airplane systems, including an all-digital flight deck. New structural materials are employed such as improved aluminum alloys, graphite composites and hybrid Kevlar/graphite composites.

To date, 44 customers worldwide have ordered 516 Boeing 767s. Nine airlines in the Middle East and Africa have ordered or are operating the 767.

ATLANTA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - As part of an experiment to boost transit ridership, MARTA General Manager Kenneth M. Gregor announced today that free parking will be offered at selected MARTA stations during the holiday season.

At a meeting of the Operations Committee of the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority (MARTA), Gregor announced plans to provide:

-- free parking at all MARTA stations on the day after Thanksgiving, Friday,

Nov. 23,

-- free parking after 10:30 a.m. daily at all MARTA stations the entire month of December 1990, and

-- free parking all day, every day during December 1990, at four MARTA stations: Brookhaven on the North Line, Hightower on the West Line, Edgewood/Candler Park on the East Line, and Lakewood/Fort McPherson on the South Line.

At present, MARTA has 16,794 parking spaces at 20 of its 29 rail stations. About half of those spaces are occupied on an average weekday.

Some MARTA parking lots are more underutilized than others, and that is what led MARTA to the decision to make parking free all day at four of them in December.

Making parking free on the day after Thanksgiving and after 10:30 a.m. every day during December will make MARTA especially attractive to holiday shoppers. Traditionally, the day after Thanksgiving is the busiest day of the year for retail sales. And, for those air travelers planning to go out of town for Thanksgiving, it will mean four consecutive days (Thanksgiving day through Sunday) of free parking at all rail station parking facilities. (Customers parking at the long-term parking section of the Brookhaven Station will continue to pay the $2 fee per day.)

MARTA officials hope that their free parking idea will be both beneficial to ridership and -- because of increased shopping trips -- stimulate the local economy as well. "With ridership flat, we feel that there is no better time than now to conduct such an experiment," concluded Gregor.

As always, parking is free at all rail station lots on weekends and after 6 p.m. on weekdays. Parking at area park and ride lots also continues to be free at all times.

MIAMI (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Florida Power & Light Company today filed papers asking the Public Service Commission to authorize an increase in the utility's winter charges because of rising fuel prices.

If the request is approved, a 1,000-kilowatt-hour residential bill would increase from $75.85 to $80.37, a change of approximately 6 percent, beginning Jan. 3.

FPL is seeking the increase because the Middle East crisis has driven the price of oil and natural gas to higher levels than projected.

"The fuel price increase was compounded by warmer-than-expected weather in October," an FPL official said. "As a result, our plants burned 64 percent more oil during that month than would have been the case in temperatures were cooler."

Customers would see the increase reflected in the fuel charge portion of their bills. Utilities do not make a profit on fuels used to generate electricity.

The PSC approves fuel charges twice annually based on averaged six-month cost projections, but utilities are expected to request interim changes if fuel costs rise or decline too far beyond expectations.

RICHMOND, VA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - S&K Famous Brands, Inc. (NASDAQ: SKFB) today reported its sales and earnings for the third quarter ended October 27, 1990.

Sales advanced five percent to $13,703,000, from sales of $13,070,000 for the same period last year. Store for store sales were down eight percent. Operating income for the quarter was $24,000, or $0.01 per share, as compared with $317,000, or $0.14 per share, for the same period a year ago.

Sales for the nine months ended October 27, 1990 were $43,943,000, up 13 percent from $38,776,000 for the first nine months of last year. Store for store sales were down approximately two percent. Operating income for the nine month period was $983,000, or $0.42 per share, compared with $1,153,000, or $0.54 per share a year ago.

Last year's third-quarter and nine-month net earnings included an extraordinary gain of $110,000, or $0.05 per share, resulting primarily from insurance proceeds for the retail value of inventory damaged during Hurricane Hugo.

"The slowdown in consumer spending that has characterized much of 1990 continued to have an impact upon sales volume," said S&K Chairman Stuart C. Siegel. "We remain confident that our long-term strategy is sound. In response to the current environment, however, we have controlled variable costs and taken advantage of opportunistic merchandise purchasing."

Siegel added that the company elected to postpone the opening of five new stores, containing expansion to nine new stores this fall. This decision was a prudent one, he said, with six of S&K's nine new stores located in existing successful markets. "While this strategy has negatively impacted same-store sales, the potential for market-share gain overrides the short-term redistribution of volume from established locations," he said.

"We believe that our unique combination of value pricing, quality and service will attract budget conscious customers to S&K," Siegel continued. "Our merchandise assortment is the finest ever and we have prepared a vigorous advertising campaign to support our sales efforts."

Founded in 1967, S&K Famous Brands, Inc. is one of the nation's fastest-growing value-priced specialty menswear retailers. The company is headquartered in Richmond, Virginia.

CHICAGO (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Methode Electronics, Inc. (NASDAQ-NMS: METH) today reported that sales for the second quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990 increased 29 percent to a record $42,984,000, as compared to $33,237,000 a year earlier. Net income more than doubled, to $2,272,000, as compared to $1,088,000, and earnings rose to $.20 per share versus $.10 per share for last year's second quarter. Both sales and earnings were quarterly records.

Sales for the first six months of the year increased 22 percent from $63,687,000 to $77,498,000, and net income jumped 123 percent from $1,855,000 to $4,137,000. Earnings increased to $.37 per share, up from $.17 per share for the first half of last year.

President William J. McGinley said, "Sales for the second quarter contained about $3,500,000 in non-recurring billings related to production tools and dies for the Big 3 automotive manufacturers. Exclusive of these sales, which contributed negligible profits, volume increased 25.1 percent for the quarter, and 21.2 percent year-to-date.

"Our second quarter automotive output increased over 20 percent, and both sales and profits reached record highs. Certainly, a large part of our recent success can be traced to our air bag related clock spring device programs for Ford and Chrysler.

"Our connector companies continued to expand rapidly on a worldwide basis. Methode's Singapore facility, which sells almost exclusively to the Far East, enjoyed sales growth in excess of 50 percent. Locally, our input/output termination device division tripled its sales during the quarter as marketplace acceptance continues to be excellent. Our domestic catalog connector activity increased 35 percent in spite of a slowdown experienced by most competitors.

"Finally, on Sept. 1, 1990, Methode purchased from its partner the remaining 50 percent interest in an English joint venture which manufactures catalog connectors for Great Britain and the Continent. The new company, Methode Electronics Europe, Ltd., will operate in a structure similar to that of our Singapore operation, and we expect it to thrive under new management.

"Our power bus distribution business has continued to show solid improvement with sales for the quarter increasing 70 percent over a year ago. Our primary emphasis has been aimed at mainframe computer and related applications, but we have enjoyed recent success in a joint effort with a sister division producing sophisticated flexible bus bars for incorporation into connector type devices.

"We are pleased to report that military bookings for our West Coast multilayer printed circuit facility have grown dramatically from September to November. Our monthly new order rate for this period has been about triple what we had experienced in the previous nine months. We lost money for the first two quarters compared to efforts of a year ago, but with the help of the recent new business we expect the near future to be substantially better than what we have seen in our first six months."

"Our bare board circuit verification test equipment business continues to operate at disappointing levels. There is no question the marketplace has been weak and some of our troubles can be traced to a severe slowdown in capital equipment expenditures. However, we have to shoulder a great deal of the blame, because of tardiness in introducing our next generation of bare board equipment to the marketplace. Hopefully, this introduction will take place in the third quarter.

"We have just finished a quarter that on balance was the most rewarding period in the company's history. We have seen recent signs that the recessionary forces have started to hit Methode. Non-military bookings, especially in our connector business, have started to weaken. Detroit has talked of numerous plant closings at year-end, in addition to its normal holiday shutdowns. As we move into the third quarter, Methode faces more uncertainty than has recently been the case, but we still expect a satisfactory year result through our April 30 fiscal close," McGinley concluded.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) yesterday ordered Beckman Instruments Inc. to implement the federal Superfund cleanup remedy at its plant in Porterville, Calif.

"EPA has provided Beckman Instruments ample opportunity to agree to conduct this cleanup under the terms of a consent decree," said Jeff Zelikson, director of EPA's Hazardous Waste Management Division.

"In spite of EPA's efforts to negotiate an agreement, the company would not sign a consent decree to conduct the cleanup work necessary to protect public health and the environment. Since a swift resolution was not forthcoming, EPA is using its enforcement tools - in this case an administrative order.

"Parties who create or contribute to environmental problems will be held responsible for the cleanup of these Superfund sites and are expected to reach an agreement with EPA within the timeframes established by Congress."

Effective Nov. 19, the company is required to design an extraction and treatment system for the contaminated groundwater that will achieve the cleanup levels established by EPA. Upon EPA review and approval of the workplans developed by Beckman, the company is required to construct and operate the system which is expected to cost nearly $4.7 million.

An outline of the process and timeframes the company must follow is provided in the order. Also included in the order is a detailed description of the work required.

The Beckman site is located along the southern boundary of Porterville. The company has manufactured printed circuit boards and electronic instruments at the facility since 1968. Waste generated from these operations have included solvents, acid solutions, and heavy metals.

In 1986, the Beckman site was added to the National Priorities List (NPL). The NPL is the list of uncontrolled hazardous waste sites nationwide which pose the greatest threat to human health and the environment. Sites on the NPL qualify for federal long-term cleanup efforts.

STAMFORD, CONN. (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Dawn Capital Corp. (NASDAQ: DAWN) today announced increased revenue and profitablity experienced by the company for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990. Revenues for the nine months were $3,628,486, a 65 percent increase over the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989 of $2,271,001. Net income increased 150 percent to $109,205, or $.02 per share compared to a net loss of $(200,458), or $(.03) per share for the same time period last year.

Revenue for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990 declined slightly to $945,797 compared to $1,029,167, a year ago. A net loss in the third quarter of 1990 of $(71,087) or $(.01) per share was reported, as compared to a net loss of $(38,194) for the third quarter in 1989. The decrease in the company's revenue for the current quarter is primarily the result of a several week delay between the final shipments to the U.S. Postal Service, under a sub-contract, and the initial shipments under the company's new Postal Service contract. Restructuring charges resulting from the company's relocation of certain facilities, including a $41,104 loss on the write-off of leasehold improvements in August and September of 1990, also had a significant impact on the company's third quarter results.

Andrew D'Aloia, president, Dawn Capital, stated "We are pleased to report Dawn Capital's solid financial performance for the year to date. Commercial sales, particularly shipments to the U.S. Postal Service remain strong and continue to increase. As a result of our recent growth, the company has moved its manufacturing capabilities to a larger facility in Pennsylvania in addition to moving our corporate and sales offices to Connecticut."

Dawn Capital Corp. commenced its present business activities in January 1989 with the acquisition of the Special Systems Division of American Technical Industries, Inc. The company manufactures and assembles components which are used in various industrial products and military hardware, and inspects and repairs circuit boards manufactured by a major computer company.

WALTHAM, MA (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - IBM and Desktop Data, Inc. have entered into a cooperative marketing agreement so that IBM sales representatives can market Desktop Data's entire NewsEDGE product line - encompassing NewsEDGE/PC for stand-alone PC users, NewsEDGE/LAN live news processing for local area networks, and NewsEDGE/SERVER for electronic mail and executive information system applications.

An important part of this broad marketing relationship is a joint product offering by IBM and Desktop Data that will deliver multiple, real-time news services to executives through IBM's Executive Decisions/VM executive support system.

Desktop Data's NewsEDGE product family has been designed to provide corporate and financial customers with "live news processing" - the ability to monitor immediate news from a wide range of news sources, delivered via FM, satellite, or X.25 broadcast, all at their own personal computer.

NewsEDGE software manages the simultaneous receipt of as many as 20 different news services, identifies the news stories that are of critical interest to the customer based on customer-designed profiles, and stores all the news stories in a fully indexed database for easy searching.

IBM Executive Decisions/VM, a component of IBM's OfficeVision Family, is a support system designed for executives to integrate the critical information they use to manage their businesses with other important decision-support functions and business communication activities.

With this joint product offering, ED/VM executives will now have enhanced access to important external information within the same familiar and powerful Executive Decisions/VM interface that organizes internal company data for their decision-making.

With the integration of NewsEDGE and Executive Decisions/VM, users can "filter" the news information that reaches their desktops by specifying key profile words. For example, an Executive Decisions user could choose to monitor and receive stories that deal specifically with the petrochemical industry by specifying words and phrases like "OPEC", "oil reserves", and "emission standards".

Whenever NewsEDGE receives a story from any of the news services selected by the customer, it checks for matching profile words. If the story contains a profile word, NewsEDGE forwards the story to the executive's news folder, providing a briefing-at-a-glance whenever the executive needs an update.

In this way, executives will be able to take full advantage of the competitive political, and economic information found in real-time newswires, but on their own schedule.

LAS VEGAS (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - National Heritage Industries (NASDAQ: NHER) general partner of Heritage Hotel Limited Partnership I, announced today that as a result of non-performance by United Gaming Inc.'s (NASDAQ: UGAM) wholly owned subsidiary, United Coin, as the lessee for the gaming, food and beverage operations.

As previously reported, United Coin notified the partnership on Sept. 26, 1990 that their financial condition has created a situation which does not at this time allow them to continue with the project.

The inability of United to remedy their noncompliance with the 10-year lease arrangement and their failure to pay on a timely basis their contractors and subcontractors which were involved in the casino tenant-improvements, have lead to numerous delays, and, finally, cessation of construction. The partnership is presently meeting with counsel to determine which remedies the partnership will pursue, including, but not limited to the termination of the lease with United.

As no qualified replacement as an operator for the food, beverage and gaming has yet been found, the projected opening date of Dec. 26, 1990, has been delayed. Discussions are presently continuing with a number of interested parties regarding the operation of casino, food and beverage facilities. The 310-room Chaparral Hotel/Casino is located at 901 E. TEL AVIV, ISRAEL (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - The board of directors of Istec-Industries & Technologies Ltd. (NASDAQ: ISTUF, ISTEF, ISTWF) at a meeting held on Nov. 19, agreed to accept the offer of its parent company, Yissum Holdings Ltd., to acquire Istec's holdings in Healthcare Technologies Ltd. (56.6 percent). The offer, based on an evaluation of Healthcare's shares made by an independent investment banker, amounts to more than three times the share market value.

The company will sell its holdings in Healthcare Technologies (2,250,000 shares) at a price of about $1 per share, for a total amount of $2.25 million, of which $1.75 million will be paid in cash and $0.5 million will be paid out over five installments. As part of the agreement, Istec will repay all its debts to the parent company.

Istec's board of directors appointed a committee consisting of one independent and one affiliated director to negotiate the completion of this transaction with Yissum.

In recent years, the company operated and invested its resources in various technological projects and start-up companies. However, its inability to raise additional outside capital, coupled with the ongoing need for investment caused it to finance activities through loans obtained from its parent company, Yissum Holdings Ltd. The company's debt to Yissum at Sept. 30, 1990, amounted to some $1.4 million.

Management believes that the only way the company will be able to raise capital from outside sources in the near future is through the sales of its assets, which are:

-- 2,250,000 shares in Healthcare Technologies Ltd. The value of the company's holdings based on the average market price over the last three months is some $0.675 million (or $0.30 per share), whereas according to the evaluation made by an independent investment banker this amounts to some $2.185 million (or $0.97 per share).

-- Scan Group International: The company was offered for sale in July 1990, but its worth is considered negligible in view of its financial results.

In order to enable Istec to continue operating as an independent company, the board of directors agreed to accept the offer of Yissum Holdings Ltd.

Upon completion of this transaction, the company will realize a profit of some $1.1 million.

Istec is currently reviewing several new business opportunities in Israel in order to replace the company's discontinued operations.

Istec is engaged in the design, development, manufacture and marketing of products, directly or through partly owned subsidiaries, involving various technologies. Its specific aim is to create export- oriented products, some of which it has begun marketing, while others are still in the research and development stage.

CHICAGO (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - Triangle Home Products, Inc. (AMEX: THP) today reported sales of $4,898,000 for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $6,210,000 in the same quarter of 1989. The company reported a loss for the current quarter of $273,000, or 23 cents per share, vs. net income of $14,000, or 1 cent per share, for the prior-year period.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, sales were $15,318,000 compared to $20,454,000 in the same period of 1989. The company reported a net loss of $1,046,000, or 87 cents per share, compared with a profit of $249,000, or 21 cents per share, in the prior year.

Triangle said it sees no alleviating increase in sales in the fourth quarter, a traditionally slow sales period. Some cash flow benefits and overhead reduction, however, could be realized from the sale of ventilating equipment operations.

On Nov. 6, 1990, Triangle's bank loan agreement was amended to reduce its net worth maintenance requirement from $3 million to $2.75 million and to reduce its total credit line from $2.25 million to $2.2 million. According to the company, this should be beneficial to the company and not adversely affect liquidity. Efforts continue unabated to reduce selling and administrative expenses which decreased in the current period by $484,000 or 27.5 percent compared to the same period a year ago.

KANSAS CITY, MO (NOV. 20) PR NEWSWIRE - UtiliCorp United (NYSE: UCU) announced today that the Missouri Public Service division has filed a request with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to increase its wholesale electric rates by approximately $830,000 annually, or an average of 12.75 percent. Under the request, the new rates would be effective on Jan. 15, 1991.

The increase is needed primarily to offset the costs of an ongoing project to rebuild the division's Sibley Generating Station. Increasing costs of purchased power capacity, required to meet greater customer demand, also have contributed to the need for more revenues.

The last wholesale rate increase occured in 1984. Rates were decreased by three percent in 1987 to offset beneficial impacts of the 1986 Tax Reform Act.

The rate action affects the Missouri communities of Odessa, Rich Hill, El Dorado Springs, Liberal, Pleasant Hill, Harrisonville, Gilman City and Galt. Those communities buy electricity wholesale from Missouri Public Service and distribute it over municipal systems. The FERC has jurisdiction over wholesale rate matters.

Missouri Public Service provides service to about 160,000 electric customers and 40,000 natural gas customers located in north-central and west-central Missouri. The service area includes much of the eastern and northern portions of the Greater Kansas City area.

Based in Kansas City, UtiliCorp provides gas and electric service to 820,000 customers in eight states and the province of British Columbia. Its divisions are Missouri Public Service, Peoples Natural Gas, Michigan Gas Utilities, West Virginia Power, Northern Minnesota Utilities and Kansas Public Service.
